THE LABOUR SHORTAGE.

The Editor:—E. A. Standaert writes:—I should like to emphasize the point which has been frequently mentioned in the Standard, that the labour shortage in the East Africa Protectorate is not the result of a general depression in the economy, but of a sudden demand for labour which has arisen from the fact that the number of Europeans in the Protectorate is rapidly increasing, and the number of natives is falling.

most, provided the former ensure that such equitable results, which will not require a year, will be secured. It is to be hoped that the Government will be able to secure some larger factor in the situation, and in all cases the name and address of the writer must accompany a letter, and necessarily in plain, legible characters.

but his ideas go marching along in every Army they are being on. More, however, is needed to meet the needs of the Protectorate, and a further factor is needed to meet the needs of the Protectorate, and a further factor is needed to meet the needs of the Protectorate.

how it is that we find Gove's plan for the Protectorate, which is to be implemented by the Government, and a further factor is needed to meet the needs of the Protectorate, and a further factor is needed to meet the needs of the Protectorate.

VERMICOLI.

SUCCESSFULLY EXTERMINATES MEALYBUG

Reported by an Expert on E. A. Agriculture.

"The experiments recently conducted with Vermicoli, though not extensive, have proved satisfactory. These were chiefly on the lines of soil fumigation. The best results were obtained before or some time after the rains, when the soil was not wet and had a temperature of from 65 to 85 degrees Fahr. The surface soil was levelled round the base of the tree and of an oz. of Vermicoli (fully grown coffee tree) was sprinkled round in a continuous band about two inches wide with the inner margin about 4 inches from the bark of the tree; the Vermicoli was then covered with soil to the depth of 4 inches and packed well down. This killed the mealybug on the stem below ground, and in some cases kept off the ants completely.
