Sect 10 of the Ord^s (at the bottom of the bundle) appears to contemplate detentions for not more than 2 weeks after committed, though it does not definitely say that longer detention is impossible. We have nothing to show when if at all Diechmann was committed - probably not much before 26 July (see 27252) in any case.

This is really a matter for the Court not for the Gov.
Under s. 10 the Ct. would order release after the 2 months had elapsed unless sufficient cause were shown to the contrary. ~~Prohibit~~ Personal difficulties caused by the outbreak of war would, in the absence of any gross contributory negligence of the applicant, not be held sufficient cause.

I do not think
we can do more than send copy of the order of 1908 to the firm calling attention to s. 10 & saying that there appears to be nothing on the ordinance to compel the surrender of D.
after the 2 months
