MODERN LIGHTING AND POWER APPLIANCES.

The History of Electric Service.

AUTOMATIC CONTROL AND NO EXPENSIVE BATTERIES.

The MIDDLE OUTLET.

Most has discovered that the electric light is the most efficient and economical source of light. It is the only one that gives out light without heat, and it is the only one that does not require attention.

The current in the 110 volt lead for electric lighting is not so high as that of the 220 volt lead for electric power. It is therefore not so dangerous, and it is not so expensive to install.

When the performance of the motor is considered, it is found that the 110 volt motor is the most efficient and economical. It is the only one that does not require attention.

In the modern electrical system, the motor is the most important part. It is the only one that does not require attention.

Let us automate the "light plant" - let us go through a process of development. We will use electric power for our lighting.
