End Of A Chapter In Development Of 303 E. A. Field Regiment

From Four Guns To 24: Fine Record Throughout The War

THE return of 303 (E.A.) Field Regiment to East Africa marks the end of a long chapter of development from one battery of four guns, lined only over equipment of the 11 (E.A.) Divisional Artillery, to the outbreak of war when there was no Field Artillery in East Africa. On September 27, 1941, the 1st East African Light Battery, comprising one section of 4.5 inch guns and one section of 16 inch howitzers, was formed at Mombasa. A few days later the 2nd and 3rd sections were posted on the formation of the 1st and 2nd East African Light Batteries. From its European base, the 1st East African Light Battery was now serving in the Divisional Artillery, 11 (E.A.) Division, in the Middle East. The 2nd and 3rd sections were transferred to the 1st East African Light Battery in the Sudan. In July 1942 the battery was transferred to the 11 (E.A.) Division, 1st East African Light Brigade, in the Sudan. After some exciting days during which the battery was engaged by direct fire, the battery was transferred to the 11 (E.A.) Division, 1st East African Light Brigade, in the Sudan. For gallantry during the action at El Alamein, the battery was awarded a second bar to the M.C. The battery was awarded an M.C. and a D.S.O. to its commanding officer, Major C. C. McCrath, and an M.C. and a D.S.O. to its second-in-command, Major C. I. Hand-Coverly. Various questions were asked. One member asked whether the meeting would be held in the morning and the evening. He thought that statistics could be obtained by the Government if possible. He wanted the meeting to be held only in the morning and the evening and that they would be held only in the morning and the evening.

Col. He thought that statistics could be obtained by the Government if possible. He wanted the meeting to be held only in the morning and the evening and that they would be held only in the morning and the evening.

Mr. Wright replied that Europeans would have no control over the meeting. He thought that statistics could be obtained by the Government if possible. He wanted the meeting to be held only in the morning and the evening and that they would be held only in the morning and the evening.

The National Chamber of Industry in a statement said it had been informed by the Indian Congress that it was a firm that they should allow a meeting to be held in the morning and the evening. He thought that statistics could be obtained by the Government if possible. He wanted the meeting to be held only in the morning and the evening and that they would be held only in the morning and the evening.

WAR MEMORIAL

To the Editor, "E.A. Standard."

Sir— I have followed the correspondence in your paper regarding the provision of a war memorial with great interest, and although I do not propose contributing towards the fund, I feel obliged to express my views on the matter by extending the Correspondence column and other columns. I cannot help but feel that they have missed the point.

Surely our greatest tribute to the dead is to ensure, for every soldier within our power, that the world will never be plunged into misery and death again. Looking at the world today, crises are everywhere. How far we have advanced towards a more just and peaceful world since 1914 is hardly worth mentioning. I am sure that the world would think it a good idea to have a memorial to the fallen soldiers of the world, but I think it is more important to have a memorial to the living soldiers of the world, who are still fighting for a better world.

"Just finished working up the last batch of Little-go papers. Slipping up to Tom for a conference."

"Conference?"

"Yes, with the native flannel of an excellent little place in Cuba. Then on to a music hall."

"Music hall?"

"Yes, music hall. Then on again to find a satisfactory mixture in El Rencador, a night club so deceptively respectable that I almost think to enter its gilded portals. Like to come with me?"

"Afraid I'm too old for such raffishness. Couldn't stand the morning after."

"My dear friend, you've been too long off from the other world. Ever hear of Rose's Little Juice?"

"Almost impossible to come by now, but I've been knowing a fellow since the start of Term. It's here, by my soul."

"Bless my soul, you Mental and Moral Science man think everything."

FARMERS' INCOME TAX An Assurance

A resolution proposed by Mr. D. J. O'Connell at the annual meeting of the Kenya Agricultural Producers' Association at the Kenya Club, Nairobi, on March 1st, was passed to the effect that the Government should be urged to amend the Income Tax Act so as to exempt from tax the income of farmers from their agricultural produce. Mr. O'Connell said that their claim was for the preferential treatment of farmers in regard to income tax which had been granted in countries such as the United States of America to encourage the spending of money on development. He said that the report was the suggestion that the first claim on profits from the land should be for its rehabilitation and development. The sub-committee had suggested a number of amendments to the present provisions of the Income Tax Act.

BRITISH ROPES LIMITED

Mr. J. C. Mundy, who attended by invitation, emphasized that he was attending in a confidential capacity as a member of the sub-committee on Governmental and financial matters. He said that the Government was not overburdened, and that the report would be published when the bill was gazetted.
