AFRICAN LABOUR REPORT

Editorial Views Of "Baraza"

Commenting on the proposals made in connection with the scheme for "remigration" of African labour to the United Kingdom...

It is very important that Africans should understand the significance of the Government of Kenya during the war...

The first thing for Africans to understand is that they have all now been in an exceptionally favourable position...

in nearly all the countries of Europe which in peace or war young men have to serve about two years in the army before leaving school...

It is in England in peace time they have managed to get their own way since they were young men...

This service is not necessarily to be a heavy one for the young men...

Great changes. The year 1947 has brought great changes to Kenya. In the first place the victory of our soldiers in Somalia and Abyssinia has put us out of the war for the time being...

In the second place the arrival of the A.A. to attack Egypt through Libya and through Sudan and Iraq has meant that we have a large force in the Middle East which is not only our own East African sea service...

The third change is that Japan has come into the war. We have already lost Malaya, and Burma is attacked, and help will have to be sent to Sumatra and Java...

Many Europeans have come to us and have tried to increase production on their farms but when it came to the time to reap the harvest they were in difficulties...

It is not only the Government that has been asked to help but the British Government has also been asked to help...

Uganda's Pioneer Ginners

FIRST TO ADOPT ALL-ELECTRIC OPERATION

["STANDARD" CORRESPONDENT]

The first cotton ginner to be erected in Uganda some two years ago, is now the first to be electrified at Kampala and the first in the Uganda Company's factory at Kampala. The ginning season opened on that day and from early morning airding trays were being put in their cotton for sale at the ginners' and by 10 a.m. there was sufficient for a demonstration. The ginner in 1942 now runs by three four-cylinder engines and the foot seed was mainly cotton seed, to comparison when the electric in the worst districts—and it usually runs on kerosene. It is estimated that the whole trade of Kampala. Bitter were the protests and the local press were filled with vituperation against the factory and all it contained. Later often was replaced by gas engines. Again cotton seed was used for seed in the ginning and the ginners, instead of giving off great amounts of smoke, produce a small amount of steam only.

Many S. Africans Posted "Missing" Are Prisoners

A summary of the week's news in the United Kingdom is given in this edition of the East African Standard. The authorities of the Red Cross, the International Red Cross Society, are reported to be missing and being reported as prisoners of war at the rate of as many as a hundred a day. The names are transmitted by cable from the International Red Cross Society in Geneva. A S.A.P.A. Reporter from London states that the International Committee of the Red Cross has been operating a new health service designed to relieve the suffering of the prisoners of war, according to a memo from Geneva to the Vicks news agency.

ADVENTURES OF BRITISH WAR CORRESPONDENT

["STANDARD" CORRESPONDENT]

One of the most widely travelled of war correspondents, Mr. Alan Gardner of the Daily Telegraph, on his way to the East, called on the Mombasa Times the other day. "That Mr. Gardner's "story" in himself will be appreciated from the fact that he is the only British war correspondent of the first daylight shining of one of our outposts in the East," Mr. Gardner has written a book on the battle of the Atlantic and another account of the battle of Britain from first-hand knowledge.

Heat and Machinery

In place of massed and mechanical, the engine room of the ginner now contains two green-painted dynamos of 48 h.p. each to run the gins and the seed press. One more dynamo of 20 h.p. runs the only large machine in the room—the "baling press pump".

A Good Job

The organization of a factory like this to save material, labor and time, is a big job and the Uganda Company, via Parity Ltd., the Chief Engineer of the company, and the machinery carried out the work by Mr. Morrison, engineering-in-charge of the ginner, with great credit on all counts.

The Prime Minister Speaks to the United Nations

A British and Imperial defeat—Singapore has fallen. All the Malay Peninsula has been overrun and there and some of the damage done at home and in the East are in any way diminished. This, therefore, is one of those moments when the British race must show its strength and its quality and its genius. This can draw from the heart of its fortitude the vital impulse of its energy which the modern discipline that calm and poor combined with a grim determination which, not so long ago, brought us out of the very jaws of defeat. Here we can offer to show, as so often we have done, a way with dignity and need, renewed with dignity and strength. We must remember that we are no longer alone; we are now in the midst of a great cooperative—three-quarters of the human race are now marching with us. The future of mankind may depend upon our action in this our hour of need. We have not failed; we shall not fail now. Let us move forward, steadily together into the storm and through the storm.

British and American Reaction

Mr. Winston Churchill's fighting speech has struck responsive chords on both sides of the Atlantic although there are persistent suggestions that he should rid himself of routine duties and some of the responsibilities which he shoulders.

Here are some extracts from the London and New York Press:—

"The Daily Express comment is:—'Loyalty we must, stand together under the great leader this land has produced for its trial. There is no other man among us with his quality, no man approaching him more than ever now we must give the strength and power of all our loyalty and help.'

"The Daily Herald says:—'Our need is for a body of men able to give every possible hour of their time to discussion and decision on the broad issues of the war. Certainly we have suffered through the detail. We are convinced since he has cleared himself of these pro-occupations he will see more clearly and correctly than anybody the other defects that clog the war machine in as many of its movements.'

"The Daily Mail states:—'The whole machine of government needs immediate overhaul. The Government now blood into the Government would eliminate the whole nation by the effort needed to plant our feet where we want them to be—the road at last to victory.'

Further reports from Washington that Mr. Churchill's frank review of the war situation struck a responsive note among the American leaders. His outline of policy about Russia and China was received with general approbation. The New York Times comments:—'The speech is worth making if Mr. Churchill has done nothing more than to warn his listeners against the actual dangers of hibernating and division in time of adversity.'

Senator Barkley said the speech was plain, frank and determined. Mr. Bol Bon declared it was a magnificent message of faith and hope in the certainty of ultimate victory.

New Post For Mr. Beresford Stooke

["NAIROBI"] CORRESPONDENT

Mr. G. Beresford Stooke, who at present holds the joint posts of Chief and Financial Secretary of Zanzibar, has been appointed Chief Secretary of Northern Rhodesia in succession to Mr. W. Logan.

Both Mr. Beresford Stooke and Mr. Logan have served in Kenya. Mr. Logan joined the administrative service of the East African Protectorate in 1913 and served in various capacities until 1917, when he was appointed to Northern Rhodesia as Chief Secretary. At that time he was Commissioner of Local Government, Lands and Settlement in Kenya.

Mr. G. Beresford Stooke, who is only 48 years of age, was an Officer of the Royal Navy from 1914 to 1919 and in 1920 became a cadet in the Civil Service of Kenya. In 1922 he became an Assistant District Officer in Kenya and served in various capacities, including Acting Clerk to the Executive Council, until he was appointed Assistant Treasurer of Mauritius in 1923. In 1926 he returned to Kenya as Deputy Treasurer, in succession to Mr. G. H. Sandford, and was Deputy Chief Secretary in 1929. He was transferred to Zanzibar in August 1940.

THE SURRENDER OF SINGAPORE

"A Terrible Blow"

The Daily Express declares:—'This is the hour of adversity—the hour when we take the heaviest punishment. The loss of Singapore is a terrible blow. The news and the humiliation of the retreat of the Schermerhorn and the Gieseler come together in one black week of calamity. It is not only the loss of our security, it is not only, and has been for many centuries, the loss of the very heart of our empire. What would Germany if the Germans had had British freedom to express their views on this subject? It would have been the cry for punishment of the men who left an army of millions to survive the Hunian slaughter. Now is the hour for the character of Britain to stand for the character of Britain to stand for the people of America; to reach the small conquered nations, to show them we have in Britain the will to victory and unflinching and inflexible.'

ZANZIBAR'S PROBLEMS
Shortage Of Foodstuffs

According to a Bulletin issued by the Economic Council of Zanzibar, arrears of wheat flour have been received to value about 4,000 bags since the end of every month for some time past.

The Bulletin also announces that no wheat flour will be available from March 1st onwards because the arrivals are not yet in view. The same is the case with other foodstuffs. Shortages of rice are reported to be also at present. Stocks of rice are reported to be also at present. Stocks of rice are reported to be also at present.

The shortage is due to the fact that the mills are working at a reduced rate of production. We are sorry to hear that you are also experiencing a shortage of paper. In order that everything possible may be done to overcome supplies, and in order that these commodities only for essential needs.

Based reports the public to economize in every way possible, using motor cars when only absolutely necessary, and keeping consumption down to a minimum. Petrol pumps will have to be even more drastically curtailed and no made as usual by burning produce in from the churches to towns.

Loss of Stocks

In view of acute shortage of position of the East African Protectorate, the port authorities are unable to stock up for the future, either in lighter or on some cases for very short periods. The export of goods from Zanzibar to other ports for transshipment will only be permitted when on-carriage has definitely been arranged.

LABOUR REPORT COMMEMDED

The Problem Of Recalcitrant Employees

["STANDARD" CORRESPONDENT] KCM.
The Report of the African Labour Committee will generally be welcomed by those who have long been in the industrial concern in need of large numbers of workers, who are harassed continuously by the problem of the recalcitrant labour force.

The Report of the African Labour Committee will generally be welcomed by those who have long been in the industrial concern in need of large numbers of workers, who are harassed continuously by the problem of the recalcitrant labour force.

It is illuminating to note the numerous instances made by all tribes in Nyrota, to the Colony's labourers, who have been in the industrial concern in need of large numbers of workers, who are harassed continuously by the problem of the recalcitrant labour force.

Difficulty in invoking Law
The Report will agree with Para. 9 of the Report in which the cause contributing to the deterioration in the standard of output is mentioned.

We had valuable evidence on this subject from a Special Magistrate and several other magistrates, who stated that the position would be improved by the appointment of additional special magistrates.

All right-minded people will welcome the introduction of legislation for the better control of dogs in the rural areas of the Colony.

Municipalities already possess power to make by-laws on the subject of dogs, and attention has, on more than one occasion, been drawn to the S.A. Standard, to the need for similar authority to be vested in District Councils.

None of the miserable canine specimens mentioned are, ranging from the settled areas to any other area for the matter of that, are a menace.

This Wine has a fine bouquet, and is an excellent specimen of South Africa's best dry wines, with fine body. It is soft to the palate. A great wine.

Education of East African Children

A WAR PROBLEM

To the Editor, "E.A. Standard" Sir—In reply to the request of the Lord Bishop of the Upper Nile in your issue of the 13th instant for information concerning the immigration envisaged upon children of African descent who are being evacuated to the United Kingdom, I would like to point out that it is not the Director of Education who is responsible for the admission of such children to the United Kingdom, but the Government.

In Council as one of the general representatives and of the general agreement. On Tuesday January 27th I received a communication from the Director of Education, London, regarding the evacuation of East African children to the United Kingdom. The Director of Education, London, has been asked to advise on the evacuation of such children to the United Kingdom. The Director of Education, London, has been asked to advise on the evacuation of such children to the United Kingdom.

Without going into any details as to the policy of the Government, it is clear that the Director of Education, London, is not responsible for the admission of such children to the United Kingdom, but the Government.

It must be admitted that this is a far and responsible, although the Director was the first to admit that it was not his duty to advise on the evacuation of such children to the United Kingdom, but the Government.

With regard to the children here, it is clear that it is not the Director of Education who is responsible for the admission of such children to the United Kingdom, but the Government.

That, sir, is the position. The evacuation of our children is a matter of vital importance, not merely to the individual parent, but to the Government.

UNCERTAINTIES OF UGANDA COTTON PROSPECTS

Reasons For Fall In Prices & Suspension Of Buying

It is standard "CONSERVATION" at the moment to assess the progress of the current cotton season in Uganda...

The second day of buying showed a decline of 4 cents...

The advent of the double tax on foreign cotton into India did not at once have a great deal of effect...

Another factor was the unfavorable weather experiment in December and January...

Official estimates of the total crop were very far from 200,000 bales to a figure below the 200,000 mark...

As already reported Government decided to suspend buying...

ready purchased enough cotton to last them for some time...

The first reaction was that the market for by 1/4 to 1/2 cent...

LAMU AND KISMAYU Trade Relations

Lamu has recently enjoyed the opportunity to welcome back two of its former Administrative Officers both now holding administrative posts in the O.E.T.A. The first of these was Lt. Col. D. H. Wabunan who was District Commissioner here for some time prior to the occupation of our troops of what was formerly Italian Somaliland, and equivalent post in that territory of a Provincial Commissioner here. Taking advantage of his brief leave after a strenuous term of office he has thoroughly enjoyed his brief holiday among old friends of all races in Lamu.

The second welcome visitor was Major W. Coback who some ten years ago was stationed here as an A.D.C. He is now in charge at Kismayu and his visit was made for the special purpose of meeting with Lamu traders, shopkeepers and others interested in any way in the re-organization of the trade relations that existed between the two Kismayu or the Italian in 1925. This old and special meeting was arranged by our District Commissioner in his office and was attended by the Lamu traders, shopkeepers and others interested in any way in the re-organization of the trade relations that existed between the two Kismayu or the Italian in 1925. This old and special meeting was arranged by our District Commissioner in his office and was attended by the Lamu traders, shopkeepers and others interested in any way in the re-organization of the trade relations that existed between the two Kismayu or the Italian in 1925.

The trouble was, however, that the O.E.T.A. had not yet been set up and the question was whether the administrative arrangements in respect to and to act to a large extent in conformity with the administrative and political fact was a matter that they had found it necessary to retain large numbers of former Italian civil servants in certain of the posts and posts positions. These persons had been retained in certain of the posts and posts positions. These persons had been retained in certain of the posts and posts positions.

Dealing with some of the questions raised at the meeting to said that it had not yet been found possible to start a new trade mission in Lamu, but that a postal service had been started. Lamu products that would be well come in Kismayu and, in return, he had no objection to the export to Lamu of donkeys and camels. It would, as is well known, be necessary for those interested in such imports and exports to obtain permission from the Kenya authorities, but with that aspect of the matter he had nothing to do. Experimental exports of slaughter livestock were being made, but he could hold out no hopes that shipments of ivory would be permitted.

The position, as regards ivory, is both interesting and enlightening as regards former Italian practices. There were, during the war, some 4,000 tusks lying at Kismayu. This is a very strange situation, since elephants are very scarce indeed in that part of the country. True that the tusks are plentiful just across the old international boundary with our E.A.F. where the solution of the ivory trade is Game Dept. It is a matter that they are aware that ivory was being smuggled across the border to Kismayu. It is a matter that they are aware that ivory was being smuggled across the border to Kismayu. It is a matter that they are aware that ivory was being smuggled across the border to Kismayu.

TODAY'S BIBLE THOUGHT

Isaiah 40:31

They shall not weaken as we weaken,
They shall not be consumed as we are consumed.

meeting argued that the native labourer must first improve in discipline and industry, and then better housing and feeding and higher wages would follow. That argument will not get us very far. A case on sound economic and social grounds has already been made out against inadequate wages and nobody today will dispute the fact that if workers are to become physically and mentally fitted for hard and continuing work they must be decently housed and properly fed.

There is, therefore, a double approach to the problem which every day that passes should be fully employed in making it. So far as the African is concerned he must be brought to understand the urgent necessity for honest and steady work by every able-bodied man in defence of our liberty and he must also be told by every means available that Government will no longer tolerate idleness and poor quality and irregular work. He should be told, too, that if there are insufficient willing workers the Government has power to take the shirkers by the scruff of the neck and pitch them into work and keep them there.

On the other side, the European employer, and particularly the farmer, must be left in no doubt that a major part of the solution of the labour problem is to be found in better housing, better feeding and a fair wage for a fair day's work. The Government has guaranteed the price of farm commodities and offered other safeguards to the producer. The Government is, therefore, entitled to expect the African labourer gets his proper share.

There is no need to wait for the Colonists to sponsor legislation upon these basic points. They should be attacked wholesale and with vigour by all concerned, and the attack should be full swinging already. Precious time is being wasted.

Importations By Parcel Posts

Shipping difficulties have caused a certain diversion of normal trade importations to carriage by parcel post. Such trade importations should not be exempt from the usual Customs entry procedure made when these goods are carried as ordinary freight and accordingly, as from March 1, 1942, the Commissioner of Customs will, at his discretion, require ordinary Customs import procedure to be adopted in the place of preferential duty to the Post Office officials.

Any person under which this action is taken assigned to addresses in Mombasa and places in Kenya other than Nairobi will be cleared at Mombasa. Similarly, parcels consigned to addresses in Nairobi and Kampala will be cleared at those places. Parcels addressed to places in Uganda other than Kampala will be cleared at Kampala.

It may be necessary on occasions for agents to be appointed at Mombasa or Kampala to effect clearance of parcels addressed to destinations other than these three places specified.

Forests are the Treasure Chest of the Nation
From a Broadcast by H. M. GARDNER, Conservator of Forests

It is a fact that for the entire year the forests have been the source of our timber supply. The Department has undertaken a large programme of afforestation in order to meet the demand for timber.

When the African campaign was successfully concluded there was a large amount of timber available for export. The demand was very large and the price was very high.

Candida's Comments ON THE SCREEN:

ONE of the most cheerful films is among next week's batch. Broad knockabout farce, maybe, but good gaudy North country stuff at that.

TURNUED OUT NICE AGAIN. Director: Marcel Varnay. Players: George Formby, Percy Brangell, Eileen Herge, Brian Griffin.

This is the film that is worth a good laugh. I haven't always liked George Formby but this is him at his very best in a robust comedy of the small-circus type. Key mistakes against his mother's wishes, is stretched out in a racket for making yarn for women's underwear, and forms up in the end.

UNHATED (Empire: Three—B+). Director: George Armstrong. Players: Joan Crawford, Patricia Kennedy, John Payne.

WE WHO ARE YOUNG. Director: Harold S. Blystone. Players: Lana Turner, John Payne.

In this the first film on our list for value, we have little Lana Turner in a different part from her usual role. It is a rather good color picture. It really is a rather good color picture.

Farming Notes: By J. K. HILL. A FEW months ago I wrote an article on the work and training of oxen, since when I have been accused of being a fund on the subject, and asked to write another. Most certainly I am not a fund but know quite enough about it to have the greatest admiration for anyone who is. What is equal, if not of greater importance is training the drivers, because no matter how good a bullock a trainer may be, his work can easily be ruined by mishandling and subsequent bad training.

There are only a few really good drivers in Kenya, and the majority of whom have been trained in the States. It is a pity that we have so few good drivers in the States. It is a pity that we have so few good drivers in the States.

THE BEST of the BOOKCASE "Jane Fairfax"

HERE are some books which can be recommended for the reading of this month. They are not all on sale now in the bookshops of Kenya because, as soon as a good anniversary day, it is snapped up by greedy readers. However, they have been sold here at sometime or other, and they are all in this country; you will probably be able to find them on the bookshelf of a friend or in your library.

"LOOKING FOR TROUBLE" by Virginia Cowles.

This is one of the outstanding books of the war and seems to be perennially in the state of underprints. Virginia Cowles is an American and was a correspondent for an American newspaper in Europe. She tells the good fortune to know the Churchill and many other important people such as Ciano, she was a close friend of the British and she gets right into it. She was in Berlin the day the Germans were driven out of the city. She was bombed out of one place and always went on to another. Just as a graduate course, she was under fire in the Spanish War. Miss Cowles is a very attractive looking girl and can't she write!

"DON'T THINK IT WASN'T BEEN PAID" by Virginia Cowles.

Quentin Reynolds says that very moving commentary to the London Book Club. It is a good thing to England, but perhaps, that we will ever realize until after the war. He wrote this new book which is a very good thing to England. There are many things which are not in a book about such things as fishing, eating and other things. It is written in a very attractive and interesting manner for some people.

"THE FAMILY" by E. M. Forster.

A perfect holiday even best side book. Open it at any page and there is a story. It is a very satisfactory story between the two people. It is a very satisfactory story between the two people. It is a very satisfactory story between the two people.

"YOUR DEAR MY LOVE" by Peter Gougeon.

A charming book all about a London family who keep a boarding house in China. It is a very satisfactory story between the two people. It is a very satisfactory story between the two people. It is a very satisfactory story between the two people.

BECAUSE we don't have a proper writer out here, quite a lot of housewives seem to think that an annual Spring-cleaning of the house is unnecessary. But the fact of the matter is that it is as important here as anywhere else to keep your floors and shining, your covers and curtains fresh, your glass and silver gleaming.

Walls, Ceilings and Floors

First step for job. Clear the floor and remove curtains and brooms and brushes. Just rub away the dirt with a brush. Use a good wash soap, or a wide floor brush. For the top corners of a wall wash over the long edge with a brush. If the paper is soiled when it gets dirty.

Use sponges with hot water and soap. Use in a spongy place. Use in a spongy place. Use in a spongy place. Use in a spongy place.

Carpets, Curtains and Covers

Wash light muslin or nylon curtains in a solution of borax and warm water. Lay in the sun. If they are soiled with grease, or if they are not doing regularly, wash them in a solution of borax and warm water. Lay in the sun.

Getton On With The Job

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 1942.

The ex-Premier of Canada, Mr. B. Bennett, complained the other day that the trouble with the British people is that they do not realise the peril they are in. He could have applied the same criticism to the Governments and people of East Africa with equal truth. We do not realise the peril of the coming year. We still comfortably believe that Victory Atlantic is the answer to the problem. We do not realise the peril of the coming year. We still comfortably believe that Victory Atlantic is the answer to the problem.

Remember Singapore

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1942.

The British Empire has been strangled by the Japanese. Singapore. Its loss has been a severe blow to pride and to prestige. Perhaps more than anything has yet happened in this war it has revealed the hollowness of pride and the futility of prestige when we are engaged in a struggle with which nothing counts except ruthless readiness to deal with any enemy. Forgetting the experience of the escape of the German battleships it has surely not occurred to any conspiracy, any lifeline, any hope that remained to us after two and a half years of war in which almost miraculously failed to overtake us. The loss is galvanized by the memory of the gallant and courageous spirit of the defenders, the example of men from Britain, Australia, India and Malaya whose bravery excited admiration even in the hearts of a barbarous enemy. But, Dunkirk, Narvik, Greece, Crete, Bangkok, Singapore—the people asking, more and more urgently, how long must the dark days go on.

A PROBLEM OF EDUCATION

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1942.

The Bishop of the Upper Nile used the columns of the East African Standard for an expression of protest against a decision taken by the Government of Kenya to prohibit the entry of European children into the Colony for educational purposes. The decision also applies to people intending to attend the schools and the Bishop's protest, which has been supported by another from Tanganyika, rather than the Government of Kenya had no real right to interfere with the business of private schools and that, although there is nothing in our constitutional, sinister and unpleasant about the whole business. Such is not the case. But it is to be regretted that the decision was not made the subject of an adequate public statement when it was reached. Publicity of this nature is one of the purposes for which the Government spends a large sum of money every year on its Information Office. The Bishop and other disappointed and indignant parents have been placed in the position of uncovering a situation which should have been known and understood by the public from the beginning.

WASTING TIME

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1942.

A week has passed since the Government of Kenya published the Report of the Special Committee appointed to consider the question of applying compulsion to the African labourer. The Report has been referred to the Secretary of State. If he makes amendments in the elaborate and already difficult and undesirable solution still more complicated to apply. Worse than anything the Government has done to date, intervention may lead to delay. There is no room for delay. There need not be delay. The Kenya and the people of East Africa will be well served if the problem they are well acquainted with many of the things that have to be done to bring about improvement of their conditions is applied or not. Questions of wages, housing and food, medical examination, proper organisation of labour routes, the relationship between the labour requirements of external employment and the maintenance of the Native Reserves, are not new. They are common to all Africa. They are cropped up in every survey of the labour question ever made. So do not let us make unnecessarily heavy weather of the labour question.

Two things are immediately apparent. So far as the employer is concerned there is equal need for education in such matters as housing, wages and food. A speaker at a recent Standard meeting argued that the native labourer must first improve in discipline and industry, and then better housing and feeding and higher wages would follow. That argument will not get us very far. A case on sound economic and social grounds has already been made out against inadequate wages and nobody today will dispute the fact that if workers are to become physically and mentally fitter for hard and continuous work they must be decently housed and properly fed.

There is, therefore, a double approach to the problem and every day that passes should be fully employed in making it. So far as the African is concerned he must be brought to understand the urgent necessity for honest and steady work by every able-bodied man in defence of our liberty, and he must also be told by every means available that Government will no longer tolerate and poor quality and irregular work. He must be told, too, that if there are insufficient willing workers the Government will have to take the shirkers by the neck and the neck and pitch them into work and keep them there.

The Prime Minister Speaks

STATEMENT TO THE UNITED NATIONS

February 18. The Prime Minister, Sir H. Churchill, in his broadcast to the United Nations on Sunday evening, shortly after the Fall of Singapore, was continued, by Mr. Churchill, six months later, made a broadcast directly to our fellow countrymen. It is, therefore, worth while looking back over this fall of Singapore for the light it still casts on what has happened to our fortunes and to our prospects.

All that time in August I had the pleasure of meeting the President of the United States of America and drawing up the declaration of British and American policy which was to be broadcast to the world as the Atlantic Charter. We also acted, as you know, in other things about the war, none of which have had an important influence upon its course. In those days, I met on the terms of a broad general agreement, seeking assistance from our friend who has, however, only a limited military force. The German seemed to be hearing the Russian promises to leave and to be ready to fight with growing momentum. To Leningrad, to Moscow and to the East, we were sending our heart's blood. It was thought a last desperate effort would be made. The President declared that the Russian people would not be allowed to surrender. You may see that the Russian people, and their allies—very different things this would mean.

Absolutely. As yet.

As yet, our British resources were not nearly so good as they had already been for more than a whole year. It was not until we had been hit with Hitler and Mussolini. We had to be ready to meet the attack of our own people. We had to defend Japan, the Vichy Navy and the East. We were sending our heart's blood to the Allies in the West, and to the East, we were sending our heart's blood to the Allies in the East. We were sending our heart's blood to the Allies in the East.
