

Popular with the Railroads

GREAT Railways know transportation as no other organizations in the world. Their opinion of any truck should be a good indication of that truck's worth—good advice to follow.

These railways buy hauling units on a cold money basis per ton-mile of service delivered, and they buy Internationals. Seeking operating economy and truck stamina that lasts for years, they rely on Internationals.

And not only the railroads, but the leading express companies of the United States and Canada, working hand-in-hand with the railroads, use International Trucks.

These railroads own International Automotive Equipment

Ladies!

Do you ride a Motor Cycle? If not, you're missing one of the most enjoyable, healthy, exhilarating of outdoor pastimes.

Motor cycling is becoming increasingly popular among ladies, and B.S.A. Motor Cycles, of course, and consistent reliability, are the ideal machines for lady riders. This is proved by the many competition successes gained by ladies riding B.S.A. Motor Cycles. Quite recently Miss K. M. Kerridge, riding a B.S.A., won the Ladies' Cup in the Wright Cup Trial.

TEACH THE MAGAZINE
MUSICAL APPRECIATION
 Native Text for English Classes.

JUBILEE RECITAL

Updates Texts to Refer to Duke's Coronation Feast.

By a Visitor to Uganda.
 It has for some time past been noticed by students of English literature that the black race possess a definite aptitude for musical expression. Naturally this aptitude has been most highly developed where the natives have been exposed to the stimulus of European education, that is in the southern states of America and the West Coast of Africa.

But in central Africa, which has been more recently opened up, there is evidence that the same aptitude is not wanting, and the Magazines in particular have shown a remarkable aptitude for such foreign music as has come their way. From the first it has been the policy of the Church Missionary Society in Uganda to teach the converts English music. It has sent many enthusiastic able-bodied heads and ask why African native melodies cannot be converted to Christian use, the answer of many missionaries who work mainly in that their opinion African native music is too crude and its potential value as too slight for it to form any adequate foundation for a musical education.

With this opinion the present writer has not yet found any occasion to disagree. Moreover, the natives themselves seem to take little interest in their own traditional music, but prefer to hear anything of European origin, good, bad, or indifferent which they can procure.

It seems therefore not to be an exaggeration to say that the music of the East African is not yet found any occasion to disagree. Moreover, the natives themselves seem to take little interest in their own traditional music, but prefer to hear anything of European origin, good, bad, or indifferent which they can procure.

It is not surprising that the music of the East African is not yet found any occasion to disagree. Moreover, the natives themselves seem to take little interest in their own traditional music, but prefer to hear anything of European origin, good, bad, or indifferent which they can procure.

MISSIONARY WORK IN CHINA

Progress Despite Climatic Conditions.

Portrait of a Pioneer.

FROM THE "STANDARD"

At the beginning of the century the mission of the Christian Church in China was almost entirely confined to the cities of Shanghai, Tientsin, and Hankow. The missionaries of that time were almost entirely of the Protestant faith. They had been in China for some years, but they had not yet begun to penetrate into the interior of the country. It was not until the year 1842, when the Treaty of Nanking was signed, that the Christian Church was permitted to send missionaries to the interior of China. Since that time the number of missionaries has increased steadily, and the work of the Christian Church in China has become more and more extensive.

He described the wide scope of the National Christian Council in its work for the indigenous Church—education, questions of administration, and the question of rural extension. "It has opened and maintained a school for Chinese Christian leaders of a sort which has no parallel elsewhere, and extending the educational movement, but not to the point of sending them away from home, but rather to see that they have a place in the community and can have a voice in leading it in the right way."

"I am convinced, said Father Balme, that the National Christian Council is a force of great power. It has brought a number of things into being, which, if they were not there, would be almost impossible to bring into being. It is the only body of its kind in China, and it is the only body which has the cooperation of all the nationalities in the Christian Church in China."

STUDEBAKER
 BUILDERS OF QUALITY VEHICLES FOR 75 YEARS

Three Tests of Thoroughbreds

Three tests determine whether a horse is a thoroughbred. Apply these same tests to your next automobile.

First, its posture: The Studenbaker name has stood for satisfaction and honest value for 75 years. Today Studenbaker is the world's largest exporter of high-powered motor cars.

Second, judge its performance: Ride through traffic in top gear, at a walking pace, or over the highway. Try to engage its under power that makes its mounts of mud. Release it away silently behind you. Relax in graded comfort as it zooms forward. Four-wheel brakes give easy maneuverability in every phase of mind while riding in this luxurious car.

Third, does it look the part of a thoroughbred? The President's luxurious all-steel body, gleaming with luxurious lacquers and solid trim, sets it apart from ordinary cars.

CONCRETE IN THE FURNACE.

No. 2.

Concrete Blocks.

There is, perhaps, nothing more easily made than a concrete block, and these blocks are used for so many purposes, the firm worker who has had little or no experience of concrete do better than begin by making them.

ADVANTAGES.

Concrete blocks have many advantages here and a few—

- (1) They can be made by unskilled labour.
- (2) They are strong, durable and fire-resistant.
- (3) They are damp-proof and termite-proof.

METHODS OF PRODUCTION.

Concrete blocks may be made in a mould, or they may be made on a table or form. If it is expected that the concrete will be made on a table or form, it may be desirable to set up a block-making machine of which there are many types on the market. The oldest and simplest of these is the greater outdoor block machine, but very well made indoor models, which a handy man can work together.

MOULDING.

Now a block mould is in the shape there is just an ordinary wooden box. This is filled with the wet concrete, which is allowed to set. When the block is set, it is removed from the mould. It is then allowed to set in the open air, and the block is then ready for use.

The next step is to mix the concrete. This is done by mixing the cement, sand, and water in the correct proportions. The mixture is then poured into the mould and allowed to set.

When the blocks are removed from the mould, they may be used for a variety of purposes. They can be used for building walls, or for making floors, or for making steps.

AGGREGATE.

The choice of aggregate is very important. It should be of a size which will give the concrete the best possible strength. It should also be of a size which will allow the concrete to be worked easily.

WORKING.

The concrete should be worked as soon as it is poured into the mould. This will ensure that it is well mixed and that there are no air bubbles in it.

SETTING.

The concrete should be allowed to set in the open air. It should not be covered with a wet cloth, as this will prevent it from setting properly.

the wet mixture may leak through. Upon the point that concrete which fills the mould is deposited. When concreting is done in this manner, the block may be the correct size and shape. It may be made in a mould, or it may be made on a table or form. It may be made in a mould, or it may be made on a table or form.

KING OF ROUMANIA DEAD.

Little Prince Aged Five Succeeds to the Throne.

STRUGGLE FOR POWER.

Fared Coup d'etat by Supporters of Ex-Crown Prince.

After an illness lasting many months the death occurred on Wednesday King Ferdinand of Rumania.

The latter years of the King's reign were troubled by numerous intrigues and at one time rumours of a pending abdication were prevalent. For some time past attempts had been made by the supporters of the Crown Prince, Carol, to secure the royal return to the country and finally were expressed to the King's death should be followed by a coup d'etat by the fanatical supporters of the late King.

Before King Ferdinand died, arrangements were made for the accession to the throne of Michael, the youngest son of the late King, and the government of the country during his minority by a Regency Council which has already entered upon its duties.

It is not unlikely that there will be some further effort on the part of the Carolists to put their former King on the throne.

EAST AFRICA AT TRADE FAIRS.

Arranging for Representative Exhibits.

NATIVE CURIOUS.

The following press communication has been received from the representative of the East African Department, British and Indian Exhibition, London.

The British and Indian Exhibition, London, has been appointed to exhibit the products of East Africa at the Empire and Trade Fairs in the United Kingdom for the year 1925. It is the responsibility of the East African Department for securing representative exhibits from the East African States and for their exhibition at the British and Indian Exhibition, London, as an indication of the progress of the native industries of the continent.

The Commissioner has pointed out that the increasing number of Exhibitors in which he offers now taking part entails a further quantity of exhibits, both made available in London. Such exhibits, in the form of raw materials, finished goods, or manufactured products, which are of interest to the Government, should be sent to the Commissioner in the form of "sample" goods to be exhibited, special displays of the products of the continent.

The Commissioner is particularly anxious to secure small quantities of exports and products of frequent interest and points out that native handicrafts, such as beads, are of particular interest at all Exhibitions and that specimens from each of the exhibitors are urgently required.

Specimens should be sent to the Commissioner through the Government Department concerned. The Commissioner is particularly anxious to receive specimens of the following:—

1. Handicrafts, such as beads, shells, ivory, etc., which are of interest to the public.

2. Handicrafts, such as beads, shells, ivory, etc., which are of interest to the public.

3. Handicrafts, such as beads, shells, ivory, etc., which are of interest to the public.

EDUCATION IN UGANDA.

Attempt to Develop a Distinctive African Culture.

NATIVE ASPIRATIONS.

Encouraging Progress under a New Organization.

The annual report of the Uganda Education Department for 1925 is an illuminating document and it is to be hoped that the progress made under a new organization founded on a system which accords with the policy outlined in the memorandum issued by the Advisory Committee on Native Education in Tropical Africa.

The Department has endeavoured to develop African education in its own soil so as to foster the growth of a distinctive African culture which will be something more than a poor copy of Western culture.

The year 1925 has been the first year since the formation of the Department when the Department has been able to carry out its policy in accordance with the principles laid down in the memorandum issued by the Advisory Committee on Native Education in Tropical Africa.

Popular with the Railroads

GREAT Railways know transportation as no other organizations in the world. Their opinion of any truck should be a good indication of that truck's worth—good advice to follow.

These railways buy hauling units on a cold money basis per ton-mile of service delivered, and they buy Internationals. Seeking operating economy and truck stamina that lasts for years, they rely on Internationals.

And not only the railroads, but the leading express companies of the United States and Canada, working hand-in-hand with the railroads, use International Trucks.

These railroads own International Automotive Equipment

car Highlands of Tanganyika. The new Dodge motor cars are being used by the Government for the purpose of exploring the interior of the country and a station to be built in the interior of the country.

AN OAKLAND FEAT.

Not a stopping at a second tripping performed staged to capture the public, but just the ordinary ordinary journey on an Oakland car done in 24 days, is the following account of a recently completed expedition to the island of Lake Nyasa, 100 miles South of Nairobi and the interior.

The driver, an employee of the Motor Merchants Garage, Ltd., with a passenger by his side, Nairobi on June 21. Besides the human freight the Oakland had body carrying a heavy load of food, bed, tent, rifle, and motor equipment a total load of about 750 lbs.

The run to Nyasa and Arabia is too well known to describe in detail. The road is rough track across the Athi Plains, the deep pebbled trail from Langford to Arabia with the heavier stream bedded into deep gorges are things well known to many drivers. But south from Arabia to Tudman, so that double spots on the central line of the Tanganyika Railway, 270 miles of the most treacherous road, rocky and full of holes, ruts and strains that prove a real trial to the car.

Every day beds where the car sits nearly half deep in the mud and where the axle trees of strength is called upon to withstand the constant shock of the road.

After a long and arduous trip, the car was found to be in excellent condition. The motor and the rest of the car were in perfect order.

EXCELLENT PERFORMANCE. The fact that the Oakland has done this feat is a real feat.

standard car is better equipped than any other car of its class. The new Dodge motor cars are being used by the Government for the purpose of exploring the interior of the country and a station to be built in the interior of the country.

Popular with the Railroads

GREAT Railways know transportation as no other organizations in the world. Their opinion of any truck should be a good indication of that truck's worth—good advice to follow.

These railways buy hauling units on a cold money basis per ton-mile of service delivered, and they buy Internationals. Seeking operating economy and truck stamina that lasts for years, they rely on Internationals.

And not only the railroads, but the leading express companies of the United States and Canada, working hand-in-hand with the railroads, use International Trucks.

These railroads own International Automotive Equipment
