TANGANYIKA LAND PROSPECTS.

A Pessimistic Survey by the Director of Agriculture.

SETTLERS INDIGNANT.

A report of the Director of Agriculture of Tanganyika on land and conditions between Kikimanyo and Mera...

Anyone unacquainted with the country reading this report would imagine a dry desert country with farmers sowing out a miserable and unproductive area...

The Director of Agriculture reports a further characterisation as 'unfair and grossly inaccurate in many of its statements.'

The Tanganyika Director of Agriculture in a recent official report on land for non-native settlers...

The report deals as follows: (1) The general conditions of the region with which it deals...

(2) THE COFFEE AREA. Although it is generally conceded, now, that no further allocation of lands in the Northern Province available for coffee should take place, the area occupied by coffee plantations...

(3) THE BERRIGALLI LOWER. It is now plain that the Berrigalli Lower is a very fertile area, and that the soil is of a high quality...

KAGERA (TANGA) TITFIELDS

In connection with an application for permission to drill in the company's share on the Stock Exchange the usual formal particulars of the Kagera (Tanganyika) Tinfields are now available. The Tinfields were formed last December by acquisition from the Tanganyika Goldfields prospecting licence which covers 330 square miles in Uganda.

The capital is £2,000 in 25 shares, of which 20,000 were issued for cash at par last February, and the remaining 10,000 will be issued equal to fully paid up.

The particulars advertised give information as to the nature of the prospecting work that has been done, but a circular letter to the shareholders, every copy sent by Mr. J. C. Manoe, M.P., M.C., states that the expenditure of 400 tons of concentrates has been effected.

THE WORK OF THE PLANT BREEDER.

An Invitation to Wheat Growers.

GOVERNMENT EXPERIMENTS.

The story of the search for disease proof wheat—a story of great importance to East Africa—is being told at Scott Laboratory. Wheat growers are invited to go and read the chapters themselves in the experimental plots.

"Kenya Governor", on which the Colony places its reliance at the moment, has disadvantages and risks, it carries no official certificate. As to sprouting. To realise the position it should be remembered that if, after years of experimental selection and crossing a real rust resister is found, it will take six or seven years to get a true type and having got a true plant it will be another five or six years before sufficient seed can be obtained for issue—twelve years in all. The Kenya wheat industry and the bread and flour business in East Africa as a whole, is therefore progressing amazingly well with varieties which do not possess a clean bill of health but it is as well that we should be alive to the uncertainty of the position and the immensity of the expert's disheartening job.

A maize recently appeared in the Standard inviting wheat growers to inspect the wheat plots at the Scott Agricultural Laboratory, near Nairobi, any day before June 30. To see what there is to do in the East African Standard about the matter has been concluded and the plea by Mr. J. E. Burton, the Government Plant Breeder, is as follows:

The reason for this invitation being issued is generally to be regarded as a matter of pressing a new kind of work which has been done, the result of which is so important that it will prove to be of the very greatest interest and value to all wheat growers in the Colony. This particular time has been chosen as it is the period best for growing in the open field of maize material. The first harvest will be a considerable help for the breeder of a new variety.

When Mr. Burton came to this country some six years ago he found the remains of the works of his predecessors, though all his wheat were very much rusted. He selected some few hundred types and also imported several hundred more from all over the world so that at the beginning of the work of the breeder consisted entirely of selecting material that he believed was best for going to his green acres. This was done as it is considered that the conditions were so unsuitable that the matter was not worth the account of the seed which was obtained from this wheat being shredded and in poor condition. It is doubtful how much of a well germinate. The attempt to obtain feasible multiplication having failed, this will now again be attempted.

BRIGHTER HOPES.

In spite of these conditions, about fifty varieties which have been grown have shown strong rust resistant tendencies and of these some in particular show great promise. It will be impossible to issue any seed for another two or three years, but experiments are completed, but it is proved to be so resistant to rust that the seed sent anticipated it should be of very great importance, especially in view of the fact that its sowing capacity should be no less than 50 per cent higher than that of the Kenya Governor. The Government Plant Breeder at present has objection which is at present being determined is the fact that the seed is not so good as it is and therefore weak.

CLIMATIC DIFFICULTIES.

Mr. Burton explained that when a cross is made, or a number of crosses, from perhaps 100,000 plants only 1 per cent may show some rust. Of this 1 per cent, although resistant to rust, it may be found that some suffer from weak straw, others from low chaff, others possess bad milling quality or are so susceptible to a leaf rust as to have their yield seriously reduced. The proportion of good plants is therefore very small.

Climatic conditions vary to such an extent in this country that more and more types are destroyed each year. The time has only come now, after many years of careful experimenting to decide which are the immune varieties, so that crosses may now be made. Having got a small rust resistant plant he will take six or seven years to get a true rust resistant plant, and a single true plant will take another six or seven years to get sufficient seed to be issued. If, therefore, a seed that it takes as much as ten or twelve years to get the results which are needed, and during all this time, presumably, difficulties may be encountered.

AT FIRST HAND.

At the Scott Laboratory, during the last fortnight which proved most of them than the types reported, which are being made. The experimental plots are now being sown and the extreme drought of this year has proved to be a "bitter" matter in having been destroyed by black stem rust and other diseases. The special irrigated plots and macroporous, the latter being sown by successive draughts and by lack of ventilation.

These plots are being harvested now, and those varieties which have not been completely destroyed, but are severely damaged, are going to be grown again. This will be done as it is considered that the conditions were so unsuitable that the matter was not worth the account of the seed which was obtained from this wheat being shredded and in poor condition. It is doubtful how much of a well germinate. The attempt to obtain feasible multiplication having failed, this will now again be attempted.

BRIGHTER HOPES.

Massey-Harris Now Handling the Wallis.

The Massey-Harris Co. Toronto, Canada, are now handling the Wallis Tractor, manufactured by the J. I. Case Farm Equipment Co. of Racine, Wis. It is a 12 h.p. tractor which will be known as the Massey-Harris Tractor. It is a 12 h.p. tractor which will be known as the Massey-Harris Tractor. It is a 12 h.p. tractor which will be known as the Massey-Harris Tractor.

After some time of careful trial today, it was decided that the Wallis Machine in their opinion was the best. It was decided to be made in the future. It was decided to be made in the future. It was decided to be made in the future.

In the year 1922 realizing the advantages of the cylinder head moving Tractor over the heavy bottom or single cylinder type, a Tractor was built to be known as the "Wallis Tractor" in 1924. It was built to be known as the "Wallis Tractor" in 1924. It was built to be known as the "Wallis Tractor" in 1924.

It is certified that the Wallis Tractor gives more power for more years at less expense than any other Tractor appearing in its weight and P.T.O. displacement.

A certificate signed by the man who built the Wallis Tractor for the high quality standard, but it is not economical operation of the Wallis Tractor is attached to each machine part before being shipped. This is a personal assurance from the man who built it to the man who purchases the Wallis, that from the raw material to the finished platform of the Wallis Tractor, construction has been thorough.

At the present time of Wallis Tractor it is the 12th year of Wallis Tractor in all times.

HAY FROM INDIGENOUS GRASSES.

To the Editor, "E.A. Standard":

I should be interested to learn whether any of your readers have made any hay from indigenous grasses of Kenya and if so, what was the variety?

(a) How did stock take to it?

(b) Was the food value considered to be high or low in its feeding?

(c) "It" grass suitable?

I enclose a cutting from "The Field" for May 1927, which should interest many growers of "Koma" etc.

ROYAL CORD Heavy Service Tyres built of sprayed rubber and web cord by the flat band method. These three famous United States Rubber Company inventions form the foundation for this modern tyre for the modern truck.

IN the building of this tyre United States Rubber Company Engineers took into consideration every element that affects truck tyre mileage. They had all the facts—the result of years of continuous study of truck operation. They had the advantage of having built the first pneumatic truck tyre—recognized for its dependant economical mileage.

This tyre has been specifically built for truck operation. Every detail of its construction has been designed to stand the most severe strains, the heaviest loads and the most unfavourable roads.

HERE is positive guaranteed tyre economy.

SMALL wonder motorists on five continents are discussing the extraordinary Erskine Six DeLuxe Sedan—Studebaker's new 24 1/2 horse car. It has established new standards of lighter performance. It has established new standards of automobile value!

Efficiency that reflects in every line the genius of a master designer. Lustrous blinding most costlier cars!

Sport car performance in this comfortable four-passenger sedan because of a lively, powerful six-cylinder engine. Sport smooth miles per hour. It is a work-horse. Light energy that will whip you up to 25 miles per hour in 8 1/2 seconds, or race up a 15% grade in top gear! Test your petrol economy of 25 to 35 miles per Imperial gallon. Safety as never before on a small car. Low-chang all steel body. Four wheel braking pulls you up instantly, safely, even on wet or slippery roads.

Value is so unprecedented in this new Erskine Six DeLuxe Sedan that experienced motorists all agree, how any organization, even with the resources of Studebaker, can build such a high quality automobile at so low a price. You see and send for the Erskine Six to appreciate it.

Oh, that Backache!

Apply SKF Ball Bearing Plummer Blocks to your shafting. SKF saves 15-20% of total power, 75% of friction losses, 50%-90% of lubricant bill, 15%-30% of belt costs, 40%-80% of maintenance costs.

THE SELF-ALIGNING FEATURE OF SKF BEARING

Rolls into place—No hot bearings through badly aligned shafting. Settling of floors, columns or other supports do not affect the bearings as with other types. Hence—Heavy repair bills and continual attention are eliminated.

Speed of Shafting can be increased

Hence—1. Smaller pulleys may be used. 2. Same power can be transmitted by smaller diameter shafting. 3. Belts may be narrower.

The maximum speed for Transmission Shafting is usually 450 R.P.M. With SKF self-aligning Ball Bearings the shafting may safely be run as high as 1000 R.P.M.
