MYSTERY OF THE GRAND DUCHESS ANASTASIA.

Soviet Officials Ridicule Claims.

THE TsAR'S FUTURE.

The whereabouts of the fortune of the late Tsar of Russia forms a subject of speculation in Berlin, in consequence of the absence of the Grand Duchess Anastasia.

It is in reality the Grand Duchess who would be entitled to all the wealth left by her murdered father. No one knows exactly what fate the Tsar did leave, as neither the information, but after the war, it is rumored his last money destination is money banks, including the Bank of England. At that time the late fortune was valued at estimated at between £5,000,000 and £10,000,000. The latter sum, however, is believed to be an exaggeration.

Whatever the amount there is no doubt that Tsar left a fortune and that the future ownership of it has yet to be determined.

Claim to be Tested.

Soviet officials in Moscow ridicule the story that the Grand Duchess Anastasia is still alive. They state that the whole Roman Imperial Family is extinct and that official announcement of the list of the "suspected" at Eastborough in 1918 include the name of Anastasia.

Patriotic message state the hope of the young women who claim to be the Grand Duchess, depends on the result of inquiries done, which from Berlin comes news that her claim will be tested in the near future as the result of a trial action brought by the editor of a Nationalist paper against the editor of another Nationalist journal.

One of the papers published a series of articles in favour of the invalid's claim and then suddenly changed its view and declared that she was a farm girl from Neuchâtel, long. The other paper, which has consistently supported the invalid's claim, immediately declared that the sudden change of view was brought about by a handsome payment to a member of the press paper's staff by the Grand Duke Hesse, a brother of the late Tsar, who is said to be a determined opponent of the theory that the invalid is Anastasia.

Come Home to Die.

PASSING OF FORMER P.M.O.
OF ST. HELENA.

(STANDARD CORRESPONDENT.)

Moss, March 6.
On February 25th, by the Steamship mail, Dr. J. H. Addison, M.D., and Mrs. Addison arrived in St. Helena with their daughters Miss Gladys and Miss May Addison. I have known Dr. Addison for many years in St. Helena, particularly being Chief Medical Officer here from 1908 to 1921, and he carried in the Island, Neelands was, he was much beloved by all the people, and it was well known that he was soon, on his arrival, to be in command. He had, in fact, come home to die, and in spite of the interesting case and attention of Dr. Addison, he succumbed to the disease which had attacked him, on Sunday morning, Feb. 20th.

An obituary notice was read in the Colony, and as a mark of respect to the memory of a gentleman was granted. This was held on the 26th, at 11.30, at Paul's Anglican Cathedral, the Ven. Archbishop, Leves, officiating. Mr. Hesse, Assistant Commissioner the Administrator, James Hurdley, M.M.A., Dr. Turner, Dr. Hermis, Dr. Macfarlane, and Hon. J. E. Watson, O.B.E.

An "In Memoriam" notice was inserted in the "Advertiser" by Mr. Hesse, Mr. W. J. Dewar, Administrator, as follows:

It was with the deepest regret that I learnt yesterday the death of Dr. J. H. Addison M.B.E., M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P. Dr. Addison spent the best part of his life in the service of this Colony as Chief Medical Officer from 1908 to 1921. He was a Member of the Executive and Legislative Councils, and as such his advice was much appreciated. He was most devoted to his work, sympathetic towards the sick and poor, and rendered a valuable service to the Government and the people of this Colony. He spent the last three years in Hong Kong as P.M.O. Whilst there he fell seriously ill, and in consequence came back on leave to recuperate. He adopted home in the hope of recovering, but unfortunately he succumbed to his illness.

To his surviving wife and children I desire, for myself, and on behalf of the inhabitants of this Colony to convey our most sincere condolences.

POULTRY NOTES.

Eggs, Quality vs. Quantity.

At the recent Eldoret Show there was an exhibit of eggs which was so perfect in which I have had the luck to judge. The exhibit was Miss Cranwell's plate of Rhode Island Red eggs. These eggs were beautifully shown, full of "blow" and wonderfully well matched. I was told after the judging that each egg was packed that a great deal of care had been shown in selection and packing. Miss Cranwell took the 2nd prize for eggs, so it is evident that she has some good layers to select from.

This brings me to the matter I want to put before breeders. In endeavouring to obtain a large output of eggs, quality and quantity is liable to be overlooked. I may be wrong, but I do think that the "champion" hens in their respective year have laid and (especially full-sized eggs). Probably most Kenya poultry breeders have hopes of one day possessing a champion layer, but for my mind should prefer to own a strain of good steady layers of variable ages in the last few years the cream of egg production has done an enormous amount of harm to poultry breeding. It is obvious that a hen graded along to produce her eggs in the shortest possible time, will not be the producer of large eggs and vigorous chickens.

At the present time owing to the untimely drought, it is somewhat difficult to get good sized eggs, even with the most careful feeding. Still, in the coming season, poultry breeders would be well advised to select eggs with care as the foremost consideration, and have prolific ones for one year to a brood. There is an enormous demand for table eggs in the country at present, but at the same time it must be borne in mind that the number of poultry farmers is increasing rapidly, and in a few years time it will be the people who sell the best quality eggs who will hold the market.

KENYA POULTRY CLUB NOTES

Owing to being away at Eldoret for the show, letters have been allowed to remain unanswered. I will endeavour to answer all letters as soon as possible.

They may think me due to Mr. Furell for his assistance at Eldoret. He undertook the entire care of all birds booked, standing to them throughout the show, and despatching all to their respective destinations on Thursday evening.

Mr. Furell attended to all feeding, watering, etc. himself and kept the section well sprayed with disinfectant all the time.

A Game Rangers Notebook
BY A Blayney Percival
Edited by E. D. CUMMING.

With illustrations from photographs by the Author and Martin Johnson.

It is doubtful whether anyone has ever had better opportunities than Mr. Percival for studying big game in his own East African haunts. As Ranger in the big experiences have been both extensive and varied. Mr. Percival's book is packed with information on the naturalist and the sportsman pure and simple. The photographs by himself and Mr. Martin Johnson with which the book is illustrated are unique.

A Homage Trip by Air from the Cape to Britain.

Commissioner, whilst Mr. and Mrs. Bentley were the guests of the Cape, Mrs. Bentley had stayed on his ship from England to the Cape. Lady Heath said she was about to meet her husband and she had several very interesting guests since so soon as they had finished their meal they rushed out to work on their machine and at 7 o'clock they worked until late at night, the night of their own lamp.

An Amazing Journey
The flight from London to New York was completed in 21 hours and 55 minutes. The flight was a most successful one. "We held a most successful flight," said the Commissioner. "We held a most successful flight," said the Commissioner. "We held a most successful flight," said the Commissioner.

READ WHAT THE S. A. MEDICAL RESEARCH INSTITUTE HAVE TO SAY

THE SOUTH AFRICAN INSTITUTE FOR MEDICAL RESEARCH
Conducts an Extensive Test & PROVES THE VALUE OF KOMO
FOR MANY YEARS PAST eminent Medical Authorities have been investigating the merits of spraying fluids as a means for the destruction of flies and other disease-causing insects.

It was found that some 100 drops of KOMO in a quantity of 1,200 cubic feet within three hours from spraying.

ALTHOUGH NO LESS THAN THIRTY-THREE LIQUID SPRAYS WERE USED IN THESE EXPERIMENTS, KOMO GAVE BY FAR THE MOST SATISFACTORY RESULTS.

Have You tried the touch of this latest CORONA?

CORONA has always been famous for its construction and durability but this new model has an added advantage—a remarkably light touch.

You would scarcely have believed it possible to build such a smooth, easy key action in a portable typewriter.

Notice the big machine features throughout—the wide carriage, the full length, two-color self-reversing ribbon, the variable line standard four-row keyboard—and the many little refinements which you would not expect to find in a portable typewriter.

and what a tremendous saving in time and trouble.
When roads are sandy, wet, soft, muddy or boggy you should put on WEED TYRE CHAINS. They provide the traction—"grip on the road"—so imperatively needed, and thus prevent loss of power, delays and possible serious accident from skidding.
Weed Tyre Chains are made for all tyres. They are easily identified by their brass-plated, hardened steel cross chains—galvanized side chains—and red lever locking connecting hooks with the name "WEED" stamped on them.

CARE OF UPHOLSTERY.

Regular Attention
Needed.

HOW TO GO ABOUT IT.

Like french polish, upholstery needs very little attention. However, wear is unavoidable and practically impossible to avoid. The surface at some working time is done to replace in the most prominent areas. The money that can be kept at bay is dust. From the finest dust, a highly abrasive, and it has an objectionable habit of working into the joints of the seat cushions and cushions. It is advisable to wipe down and again with the fingers and brush out the dust, a clothes brush being a convenient tool. The sides of the seats that have rubbed together will be found chafed. Where the upholstery really is leather any good proprietary leather dressing may be rubbed on the "one" places, and a light application is required. These dressings are distinct from leather revivers, which are a kind of quick-drying varnish solution to match the upholstery. They are something to put on the surface, and which remains on the surface.
Leather dressings, on the other hand, go into the leather, although they may leave a slight film on the top. Comparative illustrations at everyday life are best varnish and dyes; the former gives a glossy film, the latter dries right in.

Cleaning Leather Cloth.

Leather-cloth upholstery can be cleaned and can be treated with soap and water by making a good hot suds. Furniture oil can be used, or any of the special preparations widely advertised are also successful. By the best way of looking after upholstery is to give it regular attention, and when it is dry weather. Wipe at the sides of the plates does not show, and therefore should be looked for the more frequently.

Regular Brushing Essential.

Cloth upholstery in closed cars is another case where little can be done. Here again, regular brushing for the sake of a vacuum cleaner is the best help towards long service. The dust of a brush is at least, and a roller one for the extra mode of assistance.
It will take the best part of an hour to brush out a season properly, because there are so many corners to gather dirt, and it is the corners that need doing most. Seats and cushions are best swept by something towards the maintenance of the car besides keeping the springs at work.

Renovating Wool Envelopes.

There are various coverings that require staining and attention, and their place seems here. Wool envelopes, stiff and stout when new, soon wear thin and get torn. As they are quite new, no replacement can be made, and the only remedy is a new envelope. Envelopes are sponged and fastened if they are made of a kind of tubercule, and space-when covers may have the same treatment.

Small tannin covers ought to avoid washing with soap and water. If black, they are sent down over with a flexible hot press, as a best wash is. This is a simple job. The aim should be to get a level coat of paint on the material, and as it cannot be dropped about from place to place very much, because of the roughness of the material, it should be put on in straight strokes just where it is to be left.
The practical tip here—no most painting—is to try to get the maximum amount of paint in the brush at each dip. If this be kept in mind, and a very little practice will ensure a reasonable job. Hold the envelope as best simply brushed, and they should be put up when the car is not in use to avoid creating more than necessary. When wet, they should be left up until they are dry on occasional wetting does them good, and in washing a wet car there is a golden opportunity of giving the hood a thorough soaking, which will drive out dust and dirt more thoroughly than any brush could.—The Motorist

by
A Blayne Percival
Edited by E. D. CUMMING.
With illustrations from photographs by the Author and Martin Johnson.
It is doubtful whether anyone has ever had more opportunities than Mr. Percival for studying big game in its own East African haunts. As Ranger in the Protectorate (now Kenya Colony) for over twenty years, his experiences have been both extensive and varied. His notebook is packed with information on the naturalist and the sportsman pure and simple. The photographs by himself and Mr. Martin Johnson, with which the book is illustrated—are unique.

Kenya's Worst Road? To the Editor, E. A. Standard. Sir—I have recently completed a number of years' work in the highlands of Kenya, and I have seen a great deal of the roads in the highlands of Kenya. The roads are in a very bad state of repair, and it is a pity that the Government should not do more to improve them.

Mr. Martin Johnson's Films. To the Editor, E. A. Standard. Sir—Having seen your leading article in your issue of March 12, I am glad to hear that you would like to see the films of Mr. Johnson's expedition to the highlands of Kenya. I have seen the films, and they are very interesting and well made.

Conditions at the Port. To the Editor, E. A. Standard. Sir—I have read with a certain interest your leading article in your issue of March 12, regarding the conditions at the port. I am glad to hear that you are interested in the subject, and I hope that you will do something to improve the conditions.

The Goat Community. To the Editor, E. A. Standard. Sir—Every year some thousands of goats are imported into Kenya, and it is a pity that the Government should not do more to improve the conditions for the goats. I am glad to hear that you are interested in the subject, and I hope that you will do something to improve the conditions.

Mr. de la Roche's visit. To the Editor, E. A. Standard. Sir—It is a pity that the Government should not do more to improve the conditions for the people of Kenya. I am glad to hear that you are interested in the subject, and I hope that you will do something to improve the conditions.

WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP MATCH
 Interesting Comments by Mr. Thayer, Chess Editor of 'The Times'.

Dr. Linking has entirely open expectations for today's match. The opinion was almost unanimous amongst those who have watched the two players most closely, that they might win on one or two occasions, but no real chance of a win.
