

Abstract:

This Module is designed to provide realistic information by discussing the various issues in counselling psychology with reference to the outcome of therapy, examine the present and future trends in counselling and augment professional ethical considerations. It also discusses the various ways in which to conduct counselling and the psychological implications of various developments in our contemporary world. The knowledge and skills you will derive from this Module will enable you to understand and appreciate counselling psychology as a profession that bestows value to human life. Such an understanding should eventually help you to offer invaluable professional support and services to all clients in need.