IMMIGRATION IN THE EAST AFRICA

PROTECTORATE

C/O

15 JUN 08

The following notes are published for the information of intending European immigrants:-

Very stringent regulations restricting immigration into the Protectorate were introduced by means of a local law promulgated in 1905.

Under these regulations an Immigration Officer is required to board every ship arriving at any British East African Port and to interview every intending immigrant.

Immigration is absolutely prohibited if the Immigration Officer is not satisfied that the intending immigrant is:-

- (1) Neither an idiot nor insane.
- (2) Not suffering from any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease.
- (3) Not a person who, not having received a free pardon, has been convicted of murder or any offence, other than of a political character not involving moral turpitude, for which a sentence of imprisonment has been passed for any term, and who by reason of the circumstances connected therewith is deemed to be an undesirable immigrant.
- (4) Not a prostitute nor a person living on or receiving receiving no one who has lived on or received any part of the proceeds of the prostitution of others.

- (5) Not a person deemed by the Immigration Officer, from information received from a reliable source, to be an undesirable immigrant.

Further, if an intending immigrant is unable to satisfy the Immigration Officer that he or she is not without visible means of support, the Immigration Officer may demand a deposit of ₹50/- before allowing the intending immigrant to land, and the deposit is liable to be forfeited unless the Immigration Officer is so satisfied within one week of the landing of the immigrant.

Heavy penalties by fine and imprisonment are imposed in the event of a breach of the regulations such as concealing or withdrawing information from the Immigration Officer either by intending immigrants themselves or by persons aiding or abetting them and also on the owners and masters of ships from which immigrants land without the permission of the Immigration Officer.
