Revision of Congo Basin Treaties.

M.P.s REQUEST GOVERNMENT TO TAKE STEPS.

Minister Criticised.

JOURNALS REFERENCES TO ALLEGED "HESTANT AND HALTING ATTITUDE."

Increasing attention is being paid to the question of the Congo Basin Treaties which are shortly due for revision.

A meeting of Members of Parliament has requested the Secretary of State to take steps for the revision with a view to the colonies affected being enabled to adopt Imperial preference.

In the course of a leading article a London newspaper denounces the Colonial Secretary's "unimaginative mind and hesitant and halting attitude towards some expiring treaty obligations."

Impairing Development?

London, May 10. (REUTERS SERVICE'S AGENCY.)—A meeting of Members of the House of Commons interested in East Africa, today decided to ask the Government to take steps for the revision of the Congo Basin Treaties with a view to enabling the Colonies to extend their territories to grant reciprocal preferences to Empire countries, provided that the latter changes of products between them was not interfered with.

London, April 26. (REUTERS SERVICE'S AGENCY.)—The "Evening Standard" in a leading article on April 25, takes exception to the Philip, Clegg, and Gwynne's statement in the House of Commons that "very rarely any Colony which has a large on-ward movement, and which is being given a substantial preference, has not also been given the right to import raw materials from other countries."

The article after pointing out that the British C.O. is a substantial preference group—drawn in—has gone on to state that if the Colonies offered raw materials to the free world, that would be most desirable. It would be most desirable that they offered their raw materials to the free world, that they offered their raw materials to the free world, that they offered their raw materials to the free world.

THE CUP GOES NORTH

A Dashed Goal

MAKING FOOTBALL HISTORY.

["STANDARD" Correspondent.]

London, April 26. The Cup has gone North to-day, although the winners, thoroughly deserving their victory, were the football heroes of a dashed goal. As it is the first time in the history of the game that a goal has been scored by a player who has never before been in the game, it is a most interesting incident.

The dashed goal came with Newcastle's quarter. Lord took the goal to Alan and vigorous protest ensued with Newcastle showing marked interest. When Lord had the ball in back-swing, he was indicated to stop the play. In fact on that part of the play, had Lord stopped when the referee's whistle appeared it would be difficult to say who was right.
