Government Defeated in the Lords.

Indubitably, the Ambassador had not yet been exchanged and a pledge regarding proposals had not yet been given. The Government had not returned and would not recognize their right to take any measure; they might think necessary to which might be considered as a step towards the settlement of the dispute from whatever source it might emanate.

Propaganda.

Lord Thomson (Sir W. Joyce) asked whether it was the fact of that declaration of propaganda, not only in the British Empire but also in the Empire, that they were to be considered as a step towards the settlement of the dispute from whatever source it might emanate.

Continuing Lord Thomson said he did not want to leave the impression that propaganda would be as if by any means could not be the means of things with a body like the Third International.

Regarding the statement that nations should not be treated with a country where atrocities and realisation had taken place, he said that the Government did not consider that propaganda was a necessary part of their policy, but they believed that the dissemination of information which would lead to a system of cooperation and association which will prevail there.

"We believe," he added "that it is in the best interests of our country to secure relations. We believe that it is substantially possible for the present peace of the world to be maintained by the Government as understood by their present policy as a Liberal Republic."

Lord Reading (Liberal) approved of the Government's policy as stated and was in the interests of our country to secure relations. He would have preferred to see the Government's policy in other terms and relations that were to exist before the outbreak of hostilities, but he hoped that such conditions were laid down. They would be as definite and precise as possible.

The Church.

The Archbishop of Canterbury drew attention to the attitude of the British Government towards the Ethiopian and all forms of self-denial, but he had received information that there was a number of those who were in favour of the Ethiopian position. He believed that such a position would be a greater disaster than any other. He believed that such a position would be a greater disaster than any other.

APPEAL BY POTTER AGAINST SENTENCE.

Three Judges Hear Plea for Mercy Yesterday.

WAS THE SENTENCE HARSH?

Counsel Discusses State of Judge's Mind at End of Trial.

An appeal by Bernard Joseph Potter against the sentence of ten years passed upon him after conviction on a charge of culpable homicide, came before the Appeal Court of Eastern Africa in Nairobi yesterday.

The trial, which arose out of the shooting of a Boan, named John Dina in the streets of Nairobi some two years ago, was presided over by Judge J. G. M. G. M.

Counsel for Potter maintained that the sentence was harsh, that the age and record of the accused was not taken into account and that the Judge's mind was influenced at the time involuntarily by an impression that the jury had acted illegally in reducing the charge.

The Appeal Court's decision was deferred.

The Appeal of H. J. Potter against the sentence of ten years passed upon him after conviction on a charge of culpable homicide, came before the Appeal Court of Eastern Africa in Nairobi yesterday.

The trial, which arose out of the shooting of a Boan, named John Dina in the streets of Nairobi some two years ago, was presided over by Judge J. G. M. G. M.

Counsel for Potter maintained that the sentence was harsh, that the age and record of the accused was not taken into account and that the Judge's mind was influenced at the time involuntarily by an impression that the jury had acted illegally in reducing the charge.

The Appeal Court's decision was deferred.

THE IMPORTANT FACTOR OF CARBURATION.

Essential if Engine is to Work in Unison.

PROBLEMS OF LOW SPEEDS

The sports car driver and the motorist in general are not fully conversant with the various methods of carburation of the engine. A brief outline of the various methods is given below.

Actions: An engine which is not carbured regularly without inspection will not be able to give the best performance. The driver should not drive an engine which is not carbured at all. If the engine is not carbured at all, it will not be able to give the best performance.

The carburation system of an engine is of great importance. It is the system which determines the amount of fuel which is mixed with the air which enters the cylinder. This mixture is then ignited by the spark plug and the engine is driven.

It is essential to know the carburation system of the engine which is being used. This will enable the driver to adjust the carburation to the conditions of the engine.

One of the most common carburation systems is the carburettor. This is a device which allows the air and fuel to mix in a certain proportion. The carburettor is adjusted to the engine by means of a screw which is turned by the driver.

Another carburation system is the injection system. This is a system in which the fuel is injected into the cylinder through a nozzle. The injection system is adjusted to the engine by means of a screw which is turned by the driver.

Why the DODGE SIX is Eclipsing its Entire Field

The backbone of Dodge Six dependability, ruggedness, strength and long life is its structure of modern mechanical features that are bigger, stronger, more advanced and more efficient than those found in other cars of equal price.

The Grand National.

REVIEW OF CONDITIONS FOR 1922 YEAR.

STANDARD CONDITIONS, London, (By mail.)

Mr. R. A. C. Topham, handicapper, has announced the conditions for next year's Grand National, to be held on Saturday, October 13th.

The new conditions, if approved, should have a restrictive effect upon the number of underweight horses which have little or no probability of getting the severe obstacles.

It is suggested that the entry should be restricted to horses which have only taken a season's racing.
