QUEEN MOTHER IN LONDON AGAIN—BY BRITANNIA

The Queen Mother returned to London yesterday (13) days late from 25,000-mile round-the-world visit to Australia and New Zealand. She travelled from Malia in the Britannia airliner, which had stalled by cause of need at Entebbe, Uganda.

The Queen, Princess Margaret and Princess Anne were at London Airport, together with members of the Government. It was on the rapid traveller home. As the Britannia rolled to a standstill in front of the airport lounge the Queen caught a first glimpse of her mother waving from a window in the plane. She waved back.

Crew 'worked so hard'

The B.O.A.C. Britannia had "shadowed" the Queen Mother's Super-Constellation on the flight to Malia, where it was due to make a refuelling stop. When it was found at Valletta that the Constellation had developed further trouble—this time a hydraulic fault—the Queen Mother decided to continue the rest of the journey in the Queen Elizabeth.

The Constellation of the Queen's air line, was grounded twice with engine trouble during the flight from Australia to Mauritius, which resulted in the Queen Mother being unable to visit Namibia and Liberia at Entebbe. On her arrival in London the Queen Mother told Mr. Russell Tappin, London manager of Qantas: "I am so sorry all those things happened, I tell you for the crew; they all worked so hard!"

The captain of the Constellation had been treated for a change of planes was a technical matter which could not be repeated in time.

It is alleged that the Queen Mother had had a stomach upset from Entebbe and had spent the night in the Britannia from Malia to the Queen Mother was accompanied by the Governor of the Colony, Sir Robert Leighton, the Secretary of the East African High Commission, Sir Alan Wilson, and the Acting High Commissioner for Kenya, Sir Geoffrey Wood.

603 m.p.h. record

The R.A.F. Vulcan which has broken the sound barrier for the second time since it was first flown in 1956, has been seen in the air over the South of Scotland.

The Vulcan test pilot, Lt. Peter Blyth, was seen to take off from the base at Waddington, Scotland, at 10.45 a.m. on the morning of March 10.

This picture took the Queen Mother's last few minutes in East Africa before she left Entebbe Airport for Malia. They have caught the radiance of her personality after the trials of successive flights through engine trouble.

MARKETING CAMPAIGN NEEDED FOR KENYA'S AGRICULTURAL PRODUCE

M. BUNELL calls for an organized marketing campaign to be launched for Kenya's agricultural produce. He says that the Government should take the initiative in this regard, as the private sector is not yet ready to do so.

Mr. Bunell, who is a member of the Kenya Agricultural Producers' Association, says that the Government should set up a marketing board for each of the major agricultural products. This board would be responsible for promoting the products, both domestically and internationally, and for negotiating with foreign buyers.

He also says that the Government should provide financial assistance to the producers, in the form of subsidies and grants, to help them to expand their production and to improve their marketing facilities.

Mr. Bunell concludes by saying that it is essential that the Government should take prompt action in this regard, if Kenya is to realize its full potential as an agricultural country.

I.C.A. does not stop engine deposits. Nothing can do that. But it neutralizes them as they form in the combustion chamber and so the spark plug continues to give maximum power. This prevents those glowing red-hot spots which are the cause of engine misfires. I.C.A. also neutralizes the carbon deposits that form on the piston rings and on the cylinder walls. This prevents the oil from becoming too thick and too gummy. Thanks to I.C.A., your engine will always give you full performance and run more smoothly.

Mounting the disceptes many secrets of weather changes

It may seem rather strange that on a geological expedition the study of the meteorological conditions of the past is the history of the present. The latter, in its studies of rock formations and advances and recessions, has produced much of its comparative data by means of the study of the conditions of the past.

This study of the past is done only when the high mountains of the world, where the conditions of the past are preserved in the rocks, are reached before the coming of the ice.

STANLEY BERKMAN,

Mount Weather discloses many secrets of weather changes

It may seem rather strange that on a floodplain, the hills of Mt. Weather, the highest of the Appalachian Mountains, the weather is so accurate and consistent, has produced such a comprehensive summary of past climatic changes and the mountains.

The first of these secrets is that only the weather, but not the climate, is so accurate and consistent. The weather is so accurate because the weather is so constant and the climate is so variable.

The meteorological records of the weather at Mt. Weather are so accurate and consistent that they have been used as a standard for the weather records of other stations.

DATA FOR STUDY

The meteorological records of the weather at Mt. Weather are so accurate and consistent that they have been used as a standard for the weather records of other stations.

After one year the records from these stations will be available for the study of the weather records of the area.

Part of the meteorological work of the expedition was to provide details of the weather-temperature during the time of climatic factors which might have a bearing on the weather. The first phase of the work was the installation of meteorological recording instruments at the main weather center.

WIND FLOW

This study was completed just before Christmas, with the setting up of an instrument for recording temperature, and humidity and a storage vault for the records.

The first of these instruments was set up at Camp Five, near the top of the mountain.

At Camp Five and at the other stations, the meteorological records were so accurate and consistent that they have been used as a standard for the weather records of other stations.

The full implications of this movement were revealed one day later when the meteorological observations were made at Camp III.

DAY PHENOMENON

Clouds formed up the mountain from the sea, over the ridge of Mt. Weather, and were blowing the clouds toward the peak of the mountain.

At night the clouds were blowing from the sea toward the peak of the mountain.

The wind direction was blowing from the sea toward the peak of the mountain.

THE TRAIN REAPPEARS

Historian of costume sees fashion as index to social trends

WHAT is fashion? Some people believe that the most stylish and latest fashions in dress society and society of Paris and London are all part of a great planned evolution from simple to complex.

Others, more realistic, would like to believe that the fashion designer is a person who is constantly working to keep the industry going.

But the fashion designer is a person who is constantly working to keep the industry going. He is a person who is constantly working to keep the industry going. He is a person who is constantly working to keep the industry going.

Firmness in the City

Capital Market (S.A.) Ltd. BEFORE the Bank and B. announcement, conditions on the London Stock Market were quietly firm, under the influence of overnight Wall Street trading. This appeared to have been the result of a combination of factors, including the fact that the market was not heavily influenced by the news of the bank's decision. The market was characterized by a steady rise in prices, with a particular emphasis on the industrial sector. This was seen as a sign of confidence in the economy and a reflection of the firmness in the city.

THE I.C.A. STORY

I.C.A. does not stop engine deposits. Nothing can do that. But it neutralises them as they form in the combustion chambers and on the spark plugs of your engine. This prevents them glowing red-hot and firing the mixture independently of the spark - the cause of power loss and rough running. Thanks to I.C.A., your engine will always give you full performance and run more smoothly.

PLANTER'S PROGRESS
The Story of Coffee in Kenya
by M. F. HILL
This book, lavishly written, produced and published by the Coffee Board of Kenya, is a remarkable example of local effort. It does full justice to the coffee planter and is yet another chapter in Kenya's short history. Throughout the pages of this book, which is illustrated with some fine photographs of the processes of coffee from tree to cup, there leap to the eye the names of many who have given so much to the service of their fellow planters, scientists and business men.

EMPHASIS ON HEMI LINES IN LONDON COLLECTIONS

By HENRY J. BROWN

The new spring styles shown in the London collections are a study in hemi lines. The designers have emphasized the vertical line, and the result is a collection of garments that are both elegant and practical.

One of the most striking features of the new styles is the use of hemi lines. This is a line that is curved at the top and bottom, but straight in the middle. It is a line that is both graceful and functional, and it is one that has been used by designers for many years.

Land-Rover leads...

Specifically designed for use in agriculture and industry

Introduced in 1946, the 4-wheel drive Land-Rover has won a world-wide reputation for toughness and reliability. In industry, the versatile Land-Rover takes labour, stores and machinery to remote, rugged sites and tackles the toughest assignments with good-humoured ease. On the land, it is indispensable for carrying loads, towing, ferrying men and materials, about the farm, and as a means of mobile or stationary power capable of operating all kinds of machinery.

The fact that it has also been called up in its thousands for service with the armed forces of the free world is a remarkable tribute to Rover engineering and to the Land-Rover's real and cross-country performance.

There's no substitute for the 4-wheel drive LAND-ROVER PETROL or DIESEL.

We hammered 5' NAILS into a FIRESTONE TUBELESS TYRE

... THEN DROVE THE CAR AT 75 M.P.H.!

What happened? Nothing at all! Thanks to the Firestone puncture Safety Lines. Not an ounce of air leaked from the tyre which was pierced by no less than nine large nails, through tread and sidewall... proving that for comfort, strength and safety under the most demanding conditions, Firestone Tubeless Tyres cannot be beaten.

The Firestone Tubeless Tyre is so called because it does not need a separate tube to hold air. The function of the tube is filled by the Firestone rubber Safety Lines which is usually built into the tyre - fused permanently to the inner body. This puncture line is a layer of self-repairing compound and separate tubes, so it is an entirely self-sealing tyre. When the inner body is punctured the air, compressed rubber, forms a seal so tight that you can normally drive your car for hundreds of miles before requiring that the tyre be replaced.
