Lunatics Cullen & Nattaas.

To statement of expenses incurred £135.2.8 Inquire whether any steps could be taken to recover

W. Head

(Miputa.)

The only useful papers on this subject appear to be the Faldland papers & annex.

The Lunacy Act 1843 (^{Sec} 640/495 & p.p.) gives the Gov power to pay expenses of removal & maintenance, & provide for the recovery of from relatives able to pay, but only (apparently) relatives within the Colony.

In Pugh's case (^{Sec} see 2348 in England 97'90) the father declined to pay ~~the~~ the expenses of removal & the matter seems to have dropped.

In the present case I think there is little chance of our getting back the expenses of removal & would at all events let the matter rest till we know the whether there is going to be a claim for maintenance?
Problem of recovering to Gov. Yrs. W. H. P.

will be well out of it if they do not have to pay for main.

Sir,

I have the hon. Genl.

DRAFT.

E.A.P. no: 117

the recd. of your despatch no. 36 of the 20th of January, & on the subject of the expenses incurred in connexion with the two Lunatics Cullen and Kaitrao.

? From previous experience of cases in which lunatics have been sent to this country from the Colonies it would appear probable that the E.A.P. will be called upon to bear not only the expenses of removal but also the cost of maintenance in England, unless there are relatives who are able to bear any part of the expense. There is little possibility of the Protestant fund being embarrassed in this way, and in the circumstances I do not propose to take any action in the matter unless a claim is made for against Protestant funds in respect of the cost of maintenance.
