Defective vision exists in nearly every person. In some the error is so slight that it passes unnoticed and the disorders to which it gives rise are attributed to some other cause. In others it ranges up to serious compound errors.

Amongst school-children, defective vision is on the increase. Glasses worn at this time, apart from their beneficial aid to study, will, in most cases preserve the sight against excessive defects in later years. We examine the eyes thoroughly, and supply glasses if necessary.

NOTICE. LETTERS BY AIR Reminiscences of Old Postal Days

Letters by 'air post' is a scheme which had been proposed a few years ago, and had been regarded as a romantic dream...

In marked contrast to the letters, there are still existent, but almost forgotten, some very primitive and old-fashioned means of mail.

Quite recently the Postmaster-General was speaking in defence of his policy of closing routes which had been closed owing to the war.

By an admirable stroke the inhabitants of a certain small village were given a post office. At first their pride in this acquisition was unbounded.

On visiting another very small office on the wilds of Sutherland, the official representing no less than people brought in their letters for the post and lay them down to accumulate in a box.

On the Australian boats they find a more modern and picturesque postage system. Along some of the main routes the parcels are packed in boxes fastened to the trunk of the tree.

It was in the South of Scotland, that I observed some of the most picturesque scenes of the country.

FOOD LONDON LETTER

...the price will make very little difference because it is very difficult to obtain any of these commodities. There is still a shortage of flour, and it is not likely to be greatly increased. Owing to the abundance of hostilities in East Africa the recently appointed railway board has been in a position to direct railway traffic...

The local priority committee was reconstituted in June, and now consists of 2 officials and 11 unofficial members.

At the last Session I dealt at some length on the efforts which had been made by this Government to secure priority for export goods...

It is in addition to great shortage of agricultural machinery and implements demanded for the country...

On August 7th I was informed by the Secretary of State that he was in communication with the Minister of Munitions on the subject of the export of ploughs...

On October 5th after certain telegraphic correspondence had taken place on the subject of the development of the local industry...

On October 6th I was informed that individual private orders for agricultural machinery could not be accepted...

The makers and numbers of the iron implements that are obtainable were roughly specified, but no indication was possible as to price...

It was recommended that individual farmers wishing to make use of this opportunity should make written applications to the Government...

It might be desirable to distinguish between the traffic that is being already directed in agricultural machinery...

The requirement of the Imperial Government is that the traffic for the present be handled by purchase by the Military Authorities...

DEATH.

BROOKS—At the European Bazaar on the 4th November. ALFRED BROOKS, Victoria, Uganda Railway, age 30 years.

THE EAST

African Standard
Mombasa Times & Uganda Agency

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 6, 1918.

"Do all that you can" have to do, and do it. It will be the unspoken words that guided the actions of Dr. W. W. Walker, a man who is a memory that will not be forgotten in Nakuru. No recent event has so clearly shown us his death from the mysterious contagion which he was working day and night to combat for the sake of public safety, and it is with these days to our own lives which we have so often lived, there is no less reason to regret his loss.

COUNT ANDRASY

Another Resignation in Austria

LONDON, Nov. 4.—Renter's correspondent at Constantinople writes that Count Andrássy has resigned as Premier of Austria.

Useful devotion to others. He was appointed to P.E.A. on November 15th, and arrived in Mombasa in February. In the following year he spent two years experimenting and investigating climatic diseases on the islands and shores of Victoria Nyanza. This he was particularly successful in doing.

He was appointed M.O.H. to Nakuru in the beginning of 1917, and his services were particularly valued in the military and the town, which included Dr. Bradford, the M.E.O., Dr. Mendenhall, and Dr. G. H. K. Mendenhall.

He was a member of the Executive of the Municipal Council, and was Captain in the E.A.M.S. Last year, as with a matter of doubt, he took a short leave of absence, but he returned this year, as he had been more than once needed, more or less, in the past.

BATTLE OF FSCHLDT BEGUN
French and Americans Triumph in the Battle of Argonne

CONFLANS RAILWAY UNDER OUR CANNON

LONDON, Nov. 4.—An official message from Sir Douglas Haig says: "We were able to dawn on November 4, on a wide front, the attack upon the Scheldt river. The attack was made by the First Army, and was supported by the American Expeditionary Force."

"The Independent Alliance says: 'November 5, heavily attacked the French at the battle of Argonne, and the battle continued throughout the night.'"

"We continued the pursuit of the retreating enemy, notwithstanding that our crossings were destroyed and we reached the line from a mile west of Sebauste, cut the railway between Verdun, Epernay, and Troncheux, and captured after sharp fighting the northern apex of the Argonne."

BATTLE OF ARGONNE.—The British communication states that the capture of the Argonne resulted in the complete capture of the French and American armies.

The enemy desperately defended the position, but the British and American troops were able to capture several villages and towns.

The liberation of the Argonne is a major step towards the capture of Metz. The British and American troops are now moving towards the city.

Unveiled by the Italian Government!

before he could do any serious harm, is now ridiculed in Switzerland, even by the Germans, who in a sheet published by themselves, called the 'Nette Frei Zeitung,' taxed Prince von Bulow with being the inspirer of Von Gerlach's Baugarten and Erlanger escape to Switzerland at the declaration of War. There they joined a swarm of other German agents, such as Baron Franz Stockhammer and the Austrian agent, Graf von Emburg. The Italian papers with whom they treated were either in Switzerland, escaping from Italian law, or residing in Rome, and in touch with Von Gerlach or his private secretary.

Germany and Austria clerks from nothing in their endeavour to buy over and corrupt whoever they can, and the Vatican as soon as it was informed by the Italian authorities of the escape against Von Gerlach unveiled the latter to leave Rome, whereupon the Italian authorities, out of respect for the laws of the guarantee which Germany and Austria themselves had not respected, permitted him to leave for Switzerland. He has been condemned in his absence to solitary confinement for life, and the question now is whether the Vatican will permit him to continue the use of his ecclesiastical title, Ponarici, and who pretentively remained in Switzerland, has been, as was announced a week ago, sentenced to be shot if ever he returns. Another man named Valente, who presented the editor of the newspaper 'La Vittoria' has been sentenced to imprisonment for five and three years respectively. The trial resumed to the authorities, who traced the 'celebrity' and brought their maddened to light.
