SETTLEMENT AND PUBLICITY NEED A LEAD.

A Ten Years' Test.

GOOD FOUNDATION FOR A BETTER STRUCTURE.

An increasing body of evidence is available from almost every part of the East African territories that the public are giving a greater measure of attention to ideas and policies which will stimulate the return to stability and prosperity.

On every side public opinion in these territories is awaiting a lead in a fight for stabilization.

It is beyond question that increased population and increased production are two fundamental aims which should activate both Government and the public in the consideration of programmes suitable for the present period of difficulty. There are three main objects.

- 1. Increased land settlement; 2. Residential settlement; 3. Organized traffic.

Already a great deal is being done, especially in connection with residential settlement and the "East African Standard" considers that the time is opportune for emphasizing as frequently as possible the necessity for public and private co-operation on these three essential.

With this purpose in mind it is proposed from time to time to offer reminders to East Africa in the form of special articles discussing the basis on which a larger programme can be built and to provide evidence of the steps which are being taken to recognise the character of the opportunity ready to be seized.

200 Parties Next Season.

The Association for the Preservation of the Game of Tanganyika is concerned because most of the big game hunting grounds in the Serengeti Plains as their object are outlined in Nairobi.

In a letter to the Governor of the Territory the Association argues that the new road from Arusha should be completed quickly and that therefore the Serengeti-Nairobi Road should be closed to lorries transporting stores.

It is stated that during next season 200 shooting parties are expected, nearly all of which will be based on Nairobi.

Do as Seated, By rule.

The Association for the Preservation of the Game of Tanganyika has addressed to His Excellency the Governor a document containing a list of suggestions in respect of the Serengeti Plains.

The Association states: "The Game is one of the greatest assets this country has, and the Serengeti Plains is probably the best."

Some thought there, owing to the absence of any major roads from Arusha.

The average standard of money spent by a visiting expatriate is approximately £1000. The loss of trade and customs revenue is therefore very great.

"We consider it essential that the new road from Arusha to the Kenyan Plains should be completed as soon as possible and opened in a good state of repair. When this new road is open we hope that the Kenyan expatriate road will be inclined to return to the same."

"At present motor vehicles go all over the Kenyan country districts, almost invariably located and approached to water, and the distance between the parties here has been."

"We consider that the use of motor vehicles should be encouraged and we hope it will eventually be possible to make roads that will be profitable and that all throughout the country."

"We should consider it a great advantage if the Government could take the Government of the Kenyan Colonies in the Commission for the proposed road."

HEAVY DUTY PROPOSED ON HARD FIBRES WITH EMPIRE EXEMPTION.

The Government of Kenya has forwarded to the Secretary of State a list of products which, in the opinion of the Governor-in-Council, and the commercial and producing communities should have Imperial Preference.

The list includes all the principal Kenya products except tea, coffee, sisal, and sisal twine. The recommendation is in the form of a list of products, with exemption to the Empire producers, and a heavy duty on cordage.
