EAST AFRICA PROTECTORATE.

Confidential (61).

(Incl. 1.).

My Lord,

In reply to Your Lordship's Confidential

circular of March 18th I have the honour to transmit herewith a copy of a minute by the Treasurer, who by the nature of his duties is brought into close contact with the officers of the Audit Department.

Treasurer
June 6th

2. I quite concur with what Mr. Bowring says. [The Colonial Regulations are in some respects unsuited to the East Africa Protectorate and a rigid insistence on the procedure prescribed in them, which may however justifiably be considered by the Auditor to be obligatory upon him, is apt to lead to disproportionately lengthy correspondence on insignificant points of detail to the possible exclusion of important matters of principle.

3. In consequence of this a heavy responsibility rests on the Local Auditor, which might be sensibly lessened by a modification in some respects of the Regulations in question. The present situation demands a wise discretion on his part, of the wisdom of which, I am happy to say, we have hardly ever had to complain.

I have the honour to be,

With the highest respect,

My Lord,

Your Lordship's most obedient,

INCLOSURE

In Despatch No. 17 of 14/3/1909
Cat. No. 16387

Your Excellency,

Since I have been Treasurer of this Protectorate I have always been able to work most harmoniously with the Local Audit authorities. I have always found the Officers of that Department most willing to assist and meet me in every possible manner.

I have occasionally heard of friction between Audit Officers and Heads of other Departments, e.g. the Postmaster General and Mr. Kemp and the Postmaster General and Mr. Waters, but such cases have been rare and any ill feeling speedily removed.

It may of course happen that a. c. & d. zealous Audit Officer may, through the careless wording of a query or report offend the Head of some Department - usually an Officer of longer service than himself and frequently an older man who resents "interference".

When Mr. T.A. Barnes was acting as Local Auditor I found that there was considerable resentment in the Treasury on account of what my staff considered needless and irritating queries on minute details. Still I recognise that the Local Auditor has a perfect right to query any deviation however small from the C.O. regulations. I will go further and say that it is his duty to do so.

But I wish it would be a good thing if the Comptroller and Auditor General could hint to his staff that some of the smaller discrepancies, such as are bound to occur in accounts of the magnitude of those of the East Africa Protectorate, might be passed without comment.

I have already reported that I do not consider the C.O. regulations as they stand entirely applicable to the East Africa Protectorate and that I have not the time to draft model regulations for the Protectorate. I feel that there are several matters of principle which require consideration but

but which cannot be tackled as long as my staff is overwhelmed by a mass of details.

543

As regards Mr. H.C.W. Balck-Barnes, I do not wish to have to work with a more tactful and conscientious official. We have always been able to come to an agreement in a friendly manner and much wearying correspondence has been saved by his willingness at all times to discuss questions before settling them officially.

Signed, D.C. Bowring.
