It was a very fishy sort of night

MEMBERS of the Kaituma South Fishing Association felt rather like fish themselves when they leaved rain and flooded roads to get to their annual get-together.

And when they got there, they felt even more like fish, for around them and above them "swam" trout, with gigantic flies to give them a fisher's eye-view of the business end of a rod.

Their president, Mr. P. M. McInerney, suggested that this new waterside life was giving everyone a much greater understanding of how fish really felt. Members agreed.

Perhaps the most fervent agreement came from the Fish Warden, Chief Kipkomei Sang (above) who got something of a teaching from a founder member, Dr. D. Shillingworth Dixon, who the public (Dixon the pen) of being nearly taken by one of the oversize dragonflies.

The last swim

Perhaps to show members who they could really catch if they tried, Shirley Grant (left) appeared from the sky opening in the woods and rocks on a trout.

By the end of the evening, the fish were in their rightful place—a fryer on the table. Mr. Salzer, the County Engineer, Mr. J. F. Mulligan, prepares them for their next visit which will be Mulligan and Mr. E. C. Monda took on.

Spiritual leader's birthday

Members of the Nandi district community in the East African territories will celebrate the birthday of their spiritual leader, St. Francis, at the Nandi district headquarters, at Nandi. The celebrations at Nandi will continue until Thursday night.

THE VENOM AGAINST RELIGION

Standard Correspondent, Nairobi.

THE Northern Province Committee of Tanu is planning to form a committee which will study the particular problems of the Masai and try to help them in improving their conditions by encouraging settlement. Mr. A. M. Mbagi said Tanu had been aware for some time of the problems facing these people in their present way of life, and has been thinking of ways in which they could be encouraged to set up permanent settlements. One of the ideas which the committee will investigate is to set up permanent settlements where there is water. The question of providing grazing for the herds is one which the Government must answer. Mr. Mbagi said but the committee would be the best to pass on Government policy to the Masai, with the co-operation of the labour, or spiritual leaders. The committee which is being set up will consist of the provincial chairman of Tanu, Mr. P. F. Muro, the provincial secretary, Mr. J. M. Mwangi, the district chairman, Mr. S. Nanyari, the Labour Area and the district secretary of Tanu, Mr. M. M. Mwangi.

THE VENOM AGAINST RELIGION

STRONG criticism of attacks on religion by some Kani Kani officials was made yesterday by the constituency's Member, Mr. L. R. Sagari.

He said it was most unfortunate that in an area where there were many Protestants, Catholics and some Muslims remarks such as those being written as a "New Open Mail" should be made by Kani leaders.

"Under a democratic system, people have the right of freedom of conscience and of religious freedom if contained within Kani's constitution," he said.

Christianity taught people to love their neighbours and their beliefs according to the teachings of their own churches. To say, as some Kani officials were doing, that people were being deceived because the Kani was untrue. TAKING A LOOK AT PORTUGAL

TWO more Kenya people, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Martineau, are taking a look at Portugal with the idea that they might settle there permanently. Portugal, with Spain, appears to be one of the most popular "possibilities" for those who have enjoyed the Kenya climate.

Mr. Martineau, who has been Economic Officer to the Protectorate and Supply Council of the E.A. High Commission for the past few years, has left Kenya to travel and see with his wife and their four children, who are now in Europe.

PERB SEENETI WILDLIFE STUDY IN COLOUR

SEENETI SHALL NOT DIE (30th Century) is probably the most beautiful photographed and produced wild life film ever made and is of particular interest to East Africa.

The only objection one could have about this magnificent study of nature is that it is so long. It runs for two hours and 10 minutes. It is a pity that it is not shown more often in Kenya.

The film was made in 1950 and is a masterpiece of cinematography. It shows the life of a herd of lions in the Serengeti Plain. The film is a masterpiece of cinematography and is a masterpiece of nature study.

Potted geraniums offer much colour

FOR a sunny verandah site, geraniums are a good choice. Their flowering period is quite prolonged and a wealth of different colours and sizes of blooms offer themselves.

ONCE upon a time there were ten penguins. They belonged to a circus named Pierre, and he travelled all about the world with them. When the circus stopped at a town to give a show, there were notices about the elephants and the dancing horses and the mad old man Pierre's Performing Penguins.

The ten penguins used to march round to music and dive for fish and at the end of their show they came up to the children in the front row and shook hands with them. The children thought they were wonderful birds.

When Pierre threw fish to the penguins to eat, they always stood back and said "Alas, your fish is bad" or "Alas, your fish is bad" or "Alas, your fish is bad" and their proper supper after the penguins had finished eating and shaking hands with the children.

Not Pierre, though, was for that and never pushed at the children. Pierre never really had enough money to eat. He did not know what to do. He was a little bit of a miser and he was a little bit of a miser and he was a little bit of a miser.

As well as not getting enough for the circus was growing. Pierre let the other penguins suggest into the street for a draughty shower, or he would in the middle so that he would not come out of the street.

One day a little girl called the boy to see the circus, and she loved the penguins best of all. People were taking photos.

Humorous as crazy puppeteer manipulates exotic cast

HAVING another assembled international cast of exotic characters, Anthony Burgess once again manipulates these with the crazy humor of some comedies d'elites puppeteer.

The setting of Devil of St. Iz is Duns, an emigrant African State. Civilization is reviving upper, but the capital the new mosque will not be ready in time for the independence day ceremony in the middle of the chaos the British civil servants mop their brows and take the wrong decision.

The central character, Francis Lydgate, is a white man with a kick in the pants. He is not a white man, but he is white as a sheet. He is a white man, but he is white as a sheet. He is a white man, but he is white as a sheet.

This should be right on Mr. Burgess's ally, but the Devil of St. Iz is a white man, but he is white as a sheet.

REVISIONS ADD LITTLE TO SATIRE ON HANGING

By GILES PLAYFAIR

SINCE its original publication in 1928 Charles Duff's Handbook on Hanging (Princeton, 19), has been a kind of Bible over so far as it goes, the only book on capital punishment to have proved its staying power.

In essence the book is a mockology of hanging. Mr. Duff describes hanging as an art. He gives mancher details of the practice of this art today and yesterday.

He makes horrid illustrations of the details of other methods of execution which he says are not as nice, such as decapitation and electrocution.

He gives suggestions for improvement in the use of hanging. He is a greater revivalist. He includes great burlesques of famous hangmen like Berry and Gall.

He describes how hanging is done in the days of the past. He describes how hanging is done in the days of the past. He describes how hanging is done in the days of the past.

He describes how hanging is done in the days of the past. He describes how hanging is done in the days of the past. He describes how hanging is done in the days of the past.

THEY'RE OFF TO JOIN THE ARMY

Recruits from the Seychelles

SEVENTEEN more Seychelloise girls leave Nairobi tomorrow for three-year contracts with the Women's Royal Army Corps and the Queen Alexandra's Royal Army Nursing Corps in Britain.

The girls, who arrived in Nairobi from the Seychelles as a result of a recruiting campaign carried out in the islands earlier this year. There were more than 150 applications for posts in the two corps. In July the first party of 23 girls left the islands to join the corps.

On arrival in Britain ten girls will go to the W.R.A.N.C. and six to the Q.A.R.N.C. They will undergo a three-week special training in various trades.

The first nine in the group will join the Q.A.R.N.C. at Hindhead. Two batches of men have joined the British Army from the islands and another is expected to leave the islands shortly for Britain.

Mr. Maulding through 'unsatisfied'

Standard Staff Reporter Nairobi
The Colonial Secretary ceased with great reluctance this week from the same or even more important position in Kenya's political life.
As the East African Standard remarked in its editorial yesterday: "Mr. Maulding has been virtually a failure."
He has visited Kenya, seen, listened and left without accomplishing anything. On doing nothing he performed the ultimate aim of the constitutional arrangements to be prepared between now and the London conference.
Despite what the Standard described as the outstanding effect of his personality on the Colony's political life, there was nothing apparent in the Colonial Secretary's conduct on his five-day visit, given before Friday, to the ultimate aim of the constitutional arrangements to be prepared between now and the London conference.

Premier's Words RAISE UNION EYEBROWS

Standard Staff Reporter Dar es Salaam
That warning given by Tanganyika's Prime Minister, Mr. Hyvere, that workers who went on strike would be disciplined raised many trade union eyebrows, this week.

QUOTE of the WEEK
"The danger lies with the Union and Government workers who go to arbitration after a threat to discipline is made. They are not looking for a settlement. They are looking for a settlement. They are looking for a settlement."

Many prayers

Of course, there is a lot of prayer for the Uganda African to be successful in his new role. This is especially true in the light of the fact that the discipline which sprang from the old system has been replaced by a new system.

WEEK END LADARD SISAL MATTING BOOSTS KENYA'S EXPORT TRADE

By Susan Cogzell

East Africa Bag and Cordage Company has been established for a long time, but its associate, East African Matting, was founded only a year and a half ago and has only really gained momentum since the parent company is a sisal business, and it produces matting from small mats hardly larger than the average doormat to big rolls of the U.K. Australia, the Rhodesias and other countries. Outlets for the sisal matting are a number of shops in East Africa with the agency and the Mount Kenya Safari Club, which has been exporting 20 per cent of the production of East African Matting to America.

WITCH TIMMY SOLVES PROBLEM OF SPIDERS

If you could have seen Witch Timmy on nights when the moon was full and she was getting ready to ride her broomstick, you would have wondered whatever she was doing. She had a little sick in her hand and she kept jabbing it into the twigs of the broomstick, and every now and then she jumped away.

"Then she would pick up the broomstick and shake it, like shaking a dusting-mop. And another of her tricks would Witch Timmy mount her broomstick and fly up to sweep the sky.

But when she kept looking back over her shoulder, she knew that the witchy parts behind her broom were getting very close when she would fly over their heads.

"Look where you're going, you silly old witch!" they screamed, and their black cat did exactly as Witch Timmy did out of the way.

on the twigs and he scuttled inside the twigs, and Witch Timmy could see his eyes shining and he was, he said, aware even to try to poke him.

"It's no use," she whispered. "I can't do that broomstick."

She looked anxiously round her head, but there was no other broomstick, except — what about it?

It was standing right beside her. She had probably known just as much about it as she knew about the other broom. It was a long, thin broom, and it had a little sick on the end of it. She looked at it outside, and she felt a little sick, and she got out of it without so much as a look.

"Hoorsy!" shouted Witch Timmy.

EVERYTHING went "according to Cooker" in the 1961 Kenya squash racketts championships at Nairobi Club last night. Today the men's semifinals will see the first four seeds in the competition—two Kenyas and two Ethiopians players. In the women's championship the first and second seeds are through, as was the case a year, to the final, which is to be played tomorrow.

As expected, Miss Mogan, the holder, won her match against Mrs. Mary Evans but the latter put up a splendid fight, with all final momentum being going down into the fifth game. At times Miss Mogan failed to bring off her famous drop shots but Mrs. Evans played some excellent squash to level matters after the first two games.

Mrs. Archibald, seeded No. 4, who formerly lived in Kenya and is now resident in Nyamanda, could not match the No. 2 seed, Mrs. Schwenkbecker, but went down with colours flying.

As Mrs. McDonald's former won the Kenya women's championship last year (1960) and last year's runner-up, Mrs. Schwenkbecker, then Miss Mogan, it is the only woman player still in the top four.

INTERNATIONAL

On Sunday at Parklands, Rhodesia, some exciting matches were played for the International Tennis Federation (ITF) Cup, which is an international, six-side, 100-yard tennis tournament.

In the game which has commenced in a new match.

John McDonald also battled hard for every point but failed to produce his best against Murray Clifton, using his powerful left hand to make a decisive difference in the tie.

No one else will choose Tanganyika's enemies for her friends

Friendship for all—MR. NYERERE

By STANDARD STAFF REPORTERS DAR E SALAAM.

Uhuru arrives for

Uhuru is embarking on independence under the banner of friendship with every other country, the Prime Minister, Mr. Nyerere, said in a speech last night.

He warned a Press conference of letting any friendly country choose our enemies for us. We are going to make our own enemies, we are going to make our own friends. No one will make it for us."

This principle would apply to the Arab-Israeli dispute, he added. The Premier, who had been asked what his reaction would be to any move to join a boycott of Israel, said he would not support such a move.

He said that he would support a boycott of South Africa, but that he would not support a boycott of the Dutch Republic.

Mr. Nyerere would apply the same principle to the Arab-Israeli dispute, he added. The Premier, who had been asked what his reaction would be to any move to join a boycott of Israel, said he would not support such a move.

MACHINE-GUNNERS STRAFE GOA VILLAGE

THE Portuguese Overseas Ministry announced machine-gunners had strafed the village of Porphyrópolis in Goa. The communists did not say whether the fire came from land, sea or air.

The communists said unidentified aircraft had been seen at concentrations of troops and armoured cars on the Indian side near the border. It may imply serious war.

Earlier yesterday, India's defence forces in Goa were alerted over possible Portuguese attacks in the Pôrto de Marmeleira area.

If the Portuguese try what the Communists tried in Goa, the Government will be forced to take action against them.

Prime Minister Mr. Nehru said India could not ignore Goa and was prepared to use force to maintain its integrity.

He said India had always been friendly to the Portuguese, but that it would not tolerate any aggression against its territory.

Watch your step, says China

CHINA said yesterday that India must bear full responsibility for any resulting new tension should it continue to push forward into Chinese territory.

In a statement, the Sino-Chinese Foreign Ministry said that the Government had "strongly" expressed its "serious" concern over the "aggressive" moves of the Indian Government in the border areas.

Tale of timid lion

BY FRANK WILSON
ONCE upon a time there were three lion cubs—Liony and Loeffler. Every day they met their mother. Every time lioness. She taught them to hide and to hunt, to pounce and to roar.

They did not very well until they were half grown, and then they began to improve. It came to their mother's attention that the cubs practiced in the lioness's presence as well as in her absence. She still very much enjoyed the lioness's presence.

Didn't she?
At last Mother Lion said to her cubs: "You have been with me long enough. Now you must go to work and find yourselves."

STAMP STORY

This stamp, with its intricate wavy pattern, is one of the few—outside Britain and the early issues of Belgium and Brazil—so far to indicate an all of the country of origin.

Coll box idea
It has been suggested that a small stamp folder, which has been called a "coll box," be made for the use of collectors.

UNITED STATES

EAST AFRICA

Trade - out made by consulate to help business

BY EDWARD MARKS

Vice Consul (Commercial)

THE purpose of the United States Commercial Office in Nairobi is to facilitate and encourage trade between the United States and Kenya — to encourage a type of two-way trade, both buying and selling, which is of mutual advantage to both our countries.

We attempt to accomplish this primarily by providing commercial contacts to American and East African businessmen, in addition to acting as an information office for local businessmen.

Our office are on the seventh floor of Mitchell Cotts building and our telephone number is 2081. There we maintain a commercial reading room with trade directories, trade and industrial magazines and newspapers — plus indexes of American manufacturers, exporters and importers.

We also have complete information on import duties and Customs regulations. This reading room is open from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 2 to 5:30 p.m. from Monday to Friday and the receptionist is present at all times to assist visitors. I hope that all businessmen interested in carrying on trade with the United States will consider this room their reference library on American commerce and feel free to use it as such. Visits and telephone calls are always welcome.

Help to find agents

Aside from this information service we provide a more active service of assisting Kenya businessmen to find American importers or agents to handle Kenya products and vice versa and to help American businessmen to find local agents or importers for American products.

We attempt to do this mainly by use of the United States Government publication entitled Foreign Commerce Weekly. This is a weekly magazine with over 10,000 subscribers issued by the United States Department of Commerce.

Among the subscribers are numbered many chambers of commerce, export councils and similar business organizations. The sole purpose of this magazine is to publish at no cost to the Kenya businessmen his interest in doing business with the United States.

Puts you in touch

This interest may be on any type of export or import agencies representation, or investment opportunities, whatever aspect of trade you, as a Kenya businessman, are desirous of inquiring about.

An article in the Foreign Commerce Weekly will quickly put you in touch with several American firms who are prepared to do business.

THE five glasses most treasured in the United States have of America is the Manhattan skyline above. With its mammoth skyscrapers towering over New York harbor, it symbolizes the energy and drive that the world has come to associate with Americans.

Many ships leave this harbor on their way to and from East Africa carrying cars, tractors and the thousand and one other manufactured goods which East Africa needs, and taking back to the U.S. some of the agricultural products harvested in the territories.

Left, The Capitol, Washington, D.C., is seen above of in trees. The House of Representatives (Lower House) meets in the left wing and the Senate Chamber (Upper House) is in the right wing. The Vice President has his offices in the Capitol. Some of the larger rooms are used for memorial halls. The building was completed in 1850.

New York was the capital when the original 13 States organized a Government in 1783. Philadelphia then became the capital for a decade, until Congress and the Supreme Court moved to Washington at the turn of that century.

Message from U.S. commerce chief

WE in the United States are especially pleased that the East African Standard has undertaken to publish a special U.S. trade supplement.

In affirming the importance economic growth as a necessary condition to development of political democracy, President Kennedy has said, "The world must move in the crucial decade ahead... the transition from self-sufficiency to interdependence, which is an enlarged community of the world, can reduce world tensions and insecurity."

Look forward

To Kenya and East Africa generally, I am sure, it is a decade in which we can expect to see a new and more profitable relationship with East African countries.

The U.S. Trade Mission, headed by Ambassador J. J. Donovan and Ambassador in Charge J. J. Donovan, in the fall of 1960, was of the opinion that the American private trade mission community could make a significant contribution to East Africa's future economic development.

The U.S. Secretary for Commerce, Mr. Luther H. Hodges, below, sends this message.

men with the potential markets for our goods and services in East Africa.

By encouraging them to start you to learn your way of doing business and how to plan the economic development.

In turn we hope your business will come to the United States. Our American Commercial Office in Nairobi, Kenya, is now open all day on Saturday and Sunday to assist you in planning your commercial trade to our country.

These Foreign Service posts are the principal channels through which the Department of Commerce promotes the U.S. business fraternity informed on trade forward marketing information in East Africa.

Service offer

Our commercial staffs at these consulates are equipped to get local businessmen in touch with American supply, sales outlets and other important trade organizations. We invite you and East Africa to contact our office to avail yourselves of the services of the American Trade Mission. Through extensive trade and investment, we hope to increase the direct trade relations existing between East Africa and the United States.

ALL IN THIS FORM AND DO BETTER BUSINESS

The United States Department of Commerce has a trade list of business firms in East Africa, which is prepared by American firms or businessmen, who make trade contacts in these territories.

In order to keep this publication up to date, it is necessary every two years by the commercial section of the American Consulate-General in Nairobi.

If you offer to include as many firms as possible, but in the interest of submitting a complete list, it would also be appreciated if you would limit set and returned to the Commercial Officer, American Consulate-General, P.O. Box 20137, Nairobi.

THE FARM SPENDS MILLIONS ON IMPROVING THEIR GOODS

BY H. S. FIRESTONE

THESE days... still better tomorrow... has been the cry of the Firestone Tyre and Rubber Co. for a long time. It is a phrase that reflects the pride of our workers in making a good product and epitomizes the policy of our management.

Quality in any company is basically a choice of management. It is the primary decision to make products of the highest quality in the use of materials.

Progress of a company is directly related to the quality of its products. It is the quality of its products that will determine its position in the market.

The Firestone Company has spent millions of dollars in every country in which we operate. Each penny of it well invested. It is the quality of our products that has made us the world's largest tyre manufacturer.

Our products are made from the best materials available. We use the finest quality of rubber and the most advanced machinery. Our products are made in the most modern factories in the world.

Why not visit U.S. to boost business

The U.S. Department of Commerce of the United States has issued an invitation to all Kenya businessmen to visit the United States.

Although certainly business contacts can be established by written correspondence, nothing really comes of it until the businessmen have visited the United States.

Your proposed business contacts can be established by written correspondence, nothing really comes of it until the businessmen have visited the United States.

We hope, therefore, that it will become more and more to visit Kenya and vice versa.

AT YOUR DISPOSAL

Your itinerary and other interests will also be provided by the U.S. Department of Commerce, Office of Commercial Attaché, Nairobi.

They will then provide you with a list of the names of the U.S. firms which are interested in your business.

Our desire is that you should visit the United States and that you should establish business contacts with the U.S. firms.

Small start

Control of quality in manufacturing stems logically from the use of research facilities in our company.

We began research work in 1906 at Akron, Ohio. Our research laboratories are now located at Akron, Ohio, and at Nairobi, Kenya.

Our research laboratories are now located at Akron, Ohio, and at Nairobi, Kenya. We have spent millions of dollars in research and development.

Ideas proved

At Fort Stockton, Texas, where we have the world's largest artificial tank and largest artificial ground, we operate a fleet of cars and trucks.

Our fleet of cars and trucks is used for testing our products under the most severe conditions.

Help in crisis

Beyond their scientific significance, these discoveries could be of enormous importance to the country's security if they result in the production of natural rubber.

We recently announced the discovery of the world's first natural rubber plant in Kenya.

We operate major research laboratories in Nairobi, Kenya, and at Akron, Ohio.

Some of the research we do would never be recognized as such unless we were to point to it specifically.

Unique test

The annual Memorial Day 500-mile automobile race in Indianapolis, Ind., is a unique sports event. It is the longest continuous automobile race in the world.

Our products are used in the 500-mile race. They are the only products that have been used in the race for more than 25 years.

Announcement to Motorists

BY FIRESTONE, NAIROBI

We are pleased to announce the introduction into this country of a new improved cable tread design which increases the mileage gained from Firestone car tyres by ten per cent.

This new design, which has been called Bonus Mileage cable tread 455, is now available throughout the country in most tyre sizes.

In a highly developed product like car tyres, it is not often that we can announce an outstanding advance. The original Firestone Cable Tread which was introduced only three years ago, was just such an advance. It proved to be the most successful car tyre tread design in years.

It is with considerable pride and pleasure therefore, that we announce this further major improvement after the short period of only three years.

High mileage, quicker stopping, safer car control, greater protection against skidding, and good looks were the outstanding benefits gained from the original Cable Tread.

Now, the new Bonus Mileage cable tread 455 design not only retains all these advantages, but gives an extra ten per cent tread life.

This has been achieved by what is virtually a complete redesign. The arc of the tyre has been altered, the tread has been widened slightly, and the shoulders of the tyre have been straightened. These improvements have increased the amount of Firestone Rubber-X tread rubber on the road and have distributed the load in better proportion across the tyre. The result is a ten per cent increase in mileage.

The improvement in mileage is thus additional to the mileage benefit given by Firestone Rubber-X (the longest wearing rubber compound ever used on Firestone tyres) and the results of the first exhaustive tests were so impressive that it was immediately decided to introduce the new design without delay so that motorists of this country could benefit as soon as possible.

The new tyre can be distinguished by the new straight edge which has replaced the zig-zag edge of the old design, and by the slightly wider tread. Ask to see this new tyre now. Then when you are ready for new tyres, have your garage or retailer fit Firestone Bonus Mileage cable tread 455 with Rubber-X.

FIRESTONE BRITISH EAST AFRICA LTD.

WORK is going ahead with the six new cargo vessels being built for Farrell Lines' projected fleet. The first fleet was acquired from the American Southern African Line, and the second was made up of the ship built for the American Southern African Line.

The new vessels will be the fastest, longest cargo vessels in the American trade, and the largest cargo vessels in the world. They will be the most modern, most comfortable, and most economical cargo vessels in the world.

Atomic washdown will be provided by a system of external sprinklers which can cover the vessels in a continuous spray of sea water, allowing them to travel safely through an atomic fallout area.

The first ship is due to be ready in August, 1962, and the other five in 18-day intervals. It has been estimated that the service speed of 30 knots will cost less than that of the previous service.

Quick-access hatches, operated at all three deck levels, and an increase in the number of cargo booms will make for faster loading and discharging at each port of call.

TRAVEL ADVICE FOR THOSE GOING ON TRIP TO STATES

GREAT compensation for the amount of paper work necessary to enter the United States is the fact that there is virtually none to do once you've arrived on the other side.

Since you may travel round the world without crossing a single border, your passport actually just says you've been seen by some official who won't even know the country you're about to visit.

But there are some administrative details you must know before you start your trip.

For East Africa, business visas to the United States will not be issued until January 1, 1935.

There are issued by the United States Consulate in Dar es Salaam.

You must make a great deal of time to get your visa.

There will be interviews by a consular officer, a small form will be filled in and your visa will be issued immediately.

The whole process takes about a week. However, the consular officer is permitted to issue visas immediately if you can show that it will take less than a week before you receive your visa, simply because you have no time to do the necessary work.

You may avoid such delay by getting the consular officer to issue your visa immediately when you need one. You will need at least six months before you plan to leave the States.

The consular officer may ask you to present evidence of your financial support while in the States.

100 YEARS IN E. AFRICA NEARLY A CENTURY

Standard Oil products have been established in East Africa for almost a century. At the time produced in the United States, they arrived in Zanzibar by the mailboat, and gradually found their way to the mainland of East Africa. Today Kenya, Uganda, and Tanganyika products, but today the Mombasa Jetty is rarely empty as all tankers call to discharge petroleum products to the people of Kenya, Uganda and Northern Tanganyika. In order to keep pace with the increased traffic, tankers that have been installed to provide shore-to-ship deliveries at high delivery rates and four pumps can deliver product to the 18 tanks at Mombasa at a combined rate of 10,000 gallons an hour.

Typical growth
This growth at Standard's Mombasa ocean terminal is typical of the progressive pattern at other ports in the East African trading area.

Today there are other Standard terminals at Dar es Salaam (built in 1951), Ashab (1955), Mombasa (1957), Aden (1957), Tema (1958), Zanzibar (1957).

Standard's ocean terminal at Shikamzi, Mombasa.

Mombasa (1957) and Djibouti (1958).
In June, 1951, Standard-Vacuum Oil Company (East Africa) Ltd. was incorporated in Kenya with its head office in Nairobi and was reconstituted for the area - Aden, Port Sudan, Aden, Djibouti, Ethiopia, Eritrea, Somalia, French Somaliland, Madagascar, Kenya, Malawi, Mozambique, Tanganyika, Uganda, Zanzibar.

Some 44,000,000 gallons of petroleum products are handled in the East African trading area, and the bulk of this is handled in the various ports of the area. In order to keep pace with the increased traffic, tankers that have been installed to provide shore-to-ship deliveries at high delivery rates and four pumps can deliver product to the 18 tanks at Mombasa at a combined rate of 10,000 gallons an hour.

Move inland
Most of the Standard products made in East Africa come from the Puritan Gulf and on to Africa. The various products are then taken to the various ports of the area. The various products are then taken to the various ports of the area. The various products are then taken to the various ports of the area.

Ploughed back
Most of this investment has been in the inland terminals designed to bring the petroleum products to the markets we serve, and in the service stations designed to meet the convenience and needs of our motorist customers. Increasing capital funds to keep pace with the requirements of the rapidly expanding economies of the countries we serve has been a difficult task. During these years 80 per cent of our profits plus a substantial reserve and very capital funds have been invested. And even these efforts have hardly kept ahead of the needs of our growing business in these booming countries.

THE 1962 model of the Thunderbird is considered in the United States as the number one prestige car and from the picture, you can see why. One reason is that the Thunderbird is based on buying into a Thunderbird, not a good show of the "Bird" in the flesh.

Below, another dream car, this time the La Salle II, which is not just on the production lines of General Motors. The model is undergoing tests on the chassis dynamometer, which measures power. The temperature has dropped 90 deg. below zero F. in the cold-test laboratory. The freeze room is part of G.M.'s new technical centre at Warren, Michigan.

Huge team needed to design latest in cars

THE 1962 Ford Thunderbird is hard above in an example of what has been developed through Ford's large and extensive research and designing facilities located in Michigan.

The company's investment had been research will lead to new technical developments and therefore it has established a broad programme of investigations into the many aspects of physics, chemistry, metallurgy and electronics. In Ford's laboratory many world-famous scientists conduct fundamental studies in their field.

A report has been produced by Ford metallurgists which traces the strength of steel to the atoms and also components such as engines, transmissions, differential and axles are designed. The development of a body design is only part of the whole story of a transducer.

the parts of the automobile are developed. A team of engineers and scientists develop the different driving and operational components which must be achieved. In essence the different driving and operational components which must be achieved. In essence the different driving and operational components which must be achieved.

Many engineers, technicians and scientists are hand at work in the Ford engineering staff. The product that will evolve and develop in the years to come. There are 12 large studies for car moulding and finishing where body design and styles are developed. There are also studies for the development of interior materials and trim which show up in a car's upholstery and interior hardware.

After the styles have been developed, the design team of design engineers take on the task of designing the body structure. They transform sketches, renderings and clay models into sheet metal and the many other iron and accessory items that make up the production automobile.

One of the methods they use to determine the proper materials of an automobile is the use of a dummy called "Duke" around whom Ford-built cars are designed. Duke is at least as large and as heavy as most adults throughout the world. What he demands of a car is the same as what you would expect of a car. He is a living man, and even though he is a dummy, he has many important products are new research data and reports which grow and develop into the final design of each of the 1962 Ford Thunderbird.

In 1870 a new product — then produced almost exclusively in America — began to arrive amongst cargoes for Zanzibar. As caravans opened up trade routes through the East African mainland, this new product from America went with them. Africans from inland who visited the Coast with goods for barter — mainly ivory and cattle — took small quantities of it back to their people. This product was Kerosene and was marketed by affiliates of what is today the Standard-Vacuum Organisation.

Since these early years, Stanvac has invested large sums of money in its expansion to keep up with the march of time. Standard-Vacuum Oil Company was formed in 1933 by two American companies Standard Oil Company (New Jersey) and Socony Mobil Oil Company, each holding a 50% interest in the new venture.

Although Standard-Vacuum Oil Company (East Africa) Ltd. is incorporated in East Africa, its capital is provided from the United States, and almost all Stanvac's profits — and large sums besides — have been re-invested in the East African marketing area over the years of its operation. Stanvac has been and will be an important contributor to the economies and future prosperity of the countries in which it operates.

THE fact that Trans World Airlines 59 transatlantic flights a week, 500 daily domestic flights between 70 cities within the United States, have 20,000 employees and will have the largest fleet of jet-propelled airplanes reaching the Far West with the Far East, might be just as much statistical puff to the average East African citizen. He most probably will say: "It's interesting, but what has that to do with me?"

He is very true, but when you fly to Addis Ababa, Accra, Frankfurt or Roberts Field in Liberia, you are making use of the services of T.W.A. Since that time Ethiopian Airlines has flown more than 40,000 passengers a total of 1,800,000 passenger miles. Today the fleet consists of 12 aircraft and 34 pilots/operators, with two Boeing 707 jet aircraft on order.

You never reach age when looks do not matter...

BY A WOMAN OF 50
You may be any age between 20 and 80, or older, but please never think "at my age it doesn't matter how I look." It always matters, both to yourself and to those who please to look at you. How much more it is to see a woman with a trim and well-cared-for appearance, than one old friend who obviously "couldn't care less" how awful she appears.

As we grow older, lines and wrinkles do appear and it is useless to deny it, but you can see it so that those lines are not noticed by a hairbrush from disguising your forehead, or a chin-strapped droop at the corners of your mouth. Laughter lines round the eyes and mouth are pleasant on the face that is no longer young. Crow's feet and hollows can be of great assistance in this, though cream can certainly exaggerate the signs of advancing years.

The judicious use of cosmetics will do much to keep creases in the aging skin, do not use them sparingly, but sparingly. They will help to completely restore the lost contour of the skin, but do not use skin making smooth, sard for best effect.
I know this means a nightly ritual and routine, but I will feel too tired to bother, but I am guaranteed it will worth the effort involved, which results in only a matter of a few minutes.
I once heard a man say "No woman is ever more than 10 years above her husband." It should have been "her skin" in the morning until she has put on her war-paint.

HAIR-SMUDGE
Now that I am 60 I realize that I am not as young as I used to be. I am not as young as I used to be. I am not as young as I used to be.

Another colour, called "I'm a Richard Hudnut," described as "a red dye" it won't rub out of the hair, but it will rub out of the hair, but it will rub out of the hair.

Beauty experts are continually experimenting with new preparations to rectify these natural signs of old age. The use of the latest products, however, is not sufficient to make a woman look as young as she once did. It is not sufficient to make a woman look as young as she once did.
