Mr. Read

I see no objection from the C.A.P. point of view to the temporary employment of Major Cappel in this capacity. The Administration staff is always short-handed & Major Cappel will probably get an additional tax to cover current expenses at the cost of his services.

Dear Mr Harris

You will note my change of address, & I am sure you will realize the large expense I had to incur to arrive at it with my wife & children, & we are now residing at the

am waiting for the Honourable Office to offer me the appointment I have so long expected. I tell you too how much longer
I am likely to have to wait for it. I think that my 20 years service has been rewarded with the princely sum of £502, but even that won't last for ever. Do try & drop me an encouraging note. I am already dying for what the world will give me.
