COMMUNISTS OFFER INDO-CHINA CEASE-FIRE Independence call in eight-point plan

ARMISTICE PROPOSAL BY FRANCE REJECTED

The Vietninh Communists have offered a cease-fire in Indo-China if the French will concede "sovereignty and independence" to all three Indo-Chinese States and allow free elections. An eight-point plan put to the nineteen-conference rebel regime in Geneva, Laos and Cambodia, of the rejected French plan for an internationally controlled mixed commission of both sides.

The French also want the armistice terms to be agreed in a mixed area in Vietnam before a cease-fire. The Communist plan demands a special position for the rebel movements in the three States before seeking the Vietninh is ready to consider jointing the French side under independence is granted.

WITHDRAWAL OF TROOPS URGED

The Vietninh eight-point settlement proposal is being accepted by France of the sovereignty and independence of Vietnam throughout the country. It is a simple one which is not practicable and could not lead to a solution.

DISTORTION OF FACTS ALLEGED

The Vietninh also accused the French Government of distortion of facts and distortion of facts.

SUPERVISION FROM OUTSIDE POSSIBLE

Two Western objections, however, is that the Vietninh settlement plan does not provide adequate conditions to prevent armistice pending a full armistice.

AGREEMENT WOUND UP

The Geneva Conference appears to have reached its final settlement — the withdrawal of all French troops from Indo-China.

DOCTORS ALLOWED TO RETURN TO HOSPITAL

Vietninh Radio said yesterday that French doctors and nurses were allowed to return to the underground hospital of Vietninh after the fortress had been captured.

223 ROUNDED UP AT MOMBASA

Panga attack precipitates sweep of Africans

MOMBASA Police have swooped on African housing in the Changamwe area, rounded up 223 Kikuyu, Embu and Meru tribesmen for screening. The raid comes after the panga slaying of Mrs. Ellen Ekins, aged 47, and her 16-year-old daughter, Christine, in their home in the water reservoir compound.

A senior police officer said that because of Operation 'Anvil' in North Africa it was realised that some Africans would try to get into the Coast Province. For some time now, they had been screening and dealing out undesirable elements.

The raid on the Kikuyu, Embu and Meru tribesmen was precipitated by the panga attack on the European women.

Boy charged

The police had all the detainees behind locked doors at Camp Bagram at 8 p.m. yesterday.

SOVIET UNION HAS 350 SUBMARINES AND 19,000 MILITARY AIRCRAFT

THE Soviet Navy has about 350 submarines, compared with 300 in 1961 and 213 at the end of the war, Mr Anthony Nutting, the Foreign Under-Secretary, told the Commons. He said about half were of the large or medium ocean-going type. Manpower had increased from 600,000 in 1961 to 700,000 in 1962 and the Russian Navy was also capable of a considerable air and sea mining effort.

RADIO SYSTEM WILL SPEED POLICE WORK

A system of radio communications which will enable the Northern Rhodesian police to deal promptly with any emergency is nearing completion. Women reservists are being recruited to take over the wireless operation room in case of need. The system has cost over £20,000.

The radio network falls into three parts. First there is the Northern Rhodesian Police with headquarters at Lusaka, Kitale, Ndola, and Solweby. There is a link from Lusaka to the mobile sound locators in the Rhodesia Mainland.

Another radio system links Bulawayo, the headquarters of the Western Division, with Kitale, Lumumba, Mufindi and Chipinge. A similar system is being developed from Kampala to serve the troops in the police Northern Division, which includes Abacha, Abacha, and Abacha.

The total number of radio sets in the system is 100 and will be increased to 150 in the next year. The system is the most advanced in the world and is being used in other parts of the world.

County Council chairman retires

Mr J. W. Richardson, chairman of Nairobi County Council for the past year and first chairman of the Nairobi County Council, has retired from the Council. Mr R. N. Le was elected the new chairman.

On relinquishing his office, Mr Richardson said that he was younger man should take over and expressed the hope that the County Council would be a success in the next year.

Mr J. W. Richardson, who was 60, was elected chairman of the County Council in 1962. He had been a member of the Council since 1958.

No rush for unrationed butter

HOUSEWIVES made no rush for stocks of unrationed butter and margarine on sale in Britain for the first time since 1940.

A few shops decided to try out the improved types of margarine but have been disappointed in the national Press during the past month.

Domestic, Danish and New Zealand butter was available in quantities ranging from 4s. to 4s. 6d. a pound.

When rationing ended at midday on May 16, the rationed butter was 2s. 6d. a pound.

Rationed margarine cost 1s. 6d. a pound. The domestic type will be between 1s. 4d. and 1s. 6d. a pound.

An official for a big firm of production merchants said: "We expect to see a big boom in butter prices so high we do not expect housewives to flock to us now."

The Ministry of Food expects that Britain will get more butter and margarine during the summer months.

Few Kikuyu on Govt. work in Rift Valley

'RESTRICTION TENDENCY'

The number of Kikuyu employed by Government departments in the Rift Valley Province is generally small, and below the figure for other parts of the country, according to the Provincial Commissioner, Mr. R. E. Wainwright. He was commenting on the action of the Government to restrict the number of Kikuyu employed in jobs that took them round the country.

Mr. Wainwright said it was a sad situation not to have Kikuyu in middle jobs for unambiguously some of them did not act as couriers. He felt, however, there was a tendency to restrict Kikuyu more and more as time went on, irrespective of whether or not there was any misbehaviour on their part. He justified the Government's action in the main departments mentioned at the County Council meetings were the Soil Conservation Service and the Public Works Department.

Drivers removed

The P.W.D. had removed 14 Kikuyu drivers and service workers had been thoroughly searched and a number removed. Railway staff had been screened by Government men, and the railway telephone operators and Kikuyu telephone operators had been removed from their jobs in the Upper Rift. There were more left in cooperation gangs and the Provincial Commissioner thought this could not be avoided. They were trained out of their respective work, and people were being recruited for telephone services.

The morale of Kikuyu in the Rift Valley had improved, but only and was not good. He admitted they were not to be trusted. If they kept the situation as they were, they would be liable to blame if a later stage does were given in their hands.

There are between 10,000 and 20,000 Kikuyu left in the Rift Valley compared with about 200,000 at the start of the 1950's.

WHITE PAPER ON MAU MAU PEACE TALKS REFUSED

In a written reply to Mrs. Eirene White, Minister for Front East and Minister of State for Colonial Affairs, who had not considered a White Paper on the failure of the Mau Mau surrender negotiations was necessary.

Mrs. White asked for a White Paper to be published in regard to the Mau Mau negotiations and the future to secure the peace.

Inaccurate account

In his reply, the Minister said that the account given in a periodical which was "published by the Mau Mau rebels" was a "grossly inaccurate account" and that the Minister was "glad to hear that Mrs. White's account was so different from the one given in the periodical." He mentioned that Mrs. White's account was "in the nature of a rumour" and that the Minister was "glad to hear that Mrs. White's account was so different from the one given in the periodical."

FORCES TO COST KENYA £460,000 THIS YEAR

BRITAIN'S colonial territories will spend nearly £236,000 less on defence this year than last. This Britain will pay £2,980,000 from the Colonial Services Vote, but not all Colonial will benefit, with only £1,160,000 from the Vote. This is because the Government has decided that the total defence expenditure for the year will be £460,000 less than last year's.

The largest individual spender will be India, which will spend £12,800,000. Other large spenders will be the United States, which will spend £1,700,000, and the United Kingdom, which will spend £1,160,000.

Emergency aid

These figures, however, do not include money for the United States, which will spend £1,700,000, and the United Kingdom, which will spend £1,160,000.

The United States will spend £1,700,000, and the United Kingdom will spend £1,160,000.

U.K. first taste of summer

A SURPRISE warm spell gave Britons their first glimpse of summer on Monday. Temperatures soared up into the seventies, surprising the experts almost as much as anyone else.

The cause is an anticyclone from the south-west of France which suddenly developed over the British Isles, and turned British weather from a soggy, drizzle into a sunny, hot day with a temperature of 76 degrees Fahrenheit. This is the highest temperature in the British Isles since the beginning of the war.

UNIFICATION PLAN FOR KOREA REJECTED

Seoul decision by President Rhee DISPUTE AT GENEVA OVER SETTLEMENT

PRESIDENT SYNGMAN RHEE has rejected a proposal for the unification of Korea, it was announced in Seoul yesterday.

The South Korean Premier, Paik Tong Chin, told a press conference of the President's decision. The rejected proposal was the unification plan presented by the United States.

Meanwhile, at the Geneva conference, the Soviet Foreign Minister, Mr. Molotov, gave firm backing to the Korean plan for the establishment of both Korean Governments of a joint commission to plan national elections, saying it offered the most reasonable chance of a settlement.

The Western Powers oppose this plan, believing it would give the Communist North the same representation on the proposed commission though it has a much smaller population. They want instead elections under international supervision.

The scheme Russia supports for a Korean settlement was announced by Mr. Pyo Yong Yung, the South Korean Foreign Minister, as a hypothetical scheme to "steal away" the "southern" part of the peninsula.

Last month the South Korean Defence Minister, Vice-Admiral Kim, said in Seoul that the Geneva Conference would be the last one held by South Korea to discuss the possible unification of the country. He said that if the Geneva Conference failed it would be the last peaceful attempt to unify Korea.

RUSSIAN ATTACK ON DEFENCE PROPOSAL

SOVIET RUSSIA lashed out at Geneva at Western plans to set up a South-East Asian defence alliance similar to the North Atlantic Treaty Organisation in Europe.

Mr. Molotov, the Soviet Foreign Minister, said that the Western powers were trying to set up a "new military bloc" against the Soviet Union. He said the plan still needed the "blessing" of the United States and the United Kingdom. He said the plan still needed the "blessing" of the United States and the United Kingdom.

Mr. Molotov also said that the United States was trying to "divide and conquer" the South-East Asian states. He said the plan still needed the "blessing" of the United States and the United Kingdom.

INDO-CHINA NOT DEFENCE KEY 'S.E. Asia can be held'

THE United States Secretary of State, Mr. John Foster Dulles, said at a Washington Press conference that he thought South-East Asia could be defended even without Indo-China. But he was careful to point out later that he did not wish to give the impression that he thought the United States would give up Indo-China.

COMMENTING on the cocoa peak price of more than £500 a ton in the Financial Times, gave reasons for this latest advance. The newspaper said: "Last week there were further headlines by the West African Marketing Boards for one thing."

Rising consumption

"These factors, together with short covering," stimulated the market to its new peak. But basically the reason for the firmness of cocoa prices is the fundamental scarcity here, supply and demand which has been a growing problem throughout the current selling season.

Japanese cut car imports

HEAVY cuts in Japanese imports of cars have been announced by the Japanese Ministry of Commerce. The cut in imports has taken place in a year when there has been a further sharp drop in supplies of cars from West Africa.

LEGISLATURE CHANGES IN TANGANYIKA

Official majority held

TANGANYIKA LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL will be re-elected in the first half of next year—in time for the African, nine. The official bench will consist of 18 members, six Europeans, six Africans, and six from the Province and Dar es Salaam.

This was stated by the Governor, Sir Edward Topping, in a speech at the opening of the Budget session of the Legislative Council in Dar es Salaam yesterday. The Council will consist of 55 members, 18 official members, 18 non-official members, and 19 members representing the African community.

The majority of votes which will be cast for the official members will be in the hands of the Governor, "have been in the hands of the official members since the introduction of the new legislation. It is now necessary to ensure that the new legislation is introduced."

Minister's approval

"It is proposed, however, that the official members shall be elected for three years instead of five years. Without this change in the law, the official members after three years would be liable to be re-elected by the African community. It is therefore necessary to ensure that the official members are elected for a longer period."

The Minister also stated that the official members will be elected for three years, and that the African members will be elected for five years. This change is necessary to ensure that the official members are not re-elected too frequently, and that the African members have a longer period of office.

'Not too big'

There has been a fear in the past that the new Council would be too big. The Minister stated that the Council would be "not too big" and that it would be able to handle the work of the Government in all major matters.

WELCOMES MR. EDEN'S PEACE PLAN

5-point settlement for Indo-China

FIRST STEP TO GET FIGHTING STOPPED

MR. GEORGE BIDART, the British Foreign Secretary, again played the role of conciliator at Geneva by setting five key questions to the Indo-China conference in an effort to bring it to grips with the problems of restoring peace in the Indochinese peninsula. "As I understand it we are all agreed that the first step is to get the fighting in an orderly manner," Mr. Eden said.

The Foreign Secretary then tried to define the salient points of agreement and disagreement between the two sides in five questions which he said he hoped the conference would find useful. These questions, he said, required urgent answers.

Mr. George Bidart, the French Foreign Minister, and welcomed Mr. Eden's proposals immediately. Mr. Walter Bedell Smith, United States Secretary of State, also welcomed Mr. Eden's proposals. Mr. Eden's five points were: 1. That the fighting should be stopped immediately. 2. That the two sides should agree on a ceasefire. 3. That the two sides should agree on a settlement of the political and military problems. 4. That the two sides should agree on a settlement of the economic and social problems. 5. That the two sides should agree on a settlement of the international relations problems.

AGREED PANEL COUNTRIES

MR. EDEN SAID THAT "WE ARE IN FAVOUR OF UNITED NATIONS SUPERVISION OF THE CEASEFIRE AND SETTLEMENT OF THE POLITICAL AND MILITARY PROBLEMS." He also stated that the United Nations should be asked to supervise the ceasefire and settlement of the political and military problems. COL. YOUNG ON WAY TO BRITAIN

'Foolish to anticipate early end to the Emergency'

IT WOULD BE FOOLISH TO ANTICIPATE—BY PLAN OR POLICY—the end of the Emergency in a few months, the Commissioner of Police, Col. E. Young, stated yesterday. He said he was sure the Government would not take that view, and even so would still have a most responsible job. The force would not be able to credit strength for a long time, because the challenge to law and order would be most serious. Mr. Young said he was sure the Government would not take that view, and even so would still have a most responsible job.

AFRICAN MINeworkERS AROUSE SPECULATION

NORTHERN RHODESIANS with a statistical turn of mind have been busy this week trying to square a circular diagram out of facts produced by the African Mineworkers' Union at its annual conference.

Figures published some time ago in the official magazine of the union show that the copper mines are members of the African Mineworkers' Union at its annual conference.

Unexpected result
In the course of the week the results a little occasional error in the figures of the conference of letting it off in the respective months to be 64, a month. The results were sudden and unexpected.

54,000 Members
A calculation based on a payment of £4 a month, the union had a membership of 54,000, 61 of whom were paying the dues last year as the rates rose to £4 a month. It follows that 14,771 is so, in two months. This means that the union leaders succeeded in getting 14,764 from only 11,000 members.

Northern Rhodesian commentary of the total membership within the last 14,000 members in 1953. The effect of this development is the strength of the African Mineworkers' Union is not yet clear. According to the constitution it should equal all members who do not pay their subscriptions promptly.

Drop in strength
Should this action be taken, its effective strength will drop from 54,000 to something like 40,000 on the basis of the 14,000 members who do not pay their subscriptions promptly.

of the African Mineworkers' Union is by far the strongest African trade union in Central Africa. The developing situation in regard to its affairs is being watched with the closest attention by the Government, the copper mining companies and by the white settler community of the territory.

The week's most amazing feature has been the small article which seems to have been written by the editor of the Standard in the course of the week. It is a small article which somebody could identify it with. It is a small article which somebody could identify it with.

£6,563,620 exports of livestock

MR. A. E. BALDWIN, chairman of the British Livestock Export Group, reported the export of cattle for artificial insemination overseas rather than the export of bulls.

Mr. Baldwin was speaking at the group's annual meeting. He has the opinion of every single breed society in the country that the export of bulls is not eventually a great success.

Increased exports
The group's report for 1953 showed that the total value of animals exported for breeding purposes was £2,620,000, an increase of 22 per cent on the previous year.

Fifty oil palm seedlings have been planted by the local agricultural officer, on demonstration plots near the mouth of the Tana River. The scheme is being carried out by the Tana Delta 50 years ago, and it will not only provide a useful addition to the local diet but also a worthwhile income.

Public meetings
Public meetings are normally held twice a month at which subjects such as roads, water supply, drainage and other matters affecting the African community are dealt with.

ACTION STOPS ROT IN UKAMBA

Authorities alive to risks of terrorism spreading

No one in Machakos District, where 400,000 Wambas live, realises the danger of terrorism spreading there than Mr. Douglas Penwell, the District Commissioner. He is the Deputy Commissioner of the Kenya Police, and he is fully alive to the risks of terrorism spreading there. He is fully alive to the risks of terrorism spreading there. He is fully alive to the risks of terrorism spreading there.

Movement smashed

Checking the first problem area of the East African States, the Government has set up last September a team to investigate the movement of arms and ammunition from the East African States to the East African States. The team has been set up to investigate the movement of arms and ammunition from the East African States to the East African States.

Prices fell at yesterday's Malindi coffee auction, with 450 tons of coffee being sold. The price of coffee has fallen by 12 per cent, and this is a significant drop in the market.

20 Released from 'Anvil' Detention

About 20 Kikuyu, Masai and other detainees have been released from the 'Anvil' detention camp. The release is a result of a review of the camp's operations.

UNIONS AFFECTED BY REMOVAL OF OFFICIALS

Just less than half the full-time and part-time officials of African employer organisations have been detained. This has caused a significant disruption in the operations of these organisations.

Police kill one of cattle guard

One servant was killed by police while guarding a herd of cattle. The incident occurred in a rural area, and the police were responding to a report of a disturbance.

Colour film of Uganda life to be shown in Nairobi

A delightful colour film called 'Ngai—A Bird's Eye View of Uganda' will be shown in Nairobi. The film provides a unique perspective on the life and culture of Uganda.

'VIGILANTES' ENROLLED TO STOP BURGLARIES

Agency hires out nightcatchmen

A scheme to combat the increasing number of cases of shopbreaking at Kampala has been started by an agency calling itself the 'Kampala Vigilantes'. The agency has hired out nightcatchmen to patrol the streets and prevent burglaries.

53 hard-core men to stay in custody

Forty-three Kikuyu who have been identified by independent witnesses as hard-core terrorists have been sent to the 'Anvil' detention camp. The remaining 10 men are being held in custody for further investigation.

20 Released from 'Anvil' Detention

About 20 Kikuyu, Masai and other detainees have been released from the 'Anvil' detention camp. The release is a result of a review of the camp's operations.

Big firm registers

Five firms are arranging to register their shares with the Registrar of Companies. This is a step towards increasing transparency and accountability in the business sector.

Appel opposed

Triflate-Smith has urged the Government to oppose the proposed amendments to the Companies Act. He believes that the amendments would be detrimental to the interests of shareholders.

Under the Standard Clock

MR. JUSTICE ROBERTSON has ordered that the Standard Clock should be used as the basis for all timekeeping in the country. This decision is intended to ensure uniformity and accuracy in timekeeping.

The sensational new tyre by GOOD YEAR

- ★ GIVES YOU GREATER MILEAGE
- ★ SLASHES MOTORING COSTS

THE PROBLEM Faster machines, faster roads, abrasive surfaces and corrugations mile after mile, high temperatures . . . these are the driving conditions one has to face in Africa today. They are among the toughest in the world and getting tougher as improved highways permit higher speeds. Ordinary tyres were not good enough.

THE PLAN Goodyear was determined to build a tyre that would not only be abreast of the breath-taking new motor cars that are now coming off assembly lines, but that would also be years ahead of conventional tyres.

THE METHOD A technical training team was sent to Africa where thousands of miles of territory were covered in studying road and climatic conditions under which motor vehicles operate. Back in Akron the experimental and research divisions of the world's largest tyre manufacturer went to work.

AND THE RESULT

The outcome was the development of an entirely new type of tread compound with amazing wear-resisting and heat-defying properties. This new long-wearing tread, in combination with an immensely strong rayon cord fabric carcass, has been mainly responsible for the exceptional performance of the "PLUS 10" and brings closer the tyre maker's dream of a tyre that will last as long as the average owner drives his car.

Goodyear "Plus 10" Super Cushion tyres are available in the following sizes:-

5.90 - 13
6.40 - 13

Meteorologists move into new premises

DESIGN MEETS SPECIAL NEEDS
FOR the first time since it was established a quarter of a century ago, the East African Meteorological Department has its own headquarters in Nairobi, designed and constructed to meet the department's needs. Removal from the old premises at Government Road, to the new building at Dagoretti Corner is taking place this week.

NAIROBI OPERATION SUCCESS

Statement by Mr. Lyvetton
MR. Lyvetton, the Colonial Secretary, told the House of Commons that the joint police and army operations in Nairobi against the Mau Mau terrorists now completed had been "most successful".

Hostages in the city had ceased and the boycott ordered by terrorists on buses, trams and schools had been broken.

19,000 detained
There had been a spectacular reduction in crime, particularly theft, and the law-abiding Mau Mau population had been broken.

3,000 Mau Mau were detained and 19,000 were detained for further screening.

Also 4,500 had been detained on individual detention orders and 2,300 dependent women and children had been rehabilitated in the reserves.

Arrests intensified
Refusing to question Mr. Lyvetton, who recently visited Kenya, said the Kenya Government had done all it could to suppress Mau Mau.

The Government had intensified its operations against the Mau Mau forces. He said he could not say when the Mau Mau were arrested, but he had heard they were "very near their end".

S. African deputy chief of Harwell
DR. Basil F. J. Scholes, the South African scientist, is to be appointed Deputy Director of Atomic Energy Research Station at Harwell. It was announced by the Department of Atomic Energy in London.

Mobil equipment

The building includes accommodation for the Director MR. G. A. Davies and staff, a library, a museum, a post office, a recreation section, an instrumental development section, a staff of about 100 persons and 35 vehicles and a motor bus.

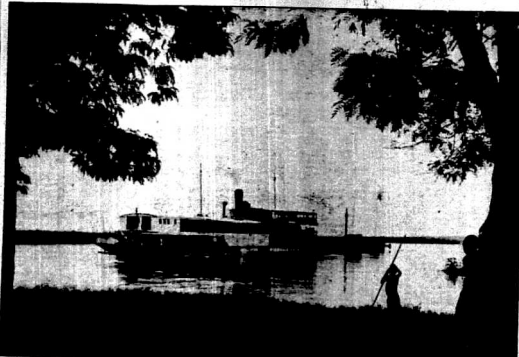

At present little technical equipment has been installed, but when the grounds have been cleared the equipment will be installed, including the solar detector of storms. An emergency recorder will be transferred to its present site at the station, and a new solar detector of storms. An emergency recorder will be transferred to its present site at the station, and a new solar detector of storms. Jail for carrying home-made sword in street

One of a gang of eight men stopped by a police patrol in Kericho in the early hours of the day for carrying a home-made sword four feet long. The police master's word was.

When the police saw the sword the men ran, but two were caught and the sword was seized. It was made from a piece of steel metal 21 inches wide and was sharpened on both sides and weighed a pound.

The men, Abdi Khatim and Mohammed Ben Salim, both 23 years of age, were arrested to six months hard labour for being found in public and for being in possession of a dangerous instrument. They were there for the purpose of manufacturing a sword for sale. The court sentenced them to six months and a fine of £100.

UNIDENTIFIED POLIO FEARED IN RIFT AREA

Because it is thought there may be some cases of unidentified polio in the Rift Valley area, it is being kept under strict observation and to report all doubtful cases of illness.

The Laikipia District Surgeon, Dr. W. Lewi, reports that in April there were five cases of polio among African children. Two were in Thomson's Falls Reserve, one in Rumburri township and two on outlying farms.

Emergency regulations have been issued to restrict the movement of people between villages, and to limit the movement of stock and farmers to all other areas.

The Council also passed two resolutions concerning Kericho and Seven Localities Councils during this year for building two District Education Centres and a girls' school at Sarira.

A warning of the Government of Kenya, that although more intermediate education is necessary there was no longer in building two primary intermediate schools at Sarira and Sarira.

JUDGE TO PRESIDE OVER COMETS CRASH INQUIRY

A LEADING JUDGE Lord Cohen, will preside over a court of inquiry into the recent Comet disintegration off Eilat and Naples. Lord Chancellor.

The Government was anxious that the public inquiries should be held as soon as possible but he could not say yet when they would begin.

Salvage operations were still going on and negotiation of the wreckage and collection and advice of evidence would take some considerable time.

56 killed
The South African Government had appointed Lt. Col. R. E. Laing and Major J. Grenier to lead the inquiry into the crash of the Comet off Eilat and Naples. This Comet was a South African plane.

Thirty-five people were last seen on the crash of the Comet in January and 21 in that they had been last month.

It is the latest of a series of accidents involving the Comet aircraft, which was manufactured by the English firm de Havilland. A Conservative, asked for a central inquiry into whether or not there was evidence of a crash.

Sir Louis Hadow, the Attorney-General, replied that every possible cause of the accidents would be thoroughly investigated.

CLERGYMEN REJECT 'BAN H-BOMB' CALL

'Greatest guarantor of peace'... call to "all Christians" to brand the hydrogen bomb as a sin and refuse to manufacture. The issue came before the Congress of Canterbury in the form of a resolution describing the H-bomb as "the most evil inherent in all wars".

The resolution passed by the Anglican bishops called on ministers to seek limitations, reductions and complete abandonment of the production of atomic bombs. The Archbishop of St. Paul, the Very Rev. Harold, moved a defeated amendment to brand the H-bomb as a sin.

Moral responsibility
Mr. Hartley said the evil is not that somebody might release it, but that we have made it. He said that if we are not perfectly certain about the answer, we should not have it.

"I was asked whether I should give my name to the regime or to the hydrogen bomb... I was asked whether I should give my name to the regime or to the hydrogen bomb... I was asked whether I should give my name to the regime or to the hydrogen bomb...

Aggressive enemy
Opposing the amendment the Dean of Windsor, the Very Rev. Canon S. C. Phillips, said he was sorry to be told that the H-bomb was not a new weapon.

"We will not start ourselves by setting the face of an aggressive enemy... We will not start ourselves by setting the face of an aggressive enemy... We will not start ourselves by setting the face of an aggressive enemy...

Reducing armaments
The Dean of Chichester, Dr. A. S. Dunnington, moved an amendment that the H-bomb should be deleted from the service of the British Empire.

Defence said they would not support the amendment. The H-bomb is a necessary part of our defence.

LONDON PREPARES TO HAIL THE QUEEN'S RETURN

Tomorrow the Queen will be home again in Buckingham Palace. She will set foot on English soil for the first time since November 23, 1953. Here COLIN WILLS reflects on the Commonwealth Tour which comes to a triumphant end with London's welcome to Her Majesty.

THE Royal yacht Britannia, with the Queen and the Duke and their two children on board, will be met by the Home Fleet at Plymouth this morning and the Fleet will escort the yacht up-Channet to sea for the Isles of Wight.

If the weather is suitable Britannia will sail through the Western Channel and Wight she will proceed south of the Isle of Wight. From the Isle of Wight she will be escorted to the Pool of London by the Home Fleet.

At the entrance to the Thames tomorrow morning five fast patrol boats will take over the escort for the passage upriver to the Pool of London. The Trinity House yacht Patricia will lead the Home Fleet up-river in accordance with the traditions of ceremonial piloting authority in the United Kingdom.

By Royal Barge to Westminster

As the force will fly the flag of the Lord High Admiral, at the main the Royal Barge will proceed to the Pool of London. It will be the first time since the Queen Victoria when a barge of this kind has been used to do so on the 171-ton steamer Trident, then the largest steamship in the world.

At the Pool Her Majesty the Queen will transfer, with the Duke, to the Royal Barge for the final stage of the journey to Westminster Pier.

At Westminster the Queen and the Duke will be welcomed by the Prime Minister. The Royal Barge will be escorted upriver by fast patrol boats and other craft. Sir Winston Churchill, and other members of the Cabinet.

At the Queen and her husband step on English soil for the first time and church bells will be rung. After the welcome at the river side the Royal couple will drive in State from Westminster Pier to Buckingham Palace.

quality of the individual, considered as persons rather than as percentages.

In the past

THERE were instances in the past when the Monarchy was something very different from what it is today. The king or queen was a figure of authority, but not necessarily representative of the English nation. It was the Englishman, not the monarch, who was the real power. The monarch was a figurehead, a symbol of the nation's unity, but not a ruler in the modern sense. The monarch was a figurehead, a symbol of the nation's unity, but not a ruler in the modern sense.

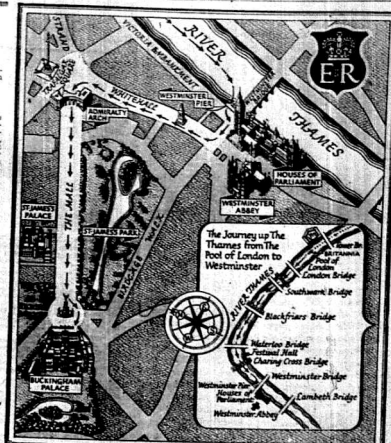

Bermuda

THIS tour has given them a taste of the reality and experience of personal experience. The Queen and her family were in Bermuda in 1881, and it was the first time since then that the monarch had visited the island. MAKE IT YOURSELF...
A Girl's Jiffy
Wardrobe

SPRING clothes for the young miss can be made quickly and easily at home. In this category comes dress and blouse, as illustrated. These styles are all in one pattern and are cut for the 4-12-year-old. The ease is most adaptable. It can be made in a length of lightweight flannel, the latter makes it even more comfortable to be worn in the winter. Any little girl may prefer to be dressed in the grey coat with three very easy to wear pieces in the pattern because the sleeves are lovely and no one going out after school. The dress is made in one with the bodice, taking 1 1/2 yds. of the average 36-inch-wide, plaiding or an identical length material. For the swing-skirt pinafore dress two yards of 36-inch material are required (flannel is particularly suitable for children as it is so easy on the waist). A full skirt is used as fullness for it. It is good here in a blouse, the dress should last with just a touch of the Peter Pan collar blouse. The material is the same as that used in the dress. You will be delighted to find how easy it is to cut and sew these garments. From McCall's pattern 9066.

Needlework Grows In Favour

JUST as the reigns of Queen Elizabeth I, Queen Anne and Victoria were famed for their embroidery, the reign of Britain's present Queen has stimulated a renaissance of fine needlework.

Growing interest in the arts of embroidery in the United Kingdom makes it difficult to gauge the extent of the present craze for needlework. It is not overworked, but only the past few years that it has become fashionable in London. It is not only the middle class, but even the working class, who are turning to needlework. In other hands, some of the most beautiful needlework is being done in the home of the machine manufacturing world.

The designs

A RECORD number of women are engaged in home sewing. In the United Kingdom, the Women's Home Industries Council, which has been set up at the latter, one evening, has been successful in placing, from the colours, designs and patterns, in her own hands, the needlework of the present day. The designs of Mrs. Weston's Magazine. The designs of the present day are mainly with reproduction of designs of old embroidery. The designs of the present day are mainly with reproduction of designs of old embroidery.

While the Royal Society, mainly with reproduction of designs of old embroidery, the designs of the present day are mainly with reproduction of designs of old embroidery.

Miss Wainwright Douglas, now teaching at a secondary modern school in West Hartlepool, has been making good use of her own designs in her work. She has been making good use of her own designs in her work.

NIGHTINGALE

THE wedding between Mr. Hugh Will Nightingale and Miss Margaret Jane Wood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Wood of Clifton, York, took place at St. John's Church, Nairobi, on April 24.

The bride, who is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Wood of Clifton, York, was given away by her father, who is a most attractive white groom. The bride wore a white gown with a white sash. The bridesmaids were Miss Jean McEllet, and four, and Miss Gillian Gilbey, aged seven. The best man was Mr. Robert Campbell. An excellent reception which was attended by 500 guests was arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Douglas at the Lake Hotel, Nairobi. Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Hignett, were mainly responsible for the beautiful floral decorations at both the reception and the Church. D. Singh, of Clifton, proposed the health of the bride and groom, and the best man, the health of the bride and groom. This was followed by a toast to the bride and groom given by Mr. Alstair Gilbey, aged 15, who also attended the opening of the Owen Falls Hydro Electric scheme. He breaks his journey to attend the wedding of the daughter of his very old friend and partner, Mr. F. Pinchart. A special feature was the four-part cake, made by Mrs. A. B. C. Smith, of Molo. The bride and groom left for their honeymoon in a motor car. The bride wearing a powder-blue gown with a white sash. A dance followed the departure of the young couple.

AEREX

CHARLES LINDBERGH was the first to fly across the Atlantic Ocean, alone, from New York to Paris, in May, 1927. This ocean had already been flown by Lindbergh's achievement—caught the imagination of the whole world because it was the first single-handed, non-stop direct crossing.

GERALD BOWMAN continues the adventures of the Caterpillar Club.

Lindbergh knocked off his safety belt and straps... He was flying in a formation of 125 biplanes led by his commander, J. H. Doolittle.

His start

Lindbergh originally learned to fly with a popular class and eventually he accepted together enough to buy his own machine. With his slightly lopsided grin he was soon identified as he was still learning to fly while carrying training passengers for hire.

In 1924 he had Capt. Leland H. Sperry of the United States Army Air Service give him a flying lesson. He was flying in a formation of 125 biplanes led by his commander, J. H. Doolittle.

Second time

FORTUNATELY, both men landed safely, but again in the opinion of Lindbergh, that in his report of the details of the crash and the details of the fact that on the way down he had but his goggles and a vest-pocket camera which were highly treasured possessions.

Two more

On the first occasion he had covered the run as far as possible by foot and without incident. This was falling in the heat of spring, but he was soon on a compass course for thick fog rolled beneath at a depth—no more than 900 feet.

and the machine gave him as much height as it would until he eventually ran it down out at 5,000 feet.

Restated. He quickly knocked undown his ball cap, went over the starboard side, falling over the feet before pulling his release ring.

Only then did he realize that the fact that he had been above in a gliding turn and had crashed at him.

Fell faster

LINDBERGH grabbed his parachute from the canopy and fell from the opening of the path of the approaching machine but it landed his rate of fall and for a few horrible moments he thought he had overcome it and collapsed the canopy altogether.

Once again the machine dropped just as it completed a circle. Then he went down into the clammy, grey mistland of the fog and could see no more than a foot or so of the ground below the machine without being able to see it.

They had thudded on to the uneven ground and rolled over.

and over, blindly cleaving his way through the enveloping fog of silk.

Nicknames

THREE FOUR names, however, served him the nicknames which came from the world and which he always adopted. His brother called him "The Flying Fool" and "Lucky Lindy."

Lucky Lindy, is a matter which must play a part in the career of any successful aviator. Lindbergh had the habit of it. But from that last his machine came his habit of him to look down the world and navigates the world like a man to whom the charge of his life could be passed.

DAME SYBIL THORNDIKE: ACTRESS

For 50 Years A Vital Force In The Theatre

By Phyllis Davies

ALL of us who have seen a great actress at the height of her dramatic power have memories to cherish for a life-time. Moreover, through the writings of critics of her day, later of stage historians, successful generations of actresses know something of that magic.

Sybil Thorndike in such an actress, for in a career of 50 years she has been one of the most versatile. Now 71, Dame Sybil has made a fine record of fame and achievement, including a three-month revival tour of Australia last year in the West.

Studied music

THE daughter of a clergyman, she was originally intended for a convent and studied the piano seriously but developed in her nursery years was shared by her brother, Russell. Fortunately, their father was a music lover and eventually allowed both to daughter and son to study drama, rather she became the beginning of her musical career at the age of 10, to accompany her father to the theatre. By 16 years, he had taken her to the theatre, and indeed, have never wanted to be apart.

There is hardly an important tragic role that Dame Sybil has not played - Clytemnestra, Medea, Anna Karenina, the Queen in Hamlet, Mrs. Alving in The Sign of the Cross, and her Lady Macbeth. She has been the most of all that she has done in her career. In her last role, she played the part of a woman who was to be a great character. It was a role that she had played in the West, and indeed, have never wanted to be apart.

Favourite roles

YET, while Thorndike's favourite role was Mrs. Alving, she has played many other roles of the past. She has played the part of a woman who was to be a great character. It was a role that she had played in the West, and indeed, have never wanted to be apart.

A Story For The Children

BY DIANA M. FLICK

AUNT PRUDENCE came to stay. She brought a railway train and a cowboy hat for Bunney. Bunney and Mr. Bunney said, "Oh, no, you really shouldn't. He's often not a good boy at all."

Mr. Bunney was not at all grateful. He stamped at his heavy boots and he thought it would be a good idea to let the engine fly away with something. He thought that the engine would be picked them all the same, and the hungry bird was most grateful.

Her ambition

IN 1921 he went overseas, but his country's reputation - the late King George VI - was not to be. He had a very good education, and he was a very good student. He was a very good student, and he was a very good student.

It happened on Budget Day. Income Tax was UP. Personal Tax was UP. Whisky was UP. And worst of all for a former Naval type, gin was UP. Yes, it happened on Budget Day. I discovered something for nothing and I got it with a smile. I cheered me UP.

Now you may think my cheering was easily lifted when I tell you that the something for nothing which I got with a smile was a vaccination against yellow fever against which I am not frightened, I'm tough.

service makes life suddenly seem brighter.

And that is certainly what my visit to Nairobi City Council's inoculation Centre had on Budget Day.

Operation 'Pin'—prick—went off with such clockwork precision and with such pleasantness that I was in and out before I knew where I was. And I felt that I might be very glad to have that long week ahead of me.

This wonder for me was the City that is the starting point of my return. Long days and it is here that Dr. A. Finnigan and Sister Jessie Zieglerman give you your inoculation.

It is a very human place, and rather romantic. There, in one corner of the waiting room, is a whole family—father, mother, little boy and baby daughter.

There, in another corner, a young Kenya-born girl who is going to see Britain for the first time. And here, in my corner, is one with Venice and Sicily and Paris and London all before me. You see what I mean?

And we're all getting our permission to leave from doctor and sister who serve out—free and with a smile—the safeguards against yellow fever, typhoid, cholera, diphtheria, whooping cough and plague.

They have a staff of two African nurses and one clerk and they explain their work so that there is a minimum of delay to the hundreds of people who, month by month, call at the Centre.

Business is so mostly for vaccination and yellow fever inoculations, valid certificates for which are essential to overseas travel. Asians go mostly for typhoid, but also for cholera. Europeans and those who have returned from India and Africa usually get immunity against this disease a point to be remembered, by visitors passing through India in transit.

Vaccinations are done in the mornings and when the doctor and sister open up they have the state fully set so that patients can pass through the surgery in a quick-moving stream.

Your arm is cleaned, you get the lymph, a minute bit of lancing, with the needle and you're done. There is no pain and now, usually, a small skin test. Vaccination, there is no need for a second visit to see if you have "taken". The vaccine injection, too, is saved valid for six years instead of four.

For these inoculations the paperwork side of the procedure is prepared in the waiting room and Sister Zieglerman, who uses a team routine for every patient, keeps a stock of anything you to 150 — two more factors which speed up the service.

The lymph for the vaccination is produced in the Medical Research Department, the vaccine for yellow fever comes from South Africa and that for other diseases from Britain.

African go to the Centre principally for inoculation against typhoid. But the figure of attendance has dropped since the start of the Emergency.

In March, 1952, 2,810 were inoculated; in March this year the figure was only 1,812. The average attendance in a year is about 80,000 people.

Some time ago the authorities were curious to find out why the African was so good for this service as it was felt that less than two or three per cent actually contracted the inoculation with it.

A number of Africans were questioned individually and the result was somewhat amusing.

The majority — 200 — thought it would cure malaria, head pains and colds. Others were inoculated — in their mind for rheumatism, itching, bleeding, stomach ache and various other troubles. Sixty-four were known to have worms. One had told me "I". But these had told me "I". But these had told me "I". But these had told me "I".

"It doesn't hurt me"

As against all the manifestations of malaria, even non-malaria.

Every tribe in Kenya was represented as well as several from Uganda and Tanganyika and numbers had travelled from Mombasa and Mwanza to see their way without charge and with a smile.

Nevertheless, the authorities feel that a high immunity against Africans is an invaluable insurance against the epidemic.

And so, the good work done on "Budget Day" goes on. Every month "Operation Pinprick" goes on in the waiting room and the patients pass sent on their way — without charge and with a smile.

Thousands wait on cliffs to greet a British Armada

THE Royal yacht, Britannia, left the shelter of a Cornish bay yesterday carrying the Queen, the Duke of Edinburgh and other members of the British royal family. The battleship Vanguard and other units of the Home Fleet sailed during the night to meet the Britannia off Plymouth and to escort her on her ceremonial progress up the English Channel to the River Thames. The Queen, the Duke of Edinburgh and their children had spent the night in St. Austery Bay as the

STOCK EXCHANGE MAY SEEK APPROVAL

Recognition by London would improve status

THE first incorporation of the Nairobi Stock Exchange for the first time city stockholders will constitute an official body and that their dealings will be governed by rules comparable to those applicable to other exchanges throughout the Commonwealth.

Business will probably be sound business and although this in itself is satisfactory it is only the first step, since it is probably the intention of the Government to have the Stock Exchange to apply to London for recognition for official recognition.

Recognition by London would improve the status of the exchange in the financial world. Such recognition is a guarantee that the method of conducting business will be in accordance with the highest standards.

Cameroons

Dealings in East African securities other than those already having an official quotation will be conducted at present. When the Nairobi Stock Exchange is established by London, facilities will be available whereby a firm security without an official quotation can be traded. This will be to the Government's advantage in that it would necessitate the raising of loans which are not quoted in London.

Mr. D. Lubbock, defending the Government's position, said that the Government was not opposed to the raising of loans which are not quoted in London. He said that the Government was not opposed to the raising of loans which are not quoted in London.

Supported project

In his last two Budget speeches the Minister for Finance, Mr. G. M. P. Kariuki, supported the project of a Nairobi Exchange, which would be a clearing house for the trading of local securities and would be a step towards the development of the capital market.

'ANVIL' SUSPECTS' WIVES RETURN TO RESERVES

Special camps too costly

THE Kenya Government is prepared to take the risk of sending back to the reserves wives and families of 'Anvil' and detained during Operation 'Anvil' in the Nairobi area, because of the heavy cost that would be involved in building and staffing special camps. The Minister for Internal Security and Defence, Mr. R. G. Turnbull, stated yesterday.

He said that the Government was not prepared to take the risk of sending back to the reserves wives and families of 'Anvil' and detained during Operation 'Anvil' in the Nairobi area, because of the heavy cost that would be involved in building and staffing special camps.

Tanganyika plans to increase revenue

COFFEE AND PERSONAL TAXES

A SLIDING-SCALE export tax on coffee; the Customs and Excise duties and a new graduated non-reciprocal personal tax are the measures by which the Tanganyika Government will increase its revenue. The Territory's revenue by some £200,000 in the fiscal year which began on July 1. An advertisement will probably also be introduced from January 1, 1965, and the Government has also announced additional revenue measures which will be introduced in the fiscal year 1964-65.

One levy to go

Dealing first with coffee, Mr. Tilley said that the Government had reached the conclusion that there was a need to increase the revenue by imposing an export tax on a sliding scale. The scale would begin with £10 a ton when the value of the coffee was every additional £2 in value, it would increase by £1 to a maximum of £26 a ton when the value of the coffee was £200 a ton. The Government has also announced additional revenue measures which will be introduced in the fiscal year 1964-65.

4 new cases of polio in Nairobi area

SPECIAL precautions have been taken at Government House, Nairobi, where a young girl has fallen a victim to poliomyelitis. The case is described as "mild".

Kenya comparison

Mr. Tilley said that there would be no increase in the collection limit preventing the Government from increasing the tax on coffee. He said that the Government was not prepared to take the risk of sending back to the reserves wives and families of 'Anvil' and detained during Operation 'Anvil' in the Nairobi area, because of the heavy cost that would be involved in building and staffing special camps.

European planters to put their case

The Tanganyika Government has announced that it will be asking the Territory's Revenue Commission to consider the case of European planters who are affected by the proposed tax on coffee.

APPROVAL FOR DISTRIBUTION OF £10,000

Useful Members of the Legislative Council have approved the proposal to distribute £10,000 to the planters who are affected by the proposed tax on coffee.
