ANXIOUS FOR COMMERCIAL TREATIES.

The Chancellor's Speech.

AT ANNUAL CONFERENCE OF CONSERVATIVE PARTY.

A spirited speech was made by the Chancellor of the Exchequer at the annual Conference of the Conservative Party in which he emphasised the success which had attended the Ottawa Conference.

For the first time, he said, other countries were standing on our door step anxious to make commercial treaties. A resolution was passed enthusiastically congratulating the Government on the success.

Mr Samuel Hoare, Secretary of State for India, made a stirring appeal to 'trust the Government' in the successful fate of the Indian constitution and the Conference endorsed Government's programme in this regard.

"They say Chevrolet has become the world's most popular car"

"YES BUT THAT'S ONLY ONE OF THE REASONS WHY I BOUGHT IT."

In the new 1933 Chevrolet you find the latest models of the car that has won the honor of the world, leading all others in sales.

At the curb you will admire their smart modern beauty. On the road you will marvel at their efficient control, the easy smoothness of performance, and the luxurious comfort with which they ride.

Every modern improvement is at your command. Increased power, cushioned against vibration. The velvet smoothness of the famous syno-mesh gear shifting. The thrill of coasting along on momentum, whenever you wish—controlled by the touch of a button.

Truly their Chevrolet values are unparalleled. They are carrying Chevrolet to greater popularity than ever.

CRISIS NOT YET OVER.

A TERRIBLE TRAGEDY.

Mr. Baldwin's Warning to Conservatives.

INTERNATIONAL SITUATION FAR FROM SATISFACTORY.

Bat Signs of Hope.

BIG IMPROVEMENT IN FINANCIAL POSITION.

At the Conservative Conference at Bournemouth, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, while supporting, as a taxpayer, a resolution deploring the present, barren, of taxation, declined, as Chancellor, to anticipate the future.

Mr. Stanley Baldwin warned the conference that while there were signs of hope in the course of events and the crisis of last year was not yet past, the international situation, he said, was far from satisfactory.

The general financial position had improved beyond all belief, but conditions were still a matter for anxiety. The industrial position was hopeful, particularly in the textile trades, although very few groups of the large industries had improved their position.

He added that the international situation was not brightening up as rapidly as the British Government was being asked to bring about, a better atmosphere in Europe. Europe had come to the parting of the ways.

Textile Trade Brighter.

London, October 9.—The Chamberlain Government is expected to announce a new measure to assist the textile industry, which is still suffering from the effects of the depression.

Mr. Smith, Chamberlain's spokesman, said that the Government was considering a measure to assist the textile industry, which is still suffering from the effects of the depression.

Sequel to a Nakuru Mystery.

GIRL FOUND DEAD IN THE BUSH.

Youth in Custody.

SEARCH STILL PROCEEDING FOR THIRD MEMBER OF PARTY.

Stark tragedy, wrapped in mystery, has followed the late appearance of three Nakuru people on Thursday evening.

One of the two European girls has been found dead, shot in the back of the head.

The second has disappeared and at the time of going to press members of the I.L.T., native trackers, and police were still searching for her.

The young man has given himself up to the police. He says he remembers nothing of what has happened.

A DOCTOR'S OPINION OF THE EAST AFRICAN HIGHLANDS.

The Problem of Children. SHOULD THEY BE SENT TO BRITAIN FOR THEIR EDUCATION?

One of the most interesting papers read at the ordinary meeting of the members of the British Medical Association was contributed by a doctor from Tanganyika and was entitled "The White Man in East Africa."

Another important section of the paper dealt with the question of children in the Highlands, but Dr. Lamborn was unwilling to express an opinion as to whether they should be sent to Britain after the age of seven years.

Mortality from Pneumonia. One of the author's papers dealt with the mortality from pneumonia, which was one of the most common causes of death in the Highlands. The author stated that the mortality from pneumonia in the Highlands was much higher than in the lowlands.

Public Health in Tropical Towns.

VALUABLE WORK IN NAIROBI AND DAR ES SALAAM.

The Law of Moses.

PRINCIPLES THAT HAVE REMAINED THE SAME FOR 4,000 YEARS.

Every year there has been a considerable amount of work carried out in different towns in East Africa with a view to improving public health in the area. During the past year the celebration of the centenary of the British Association would have been a fitting opportunity for a meeting on this subject.

The death with the subject generally, and it proved an interesting discussion, in the course of which the Director of Health for Nairobi outlined the position in regard to Kenya's capital.

The measures of public health in towns have changed very often since the days of Moses. The three basic factors upon which the science of public health is based are the causes of communicable disease, although progress has been made in detail.

Public health service has kept up with the changes of the town, according to Dr. Tilling, and in general the town may be considered healthy.

An interesting suggestion was made that a public health commission of the East African members of the British Medical Association should be formed at which the practical application of principles under different local conditions could be discussed.

Basic Tenets.

The three of a healthy town, however, had long ago been known to us. The three basic tenets of public health are: (1) to prevent the spread of disease; (2) to prevent the spread of disease; (3) to prevent the spread of disease.
