of the kabkha. Perhaps the most original creation in this department is the black model, white coat "Train Blau." Our models are far deeper than are almost imperceptibly ornamented in triangles set point downwards between the shoulders. This model is something very new in dress-conceptions. It is a cross of its front and buttoned in a straight line down shoulder to hem on the left side. The right side, presumably, has a rounded skirt, a seam of material which forms a long straight crease from shoulder to hem, and a beautifully lined with patterned black and white wavy fabric, strapped securely at its edges with fine black straps. The reverse side, its picturesque career as a smart hanging below the hemline, and can be turned back, or folded forwards flat so as to hide its lining.

"TURNING" WHITE SILK.

If you are washing white silk, a spoonful of unhydrolyzed gelatin to the rinsing water. This simple treatment keeps the fabric a good colour.

STOICES WITH FLAKY PASTRY.

Good flaky pie-crust needs more care in the making than does plain short crust. A hard fat should be used, and this must be cut into the flour with two knives, or mixed in with a fork. Do not mix it very thoroughly; leave the fat in lumps, which will roll out to make layers or flakes.

Here is another recipe for a smart yet useful dry frock. Developed in Italy and made from room-temperature stock, black, white, or with a plain fold over skirt, and a straight bodice finished with a braided fur over the hip and a neat collar complete with soft beige silk bow.

Does not seem so rich as that in which a larger amount of fat is used, but the resultant pastry is excellent.

Have a hot oven for baking pastry, especially the flaky kind. Layers of rolls etc. have been incorporated into it, and the hot oven causes the air to expand quickly, making the crust light.

It is well to pre-heat the oven before it is baked, otherwise, it may puff too much in one place. This applies also in pastry shells for tartlets, etc. The lower crust of a pie need not, of course, be pre-heat.

Here are two good recipes: (1) Six together one pound of flour and one teaspoonful of salt; mix ten ounces of fat with a fork, or cut it in with two knives (do not use the fingers), and add the required quantity of water. Roll lightly and bake quickly; (2) mix flour and salt as above, cutting in the fat, but reserving one-quarter of the quantity; roll out the dough spread with half the reserved fat and roll up like a jelly roll; roll out again spread with the remaining fat, and repeat the rolling process. If necessary, sprinkle with a little flour to prevent the paste from sticking.

As to jewellery, silver is to the soft, silky satin, in a rich luscious red shade, materials one of the greatest ornaments of the season. The skirt is cut with a very slight flare, and the hips bodice is made with the new popular double breast, dainty cut and reverse colour of garment colour geometric with hem, stitched edge.

Perhaps there is nothing more suitable for a general little house gown than that grey crepe material. This model has a plain, normal-length bodice and a skirt composed of three shaped tiers. Machine-stitching in self-colour silk edges the skirt folds, suggests a square vent on bodice, and adorns the hem with a row of white pearls.

The latest "colletions" indicate that the waistline is still doing its best to move upwards; that collar to play a most important part in the season's apparel scheme; that printed crepe are still to be much in evidence, but that the exquisite geometrical designs are to be largely superseded by flower-printed fabrics in widely-spaced and ultra-light patterns. There is a decided feeling for the unlined coat, so that while the ensemble consisting of dress of patterned crepe with coat-lining on one will continue to be worn, a new feature will be a striking ensemble covered by a slim, straight wrap in black or navy. Such coats will be no negation of colour on the outside, and once removed, will reveal a little flash of surprise in the revelation of gowns of an unexpected hue. We heard here we became to the "enchanting" crepe that the hawk eyes had all the attraction of complete novelty.

MINERS DISTRESS RELIEF FUND CLOSED YESTERDAY AT £1,000.

Splendid East African Effort to Show Practical Help.

UNIVERSAL SPIRIT OF SYMPATHY.

The Kenya subscription list on behalf of the Miners Relief Fund was closed yesterday at £1,000 and the outstanding amount will be sent without delay to London.

Any casual sums which come in later will be forwarded by mail to the Lord Mayor's Fund.

The fund which has been raised through the generosity of the East African community in the province of Kenya for the miners, their wives and families in their distress, closed yesterday with the sum of £1,000.

This figure has been exceeded, because the generous offer of Mr. P. J. Dettling, who gave a minimum donation of £100 to make up to the amount was made by the donors.

It will not be necessary, however, to call upon the subscribers to pay the amount. The list of names in yesterday's issue will still be retained but has been made up so that the Standard might be enabled to declare that the completion of the fund.

ZEISS

FOR YOUR EYES: How agreeable to distinct eyes is the color balance of the only very corrective lenses by the modern Zeiss. Some lenses work upon the retina instead of the eye itself. The wide field of the Zeiss lenses and the clarity they provide to the eye is the eye suppress the halos of inferiority which come from the insufficiency of an old-fashioned lens.

FOR YOUR CAMERA: The eye of your camera is the lens. Just as the full power of the eye relies all the time on the camera in what the lens makes it. A better lens yields invariably better pictures, considerably more enjoyment of the photographic work. This is why the big camera works of all countries fit their higher grade cameras with Zeiss lenses. The Zeiss lens is the most reliable camera type in the world.

CAN ANY GOOD THING COME FROM GLASGOW?

Mr. Riddell's Reply a Vigorous Affirmative.

TWO MEETINGS

Mr Carr Acts for Some Information

Nairobi North station was again given the opportunity on Friday of leaving the waves of two of the progressive candidates for election to the Legislative Council. Mr. Riddell held a meeting on Friday afternoon at the Railway Club and Mr. Ernest Carr addressed a large audience at the Park Hotel before the meeting.

At Mr. Riddell's meeting the chief was taken by Mr. J. James. In his opening remarks Mr. Riddell mentioned that Major O'Brien had referred to people who leave Africa as being better able to represent Nairobi's views than those who come from Glasgow and other places. He himself had been in Africa 15 years, and he claimed that he knew it fairly well. He also referred to many of the notable figures, including Dr. Livingston who had come from the neighbourhood of Glasgow and who had done much for Africa. Mr. Carr and he had issued a manifesto but so far none had been published by Major O'Brien.

Mr. Riddell next dealt with Mr. Carr's remarks regarding a water supply for Nairobi and said that his contention was that sufficient water could be obtained at a reasonable rate from the Ruiru supply which was at present being worked on by the Municipality.

Mr. Riddell referred to the case that was put on the Municipal Council and said that in regard to the claim to represent Nairobi which in many ways was better than either Mr. Carr or Major O'Brien. Reference was made to the work which was accomplished by the Municipality during the time that he was a member, and he spoke in a strong terms regarding the Government who had been doing the last few years. The Government he said, have been spending a tremendous amount of money every since the advent of the Edward Dragg. He thought the Government was a good man in many ways, but he suggested that the Government of Britain in experts had not the country many thousands of people which could have been used. The Electoral Commission had their eyes to the expenditure. Mr. Robert Morrison had been active today Mr. Riddell believed that the country would have been much further on the road to prosperity and the finger of scorn would not have been pointed at this country as it had been in the past.

Development Land

He believed that it was essential that there should be a development in the country. He considered that was the most vital issue before the people of Kenya today, and he referred to the land grabbing and the granting of big timber concessions which had gone on in the past. With more settlement and a lead back to assist the small farmer he could see the country getting well on the road to prosperity. He believed that if there in authority had got down to the serious questions of economic development the country might have been in a very much better position than was now the case.

Mr. Riddell stated that he had believed in and understood the land law and thought none should be forced to put land on the market but to subdivide the large farms. He believed that interest tax that was used in the large farms and the small wage and a large family did it might get rid of. He believed that in many instances the progressive tariffs could be removed but if some cases the tariffs should be kept on for some years yet.

Regarding conditions in the Civil Service Mr. Riddell said he thought that an organisation should be formed whereby civil servants could air their grievances without being criticised if they did so. There was a great many matters that were an organisation could discuss.

"On the Spot"

He did not agree with Major O'Brien that he could do as much for the country if he was in England as he could if he was here. Mr. Riddell was emphatic that the man elected for Nairobi North should be a man on the spot. Further witness in connection with the Edison Young 'Beyer' would be collected on the spot and it was stated to have a man who was at home.

When referring to questions Mr. Riddell said that he thought it was essential for the Nairobi workers to have one big big association which could discuss the great points about the country was improving and doing. He himself was a trade unionist and had been one for years.

A large number of questions were asked regarding the conditions which were in the opinion of Mr. Riddell required before he would be elected to the Legislative Council. He was elected to the Legislative Council and he was elected to the Legislative Council and he was elected to the Legislative Council.

A Parklands Distinction

Addressing the large number of people gathered to hear Mr. Ernest Carr's views on Parklands in the Sports Club room a number of the supporters of the former were present.

Mr. Ernest Carr first in introducing the candidate referred to the fact that the first political meeting ever held in Nairobi took place in the Parklands Sports Club.

Mr. Carr stated that the question was not agreed that there was a difference between the views of Mr. Carr and Mr. O'Brien. Mr. Carr was a progressive whereas he was a conservative. Mr. Carr was a progressive whereas he was a conservative. Mr. Carr was a progressive whereas he was a conservative.

The importance of physique in Rugby is a factor which has always been a factor in the game. Success in most ball games depends almost entirely on quickness of eye and hand, and the possession of good height and weight confer a tremendous tactical advantage on a Rugby try.

It is an axiom of the game that to make a score for himself a forward must be well endowed physically, this because a man in big and bulky it is not necessary to infer that he should make a fine forward. The day when that was commonly inferred is long since past.

What's the Use of a Forward's Size? A forward's build is important at the line-out where height is the main factor.

checking these rules and that is for the following reason: when a player is on the field and it is to the player, usually, in whom the most of the entire team may be seen to concentrate the attention of the other three-quarter.

The Full Back. The centre on whom a full back must be made is not necessarily the one who is the best player on the field.

The Great O. L. Lowe. The one of our day or any other day who is very light, but he is not a very good player.

Where Height Matters. Height is not a very important factor in the game, but it is a factor in the game.

School Football. The school football game is a game in which the player who is the best player on the field is the one who is the best player on the field.

What's the Use of a Forward's Size? A forward's build is important at the line-out where height is the main factor.

The third point was regarding Mr. Curran. This by far had been the most important point in the whole of the Glasgow Conference...

A supporter of Major Gordon asked Mr. Curran if he would give how much money was spent, per annum by the timber trade...

A questioner asked how many of the men had been sold with the timber. He said that he would not have taken the probability price of £200,000 if he were offered to them.

The questioner asked Mr. Curran if he knew that Major Gordon had denied the part to the Government...

Another questioner asked Mr. Curran if he knew that at the time of the holding of the Union Government Railway Major Gordon made several motions against the double track of the Main.

Mr. Curran said that he did not think anyone else had heard of that since he had been accused Major Gordon but the Government.

Defense Force. Asked as to his opinion on the Defense Force, Mr. Curran said that he thought it was a reasonable force if it was a conventional defense force.

Another question was asked as to whether the Defense Force was a hindrance to what Mr. Curran replied that better than a hindrance but a help.

Mr. Curran said that he did not think anyone else had heard of that since he had been accused Major Gordon but the Government.

Nairobi North. The British Election. In Darkest Kenya.

At present 84 women have been asked to contest at the General Election, to be held in Nairobi, but it is not likely that many more will come forward as candidates.

At the Mal election there were 10 Labour women, candidates of whom only Miss Ellen Wilkinson and Miss Mary Maclean were successful.

Probably a good many more women candidates will still come forward and it seems reasonable to suppose that the number of Labour women will be greatly increased in the next Parliament.

ENGLISH CRICKET HAS BEEN VINDICATED.

The Lesson Australia Has Learned.

YOUTH TRIUMPHS OVER ANNO DOMINI.

What Test Matches Accomplish.

Cricketers all the world over will extend congratulations to Australia on their splendid win in the fifth and last match at Melbourne on Saturday. It was a triumph for youth over Anno Domini, and the younger generation in the Commonwealth have proved beyond shadow of doubt that there is the right material at hand, and that it has remained for them to be tested. They stood the "baptism" of big cricket with credit.

The present series of tests have not been without their lessons. They have demonstrated that England has bridged the gulf of those poverty years immediately following the war. Further, they have vindicated the honour of the game in the Motherland. The retention of the "Ashes" will give an impetus to cricket in England and Australia's win on Saturday can be attended with only beneficial results to the sport in the Commonwealth. The spirit of cricket has shown itself throughout the course of the series, and can only mean a strengthening in the ties which bind the Commonwealth to the Mother Country.

International cricket should have been tested to stand down, but, whether Australia this week previously probably accounted for his losses. Yet the victory granted by its opponents. It permitted a harder test to come to the aid of the young players and one said only as the result of the series of tests. The fact that the English cricket has been vindicated and the "Ashes" will remain in England, fortified by the success of the series, concluded, will invade the shores of the Motherland, and prepared to attack the reigning team.

Youth Will Triumph.

There has been ample food for thought provided in the last match at Melbourne. Australia recognized that their "old boys" had passed, and that they must build up their future on the youth of the Commonwealth. They were not so much surprised to see the youth win, but they were surprised to see the youth win so decisively. The youth were not only victorious, but they were victorious in a manner that was effective. They were victorious in a manner that was effective. They were victorious in a manner that was effective.

Letters of God.

What they accomplished can only be understood by the student who was high in the standard in the early days of this game. In Australia, over grim and dejected, and the "old boys" were asked to defy the might of the Commonwealth. The youth were not only victorious, but they were victorious in a manner that was effective. They were victorious in a manner that was effective. They were victorious in a manner that was effective.

Relating the Golf.

It remains for the Commonwealth to give those young cricketers every training and degree of encouragement if the game in Australia is to be brought to the standard of those who were victorious in 1921 and 1928, when, led by Warwick Armstrong, the men down there carried all before them, and proved so conclusively the superiority of English cricket. That post-war period in English cricket was a period of tribulation, but has now been bridged, but matters must be done to remain where they are. As in the case of Australia, the youth must be trained to the standard of those who were victorious in 1921 and 1928, when, led by Warwick Armstrong, the men down there carried all before them, and proved so conclusively the superiority of English cricket.

Deaths of Notables.

Perhaps the most notable death in the world of cricket was that of a certain player who died in the early days of the game. It was a great loss to the game and to the Commonwealth.

Resisting the Punishment.
