THE S.A. CHAMPIONSHIP
The results of the Johannesburg tournament are as follows:
Dr. Hingston (Johannesburg), 75 points, first; with the title of South African champion; Ernest Chantson (Johannesburg), 67 points, second; and third place, Guyton (Kaptein) took 64 points; and the second and third places, Guyton (Kaptein) took 64 points; and the second and third places, Guyton (Kaptein) took 64 points.

White to play. Extract his move and mate Black in two.
Q is in the Companion.
White should have moved in two, instead of proceeding to do so.
But look at his last move and show the mate in two which he should have made.

Only one attention will meet the full points will be obtained by those who find White's move.

The Greatest Values in Motor Car History

The new Buick models for 1926 now offer the greatest values in motor car history.

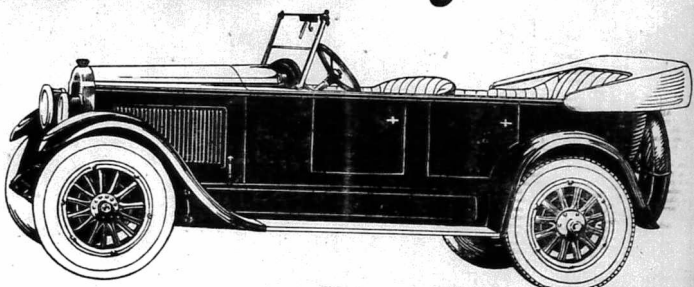

Important improvements in chassis construction add to strength, simplicity and performance. Refinements in body designs increase attractiveness and comfort.

The Buick you buy today is unmatched for power, speed, and ease and safety of control. No car of its size and power can rivet it in economical petrol consumption.

Quality, refinement and surpassing finish is found at every point. Lift the bonnet and you will be surprised at the beautiful sleek, clean design of the engine. Its gleaming finish is in marked contrast to other engines.

Not even a spark plug is visible—for they are concealed by a quick-detachable cover which protects them from injury and moisture. A few turns on the wing nuts and the valve cover is removed and all the overhead valve mechanism is exposed to view. Each valve is instantly accessible and easily adjusted. Every part of this beautiful mechanism is as carefully made and finished as a watch—yet it embodies with this refinement the strongest type of valve construction known.

And as it is with every detail of construction—each part carefully machined—perfectly finished, but possessing strength and wearing qualities beyond all belief.

Keep two sticks in use
 — saves money

Why? The Shaving Stick absorbs a certain amount of moisture when in use. By keeping two Gillette Cold Cream Shaving Sticks in use, you alternate daily, the one used first allows the moisture to evaporate, thus restoring the skin to normal. Each stick when changed gives you many more shaves than the other. The Cold Cream Shaving Stick GILLETTE is an excellent skin soother and secures the most sensitive skin the full delight of a Cold Cream Massage.

Competing for Markets in South Africa.
MYSTERY BUILDING AT MAHITZBURG.

Recently it was stated that a new theatre and a new lounge were to be erected in Mahitzburg this year on the site at the junction of Church Street and Commercial Road.
 It appears that a good deal of mystery surrounds the operations of the two firms, opposed with the building of the new theatre, and though the occupying owners sites have been practically all sold, no new building has yet been begun.
 A representative of a big American motor firm, with large interests in South Africa, which is contemplating the erection of a large factory in Natal, gave it as his opinion that the delay was due to the prospect of a big film-producing company acquiring adequate and suitable buildings for headquarters in this country, and that the South African interests concerned were waiting to see what steps their competitors are likely to take.
 The visitor who spoke with some authority further informed the Natal Times that the American company had given a "boost" to South Africa in the United States. A big limited company in New York it was stated would shortly be making a representative tour to make reports, while the Film Corporation, were particularly anxious to get a footing. The "Metro-Goldwyn" Company was particularly mentioned having ambitions in this direction going to the fact that they already possessed theatres in practically all the big cities of the other Colonies.

 Much in the United States were now beginning to report South Africa as a country ripe for exploitation and offering a promising field for large-scale investments.

MOTURING TOPICS

CAR INSURANCE.

Risks to be Covered Should be Adequate.

PERILS AND MEANINGS

Having made the distinction of scope of compulsory cover, which has been made in two opinions as to the advisability of motor insurance for all motorists owners. Today probably more than 60 per cent of motorists on the road are insured, and the percentage of new cars taking the road insurance is negligible if what we are told is true with regard to the production of time payments, because insurance is a size case of life insurance.

That is one of the reasons why the "pay as you ride" system, the more modern system, the benefits of insurance forced on the attention from the first. It is common knowledge, however, that car owners insure their cars in a fashion that can be described as a curate's egg. Few, it is to be feared, read their policies, and few still understand them.

The scope of this article does not permit of extended explanations; but the principal points to be considered by the car owner are not so that they can readily determine by reference to their policy whether it constitutes adequate protection. That is to say, adequate in the light of experience. Some understand the very best, and others understand nothing at all. It is possible that, generally speaking, the policy meets the conditions laid out in the latter possession to the present state of knowledge.

In the first place, in choosing the policy to which it is desirable to refer to the "driving factor." Most, but not all, policies "settlements are made on a cash basis." It is important to know the mode of settlement to be used in the event of an accident. Having decided upon the office, the next point is as to what risks should be covered.

RISKS TO BE COVERED. The policy should grant unlimited third party insurance, and include all statutory tests. The cover should be extended to its full value against the following: Damage from accidental causes, and by accident resulting from negligent breakdown or wear and tear.

DAMAGE TO THE CAR. The next risk is that of accidental damage to the insured car. Several phrases are used to describe what insurers intend to cover in this connection. "Damage caused by accidental external causes" excluding mechanical breakdown, is fair alike to insure and insure.

Mechanical breakdowns or breakdowns must be covered for payment under an extra premium. What the foregoing covers are accidental damage resulting from mechanical breakdown—collision, overturning, or dragging in roadway as the result of mechanical breakdown or wear and tear—which is quite another thing.

THIRD-PARTY RISKS. Taking the risks covered by a policy should be considered that does not meet ordinary cover against the legal liability to third parties. Part of defining what is law, brought with the consent of the insurers, should be included. The car owner should be a demanded while it is desirable, but not necessarily the case, to AGRICULTURAL REVIEW OF KENYA IN 1925. Effect of Partial Failure of Rains. METHODS OF PRODUCTION.

On Giving Place to the Motor Tractor.

LOCAL FOOD PRICES.

In a country which is largely dependent on the soil for its staple food articles, it is not surprising that the Government, as represented by the Department of Agriculture, is engaged in the work of securing a steady supply of food for the population. It is a common-sense policy to encourage the production of local foodstuffs...

REVENUE.

Table with columns: Particulars, Amount, Balance. Includes items like Agricultural Produce, Income Tax, and Excise.

INCREASED WORK.

The volume of work passing through the Department of Agriculture in Kenya has increased in many respects during the year 1925. This is very noticeable in the work done in connection with the various schemes for the improvement of the soil...

A GENERAL REVIEW.

The Agricultural Year 1925 was very variable, and not much rain has been received up to the end of the year. The total rainfall was generally up to the average, but in some districts it was considerably below the average...

Keep two sticks in use — saves money

Why? The shaving stick absorbs a certain amount of moisture when in use. By being used and using them on alternate days, the 48 hours rest allows the moisture to evaporate, thus restoring the soap to normal. Each wears longer and gives many more shaves (1) the stick. The Cold Cream Shaved into GIBBS is an excellent jelly soap and smooths the most sensitive skin, and gives all the delight of a Cold Cream Massage.

THE SEVENTH SHOW
The seventh show of the Kenyan Horticultural Society, which was held at the Victoria Hotel, Nairobi, on June 21st and 22nd, was a most successful one. It was the largest show yet held in Nairobi, and attracted a large number of visitors from all parts of the country. The show was held in the Victoria Hotel, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion. The exhibits were of a high standard, and the arrangements were excellent. The show was a great success, and it is hoped that it will encourage more people to take an interest in horticulture.

CAR INSURANCE.

Risks to be Covered Should be Adequate.

PREMIES AND REINSURANCE.

Under the heading of "defects" should be "burglary, household goods, jewelry, and theft," with which there can be no dispute. The policy ought to be operative even if the car be successfully damaged or not in other words, damaged occurred in an attempt to steal it ought to be covered. Some policies exclude the theft of accessories or the car and the accessories to completion of the second. This is detrimental to the insured, as in the event of a theft of the car, the policyholder is left with a car which is not his own. In offering a policy the insured should be asked to limit the term of all claims. Good advice is to pay the full premium and to have the office bear all the risks in the least adequate policy in the market. Since it is not possible to give full and adequate explanations, but appears correct.

REMOVAL OF DAMAGED CAR.

A policy-holder ought to be in a position to recover the reimbursement of removing a damaged car from the site of a mishap to his property and to have charge for its removal to the limit. There ought to be no limitation that such expenses will be borne by insurance.

only to the nearest competent repairer," and up to a certain percentage of the cost of repairs. The condition of the policy with regard to the manner in which repairs are to be effected are of great importance. A policy that requires the owner to take repairs in hand up to a certain amount undoubtedly offers some advantages, but it is not possible to determine at this time whether a given damage will cost more to repair than to replace it.

Under one popular policy the holder has the right to let the necessary work in hand of some one else, or to have the car repaired by the observation of certain technical facilities. This clause is a valuable one, but it is not always delays incidental to transportation to the satisfaction of the insured.

The exact provisions of the policy on this point are worth the careful attention of every insured policyholder. A policyholder is generally better off in the hands of a company that makes no distinction of different policies. The practice of separating different risks is open to great objection, because it is not possible to compare the merits of different policies. The practice of separating different risks is open to great objection, because it is not possible to compare the merits of different policies.

Before buying a policy the intending insured may be advised as to whether it should cover against the risk of mechanical breakdown. Assuming the absence of his present interest, to cover the risk and having a preference, he should certainly do so, because by doing so he will insure a much fairer protection than is given by the motor's guarantee under the terms of which, as a rule, he can recover only the cost of a defective part, whereas under the terms of a properly drafted policy he recovers the whole of the reasonable expenses he may incur. There should be no limitation of qualification, however, of the phrase "mechanical breakdown," which has proved satisfactory up to the time of writing.

TOTAL LOSS.

Practically all policies nowadays agree to the placement of value of the car and the policyholder regards this as settling his troubles should his car be completely destroyed. As a matter of fact, they are not so simple as they appear. These companies will never admit a total loss until the car is sold or until a single undamaged part is found. As a result, the car may be rebuilt. As it stands, the insured is of little importance. As has been seen, the amount recoverable in case of total loss should be the full value of the car agreed upon at the time of insuring, and not merely its second-hand value when destroyed, which may be small in a market glutted with used cars.

EXTRAS AND EXCEPTIONS.

This has been covered elsewhere. Most of them include a certain amount to cover medical expenses. But to secure adequate compensation for personal injuries the insured is asked to pay extra. In one particular instance, however, this is covered in the premium rate, together with liability to the public for damage to property, goods or interests due to fire, which is not usually included.

The same policy allows compensation for loss of use of car while laid up, which is unusual. Whether a bonus is allowed where no claim is made within a prescribed time, still, to what extent, is hardly a matter that falls to be dealt with here, although, if it does, the amount of premium is affected.

Excesses, which have been mentioned here and there, and usually breakdown loads, together with damage up to a limit by fire or self-accident. To these may be added load loss, which is not usually included. The Truck that Brockway Builds

The Dominant Factor

The dominant factor back of the time-honored BROCKWAY policy is a basic principle. No product can be better than the Company which produces it. From the inception of the BROCKWAY MOTOR TRUCK, the whole purpose of the BROCKWAY Company has been to build in accordance with the best practice known to the art. To keep pace with the scientific mechanical development of the Automotive Industry. Build right and Serve fairly, and success is the inevitable result. This is the law on which permanence is founded.
The BROCKWAY MOTOR TRUCK CORPORATION is a glowing example of the reward which always follows a strict adherence to right principles.
BROCKWAY TRUCKS make good because they are built right and BROCKWAY Service keeps them right.

MOTERING TOPICS

BACK FIRES.

Their Causes and How to Avoid Them.

THREE TYPES.

Most manufacturing establishments regard backfires as a by-product of the combustion process, and in the case of a motor car, explosion in the exhaust pipe, and a "backfire" of the engine, as an accident.

The first is caused by a popping or banging noise under the hood, a faint detonation described as "backfiring into the carburettor." The cause, performance is due generally to the mixture being too weak. To remedy this the petrol supply to the engine must be increased either by closing out the carburettor and running any obstructions in the passage, fitting a larger jet, or—if an extra valve is used—by closing the supply valve.

Under less frequent causes are a sticking and valve or impudently working plug, and a partially closed pet or partially blocked fuel pipe. The firing in the latter case, receives less of power and is, by its nature, as likely to be dangerous, as by this means the petrol in the carburettor may possibly catch fire.

Although serious trouble is not likely to result, in many cases, the defect could be remedied at once.

As mentioned by the first case it is not removed by many insurance policies.

SILENCER EXPLOSIONS.

Explosions in the silencer are the most nearly always to accompany the first two cases. When happens in this case, it is usually caused by the gas passing through the silencer, and is exploded by the exhaust down from another cylinder. Here, again, is the only danger likely to be due to the silencer, but the noise is objectionable, and, of course, more preventable by a better silencer.

Generally this trouble is due to a faulty sparking plug, or may be caused by incorrect adjustment of the valve, distributor break, or loose timing mechanism.

THE BACKFIRE PROPER.

A backfire proper, which is better termed a "back-blow," may occur when the engine is being started in an earlier day was responsible for many engine troubles. When motor cars were first produced, the engine was usually started with which an engine nearly always backfires, and the cause is the ability of the engine to start.

With magnetic ignition there is a small likelihood of getting a back-blow, as the magnetism usually delivers very little current unless the engine is rotated rapidly, while it is only when the engine is started slowly that danger from a back-blow can arise. If the engine be started on the magnets with the electric spark it is almost impossible to get a back-blow.

In the case of battery ignition it is very common to get a back-blow, and with very little gas in the engine cylinder. The cause is the electric spark attempting to start the engine, but with very little gas in the engine cylinder. The cause is the electric spark attempting to start the engine, but with very little gas in the engine cylinder.

When practically every car has an electric engine-starter, the back-blow is not so common. Its danger may be due to the fact of the starting gear not being disengaged, or to the fact of the battery drain on the engine.

A good plan is to set the ignition lights right for starting and spin the engine with the switch in the "off" position. Previous spinning will do no good, and may even be harmful, so that a sharp jerk only will be necessary.

As a precaution against damage to the arm or wrist, however, the thumb should be placed inside the fingers under the grip of the starting handle. Consequently, if the engine backfires, when the handle is about half-way up, the fingers are merely forced downwards and upwards, and are not likely to be hurt.

Generally this trouble is due to a faulty sparking plug, or may be caused by incorrect adjustment of the valve, distributor break, or loose timing mechanism.

The Battery.

EARLY INDICATIONS OF DISCHARGING.

Everyone realizes that if the lights burn dim when the engine is not running, and the battery is not very much indicated, the battery is low. In reality it is much more than this, and indicates that the battery is almost completely discharged—so far gone, indeed, that its effective current flowing becomes noticeably reduced, even with a very small current drawn.

Ordinarily, when this condition is reached, the starter will not operate or will, at the most, crank the engine extremely slowly.

Long before this condition is reached, the "large" condition, its partial depletion will become evident to anyone who watches the headlights, when the starter is being used.

FALLING VOLTAGE.

When the starter is operated with the lights on, the latter will usually dim appreciably when the battery is at full charge, and if it is approaching discharge the dimming will be very much more marked, and finally the cranking speed will be decidedly reduced.

The driver should watch the lights while cranking the engine, as he can thus obtain ample warning of the battery's approaching exhaustion.

When the driver notes that the lights have somewhat dimly with the engine idling very slowly, and that they brighten to normal candle-power when the engine is momentarily speeded up to the point at which the generator begins to furnish a normal charging current, he can safely conclude that the battery is well along toward discharge, for, evidently, its voltage has begun to fall and this does not occur until the charge is well toward exhaustion.

OVERLOADING LIGHTS.

In case the lights are dim when the engine is slowly idling, and become brighter when the lights should when the car is running at the higher road speeds, it indicates that the generator is not furnishing its usual output and is not receiving its usual charging current, usually on the occasion of a fault in the charging circuit, between the junction point and the battery, although the defective connection may be at one of the battery cable terminals or at the "earth" on the car frame, in which case trouble will first be indicated by failure of the starter to operate.

Whenever abnormally high generator voltage thus manifests itself, by over-burning of lights, its cause should at once be removed, as its effect is not only to burn out bulbs but, to endanger the generator itself, burn the distributor points, and to over-heat the ignition coil. The sudden absence of lights that have been burning brightly is usually the sign of a short-circuit. (Exchange)

Keep two sticks in use
— saves money

Why? The Gillette Shaving Stick achieves a certain amount of moisture when in use. By keeping two GIBBONS Cold Cream Shaving Sticks and using them on alternate days, the 42 hours rest allows the moisture to evaporate, thus restoring the skin to normal. The longer you keep two in use, the more the skin wears longer and gives many more shaves to the stick. The Cold Cream Shaved Stick GIBBONS is an emollient that soothes and secures the most sensitive skin and gives all the delight of a Cold Cream Massage.

CLOAKS AND SHAWLS.

[BOX ON TOP OF CORRESPONDENT.]

London, May 27.
 Naturally the papers are full on fashion groups. Accord to the Times, tulle cloaks or coats with white design shawl is the fashion.
 They are usually trimmed with the fur of the season which they match the color with which they are worn. Other evening wraps of new satin, are out with their cloaks and appear on the scene of the gown for the year which have the color in hand. Some of the patterned fashions are very beautiful and are worn in strange drapery a silver tulle has crushed roses, and dice and checks and pinks that are made of metal backgrounds made more easily fringed. Some of the new day wraps and coats for the season are made of light fur.
 Shawls are still worn, the new ones are not so different to those of the previous season or Chinese shawl. Many of them are made of broad scarves and they are sometimes embroidered, and are usually fringed. Some of the new day wraps and coats for the season are made of light fur.
 A new fancy rayon material is also being made into coats and one smart coat of this material in black has passed Paris and silver tassels attached to slender soft ends.

According to the "Express," which says the Government authorities of Kenya Uganda and the Tanganyika territories are hereby informed that since the establishment of the firm of A. M. Jevanjivji & Co. the same firm has been and is the property of four all sons of Mulla Jevanjivji. Trading on the Territory partners, viz. Alibhai, Golembhadi, Hriday and Jivrajivji and the Bank, are informed that any business dealings or financial transactions carried on with Yusuf Alibhai son of Alibhai Mulla Jevanjivji will be considered null and void at the risk of the person carrying on such transactions.

boys will be seen practically everything, even on bathing dresses and caps but the fashionable hats for wear on land are most desirable of remaining Another of the season's novelties is a smart hat now made into a cap, according to the state of the weather. This hat will make its official appearance at Ascot and many beautiful gowns of the material have been displayed at Dress Shows. An attempt will be made to resist these large hats but if the women with more dignified heads, and more rigid dress the picture models, they will wear the smallest hats seen in London for some years.

The truck that Brockway Builds

The Dominant Factor

The dominant factor back of the time-honored BROCKWAY policy is a basic principle. No product can be better than the Company which produces it. In accordance with the best practice known to the art, the whole purpose of the BROCKWAY Company has been to build in accordance with the best practice known to the art. To keep pace with the scientific mechanical development of the Automotive Industry. Build right and Serve fairly, and success is the inevitable result. This is the law on which permanence is founded. The BROCKWAY MOTOR TRUCK CORPORATION is a glowing example of the reward which always follows a strict adherence to right principles. BROCKWAY TRUCKS make good because they are built right and BROCKWAY Service keeps them right. CAPACITY 1 1/2 TONS.
