TRANSLATING THE BIBLE INTO KIKUYU

THE translation of the Bible into a new language is most fascinating and, at the same time, an exacting job.

The meaning of every Kikuyu word must be ascertained as far as possible from the original Hebrew or Greek, and must be idiomatically correct, and clearly understandable.

Where the original sense is allowed to fall, the translator must attempt to make that possible, and where there is no possible meaning it must make the best of it. These are, at present, the main difficulties which face the translators.

In Kenya

In Kenya, most of the Bible has been translated into English, and the remainder is being translated into Kiswahili. The work is being done by the Kenya Bible Society.

Long history

The history of the translation of the Bible into Kikuyu is a long one. It began in 1902, when the Rev. H. Leakey arrived at Mombasa and proceeded to the society opened at M.S. Station at Kabete in 1903.

The Queen hostess to 250 guests STATE DINNER PARTY

THE Queen entertained another 250 Commonwealth and foreign guests at the second of her State banquets at the white and gold ballroom of Buckingham Palace.

Commonwealth guests included: Dr. D. F. Mahai and Mrs. Shugart; Mr. Mohamed Ali; Prime Minister of Pakistan; The Begum; Mr. R. C. Marriot; Prime Minister of Mauritius; Mr. Senesque; and Dr. Bury.

The Queen was joined by a stupes apartment-dress of pale pink, over a white tulle underlayer in the same shade. She wore the ribbon and diamond tiara of the Carter, a long white dress, and long white gloves.

The Duke of Edinburgh was the first guest to arrive at the ballroom.

After they had been received by the Queen the guests were taken to the ballroom where they took their places at twenty-two round tables, each with about the central table seating 12 at which sat the Queen, the Duke of Edinburgh and members of the Royal Family and their official guests.

The company closed as the Queen with her husband and the Duke of Edinburgh.

Earlier a vast crowd cheered the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh when they carried the second flag of London to the Coronation, and the Duke was dressed in white and wore a dark grey bow tie.

All-races cast of 120 people

THE first night of the Coronation revue, The Coronation Revue, produced under the auspices of the Kampala Amateur Theatrical Society, was a show worthy of the highest Coronation celebrations.

An abstract cast of over 120 people, a mixture of races, was used in unforced gaiety and enthusiasm what it lacked in more ideas.

Present on Monday were the Governor, Sir Andrew Coburn, and Lady Coburn.

Deputy and producer John Henderson had obviously gone to a good deal of trouble to give a more balanced, probably the most entertaining scene, "An African Intention". In this, the "trial" by a Chief of an innocent man was typical of the African justice for export.

In the last scene tradition the main aim of the show was to "take fun at ourselves". The Africans did that almost as well as the Europeans - and with fewer words. The Africans will be particularly remembered for the excellent traditional songs they performed.

The stage routines by the European chorus girls and men had been well rehearsed, though the girls might with advantage have looked less determined in their "party" numbers.

The "brilliant pantomime" was entertaining as anything, although one can only hope that people of other races will judge the real thing by the somewhat less reputable group on the stage on the first night.

During its performance the "brilliant pantomime" was entertaining as anything, although one can only hope that people of other races will judge the real thing by the somewhat less reputable group on the stage on the first night.

Dampener on the Seychelles celebrations

HEAVY rain and high winds disorganised most of the Coronation celebrations planned for the Seychelles. Some events have been postponed until next week.

Commission Day dawned brightly and there was a large attendance of spectators at the Coronation Council in Victoria.

At Victoria, the Legislative Council passed unopposed a resolution to send a congratulatory message to the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh in the Colony of Seychelles. The message was presented to the Council upon the advent of this memorable day.

The Legislative Council presents its humble duty to Her Majesty, with an assurance of the deep devotion and loyalty of the people, and prays that under the guidance and blessing of Divine providence, she may ever be our constant Queen, long be spared to reign over her people and all realize and testify for the promotion of their happiness and the protection of their interests.

Italy will go to the polls tomorrow to vote in the second election since the country became a republic in 1947. An issue that has been present since the election is "democratic totalitarianism."

There are 8,000 candidates for the 500 seats in the Chamber of Deputies and 227 seats in the Senate. (Herald)

THE 174th RACE BE A

AL DERBY ?

... in Coronation year
... Block Diamond

The Derby Stakes, to be run over this afternoon, will be one of the most important in the history of the race. It would be the first time since the war that the "Majesty" colts were to be seen in the Derby and only a horse actually to be nominated to it.

... to his liking, though he was his only race as a three-year-old, and he was not a potential winner as most are thought.

... to his liking, though he was his only race as a three-year-old, and he was not a potential winner as most are thought.

There is no strong challenge from France this year. The best of the probable runners may be Shikharup, bred by Teykon out of Malakshy by Mizore, the son of Smirle, but he has not yet shown his mettle in any of his races to date.

Of the two English horses, Star of the Forest, who finished sixth in the 2,000 Guineas after a spectacular season at Newmarket in 1954, is a real contender for the right lines, but he has not yet shown his mettle in any of his races to date.

Good as Chalkwater has proved himself to be, it is a rare event indeed for a handicapper with the Derby.

Little fancy
Although, of course, it has to be remembered that Talya's only two year old, creditable success out of Nursery Handicap, which was won by a 100-1 shot, and who was rated at 100-1.

The probabilities
The probable starter for the Derby is the 100-1 shot, and who was rated at 100-1.

Surrey beat Derby

in 2 days at Oval

AND REMAIN HEAD OF TABLE

SURREY, the holders, strengthened their position at the head of the English county cricket table when they beat Derbyshire by eight wickets at Kennington Oval on Thursday with a day to spare. Left to get 119 runs in their second innings, Surrey were able to win the match from every run on the field.

Keith Miller may not bowl in first Test

Keith Miller, the Australian, is expected to be in the first Test, but it is doubtful whether he will bowl. The Australian selectors are expected to choose a different bowling attack for the first Test.

Catches dropped

Several catches were dropped during the match, which was a disappointment for the Surrey batsmen. The dropped catches were a result of a combination of factors, including poor fielding and a lack of concentration.

Fine bowling

The fall of the ball was fine, and the Surrey bowlers were in excellent form. The bowlers were able to exploit the conditions and take several wickets, which helped Surrey to secure a comfortable victory.

Chasing scores

The chasing scores were a test of nerve for the Surrey batsmen. They were able to chase down the target with ease, thanks to a combination of good batting and a strong bowling attack.

GENERAL ERSKINE ARRIVES

Sends best wishes to all 'except Mau Mau'

GENERAL SIR GEORGE ERSKINE, the new General Officer Commanding in Chief of East Africa, and his wife, arrived in Nairobi last night on the aircraft from Mau Mau.

He was welcomed at the Royal Air Force station, Eastleigh, by the Governor, Sir Evelyn Baring, with whom he spent last night discussing the present situation. In an interview with the East African Standard, he said: "I do not want anyone to think I am a conjurer or an agitator. I have no fancy tricks."

He announced that he did not intend to "top-hatting" Mau Mau indiscriminately, "who one might be frightened that the job of beating Mau Mau would be taken by him extremely rapidly. I intend to finish this as quickly as I can," he said.

Speaking of the general situation, he said that it was not a matter of many people who had not been in the Mau Mau area. "I have come to add my views on the situation," he said. "I have come to add my views on the situation, but I do not want anyone to think I am a conjurer or an agitator. I have no fancy tricks."

HOMemade BOMBS IN MAU MAU HIDEOUT

Prisoner says gang had six

FOUR homemade bombs and 60 pounds of ammunition were found by a K.P.S. unit during a raid on a Mau Mau hide-out in the Laikipia region. A terrorist arrested later in the Maramba Forest in the hide-out, he said the gang consisted of 24 men and seven women and that they had shot six Mau Mau men and women.

Nakuru five-year housing plan

HOMES FOR ALL RACES

Kenya's Commission for Local Government has just approved a plan to build 250,000 houses over a five-year period for all races.

But this scheme is only part of an extensive programme of housing for all races—whether Municipal employees or not—intended to allow everyone who needs a house in Nakuru to have one within five years.

Within a few months the Council's first African housing scheme to accommodate 100 people will be completed at a cost of £50,000.

POWER visitors came to Kenya in the first quarter of this year down from the same period last year, according to figures compiled by the East African Tourist Travel Association. Altogether 5,476 entered the Colony in the first three months last year, against 7,625 this year. Splitting this into three categories, there was a marked drop in holiday-makers.

ENGLAND SELECTS THE TEST TWELVE

Blend of youth and experience

The names of the 12 England players from whom the side to meet Australia in the first Test will be chosen was announced by the C.C. Selections on Sunday night. The match begins at Trent Bridge, Nottingham, on Thursday, June 11, and will be the last of a remarkable exception in the tradition of Peter May of Surrey, there are no real surprises. The captain, Fred Trueman was not expected.

There are three Derby players in the team—Graham Hill (captain), Lou Lush (vice-captain), and P. H. Parry (keeper). D. Compton (Middlesex), V. Badger (Oxford), T. G. Evans (Kent), R. Tate (Leicestershire), T. Greenan (Leicestershire), B. Statham (Surrey), and D. Kenyon (Worcestershire). However, A. Miles (Gloucestershire).

Four Tests against India, he took 27 wickets for 1341 runs. He is now in the Royal Air Force and in the first cricket match he has played in the past has not shown very impressive

He does not doubt the selectors found their task increased by the return to form of the two batsmen, May and Greenan.

On Saturday, May may have been in the best of his form, but he has been in the best of his form since he left the field in the first Test.

Greenan may be the highest scorer of his career, against Kent at Colchester. The two Lancashire bowlers, Trueman and Statham, were the main cause of Lancashire's defeat in a one-day match at Bath, on Saturday.

The Mainly-For-Women Page TAKES A COURSE IN DRESSMAKING

By Lesley Clay

NAIROBI'S first European College of Dressmaking opened three months ago and Mrs. P. M. Seaman, its founder and proprietor, has had just to run such an enterprise before the war was of dressmaking in her native city...

late when she went on her tour of South-East London. Her route followed the Blackington Palace, and surrounded it on its way—delectable—delicious still richer, till the Queen arrived at the 11th minute of the first schedule. All the way eight deep cheering till they were hoarse.

Wearing a coat of champagne blue, with the Duke of Edinburgh to her left, the Queen drove through the crowded streets in an open car.

Homey greetings
Women flock knees and necks to greet the Queen. "We think you are a lovely, lovely woman," said one of our drove-stops. "I hope you'll be a very successful one."

Opera
On Monday night the Queen attended the first performance by Benjamin Britten, Great Britain's first opera, at the Queen's Hall. The Queen, the Duke, the Queen Mother, Princess Margaret, Prince Philip, and many other members of the Royal Family, and Lord and Lady Curzon, and Lord and Lady Devonport were present.

Dr Geyer to stay on in London
Dr. A. J. Geyer, the South African Commissioner for London, is not returning home in August as he had planned but will continue in office for another year.

Still a gap
It was once believed that the new mortality rates for children in Great Britain were largely due to their parents' smoking habits. Since 1936, however, there has been a 10 per cent. increase in infant mortality, and this is attributed to the use of cigarettes.

East African postal system
For more than two years the East African Postal Commission has been working on the plans for the new postal system for Kenya, Uganda, and Tanganyika.

PREMIERS' STRESS DEVELOPMENT

Long-term policies and objectives reaffirmed

The Commonwealth Prime Ministers received at their conference in London that the Commonwealth countries should adhere to their long-term objectives and policy laid down for economic affairs at the finance conference last December, says the communique issued after the conference ended.

"Particular attention," it was stated, "was given to the need for stimulating economic developments, consistently with a maintenance of adequate reserves for removing progressively restrictions on trade over as wide an area as possible, and especially within the Commonwealth and sterling area."

The communique also disclosed that the Premier conceded to have every opportunity to compose, or at least come to the differences between East and West, but at the same time recognized that the democracies must maintain their strength and exercise their rights and objectives in order to preserve their rights and liberties.

They noted with gratification the conclusion of an agreement on relations between the United Kingdom and the Republic of Ireland, that opening the way for a further agreement with the Republic of Ireland, that opening the way for a further agreement with the Republic of Ireland, that opening the way for a further agreement with the Republic of Ireland.

UNITY AMONG NATIONS OF COMMONWEALTH

The text of the communique issued after the final primary session of the Commonwealth Conference in London, the Prime Ministers said, "The Prime Ministers have reaffirmed their faith in the unity and the solidarity of the Commonwealth, and their determination to work together to solve the common problems of the world."

"The Prime Ministers have reaffirmed their faith in the unity and the solidarity of the Commonwealth, and their determination to work together to solve the common problems of the world."

Understanding

"This sense of concern has been strengthened by the events of the past week. These have created the necessity to undertake a comprehensive and practical examination of national situations and their inter-relationships, and to continue with renewed vigour the work of the Commonwealth Conference in order to solve the common problems of the world."

Informal talks

"It was agreed that it is in the common interest that the Middle East should be settled on a basis of peace and stability, and that the security of the Middle East should be maintained in the interests of the stability and economic development of the region."

"The Prime Ministers reviewed the progress of the Commonwealth Conference following the Commonwealth Conference in London on December 12. They agreed that the Commonwealth countries should adhere firmly to the objectives and aims of the policy then laid down."

Russian aircraft output faster

THE Russians are supplying fighter planes to their air squadrons twice as fast as Britain is supplying them, according to a British Government report. Production is estimated at 300 planes a month.

The report by the House of Commons Select Committee on Estimates, dealt with rearmament. It published information about fighter production given to the committee in April by Air Marshal Sir John Bottomley, Controller of Air Supplies. The committee asked: "If the Russians can do it, why cannot we?"

The Air Marshal replied: "I had a few million spare labourers I might be able to."

The report agreed that in certain conditions of light the American plane was the only plane in production which was equal to the Russian MiG. The report revealed the Committee's anxiety at the time between the service departments when the Supply Minister said that the service departments were not "in any way" in a position to supply the necessary quantity of spare parts for the MiG.

The report also mentioned the satisfactory supply of spare parts for the MiG, but said that the quantity of spare parts for the MiG would be reduced by various types of aircraft now under development.

KOREA TRUCE SOON, SAYS SIR WINSTON

Formal statement in House

SIR WINSTON CHURCHILL has told the House of Commons that a complete armistice should be reached in Korea. "Nothing ought to stand in the way of the conclusion of an armistice, except administrative arrangements which may soon be completed," he said.

Mr. Winston said that the agreement on Korea should be reached in the next few weeks. He said that the British Government would not be in a position to make a formal statement in the House of Commons on the subject until the armistice had been signed.

Burden
The Prime Minister (re-embodied) the point which he made on May 11 in the foreign affairs debate that since the United States had borne 19/20ths of the burden of blood and treasure of the Korean war, the armistice terms were not such that Britain had either the "right or the responsibility to decide."

Dr. Rhee
Mr. Arthur Henderson (Labour) asked whether the Prime Minister would be prepared to state whether he considered the armistice terms to be a fair one for the Korean people.

The Prime Minister replied that he did not know, but on the whole would expect it to work out right in the end and having regard to the very great power and the great prestige of the United States Government.

Justice
Commenting on the agreement on the armistice, the Prime Minister said: "Under the decisive guide of the House of Commons, a result has been achieved which will be of high value in the end and so important in relation to the world position."

Greater expectations
"We are a free people and we are a free people," said Sir Winston, "and we are a free people."

Mr. Winston said that the British Government had been successful in securing the armistice in Korea. He said that the British Government had been successful in securing the armistice in Korea.

Convertibility now matter for urgent thought SETTLEMENTS BANK VIEW

THE Bank for International Settlements takes the view that convertibility of currencies is no longer an urgency. Its annual report, just published, says: "Only modest will it be possible to return to the normal state of equilibrium of the world."

The report also states that the necessary degree of equilibrium will then be achieved by the active force of the market.

"By the very fact of convertibility, countries will be compelled to maintain a standard of monetary discipline which will give their own people a more stable and reliable currency and make possible for them to become members of an international monetary system."

Consolidation

The report dated 1952 is a year of consolidation. Most countries have begun to attain a greater degree of equilibrium in their economies, thus helping the foundation for a more stable world.
