CLEARING ELEPHANT IN TANGANYIKA

Official Hunter Meets with an Adventure.

AS RETOLD AT HOME.

A Hampshire man, Mr. Murray Smith, gives an idea of the official destruction of elephant in Tanganyika, as one of four hunters engaged to arrest the depredation of native maize bushes by invading herds. According to The Hampshire Advertiser, which reports an interview with him on his return home, he spent eight months in the bush and bagged 10 elephants.

The Hampshire newspaper is amusingly hazy concerning East Africa (clearing that innocuous with the lion's prey in general) when, for example, it makes his victim start up naively to Nairobi to shoot buffalo and talk of shambas 14 feet in height, but all in all the gist of his interview goes steadily. "I had an area of territory about twice the size of Wales," said Mr. Murray Smith, "to hunt over on my own, and to kill as many elephants as I could."

And he had a little adventure, while following a wounded herd through elephant grass. "Suddenly," he related, "we heard our quarry coming out of the bush, within ten yards of us. Although

I fired, he was too close for a charge to stop him. He came at me screaming and trumpeting, and I turned round to try to get out of his way, but tripped and fell in the long grass."

A ROUND IN THE RING.

As he came over me I lit him with another shot in the face, but still the charges did not seem to affect him, and he hit me with his tusks. It was the first of shot a goller would make out of a bush with a stick, and I was hit out of the deep grass about a distance of ten yards. He came up to me again, and I tried to crawl away, but he hit me again, knocking me up against a tree. My head was sore, and I was nearly done in." Again the elephant attacked, and stood over me to try to drive his trunk into my body.

"As he struck I managed to wriggle clear, and the trunk passed just over."

As that moment my native gun-bearer came up and shot the elephant in the side. It was only one more, and I was nearly done in, for he had already bent to crush me with his knee. The shot made him roar, then straighten himself, and he went over me like the bush."

AFTER THE GOLF.

The hunter's expedition of the elephant as a goller laid him up for three weeks at a mission station to which his "loper" carried him. Through followed for three days with the object of hitting him anywhere except in "the face," the elephant that had sustained the black eye was nervous, soon. Only the hunter's help, with a hole in it which had been playfully worn on a bush, was found.

After that the hunter got a beast "yielding" more and biggest bulks remain in that part of the country since the war. They weighed 110 lbs. each and were 9ft. 4ins. high.

He describes a more exciting day, venture while getting this fine specimen. "I had to walk up a tree for about two hours before I could get in a shot," he said, "and unfortunately a hole of nuts had made the same tree for their shade, and they swarmed all over me. This elephant fell to a single shot."

As everyone knows, the safari and of Tanganyika is more formidable than any other far.

The "Nagany" "Net."
The word "net" is a dreadful one for printers and their kind. In the Standard on Thursday appeared a report of a meeting of the E. A. Standard's General readers. The word "net" was reported as being that Kisumu had been selected and the word "net" was actually what the land had been registered!

SUPPLEMENT No. XXXIX. SATURDAY, NOV. 6, 1932. NAIROBI.

THE EAST AFRICAN STANDARD WEEKLY EDITION. Motor Cars & Motor Cycles.

SCISSORS AND PASTE

Italian tires are being fitted to 3,000 Park taxi-cabs belonging to the War Department company in London.

Vulcanized tire info and net of Manchester has increased more than 25 per cent since 1920, making it difficult to get a good quality at the authorities. A recent trial was made to establish the fact that about 20,000 vehicles of this kind only at 100,000 net were down. Figures compiled in 1930 show that 1,120,000 motor vehicles were being used by the forces and bridges daily.

The Ford Motor Company Ltd. is about to get the new model No. 1000, shows a surplus of 420,000 dollars, an increase of 50,000,000 dollars. Production for the year totaled 1,200,000.

Considerable publicity has been given in America by the enterprise of Wallace Mather, the Ford dealer in Detroit, who offers a few coupons, valid to each year, for a new Ford car, truck, or motor cycle.

This year's coupon pool will be estimated to reach the 100,000,000 mark. An amended plan has been issued by the Motor Finance Trust which includes not only German motor-cycles, but also complete parts, such as motor vehicles, and production is also covered by collection coupons for motor vehicles 7 years old, which is also a very interesting scheme, involving a motor vehicle, starting before and after the war.

Estimating that 2,500,000 have been lost on the highways by the change in provisions so clear, the Traffic Planning and Motor Cycle Chamber of the National Automobile Chamber of the year, totaling 1,200,000.
