The Department of Business Administration held a workshop on 31st March 2014 to review the PhD curriculum. The conference was officially opened by the Deputy Principal, CHSS, Prof. Peter K'Obonyo, who emphasised the need for regular review of the PhD curriculum in order to remain competitive and relevant to changing market needs

The chairman, Dr. Justus Munyoki, thanked the PhD resource persons for commitment and dedication to duty, and asked them to maintain high standards in their supervision of students. He asked participants to have an open mind in reviewing the curriculum.

The Associate Dean, Prof. Evans Aosa, thanked the resource persons for being able to deliver a big number of PhD graduates, noting that 18 out of 19 who graduated last year from the School of Business were from the Department of Business Administration. He was optimistic that this year (2014), the School would present a higher number.
