I have great doubts about this claim. Mr. Grant, as Mr. Elles shows in 1874, & as you will see from previous papers, has had temporary jobs paid by bonuses as well as salary. I think it is a strong measure to give him any pension rights in respect of earlier service. and without the Treasury we could do nothing.

I think the worst thing will be to say that he is not entitled, but that when the
