

UoN relaunches rugby, basketball teams

The University of Nairobi (UoN) has relaunched its Rugby team- Mean Machine and Basketball teams- Terrorists (Men) and Dynamites (Women).

Vice-Chancellor, Prof. Peter Mbithi, said that the University is relaunching the two teams for improved performance in leagues and tournaments. He said that the University is renovating and revamping the existing sports facilities, replenishing the kits and equipment and mobilizing resources to support the teams.

The Vice-Chancellor revealed that plans are underway for the University to award scholarships to outstanding players and increase partnership with corporates and give the teams global exposure. Aggressive recruitment of new players and coaches is currently underway.

During the ceremony, the team members had an opportunity to interact with the University management. Supplier of sports equipment in Kenya, PrimeWood also made a donation of trophies and balls which were presented to the team captains.

The relaunch will see the University enhance ownership and support for the two teams and to achieve higher ground in the sporting world.
