Nothing equals a du Maurier!

John tells me it's the filter tip that makes a du Maurier so different. I know better than to argue with a man I'm fond of - but I have my own ideas. The filter tip may well be the reason why a du Maurier remains cool and smooth to the very last puff, but the flavour - that can only come from the quality of the tobacco. Why, du Maurier is the most luxurious smoke I Sh. 6.50 - 13 ever tasted.

There'll never be a better cigarette

ANGLO-IRANIAN OIL COMPANY AND ALTERNATIVES TO NATIONALISATION

A lot of muddled thinking is going on about the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, writes the city editor. Mr. Fridescof's letter in the Daily Express, after pointing out that the company's assets have dropped 52.5 million in a week, is a case of muddled thinking, though, to be fair.

Nationalisation is still considered by the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company as a thing for shareholders to think about. But it is a thing for shareholders to think about.

The Anglo-Iranian Oil Company is a company which has a very high reputation for its oil. It is a company which has a very high reputation for its oil.

PERSIA

By modern standards, Persia is one of the world's backward areas and Tehran is far from up-to-date capital city. But for the development of its great oil resources by British capital and technique, which has been going on for many years, the ancient country would be long and forgotten history, would have been even more behind the times in terms of progress and development of the local conditions of its people.

But so many other places where economic and social advancement have been going on, has not stood still. The ferment of the world war has reached Persia, and Communism has found there, and growing for its aggressive purposes. It is not only Persia that has not benefited from the progress of modern life, but the Middle East as a whole. The Middle East is a vast area, and the Middle East is a vast area, and the Middle East is a vast area.

CONTROLLING COMMUNISM IN ASIAN COUNTRIES

U.S. expert frets on 'outside' aid

An encouraging factor in present-day Asia is the way such countries as India, Pakistan, Indonesia and Burma have put their Communist problem under control according to Mr. Owen Lattimore, a U.S. expert on Asian affairs. In a radio interview at Lake Success, Mr. Lattimore said it was important for the West to learn that Communist propaganda could only be handled quietly and calmly from within. Any country which was prepared to do this would be able to suppress Communist propaganda and to control the movement of Communist troops. He said that the Chinese National Government was likely to create a Communist base in the future. Mr. Lattimore said that the United States should be prepared to help such countries in the future. A CAIRO newspaper yesterday published a report that a draft law to nationalise the Suez Canal Company had been introduced to both Houses of the Egyptian Parliament under a special clause in the constitution which allows for private enterprise. WORLD COTTON CONSUMPTION EXCEEDS PRODUCTION. The world's cotton consumption has exceeded production for the first time in history. This is due to a combination of factors, including a decline in cotton production in the United States and a sharp increase in demand from other countries. PRICE CONTROL OPPOSED IN UGANDA. The Ugandan government has proposed a price control scheme for various commodities. This has met with strong opposition from the private sector, who argue that it will lead to shortages and inefficiency. The government insists that the scheme is necessary to protect consumers from inflation and to ensure the availability of essential goods.

NAIROBI—FIRST YEAR AS A CITY

A year ago, Nairobi became a City. In this article, a special correspondent discusses the Council's work since the Charter Celebrations.

When their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester left Nairobi to set on the 2nd April, 1960, they left behind them a young City, slightly dazed by the sunlight which the Festival had attracted.

There was sister ceremony to come for the Kenya Regiment, the Kenya Battalions of the King's African Rifles and a Lord Chamberlain of England to our list of Honorary Freeman, but on the whole we settled down to the year-end business of being a city.

But we did feel different. The tendency began in April when the Estates and Parks Committee of the City Council placed before us a report on the water problem.

Cup semi-finals Scotland's highlights

AFTER a strenuous holiday programme the English League returns to normalcy by normal, one understands either a desperate struggle to avoid relegation or to keep in the promotion race. Spurs now appear even more likely to repeat Everton's 1952-53 feat of Division II and I championships in succeeding seasons.

Scotland's highlights today are the two re-promoted sides of the Scottish Cup, Manchester United and Tottenham Hotspur, and the two re-promoted sides of the English League, Tottenham Hotspur and Manchester United. Tottenham Hotspur are the favourites to win the Scottish Cup, while Manchester United are the favourites to win the English League Cup.

FRENCH RUGBY XV KEEN AND FIT

Play first match of short tour tomorrow

THE first match of the brief E.A. tour by the French Parachute Regiment's Heavy Union side from Madagascar is due to be played tomorrow Wednesday afternoon on the Services ground, Nairobi.

From the appearance of the visitors in a training match they are extremely fit and strong. They are not big men but are "solid" and it is hard to see how France has produced so many good middle-weight forwards. They showed a very excellent display in their last match in Madagascar.

The Colonial Services side have been strengthened and made more representative of the "Home" side. The addition of the players from the Services side has made the team more representative of the "Home" side. Problem of Britain's peak holiday months

WHILE last year was a record one for the Scottish tourist industry, the Scottish Tourist Board report for 1950 emphasises the grave problem of peak of the year in Scotland—April, May and October—hundreds of hotels and boarding houses being full and empty. Yet during the peak months of June, July and August, millions of people throughout Britain could not find holiday accommodation.

Some regional schemes have been devised to solve the problem. In Scotland, the Scottish Tourist Board has suggested that hotels should be encouraged to offer reduced rates during the peak months. In other parts of the country, the problem is being tackled by the provision of holiday homes and camps.

1953 match to mark 90th year of the F.A.

THE executive committee of the International Football Federation decided at its two-day meeting which ended in Madrid on Monday night, to accept in principle a proposal for a match between England and The Rest of Europe in London in 1953. The match would mark the 90th anniversary of the foundation of the Football Association.

The executive committee also agreed to recommend the federation to appoint an emergency committee to deal with the question of a sporting movement in Eastern Europe.

It was decided to begin matches between Eastern European clubs and affiliated associations in the near future, the emergency committee to be set up to deal with the matter.
