

OMSA held its first ever career talk on Friday 7th March 2014. The event was graced by two very motivating speakers: Mr. Paul Obiero, Head of World Class Operations, Kenya Airways and Mr. Austin Baraza, CEO of Center for Finance and Project Management (CFPM).

They both pointed out that opportunities are many for those who have taken operations management as a major though they would have to be prepared in order to seize them. They also gave further details on how to settle on one's career path.
