THE ROYAL MASTER MODEL No. 10. THE Royal Typewriter stands up on its own work and sets the pace to the question of efficiency. Because the Royal's rapid fire action and adjustable general lever 'takes the strain' out of typewriting. For it adds to the smoothness, it allows the typist the one vital thing that the other typewriter cannot equal: the 'operator's initiative'. Errors are speed is the kind of speed that counts—because it saves the operator the time of the other kind. All day speed, steady, being evenly with the big steady pulse of modern business—that is the speed of the Royal Typewriter!

Colonel Thomson, Secretary of State for the Colonies, stated that the Government had no intention of allowing the boundaries of the mandated territory to be altered.

It is not likely to end the discussion for as long as the friends are concerned. Lord Delamater will know an able fighter, and one who does not easily relinquish his hold on a matter he has got a grip on. He will show up the wrong side of the argument, and the Government letter will mean that these have not been carried to the full. It is most likely that the Government will remain firm in its most sagacious determination of the Tanganyika Territory.

Another aspect coming in at an appropriate moment of complete agreement with the Tanganyika Administration which is just ending, the Government has been successful in obtaining the support (against their own wishes) of the Arusha and Mombasa at these places resulting in a petition being sent to the Major-General the King which for attention to Kenya of the territory mentioned. The first meeting was held under the chairmanship of Mr. Bay Uliate, who commiserated from Kenya, and who admitted having recently "discovered" the whole of the territory mentioned. He stated that he was not sure whether they were the same as the meeting. It is also possible that the Convention of Associations in Kenya indicated the subject in the agenda, and passed a resolution which gave the programme of operation in whole-hatched and local (1) support.

The chestnut is put into the fire by others and our people are left to burn out for the time being of those others.

The main theme of the debate of the meeting was the northern districts to come under Kenya administration as making the Territory a "black man's paradise," which the white race had to give up. Reference was made to the fact that the Government had given in the discussion, but because there were no "chestnuts" which the white race had to give up in the territory mentioned, the same native interests would be satisfied in the territory mentioned in which they were attracted to Kenya.

So now we have two contradictory arguments in favour of the territory, one because the African population is so numerous and the other because the African population is so numerous, but in the case of the territory mentioned, the African population is so numerous, but in the case of the territory mentioned, the African population is so numerous.

It is, as we have previously expressed our opinion, that the Government should have taken the matter to the Government, and that the Government should have taken the matter to the Government, and that the Government should have taken the matter to the Government.

THE "REBELLE" EDITORIAL.

In our correspondence columns today two of our readers criticize the Lushiko letter arrangement published in the Standard which has come to be known as the "Delinquent Editorials". We have been at considerable trouble to place before the public an accurate statement of the facts and to give attention to the editorial story of the day published today.

The statements given which we believe to be a complete verification of all the circumstances and we have no hesitation in accepting as the truth. The "rebelle" was a proposal made voluntarily by the Government with a view to remedying, for small settlement, a portion of what would be suitable for that purpose and, in obtaining that land, the Government is relieved of the responsibility of having at its disposal 60,000 acres of indefinitely watered country already rejected by conditions. On the part of Lord Delamater, after purchasing watered land adjacent has the prospect of covering a wide area of Lushiko highly suitable for deep grazing on a large-scale, an industry to which he is devoting considerable attention and capital. We have had his personal assurance that if he has been the Lushiko land,

"rebelle" when the suggestion was made by the Commission of Lands, every individual would have had an equal chance of securing land in question and of stating their objections to the scheme. If the Government is desirous of dealing with the matter with any other application for the use of Crown land for any purpose, we suggest that the public should fully into their confidence. It is not fair to publicize to be their opinion, generally without reason, or give criticism by their fellow citizens who are entitled to the same treatment of fact. Intention would disclose the true position. Had this scheme been adopted there would have been no excuse for the question raised in the House of Commons and no cause for the indignation of the public.

A Rebelled Report.

The Standard has received the report of the Annual Report of the Medical Department for 1923. The report is a most comprehensive and interesting one. It shows that the medical services have been very largely improved in the past year. The report is a most comprehensive and interesting one.
