POSTAL RATES.

A Deputation Waits on the P.M.C.

NO IMMEDIATE RELIEF.

The Acting Post, President of the Civil Servants' Association, headed a deputation of postmaster-manufacturers to the Postmaster General on March 10 and requested him to revert to the halfpenny post as an emergency measure until the trade had stabilised by mid-June.

Mr William Ferguson-Robie explained that he had to consider the prospects for the stability of the market generally. It would be right to consider the rate on post-cards only at present.

It is explained that the Post Office, in his opinion, should not be regarded merely as a revenue-generating undertaking, but should be utilised for the benefit of the public and the improvement of trade. He explained that the two great funds available were managed by the country where the return of the penny and the halfpenny postage and the Post Office must aim at their achievement.

She was then told to try the "Red Hot Brain" remedy, and after taking it for a few days, she felt a great improvement in her condition.
