LORD FRANCIS SCOTT AT NORO.

Opposition to Income Tax Proposal.

Lord Francis Scott was criticised by Lord Francis Scott at a meeting of the Nyoro Settlers' Association on Saturday last. The speaker was in favour of the proposal to introduce an income tax in Kenya. At the conclusion of the meeting a strong resolution was carried.

A belief was expressed by Lord Francis Scott that if Government would reduce expenditure to the extent of the income tax was estimated that it had been done, all would be ready to assist in putting the balance budget. But since the Government had proposed to maintain that it was the easiest way possible for Government to make up any deficit by increasing the tax.

Mr. E. S. Grogan also opposed the imposition of an income tax and said that Lord Moyne was not long of the same. He considered that no great attention should be paid to what Lord Moyne had to say.

Danger to the Country.

Lord Francis Scott expressed a serious apprehension of the danger to the country from the proposed income tax. He said that the Government was not long of the same.

Lord Francis Scott, in his speech, said that he was a member of the Nyoro Settlers' Association and that he was in favour of the proposal to introduce an income tax in Kenya.

TEXACO IT'S BETTER BECAUSE IT'S DRY! Hottest starts—slow pick-up—smoother power are often caused by wet fuel. The drops of raw, liquid petrol that enter the cylinders retard the spark. The result is a weak piston-rod—a sluggish motor. Texaco Anti-Knock Petrol is the original "dry gas." The dry, vaporized mixture forms in the cylinder responds instantly to the spark, giving up all its power in a steady, driving thrust of the piston. Lightening starts, flashing speed and added miles to the gallon are the natural results. Try Texaco Anti-Knock Petrol (6-4). Let it win you over the road with smooth, unflattering power. Added miles and greater comfort will convince you!

GRASS AS A CROP

Further Suggestions for Better Management.

RESULTS OF EXPERIMENTS IN KENYA.

Interesting Discoveries.

BEST METHODS CAN ONLY BE FOUND BY EXPERIENCE.

Below will be found the third instalment of the article upon "Grass as a Crop" contributed to the "E. A. S." by Captain B. Allen of the African Explosives and Industries Ltd., during the course of which he gives suggestions for trying out the results of experiments made in S. Africa and Rhodesia.

The article emphasizes that the best methods of fertilising the grass crop can only be found by experience and cannot be obtained in a day or a night. Captain Allen therefore suggests a series of experimental plots of two acres each, with which the effect of certain types of fertilizer may be ascertained.

Experimental Plots.

In 1921, we started an experiment with eight small paddocks on one acre ground near Nyoro. Each paddock was about 1/2 acre and contained a different pasture type. The results were as follows: 1. Paddock 1: Best results. 2. Paddock 2: Good results. 3. Paddock 3: Fair results. 4. Paddock 4: Poor results. 5. Paddock 5: Very poor results. 6. Paddock 6: Fair results. 7. Paddock 7: Good results. 8. Paddock 8: Best results.

One very interesting point which we have found, that a combination of phosphate and potash is essential. In certain positions, the phosphate alone does not give the best results. The potash alone does not give the best results. The combination of phosphate and potash gives the best results.

LORD FRANCIS SCOTT AT NJORO.

(Continued from page 19). The work of the country, we have to do it. We must not allow that number of us have got to balance our budget. We do not wish the people to be asked to do the things that the settlers are the only people who are not prepared to do. We must not put their affairs right. We are all agreed that there must be a more equitable distribution of the country's resources. We must not be asked to do the things that the settlers are the only people who are not prepared to do.
