FERTILISE WITH EPHOS

The following testimonial speaks for itself: You asked me how the experiment with 'Ephos' turned out. Really I hardly like to tell you, you might say I was pulling your leg. The potatoes are just simply wonderful, you never saw such growth even through the drought. I have grown potatoes all my life and in many times, but never have I seen anything like this and further it is not a question of 'fairy soil' because I purchased the seed at the store from 'K. R. Keyling Inc.'

The result of the above testimonial can be seen on application to J. G. ARONSON, P.O. Box 681, Nairobi.

Keep two sticks in use
— saves money

Why? The Shaving Shield absorbs a certain amount of moisture when in use. By keeping two Gillette Cold Cream Shaving Blades and using them on alternate days, the first blade keeps the moisture to evaporate, thus restoring the soap to normal. Each week longer and gives many more shaves to the stick. The Cold Cream Blade and Gillette is an excellent skin soother and smooths the most sensitive skin, and gives all the delight of a Cold Cream Massage.

DISTRICT NOTES.

Thomson's Falls.

READY FOR THE RAILWAY.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]
Thomson's Falls, June 8.
For a steady number of years the mining much has been heard on the delightful area of Thomson's Falls which stretches from Upper Gilgil and the Solon. Recently, and including the country around the Thomson Falls, the state of affairs has been done with a view to the writing of a note. The whole district has now been steadily consolidating its position, industrially and otherwise, and the time is not far distant when it will be one of the big grain growing localities.
The district, until now, was an arid region, and the soil was not fertile. The local roads, now from the Falls to Gilgil and other from those under repair. The roads in this area have been very well equipped with a lot of funds that will be effected during the year.
The number of recent enquiries for the Falls to Gilgil and other from those under repair. The roads in this area have been very well equipped with a lot of funds that will be effected during the year.

Town-Council Contract Goes to Germany.
LOAN MONEY PRINCIPLES.

Are Councillors Bound by Conditions of Borrowed British Money?

A LIVELY DEBATE.

THE TOWN COUNCIL MEETING ON Tuesday afternoon the question of the extension of tenders for buying iron for use on tenders, the decision led to a lively debate on the merits of accepting British goods or Germany.

Among the notable amendments from the Council were Mr. Jay and Mr. Wood. The latter proposed that Mr. Stewart and Mr. Roberts on behalf of British Ld. should tender a sum of approximately £5,000 for 100,000 lbs. of iron at 75.00 per ton in the S.E.A. Corporation on behalf of the chairman of Messrs. T. & J. L.

Mr. Harrison moved that Galley & Roberts' tender be accepted. Mr. Sturges said that the question involved was one of convenience. Naturally they wanted to go to Galley and Roberts, but that the loan was a serious one to the Council. They had to consider whether it was best from the Council's point of view.

MR. HARTSHORN'S GOODS.
The Mayor said that the German firm was unknown and they knew nothing about the quality, or how long they would last. Mr. Sturges said that the highest price was £100,000, but that at the prices being offered they could get the same quantity of iron for £75,000.

Keep two sticks in use — saves money

Why? The shaving stick demands a certain amount of moisture when in use. By having two Gilb's Cold Cream Shaving Sticks and using them on alternate days, the set hours rest allows the moisture to evaporate, thus restoring the soap to normal. Each week longer use gives many more shaves to the stick. The Cold Cream Brand Gilb's is so excellent that it soothes and soothes the most sensitive skin, and gives all the delight of a Cold Cream Massage.

Gilb's Cold Cream SHAVING SOAP FOUR CHEMIST STOCKS IT.

A CUP OF COFFEE

First Principles for a Successful Brew.

MISTS AND DON'TS

Some time ago the Standard called attention to the danger to the reputation of Kenya coffee arising out of the poor quality of coffee served by visitors to hotels and individuals and expressed the hope that the Standard might bring the subject and offer instructions.

- The Secretary, Coffee Planters' Union of Kenya and East Africa, has contributed the following: 1. Very intensive letter from Mr. Benge addressed in the East African Standard some weeks ago on this subject. 2. Since then I have collected information from various sources and the following notes may be of interest to those who appreciate a good cup of coffee. 3. One of my correspondents lays down as the "five fatal" points in making good coffee. 4. It must be freshly ground. 5. Correct quantity. 6. Freshly boiled clear water. 7. Earthenware vessels. 8. Very low, but not necessarily, boiled milk. 9. The Roasting. This is best carried out in this country in a cylindrical coffee roaster over a charcoal fire. Beans of one grade give better results than mixed coffee as when the sizes are mixed the smaller must roast. 10. A London coffee roaster told me some years ago that Kenya coffee requires roasting shorter than other coffee. I cannot remember after this the exact figure, but the beans should be boiled in fresh water immediately after roasting. When not in use, they should be kept in a basin of clean cold water.

coffee is too sufficient to roast above 180° F. It is best ground and used immediately after roasting but it is usually the case this is impossible. It should be kept in airtight tins until required. It must be freshly ground. It is better to grind coffee to obtain perfect results. The flavor and aroma of good coffee is due to the presence of aromatic substances produced in the roasting. From whole roasted coffee, especially if kept in an airtight container, the loss of these aromatic substances takes place but slow. Ground coffee is a power an enormously increased surface area to the air and the loss of volatile substances takes place rapidly. Even in sealed tins, ground coffee loses its aroma. This is probably due to oxidation of the flavoring substances as well as evaporation. Freshly ground coffee gives a better brew than coarsely ground. 3. The quantity to use. This depends largely on individual taste. The average quantity for average strength is two heaped dessertspoons of coffee for one average cup of boiling or hot brewed top-temperated. 4. Freshly boiled water. Don't use water from the hot water tank or from the kettle as this has been summing all day on the top of the stove. 5. Earthenware vessels are best to give better flavors than metal. The simplest is a plain earthenware jug. Put the coffee in a clean jar; add the boiling water; stir and place the jar on a low fire and allow to come nearly to the boil. Then add the coffee and stir slightly and the coffee is ready to be taken quickly. 6. A tablespoonful of cold water added at the above stage generally used. The coffee should be of the "American" or similar make and expounded in the kind as so not to put the bottom of the vessel in the fire. The water should be in fresh water immediately after roasting. When not in use, they should be kept in a basin of clean cold water.

Don't use poor grade or adulterated coffee. Don't burn it to a cinder in the oven or in a frying pan. Don't grind roughly for a week. Don't use hot water or plain boiled water. Don't leave it all to the boys and then blame the coffee if it isn't a success. Always— Don't forget that while to this Colony judge the quality of Kenya coffee by what you give them to drink.

The material is fine simply wonderful, you never saw such growth even through the draught, it gives crops potatoes all my life and in many others, but never have I seen anything like this lot and further it is not a question of "Ephos" and lime, I purchased the soil at the door from a Kikuyu boy.

CAR DESIGNING.

More Accessibility Wanted by Owners.

THE PUBLIC DEMAND.

There has never been a car made, the most universal of articles could find fault with it in no more or less detail, say on exchange. No doubt thousands of letters giving advice to car designers have flooded the waste-paper baskets of many a drawing office. But because a designer is so indifferent to the points of weakness and before him no competitor, there is a reason why the private owner should pay up with his indignation because the year comes that are offered to him are accepted in a spirit of delectation that prevents their return.

In the long run the proprietor is the head of the designing shop. The designer who attempts to bring a fall. The most numerous of machines used by designers may be expressed in terms of its personality, its appearance, its mere looking of the average owner than it is that some part which needs replacing or even partial attention is a fact that that that generally goes without.

A car might be one of the best on the road yet breeding with many faults that an experienced motorist would allow has brought you to see it, but at the same time would tell him that this car contains many brilliant features, of design, the workmanship employed in it is of the highest standard and the materials throughout are of the very best. Indignantly the motorist throughout one beyond reproach and there is no doubt that the car will do at least an exceptional and useful working life.

INACCESSIBILITY.

If there are the only considerations which you intend to allow to weigh with you, and certainly they are the most important, all will not do. But do not forget that the car the others will require a certain amount of attention now and then, and it is to be regretted your purse and your temper will suffer. It is no fewer than thirty

A.I.S. Equipment.

TWO USEFUL ADDITIONS TO TOOL KIT.

Two novel and useful tools, which should form a welcome addition to every A.I.S. motor cyclist's tool kit, are now being introduced by the makers in the re-appearing of their 1926 O.H.V. machines.

MISTAKES MADE.

And so it comes about at the present time, the most numerous mistakes made by designers may be expressed in terms of accessibility. Two parts of a car, the clutch spring and the clutch shaft, which are the most important, are perhaps more than any other other part of the mechanism which ought to be replaced most frequently and inexpensively. Turning to the front of the engine, there is at least one popular fault on the market which has done more harm to the car than any other. This is in many instances a source of trouble and annoyance to the motorist and the motorist that is offered to a purchaser with a belt in any essential part of its assembly must have, even experienced hands, led to a car which is a sensible judge in the future. The attachment of a belt on a motorist is now limited to one of three functions. During the operation of driving the fan and combining the drive, the last two often being combined, and a new development in it is difficult to see.

The buyer who should give a glance of a car that has a gear-driven speedometer, and a gear front of the chassis, all generally reveal if there are any of many signs of the impossibility, or, although one cannot be absolutely sure of any one in the report until one has driven it and maintained it for some time.

Roller-top Hood.

A NEW SUGGESTION FOR DESIGNERS.

It is surprising that no coach-builder or motor-body designer has yet explored the possibilities of a hood on the "roller-top" principle with a motorist's change.

What could be easier than to store the hood raised up behind the seat and run it when required, over a parallel track, of metal trackings to the front screen. This frame could have a rubber hugging against which the window, when raised, could abut, and would scarcely be noticed when the car was used as an open vehicle. The hood could be raised by a small motor housed inside the roller, which would push the "hull" up the rails, or a mechanical device could be incorporated. Ultimately the hood would be drawn up by means of wire concealed in the chassis. If more open touring cars could be provided with really easily operated hoods there is no doubt that the open automobile would regain its popularity much longer.

BRITISH VS. FOREIGN GOODS.
 Considerable public interest has been aroused by the debate which has taken place in the Nairobi Municipal Council in reference to the acceptance of tenders for paving in one case the tender was submitted by a British firm whose price was only a few hundred pounds in advance of that quoted by a well known German company. In the second instance, however, the German offer, which was the lowest tender, was £1,800 less than the British figure in a £4,000 purchase and the Council, although not unanimously, has decided that the German tender should be accepted provided that the loan money with which the bill has to be paid carries no obligation to spend the money in Britain. Those who favour the expenditure of the money in a foreign country do so from the grounds that they are considering the best interests of the enterprise and that the war and its immediate effects have not induced them to purchase any British goods. It is a sound business principle, all things being equal, to buy in the cheapest market and had conditions been similar in this particular case, we believe that the Town Council would have been right in their decision. But we submit that there are grounds for arguing that the Council has been a little more than a little bit discouraged, they will take steps to reverse their attitude, and, as such, we are in a position to enter into some speculation with foreign countries. Applied by and generally taking other things into consideration, it seems that British firms tendered for the paving work on the last occasion in the first time, in the history of the Nairobi Corporation, in which a tender for public work in this British Colony has been given to a foreign country. The advertisement calling for tenders for the paving was published on May 15 and the date for accepting offers was fixed for June 1, just over four days later. Three offers of British (and foreign) companies had to be called dates of requirements in order that their principals might be in a position to tender at all. Specifications communicated by cable are necessarily abbreviated otherwise the work is considerable, and it is suggested that one reason why the British quotations were so much higher than their foreign competitors was perhaps due to the incomplete nature of the information at their disposal and the short period within which they had to make up their minds. It is common knowledge that this paving, by adding to the water main from Kisumu to Nairobi was contemplated six months ago and had, at that time, it could not delay for a long time. There would have been ample time for them to get the complete particulars and to make enquiries with view to send him. It is suggested that the British firms were handicapped in this respect by the fact that the tenderers were invited at a moment when a new tender had arrived in British in the afternoon and it was not unreasonable to suppose that British firms were in a position to enter into any competition with foreign companies, applied by and generally taking other things into consideration, it seems that British firms tendered for the paving work on the last occasion their prices were lower than those of last year, but conditions of industry in British and in Germany are so widely different today that we believe some allowance must be made in a British Colony in favour of the Home manufacturer. It is in the case, as some of the Council members stated, that the iron trade which are being exported are surrounded for distribution within the Empire. The advance made by the Kenya Government to the Nairobi Municipality as in contemplation of the Colonial Loan (for the £10,000,000 transport loan) by the Colonial Loan will be raised in a series of short term loans in the Dominions. It is, however, extremely unlikely that the Colonial Loan will be raised in Germany and it is reasonable to assume that the money, which the Town Council is so readily ready to have been borrowed from British or Imperial sources. That being so, we consider that a moral obligation lies upon the Nairobi Town Council to give every endeavour to spend the money in British territory. Kenya is very heavily indebted to the Imperial Treasury for past financial assistance in the form of grants-in-aid, for free of interest and for the capital with which, were it not for the interruption of Imperial Preference, Africa is extended to Western Africa in the form of every other part of the Empire and it is in our opinion, even to-day, one of the best markets for British goods which they are imported. It is very generally in need of every day and the industry can receive a great benefit and only to the Empire. Why? The Shaving Stick absorbs a certain amount of moisture when in use. By keeping two GILBES Cold Cream Shaving Sticks and using them on alternate days, the 48 hours rest allows the moisture to evaporate, thus restoring the skin to normal. Hollow Coffee Beans.

A COMPLAINT REGARDING KENYA GROUP.

By the last mail the Secretary of the Coffee Planting Union of Kenya and East Africa received from a London firm of Coffee Roasters stating that, particularly in last season's crop, Kenya coffee contained a percentage of beans which, when roasted, turned a yellow color instead of the normal dark brown, and these yellow beans, when bitten, are found to be almost hollow and have an unpleasant taste.

The letter goes on to state that on several occasions these samples of Kenya coffee have been reported on account of the flavour imparted by such beans and continue to have been given for coffee from some other country.

The firm in question have brought this matter to the notice of the President of the C. P. U. who is now in London, and is enlisting the help of some of their members, who in England, in tracing the cause and finding the remedy.

A suggestion has been put forward that the process of coffee drying should be stopped at the end of the working process. Another suggestion is that the rate of rise in 1953 was about three times normal, but this does not appear to extend the over-ripening period during the ripening process. It is stated that these yellow beans, although more prevalent in the "B" and "C" grades, are by no means non-existent in the "A" grade. This is a matter into which the Kenya Coffee Industry should immediately make thorough investigation. It is likely as in the washing process in the first instance, it is impossible for these beans to be eliminated in the process of other? It is possible that the degree of such beans greater in country of origin or London-dried coffee?

Comments and suggestions sent to the Secretary, Coffee Planting Union of Kenya and East Africa, P.O. Box 983, Nairobi, will be greatly appreciated.

AUCTION BRIDGE MADE EASY.

No. 4. ASSESSING A HAND.

(By Peter V.)

There are still a few more good players to be had before we have the auction phase of the game. The common principle is to play a hand which is better than the odds have dealt you four aces.

The great art of making is to know exactly what your own partner is doing. You can get the hand and when you appear to be in a position to make a bid, you can bid to suit your partner's hand.

All things considered, though the light of it is to bid the right thing, always, I believe it is better to bid, and had thought it certainly, than consistently to underbid.

It is not enough to know the value of the cards in your hand, but you must also know the value of the cards in your partner's hand.

It is not enough to know the value of the cards in your hand, but you must also know the value of the cards in your partner's hand.

It is not enough to know the value of the cards in your hand, but you must also know the value of the cards in your partner's hand.

Take the double out. It is rather like having a partner who is not a partner at all. It is rather like having a partner who is not a partner at all.
