

IDS Showcases Excellence at 5th Open Day

Date and time:

Thu, 2014-05-08 08:00

Location / Venue:

Great Court, Main Campus, University of Nairobi

IDS Director Prof Winnie Mitullah (left) shows University officials some of the Institute's Publications during the 5th Open Day held from May 8 to 10, 2014. From left to right Prof Henry Mutoro, Deputy Vice Chancellor Academic Affairs (in striped tie), Dr Vijoo Rattansi, the Chancellor; Mrs Pascal Koskei, Council Chair representative ; and Prof Isaac Mbeche Deputy Vice Chancellor Student Affairs.

Hundreds of students, scholars and the general public jammed the IDS stand, during the recent 5th Open Day, to inquire about the courses offered and savour some of the latest publications from the Institute

Among the latest titles displayed were occasional paper, Road Safety Policies in Kenya: In Search of Explanations for Non-Compliance and a report entitled: Kenya: Democracy and Political Participation. The occasional paper was authored by Prof Winnie Mitullah and Dr Patrick Asingo while Prof Karuti Kanyinga wrote the report.

Copies of IDS Newsletter were also on display and earned accolades for eye-catching design and in-depth coverage of the Institute's activities.

IDS Director Prof Winnie Mitullah and Exhibitions Coordinator Dr George Michuki led the entire staff in showcasing the Institute during the three-day fete from May 8 to 10, 2014 at the Great Court, Main Campus. The Chancellor of the University of Nairobi, Dr Vijoo Rattansi was among top university officials who visited the IDS stand.

During the Open Day, prospective students, parents and guardians interact with various University units and receive information on holistic education provided by the University of Nairobi.

Click here to read as word document or PDF document