S. PLAN PROVIDES AID IN INDO-CHINA

Commander-in-Chief would be American

CABINET STRENGTHENS MR. EDEN'S HAND

AMERICA'S plan for aid to the French in Indo-China provides for an American commander-in-chief there, according to a usually reliable authority in Paris. It provides for the intervention of American naval and air forces and the military participation of Thailand (Siam) and the Philippines.

Mr. Eden, the British Foreign Secretary, has privately stated at the Geneva Conference that to employ these aid or undertake the United States' capacity to react with military force to the Indo-China situation, it was necessary in Washington.

A favorable impression has been created in the Government administration circles by reports of two French private talks in Geneva last week between Mr. Eden and the Soviet Foreign Minister, Mr. Molotov, and the Chinese Communist Foreign Minister, Mr. Chou En-lai.

Anglo-U.S. unity unimpaired

Mr. Chou told Mr. Eden he was relying on Britain to prevent the United States from intervening with armed force in Indo-China but Mr. Eden is reported to have insisted that the widest possible divergencies between Britain and the U.S. over how best to organize the peace and security of South-East Asia would not affect the fundamental interests of Anglo-American unity.

A political mission of the British Cabinet yesterday to the French Government in London before the Far Eastern conference is written off as a failure.

GEN. ELY ASKING FOR 30,000 MORE TROOPS

The Indo-China war and Communist expansion in South East Asia were also the subject of crucial talks yesterday in Paris and Geneva. While the situation conference at Geneva went into its second session, Gen. Paul Ely, Saigon to report to his Government on measures necessary to the report of the American and French forces in Indo-China.

Mr. Ely said his assessment of the present situation, as well as his views on the future, was made up before they left, but they wanted to see the French Chief of Staff, Gen. Henri Serran.

WITHER AWALS RECOMMENDED

Hints from official quarters here that the recommendation of a withdrawal from the matted outskirts of the Red River Delta and surrounding areas.

French battalions include a commander training the 4000 Chinese (Southern) Indo-China troops and another 20,000 regular troops.

French reports from Hanoi say it is difficult to supply men in these outposts, some of which are manned only by Vietnamese troops of questionable quality. They may be faced, with a Viet-Lao offensive, within a few days.

MR. MENON'S VIEWS INDIA'S VIEWS

Mr. Krishna Menon, India's representative at the United Nations, had a three-hour private meeting in Geneva with Mr. Chou En-lai, leaving a general exchange of views.

Mr. Menon's call to withdraw Indo-China troops has met with mixed reactions from the British delegation and Mr. Eden's absence.

SOUTH KOREA WAITING FOR NEW MOVE

Mr. Park Yung Tai, the South Korean Foreign Minister, said that his country is waiting for a new move by the United States. He is reported in the Washington Post to have said that the Communists accept the principle of a general exchange of views.

TEAM WELL AHEAD OF REMAINDER OF CLASS

DESPITE pouring rain, hundreds of people gathered in Stewart Street, Nairobi, yesterday afternoon and evening to watch the finish of the second Colonial Safari. Every driver agreed that conditions were far worse this year than last.

A cloudburst put coastal roads under 18 inches of water, but it was even worse in Uganda, located, where Mr. J. J. Feeney, the first competitor to cross the finish line, is a Democrat, described the roads as 'unimaginably bad.'

Provisional results will wait until the second and third stages. The car has 5000 miles on the road and has 4000 miles on the road and has 4000 miles on the road. The car has 5000 miles on the road and has 4000 miles on the road.

S. RHODESIA JOLTS DR. MALAN'S MEMORY

Rival claim for Bechuanaand

A NEIGHBOURS' forgotten claim gives a new jolt to Dr. Malan's hopes of incorporating in the Union of South Africa the potentially valuable High Commission territories—Bechuanaand, Bantoland and Swaziland. The neighbour is the six-month-old Central African Federation—now in constitution but with inherited rights. In the archives of Salisbury and London, the High Commission territories are described as the Bechuanaand—now Federation territory—and the Bechuanaand—now Federation territory. It is not clear, however, how to serve the rival claim over that of the High Commission territories.

Promise to company

Dr. Malan's claim is all three High Commission territories—especially Bechuanaand, which is geographically contiguous with the High Commission territories. The Government is expected to announce the promise to transfer of the territories to the Union—given certain conditions.

Over the years, has no protest against that agreement come from Bechuanaand. And why is it that her claim may yet be pressed by the Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland? The answer is in the question she poses for the fact that the original promise, respecting Bechuanaand, was made to a British company, chartered by the British South Africa Company, which was founded in October of July, 1890, and dissolved in 1931.

New trend

The Government of the Colony of Southern Rhodesia has succeeded the chartered company in the management of the territory. But for long after getting responsible Government, Southern Rhodesia had its hands full with its own internal problems. It had no time, or inclination, to tackle others.

There is, however, a new trend today in the conduct of Southern Rhodesia on the Protectorate front.

Legally the terms of the South Africa Act of 1931 apply to the Protectorate and the question—and not the letter of the Act—has to be considered as Rhodesia would be happy with a part of the Protectorate.

Africa's place in the history books

Mr. James Guthrie, M.P., said at Harare, Rhodesia. The history of the present province, he pointed out, is written in the pages of the South African Government for loan sanctions in that that there could never be a peaceful world while a handful of its people lived in comfort and two-thirds in abject poverty.

BUYING BOYCOTT CUTS TRADE

Protest campaign backed by thousands of Africans

The "buying boycott" started recently by Uganda's largest political party, the Uganda National Congress, has begun to have a serious effect on trade in the area.

It was launched as a protest measure against Uganda's Deportation Ordinance, under which the former President of the Congress, Joseph M. Maska, is detained in a remote village. Africans were advised to stop their "money" to show their disapproval of the Ordinance.

Although the effect is still uncertain, it is believed that thousands of Africans stopped their spending on clothes and on things they used, here and in other parts of the country.

Reprisal fears

In many cases, it is believed, goods are being sold in several respects from local agents.

Cases of intimidation are understood to have occurred in parts of Uganda, and they have been reported to have occurred in other parts of the country.

Maska is stated to be the son of the recent assassination of the former Prime Minister, Mr. O. M. Maska, who was shot in a local market.

Beer sales down

All S.A.S. (country) outlets in Uganda have been ordered by the Uganda Beer Commission to prevent intimidation of persons wanting to buy beer.

The Beer Commission has also ordered that no more beer be sold in any area where there is a "buying boycott".

It's a family affair

Travel to and from the U.K. by the famous Safari Service, Airwork's most recent East African enterprise, is a real family outing. Fun for the children because there are plenty of things to see at the interesting stopping places, satisfactory to parents not only because of the warm and friendly service, but because the low Safari fares make a family trip an economic proposition.
Although Airwork has been well-known for many years throughout East Africa, this service is only a relatively small part of the Company's interests. In the United Kingdom, Airwork includes divisions concerned with repair, maintenance, modification purchase and sale of aircraft, administration of flying schools and clubs, radio sales and service and insurance. The Airwork fleet includes 4-engine and twin-engine aircraft as well as numerous smaller types, and is indeed as large and as modern as that of many of the world's national airlines.

ESTIMATES OF EXPENDITURES APPROVED

£3,200,000

Biggest share voted for Kenya Police

INCREASES ON 1953-54

ESTIMATES totalling £3,277,995 for the 1954-55 financial year were approved by Kenya Legislative Council yesterday when the Budget debate was resumed.

The biggest sum voted was £1,996,176 for Police requirements, which is £200,000 bigger than the 1953 expenditure, and does not allow for proposed increases in staff.

The Administration expenditure on the sum spent last year. This is an increase of £269,000 from £1,208,200 when actual expenditure was £1,927,118.

There is also a considerable rise in the estimated need of information and publicity services for which the Council voted £153,620.

During the debate on the Police estimates the Minister for Internal Security and Defence, Mr. R. G. Turnbull, said the Government's authorised share of Emergency expenditure was running at the present annual rate of about £2,240,000. The total estimated approved, this year, is a total Police bill of about £2,420,000 for the year.

When the Administration estimates were considered the Minister for African Affairs, Mr. E. H. M. Njiru, said he did not propose to adopt a suggestion that Nairobi should be made the centre for the greater control of Africa.

WHITE PAPER SOON ON POLICE REPORT

A WHITE PAPER on the report of the Kenya Police Commission is to be presented in the House of Representatives in the near future, said Mr. R. G. Turnbull, Minister for Internal Security and Defence during the debate on the Police estimates. He stated this would give Members an opportunity of expressing their views on the various aspects of policy and detail.

Police Force noted increase in the quality of the individual members of the force. Mr. Turnbull said, therefore, decided to increase the number of recruits to 1,153,000 as a charge. This represents an annual rate of about £2,240,000. The Police estimate of 1954-55 shows an increase of £200,000 over the 1953-54 estimate for this service of about £2,040,000 for 1954-55.

ATTENTION TO 'PO' MANSHIP'

Presenting the estimates, Mr. Turnbull stated the Police had been instructed to pay attention to the manner in which the police officers were recruited and to the manner in which the police officers were recruited and to the manner in which the police officers were recruited.

Mr. Turnbull added: "Without attention to individual officers, it is difficult to improve efficiency and to secure the best results of the police."

"I do not attempt to justify the present position of the police in the light of the establishment but to indicate the steps which are being taken to improve the position of the police in the future."

ADDITIONAL POWERS FOR COUNTY COUNCILS SAID TO BE 'UNWISE'

THE Minister for Local Government, Mr. W. B. Havlock, told Kenya Legislative Council he hoped all District Councils in the Colony would become County Councils in the future. He was moving the second reading of two Local Government amendment Bills, one of which, relating to County Councils, is in evidence of his increasing confidence in the local authorities.

In reply to Mr. E. M. Madala, leader of the African Union, who criticized this course on the grounds that there was wide regional opposition among the people to the proposed changes, Mr. Havlock said the British Government and the United Nations Commission on Africa had accepted the proposal.

The Acting Indian Minister, Mr. C. S. G. Gathani, said it would be unfair for County Councils to be given wider powers in view of the fact that all races were not adequately represented in them. He asked for an assurance that the Councils would not be permitted to develop as "patronized pockets" within a multi-racial government.

Foreign pockets
Mr. Havlock replied that while Mr. Gathani's remarks were outside the scope of the Ordinance, he understood his feelings. He was quite sure that County Councils would not become "foreign" to the given areas. He thought they had a right to good chance of economic advancement and to take the country and area into their own hands.

The Public Roads and Routes Bill, in its second reading, also gives the roads the same powers. This legislation had been introduced by both the public and by local authorities and would mean that more thoroughfares would be able to obtain financing through the Government.

The Minister added that he had collected views from local authorities and that the Bills were read a third time yesterday.

Registration plan would cost £200,000

A SYSTEM of universal registration for all motor vehicles in Kenya would cost £200,000 and consequent recurrent expenditure of £50,000. It is also estimated that a system of registration would be worked out in less than seven years.

These estimates have been obtained by the Northern Rhodesia Motor Vehicle Board, which is preparing a scheme in the past. The Board is also estimating that a system of registration would be worked out in less than seven years.

Urgent need
Count. Mrs. M. M. Rayner said for the reference made, that it was not desirable to carry out a system of registration for motor vehicles in Kenya until it was possible to introduce such a scheme in the near future.

INQUIRY OPENED INTO DOUBLE EXPLOSION

A UNITED STATES Naval Board of Inquiry began its investigations at Queen's Road Island, yesterday, into the explosion on board the aircraft carrier, USS Intrepid, which killed 91 men and injured 201 others. These casualties figure were the latest given by the Navy who stated that the death toll "may rise."

The explosion occurred when the 8,000-ton carrier was 75 miles off shore on a training cruise. Naval experts believed that the first blast was the result of a five-inch fuse, causing a fire, and the second came when a fuse from high-octane petrol—used to fuel aircraft—ignited.

UGANDA DEADLOCK BROKEN

Resignations and veto withdrawn

The Government of Uganda, the three Baganda who recently resigned from the cabinet, have agreed to meet Professor Sir Keith Hancock, the Colonial Agent, to discuss the deadlock which existed since the resignations were announced.

Sir Keith Hancock, because of the objections of the Baganda, has also withdrawn his resignation from the office of Chief Justice.

'Men vanished'

Fortunes of the fifty stalwarts

BY THE SPORTS EDITOR

THE difficulty attached to describing the 1954 Coronati Safari—the 2,000-mile motorcade event sponsored by the East African Standard, which has already acquired classic status in its own right—is that all too soon one finds oneself out of breath for the sheer descriptive adjectives, and the imagination strained for the apt phrase applicable to something unique in motorism.

For truly there is nothing like it. Hard conditions that test the toughest endurance, of both man and machine, to the breaking point, weather that would reduce even an Eskimo to the verge of tears; pitiless harridanery for 90 to 100 hours; gear, it has no contemporary rival here save possibly, the 6,000-mile round Australasian trial. Any vehicle that sustains it is a good one; but to be two or three hours late.

One competitor, reputed to have driven all the Australian desert, expressed the view that Coronati Safari was an even stiffer test of man and machine.

Conditions were
This year, road and weather conditions were not so bad as in 1953, although had the event been run 24 hours earlier, the experience of the first week could not be put it. Last year there was a lot of rain, and the roads were in a very poor state. But the fact that there was no rain through some of the worst stages was a consequence, no less than a boon. "Good" and "bad" were scheduled times—in Class "A" and Class "B" with a 100-mile run. Last year the earliest to be scheduled was the 100-mile run.

Further triumph
Two of last year's winners, the 1953 winners, A. Din and Z. Din, were in the 1954 Safari, but not in the same class. They were in the 1954 Safari, but not in the same class.

Through the storm
THIS day was a fair—and we fall in line. Section when all the 35 Nairobi starters got under way. But the brilliant sunshine was nearly the prelude to rain that fell in the night. In the morning, a severe storm so ferocious that it impacted several miles north of Nairobi.

Back to take it
With conditions system down for the first time, the 1954 Safari was a very different affair. The 1954 Safari was a very different affair. The 1954 Safari was a very different affair.

For example, last year's Class "A" winner, John Mwanishi, did not even reach the East African Standard office. He was in the 1954 Safari, but not in the same class.

The Class "A" winners, the 1954 winners, A. Din and Z. Din, were in the 1954 Safari, but not in the same class.

The Class "B" winners, the 1954 winners, G. H. Duff and Z. Nowicki, were in the 1954 Safari, but not in the same class.

The Class "C" winners, the 1954 winners, J. J. Feeny and Greenway, were in the 1954 Safari, but not in the same class.

The Class "D" winners, the 1954 winners, A. Din and Z. Din, were in the 1954 Safari, but not in the same class.

The Class "E" winners, the 1954 winners, G. H. Duff and Z. Nowicki, were in the 1954 Safari, but not in the same class.

The end of 2,000 testing miles

By 9 a.m. or so, when the rain had set in, the work of capturing and tinkerers began. Several more oil leaks were discovered and had to be patched overnight until 9 p.m.

With four cars in all from Dar es Salaam, the first of the Mafikiro mountains was seen and the cars started. And in they came in a line of high-speed vehicles, all of which were running on petrol. No. 1, D. P. Marwaha, at 4:28, 4:28 and 4:28, respectively, in 4:52, 4:52 and 4:52 p.m. three of them within 100 yards of each other, and within seconds of scheduled time. No. 2, A. A. N. Dix and J. Larsen, were secondly disqualified for speed, and No. 3, J. Peony and M. G. Greenway, were thirdly disqualified for speed. They were the last to be seen, thus obscuring from galloping away the rest of the race.

Swapt the board

But with only two other finishers in the class this makes the Chevrolet Coup (No. 1) Blue-Walsh-Prinsloo and the same car, after interminable trouble on four roads clocked in at 4:42, this being 1 hr. 14 min. behind schedule. The car had no speedometer and it was not clear whether the loss of about 200 miles per hour would have been a disadvantage. Next in the class were the Standard-Vanguards started their troubles and they were seen to stop outside Sultan Hamud, they were the last to be seen to spend time extricating themselves from the "boom".

They were debited with 200 penalty points.

Next and only other class finisher was the Green Six of Capt. Brittain and D. L. Butcher, who, after interminable trouble on four roads clocked in at 4:42, this being 1 hr. 14 min. behind schedule and entailing 870 penalty points.

FOURTEEN FINISH SPOT-GO

The Fiat 1400 of Sachs and Armstrong was the last of the 14 to finish on time, and gained second place behind the Vanguard with an astonishing best time of 20.9 sec.

And that was that? Not so. For every practical purpose, this was the end of the race. That, for every practical purpose, was that. The rest of the cars, which had not yet started, were still waiting for the start, and they were still waiting for the start. They were still waiting for the start. They were still waiting for the start.

Prizegiving to Safari winners

The prizegiving to winners was held in the Victoria Hotel on Friday, 22nd May, 1954, at 4 p.m. The prizes were presented by the organizers, Messrs. Donald Vinson, Ltd., and the winners received their prizes from the organizers.

Other finishers, shown in the list, were also present, and they were presented with their prizes. The prizes were presented by the organizers, Messrs. Donald Vinson, Ltd., and the winners received their prizes from the organizers.

Two outstanding

Two outstanding in this report were the Feeny-Greenway Peugeot which, in its trip from Dar es Salaam, did not even see a puncture and never needed a spare. It was the only car to do so.

The other two outstanding were the Fiat 1400 of Sachs and Armstrong, which, in its trip from Dar es Salaam, did not even see a puncture and never needed a spare. It was the only car to do so.

French Farmers Find New means To Produce Bigger Crops

BY YVES GAYARD

LIKE many other villages in Eastern France, Annecourt-Dessous in the Jura, was evacuated after the signing of the war. When the people were back to their farms in 1945, they found their fields overgrown with weeds, their land waste, their stables and cowsheds abandoned, their houses without doors or windows and in some cases, even their tools lacking. Although trained and almost despairing, they set to work again, but each man laboured alone, using the methods to which he was accustomed.

The methods, however, were not good enough, and in 1952 were started to improve. A court Devising was one of the first villages to be brought to the scheme. By the beginning of this year, when the farmers belonging to the Agricultural Productivity Association held a meeting in the village hall, they were able to review the progress made in been done. Forty-seven pilot farms have been started in the Jura, where conditions are not very different from those of experts, like the one at Annecourt-Dessous, which reported this year and have made a similar contribution.

Pilot areas

The first project developed out of efforts made to improve the farms. At the outset, work was co-ordinated and voluntarily restricted to specific and reasonable areas. From this, there developed an official definition to help the co-ordinated work. The first step was to improve human relations, and start with the most difficult and permanent scheme confined to a few villages only. It was so successful that it was decided to extend the scheme to Pilot farms with about 1,000 to 2,000 a general programme for the Pilot Areas, which is sent for the official review of the Department, and forwarded to the Ministry of Agriculture in Paris.

The first step is to require that all the work be done quickly, emphasizing on production. This means that there is to be no long-term improvement schemes, such as the construction of water supply, farm buildings, roads, etc. The provision of water supply, farm buildings, roads, etc. are considered matters of long-term interest, and are to be dealt with by the State and municipalities; selection of the soil and the use of the soil are of primary importance.

Success or failure of the pilot areas will be judged by the results they reach upon the economic and social aspects of the scheme. These are all to be done in a few months, and the results are to be made public. The scheme is to be made public in a number of ways, such as through the press, radio, etc.

Each Association has the help of a technical expert who draws up the general programme for the Pilot Area, and is to be followed by the farmers. The expert goes round all the farms and discusses the programme with the farmers. He then goes round all the farms and discusses the programme with the farmers. He then goes round all the farms and discusses the programme with the farmers.

Holiday plan

SOME of the reasons that have led to the official concern of farmers in the Pilot Area of Annecourt-Dessous and St. Veran have been the lack of interest in the improvement of the farms. The lack of interest in the improvement of the farms has been the main reason for the official concern of farmers in the Pilot Area of Annecourt-Dessous and St. Veran.

Besides the Newsletter, the Association of the Pilot Area has started to publish a bulletin. The bulletin is to be published in the Pilot Area, and is to be followed by the farmers. The bulletin is to be published in the Pilot Area, and is to be followed by the farmers.

Joint finances

It is in the following terms that the poet-writer who has written this book strikes the reader. "It is, in the first instance, a statement of the poet's own mind, obviously—a statement which is not meant to be taken as a confession of his own mind."

There is a possibility that this is a confession of his own mind. But the object of mentioning it is to convey the impression that the poet is not speaking in his own name but as a spokesman for the poet-writer who has written this book.

THESE are some of the interesting observations that suggest themselves to the reader as he

GERALD BOWMAN tells another story of the Caterpillar Club

SEVEN sergeants of No. 102 Squadron, Royal Air Force, made a parachute landing in the Halifax bomber on the night of April 27, 1942. They were bailed for Cologne and it was their first operational trip in this type of machine. The Halifax had proved too heavy for their own gear airfield, and its wheels sank into the prevailing mud—therefore they were using the hard runway of the satellite station.

The wind was blowing at an angle across it and the plane crossed a hill and struck the crest of the Halifax type, but Larry Carr, the skipper (later Flight-Lieutenant), gave the engine everything he could get to lift-off at the first attempt.

Wouldn't lift
It wouldn't lift—and I Sergeant Carr found himself running out of runway fast. At last the whole thing left the surface and there was a bump, the boundary being the ground, and the plane fell to the ground and twice in the air.

Lee, tail-gunner, slipped over the intercom: "I don't suppose they wanted that bomber any more." Larry Carr, hauling his big bomber up over the hills, began of the hangars was certain he was going to crash for the second time. Carr found to his relief that his plane had not crashed and then climbed away for the night.

Too peaceful
After crossing the French coast by about 12,000 feet, the crew found very little opposition. The Halifax was cruising at 10,000 feet and the crew were around the vast covers of the forest. They were all stepped slaying. This was altogether too peaceful for them.

He said so in the mid-gunner, and advised: "Keep your gun aimed for forward." Even as he spoke both gunners spotted a fitting black dog in the air. The dog was stepping slaying. This was altogether too peaceful for them.

Bright moon
At the controls Larry Carr drove the Halifax bomber into an evasive weaving path and for a few minutes shook of the enemy. But the moon was bright and they suddenly spotted an Me 110 diving into a forest. Carr was warned by the mid-gunner: "Look out!"

He pulled a second loop and the great Halifax into a corkscrew. Carr was approaching fighter opened fire simultaneously. Then, as the terrific flash of his gun burst, he suddenly bailed out a vertical flash in his turret and he was always seen to be in the air.

Retaliation
DIXIE heard Larry Carr crew to take order for the coming night fighter. Carr spotted another fighter in the distance. He immediately opened his gun and the Halifax had a round of retaliation. The fighter split cleanly through that he had an enemy target and came in very close to give it a final burst. Dixie got his sights dead on the approaching machine. He was in triumph as he saw his first enemy fighter and of flame.

By now both the navigator and the second pilot had bailed. Dixie was the only pilot left and he was the only one left. He was in triumph as he saw his first enemy fighter and of flame.

One last burst on the blazing bomber plunged... one more Me 110 written off, then...

Dixie Pulls Out

or so later he was rolling over in the middle of the field. As he pulled himself up he saw the blazing wreckage of the bomber. There were a few hundred yards away.

One of that gallant crew of seven died in these few minutes of action. Only Dixie, Larry Carr, the skipper, and Sergeant Action, the navigator, and Dixie, the mid-gunner, were left.

Captured
DIXIE himself was captured after being freed by the Belgians. He was in triumph as he saw his first enemy fighter and of flame.

FUTURE OF KENYAN HANDS OF FARMERS

Pledge on support by Government

CONFERENCE OPENED BY ACTING GOVERNOR

KENYA'S future was in the hands of the farmer, said the Acting Governor, Sir Frederick Crawford, Federation of Agricultural Producers' conference in Nairobi.

Commenting that the farmer was in turn in the hands of Nature and to a lesser extent of the Government, Sir Frederick added: "While I cannot prophesy Nature's unpredictable that which of the world are even now supporting its farmers to the best of its ability."

But looking forward to even more spectacular results during the next 20 years, he could not risk another disaster like the depression of the 1920's. That was due largely to the lack of international discussions and agreements.

At the same time, all delegates agreed that the farmer was in the hands of Nature and to a lesser extent of the Government, Sir Frederick added: "While I cannot prophesy Nature's unpredictable that which of the world are even now supporting its farmers to the best of its ability."

MONEY may be restricted in the Medical Department but there is certainly no shortage of ideas or talent, as Mr. W. B. Havlock, Kenya's new Minister for Local Government, Health and Housing, saw recently when taking up the appointment.
