WORLD WIDE AVIATION.

Long Distance, Trans-Atlantic and African Flights.

SUCCESS AND DISAPPOINTMENT.

Captain Courtney's Delayed Effort Meets a Temporary Setback in Spain.

So many long distance flights are in process of preparation or execution that it is almost impossible to keep track of them.

The week end news gives details of Lieutenant Bentley's attempt to travel alone to the Cape in fourteen days in a tiny "Moth," of a setback to Captain Courtney who is trying an East to West Trans-Atlantic flight and of the sudden termination of the journeys of the "Royal Windsor" and "Sir John Carling" across the "pond" from America.

The "Prize of Detroit" is moving steadily around the world and has landed at Addis Ababa, scene of a Mexican and American aerial splendor.

A Mexican Lieutenant, attempting a 2,222 miles over mountain and desert landed a thousand miles short of his objective.

A French attempt to cross the Atlantic from the European side has been defeated by a "MOTH".

TO THE CAPE IN A "MOTH".
 (BY WIRELESS.)

Highly Sept. 1. Last Bentley who left London this morning on a seven thousand miles trip to Cape in a light airplane in an Englishman and an instructor of the coast African Air Force.

His Moth machine fitted with a 25 to 30 horse power engine has an average cruising speed of 40 to 50 miles an hour.

He stands to follow the route taken by Sir Alan Cobham and with good fortune hopes to accomplish the trip in fourteen days.

The most difficult part of the trip, he thinks, will be over the Sudan. From Cairo he will follow the course of the Nile to Khartoum and thence to Livingstonia, Bulawayo, Johannesburg and Cape Town.

The Moth airplane which is fitted after has been named after Lieutenant Bentley's name who lives in Johannesburg.

Sept. 2. An official communique says that the British naval force yesterday carried out a successful punitive expedition against bias bay north of Hong Kong. There are no details available.

LIVING IN LUXURY.
 Fuller information is given in a Hong Kong message which states that the punitive expedition was the first since the capture of the pirate ships "Hercules," "Diana," "Vengeance," "Stella" and "Argo."

Five hundred men were landed and these proceeded to destroy the pirate houses in two villages, together with the junks.

The landing was of the most difficult nature, the boats carrying men specially trained for the operations being to be lowered inshore.

The Future of the Territory

While the problem of Federation of the East African Territories remains a subject of controversy in the north and is a process of being worked out in the south but it is necessary to a proper appreciation of the importance of the movements we understand something of the problems which are facing the Rhodesia in approaching one of the most important questions in her history. It can be assumed that the eyes of the world-gazing Colony of Southern Rhodesia are almost definitely turned to the north to the territory which is a ready spring of activity and indeed playing an important part in the formation of the greater Federation of the Empire. By Representatives of Southern Rhodesia are present in the House of South Africa, and it is not surprising that they should work out in the north a reasonable body of opinion. The Rhodesia is a territory which is not only a potential source of raw materials, but also a source of labour and capital. COMMON GOVERNMENT FOR THE TWO RHODESAS.

"Advantages Bound to Make Widening Appeal."

MINISTER'S STATEMENT.

Differences in Main Policy Likely to Present Difficulty

The most important subject of discussion at the moment in political circles, both in Southern and Northern Rhodesia, is that of the future relationship of the two territories.

Will Northern Rhodesia amalgamate with Southern Rhodesia? Or will Northern Rhodesia throw in her lot with the East African territories? Broadly these are the two main issues which the subject presents. There has, of course, been a suggestion that the Northern territory will divide, but such a possibility has not yet taken definite shape.

REPRESENTATIVE VIEWS.

The interests of the two countries are so similar that the advantages to each of a common government are bound to be wide and lasting.

This statement was made by a representative of the Rhodesia Council for Mr. Leggett in an interview. The Minister had just returned from a private visit to the north and he said that while he was in Livingstonia he received a good deal on the subject of amalgamation between Southern and Northern Rhodesia.

Some apprehensions exist in the minds of some people in Livingstonia that they will be prejudiced beyond their step in making choice of their future destiny. The feeling, indeed, is that if they should have plans of time in the order to secure that their interests will be fully safeguarded before they are in any way committed. Undoubtedly, the interests of the appointment of a representative of the Council of the Government in East and Central Africa and the reference to Northern Rhodesia contained in it has been much repeated opinion in Northern Rhodesia on the whole subject of its future.

Mr. Leggett, in a speech made in a meeting of opinion in favour of amalgamation with Southern Rhodesia, certain portions of the statement, in particular the Civil Service, and certain considerations in Livingstonia, consider their interests will be prejudiced by amalgamation with Southern Rhodesia. It appears to me that it would be quite possible, if not entirely to meet them, at least to go a long way in that direction.

Mr. W. E. Tregear, Vice-President of the Chamber of Commerce, in a speech on this subject, said that on these points, which are outside his province, he would not venture to speak. He would, however, mention that he had seen Mr. Leggett's statement and that it would be for the benefit of both areas if there is no question of interest between Northern and Southern Rhodesia. This problem, in any event, must be solved in the near future. It is a matter of time before the two territories will be united. War on Lions.

...to the native owners of the game. The Department has made a thorough investigation and has decided that the time has come to reduce the number of lions in the affected area by the employment of somewhat drastic measures. A white hunter has been engaged to do this work and will be instructed to shoot down as many lions as he can get his hands on during the next few months. The game warden advances an interesting theory for the removal of lions on the part of the local fauna and one that is likely to meet with general acceptance because it provides a reasonable statement of cause and effect. It is that the decrease in the number of lions is due to the fact that the lion is being hunted by the natives who are being encouraged to do so by the Government of the country. The warden stated that the lion is being hunted by the natives who are being encouraged to do so by the Government of the country. ROMANCE OF NEW YORK WATER SUPPLY.

How Roman Gerns are Destroyed.

DRAINAGE QUESTIONS.

The "romance" of the water supply of large cities was described by Professor Pak, Secretary-General of the Harvard University, in an address delivered in South Africa recently.

The water supply of New York, he said, was a tremendous affair, made of engineering wonders. The population contained over a half-billion gallons of water per day. This supply was carried by a system of aqueducts and underground conduits a distance of 150 miles and, before distribution, was chlorinated to destroy all disease germs.

No city in the United States used surface water. Professor Pak stated, and even the pipes water was treated with chlorine. The potency of chlorine as a germicide was one of the lessons learned during the last war.

More romantic even than water supply was the question of drainage, said Professor Pak.

"Less than 100 years ago people knew less about drainage even than children," he said.

Man who was the first sanitary engineer, knew almost nothing about it than they did. The usual way of getting rid of refuse was by throwing it out of the window.

Today people who realize the value of refuse as a fertilizer have in the meantime had less than the average, according to the Journal of the Sewerage and Sanitation Commission of the United Kingdom, and other sewer systems were now directed to the elimination of these diseases.

THE "SECOND STRINGS" OF UGANDA.

Prospecting Activity in Gold, Tin & Copper.

"STANDARD" CORRESPONDENT.

Kenya, June 20. Few visitors from Kenya seem to know that Kaimosi in Kenya, on the Belgian frontier, is probably the most beautiful spot in the whole of the Protectorate. Not only well-known and for a holiday is as delightful. But in Kaimosi you have a different sort of country which is well worth a visit. It is well known to perfection and affords most magnificent views. It is rumored that tin has been found in this district and already prospectors are at work. In Uganda, the neighboring Province, work was handed to the Belgian Congo. tin is already being worked. Some time ago you published a copy of a letter which was sent by Mr. Soriano to the Chamber of Commerce asking that a road be built from Kaimosi to join up with the Belgian roads on the other side and it is to be hoped that the Uganda Government will accede to the request. The Belgians are rapidly making roads on their side and, as the only economic outlet from the Congo is via Uganda, in the Coast it seems that we should construct similar roads on the side of the border.

The Districts of Toro and Ankole together with Ruwanda and Northern Tanganyika are the happy hunting ground of the mineral prospector. Enquiries have already been made to exploit beds of tin. Enquiries have been made on the slopes of the Ruwanda but it may be opened up. Mr. Bailey, who is quoted below, is well known and we expect to hear more of his line as he has discovered our "second string" might become a most useful one in agricultural product other than cotton.

YOU would be surprised how easy it is to make delicious cakes and cookies with Royal Baking Powder. When you consider the value of butter, eggs, flour, sugar and other ingredients, it is plain to see that you cannot afford to substitute anything other than Royal Baking Powder.

Bake it with Royal and be sure!
