

WELL-KEPT SECRET PLEADED RHODESIA

The appointment of Sir Gilbert Balfour, Governor of Northern Rhodesia, to be the first High Commissioner in London of the Central African Federation, has been greeted with approval throughout Northern Rhodesia.

The Chief Minister, Sir Kenneth Robinson, in his speech to the Northern Rhodesian Legislative Assembly, said that the appointment of Sir Gilbert Balfour was a great asset to the Federation. He said that Sir Gilbert had been a member of the Rhodesian High Commission in London for many years and had a deep knowledge of the country and its people.

Wide experience. Sir Gilbert Balfour has a wide experience in public administration and has held various posts in the Rhodesian Government. He has also served in the British Colonial Office and has been a member of the Rhodesian High Commission in London.

Secretary of three. Sir Gilbert Balfour has been Secretary of three of the Rhodesian High Commissions in London. He has also served as Secretary of the Rhodesian High Commission in London.

NORTHERN RHODESIAN COMMENTARY

Rhodesia has been made a member of the Commonwealth of Nations. This is a great achievement for the country and its people. It shows that Rhodesia is now fully integrated into the Commonwealth and that its interests are being protected by the United Kingdom.

Friendly hands. The Rhodesian Government has been very friendly towards the United Kingdom and the Commonwealth. It has always worked in the interests of the country and its people and has always been a loyal member of the Commonwealth.

The Emergency

The Emergency is a state of affairs which exists in a country when there is a serious threat to its security or its independence. It is a state of affairs which is declared by the Government and which gives it special powers to deal with the emergency.

When the Emergency is declared, the Government is given special powers to deal with the emergency. These powers include the power to suspend the Constitution, to declare a state of war, and to take any other measures which may be necessary to deal with the emergency.

YOUNG BILLY KNIGHT IS:

A rising star on Britain's lawn tennis horizon

AFTER 20 YEARS A RAY OF HOPE

NOT for 20 years has Britain had a world-beater among her lawn tennis players—the last being the great Fred Perry who won three Wimbledon titles (1934-36) and Nood for two other successive Davis Cup victories (1933-34)—the last time the Cup came to the country. But at Sydney earlier this month it was young Billy Knight, a pretty 17-year-old, left-handed youngster, who captured the British crown. It is a little known, a little talked of player with an unusual tennis style. He is from a small town in the south of England. He is 6-1, 145 lbs, and is a real, man-made tennis player.

The previous holders
The two previous Australian holders were Les Head and Ken Rosewall. At 16 they were both in the Australian Davis Cup squad and a match for the world's best. Now they are dead.

No more net-sinker
He rises every opportunity to take the initiative. Not content with net-sinking, he will attack from any part of the court with his fierce, angled drive. At school, he played tennis with regularity and was a member of the table tennis inter-school tennis team. He has given up all other sports in favour of lawn tennis. He has turned down a chance of a job in a government office. He did so well in the School Certificate examination that his headmaster said he could meet certainly have gained university scholarship. But his father, a keen lawn tennis enthusiast, advised him to take the family furniture business as a career.

At two years you can play a month tennis as just one of your hobbies. At 20, you make the grade, you can carry it. Or you can be a back-sweeper. The middle of the School Certificate is a back-sweeper. You can carry an English paper until 12.15 on the day of the match to Wimbledon and only 3 for it!

Course for Africans on reclamation project

MR. JOHN MALINDA, District Officer, heads a team of 20 Malachuk Africans, now being trained at Juarez School, Nairobi, for a 10-month reclamation project in the Lower Mbooni Location - one of the most eroded and backward areas in Malakoch district.

The team include agricultural supervisors and veterinary, health and community development assistants. Mr. Malinda, who is already in charge of community development work in Malakoch, plans to start work with his team next month.

Dams being built

Work will be developed on the Mbooni dam, a 100-foot dam on the Mbooni river in the North Mbooni area. The dam is being built at Mbooni with six tractor-drawn rollers. The dam will be a small dam and will provide water for irrigation and will also provide water for the Mbooni dam.

TRACKER DOG'S PART IN FINDING WANTED MEN

Saves months of inquiries

TOETS, one of the tracker dogs used by the Rift Valley police, led them across Main Summit farms to Kikuyu involvement in the recent attack on Tall Trees Farm, on Mau Summit, the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Barker, Toets, a Doberman Pinscher, came from Pretoria, South Africa.

Five years ago with her handler, Dogmaster Angus Montgomerie, Toets was brought to Kenya. She was a Doberman Pinscher, a breed of dog which is known for its intelligence and loyalty.

When she was six months old she was with Mr. Montgomerie in the recent attack on Tall Trees Farm, on Mau Summit, the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Barker, Toets, a Doberman Pinscher, came from Pretoria, South Africa.

Neither Toets nor her master claims to be more than an aid to investigation. Yet Toets and her breed of tracker dogs exercise a remarkable moral effect on criminals.

Archbishop opens hostel for Colonial students

THE number of Colonial students at the Archbishop's Hostel has risen from 300 in 1939 to 5,000 in 1951 and there are about 24,000 others in hostels from all countries, including Commonwealth countries.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Richard C. Inge, of London, has opened a hostel for Colonial students from South Africa, the Sudan, the Congo, the British Guiana, the Cayman Islands, the Bahamas, the Barbados, the Bonaire, the Netherlands, the North Borneo, the Nigeria, and the West Indies.

At a Rotary Club luncheon in London, the Archbishop said that a great deal had been done to help the students feel at home at the hostel. He said that the hostel is a contribution in the name of the Church of England towards the extremely important task of helping these boys proper education.

Better roads attract more cars to Lamu

THE Chairman, Mr. J. M. Gold, announced that many farmers in the Lamu District would contribute up to the scheme for better roads. He said that the scheme was started to improve the roads in the Lamu District.

At a recent meeting he was delighted to write to the 40 members who have contributed, explaining the situation and stating that unless they could recruit further members, or increase their own payments, the scheme would have to be wound up. It was also agreed that if sufficient money were not collected by the end of March the committee would close the scheme and return contributions.

"Freebie reasoning"

The Chairman, Mr. J. M. Gold, announced that many farmers in the Lamu District would contribute up to the scheme for better roads. He said that the scheme was started to improve the roads in the Lamu District.

ZEISS, from the BOX TENGOR

THE BOX TENGOR is the smallest and most compact of the Zeiss from range but includes a surprising number of accessories. PRICE: Shs. 112.

The Zeiss people don't beat about the bush. They realize that everyone wants the same amount of money to spend on cameras.

If you can only afford in the region of a hundred to three hundred shillings there is the BOX TENGOR or the RETTAR II. But the BOX TENGOR with its RETTAR II — although of simple design — gives as much care and precision skill lavished on the most expensive ZEISS OR CONTAX. A Menus made by ZEISS is something worth having in your camera and whatever model you buy, it will always give you a clear and satisfying picture. All prices quoted include Eveready leather case.

THE RETTAR II is a 35 mm. camera with a 50 mm. lens. It is a very good camera and is very popular. It is a very good camera and is very popular.

THAT part of the building you see in the illustration... the outer walls, the windows, the doors... is only a small physical fraction of the whole.

Within will be found the functional elements of the design, the modern mechanical aids... carefully planned and co-ordinated to ensure administrative efficiency and smoothly flowing supply operations.

But entirely out of sight and invisible lie the most important elements of all... the experience of the Company's technicians, the engineering 'know-how', the abilities of the field men who are specialists in the firm's products and who are skilled in dealing with problems involving operational analyses. And, above all, the spirit and the determination of every member of the Gilfillan organisation to render the highest standards of service to the firm's customers.

If you are not already a customer of this long established firm and are unacquainted with its methods and ideals, you may wish to weigh these "unseen" values when you are next in need of any of the products in which it specialises.

The devotion to high standards of service of the Gilfillan organisation and the high standards of its staff... are a fundamental part of its tradition. They are the UNSEEN VALUES that customers come to know and appreciate.

KENYA'S NEW 'HOUSES OF PARLIAMENT'

THIS WEEK'S picture page shows the dignity and splendour of Kenya's new "Houses of Parliament" which were opened by the Governor, Sir Evelyn Baring, on Tuesday.

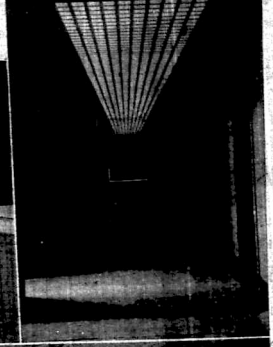

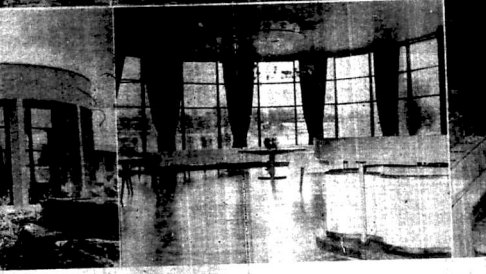

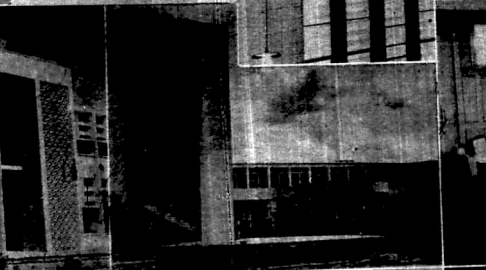

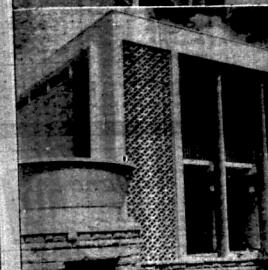

The Council Chamber, with the carved Speaker's Chair, as seen bottom right and, shows that, one of the committee rooms with its circular table.

The picture on the immediate right provides an impression of the tall windows of the Chamber and the impressive ceiling, which is decorated in royal blue, crimson and gold.

The corridor, top right, makes a remarkable study in lines and the remaining pictures show other features of the new home of the Legislative Council.

At the opening ceremony, the Chief Secretary, Mr. H. B. Foster, paid tribute to the architects, Mr. Thursley Dyer and Mr. A. D. Connell.

Indigestion?

It's probably caused by excess acid in your stomach. The acid leads to frequent attacks of headache, heartburn and other stomach disorders. What you need is a reliable remedy like BISMAC (short for "Bismarck") which is a reliable remedy. Pleasantly laxative it has a powerful effect on the normal functions of the stomach. I recommend BISMAC as an effective remedy for stomach troubles. Try it today, you'll find it brings you back to normal.

Most of the raw materials come from over the mountains in the South of France. Lily of the Valley is an excellent perfume. The genuine article does not give the characteristic odor, and it must be derived from strabellina.

So the cosmetic manufacturer keeps a sharp eye on such matters as Jasmine, Almond, Rose and St. John's Wort. The queen of flowers. And it is twice the price of the other. But even the more ordinary ones are not to be taken for granted. Rose may be 50 to 80 per cent. Rose may be 20 to 30 per cent. Jasmine is 25 to 30 per cent.

Cold Cream Is Hard Business

BY JAMES WICKENDEN
BUYING cosmetics is a pleasure. It's designed to be. The glowing bottles and suave auras are part of a groomed atmosphere of luxury. But in spite of its casualities, this is a keen business.

Just how tough is known by the hundreds of cosmetic firms going out of business yearly. In 1948 there were 1,200 of them. Now there are less than 200.

Rising costs
It isn't as simple as when Helena Rubinstein started. "She was in on the ground floor, with a home-made recipe for cold cream, among the first manufacturers of Australia's girl-cream."
One of the few who have stayed in the cosmetic business and a Canadian price for a cosmetic. And she still sells the original cream.

Another is the rising cost of raw materials. With the science, making creams and lotions is not a quiet, mixing common waxes and scents in a vat.
Only the best will do, and it has to be natural. Synthetic do not have the "zing" of the genuine material, and if they have it, they are more expensive.

Big expenses
SELLING and packing are other big expenses. They take 30 to 40 per cent of the retail price over the cost of the product. The manufacturer has to pay for the advertising. The Far East is the favorite market for the cosmetics. Singapore is renowned for its perfume and soap. The world's hardest bargaining is done between cosmetic and big business.

LIGHT as a feather, this attractive woman's jacket lined with pure silk and modulated by Miss Amy Sims, of London, is one of many clothes exhibits which will be shown at the 1954 British Industries Fair at Earl's Court in May. The maker's product bed and evening jackets and trimmed the high waist are expected to attract an all over world.

FRENCH BEAUTY TREATMENT IS SO RELAXING

By Jean Macooly
Eye cream is patted round the eyes, special cream round the chin. A rich serum mask is applied with a spatula. The French method of cleansing, purifying and conditioning the skin. With its drying French-cream, which is applied to the hands and gently massaged. When the skin is dry, the French-cream is applied with a little water and rubbed. The skin is cleaned with cleansing milk.
The treatment is completed, but make-up is to be applied. The French lady eye-shadows, which are made from powdered fish scales.
Lipstick
The chief confides that many women have great difficulty in keeping their lipstick on. Her lipstick is applied with a brush. With water the cheek area is in a fresh blue, the original character is not so difficult. If the subject to open will penetrate the creases hair.

Eye cream
The chief hears away and...
The skin is cleaned, but the chief doesn't use cream of milk. There is a French cream. The treatment is French with stunts that are new to us.

Planning Your Child's Wardrobe

By JEAN WISEMAN
PLANNING your baby's layette is one of life's most exciting moments and the care you take will be well rewarded in terms of health and happiness. A sensible mother, however, will not buy more than is necessary, for baby grows so quickly that a large layette is wasteful. Baby's clothes should be washable and essentially simple. They should not restrict his movements and they should make him uncomfortably hot. Choose a material which won't wash, launder easily, have no stiff neck, have no stiff cuffs, cuffs, don't use very hot water, and always be prepared to ensure longer life.

Three rules
THREE special rules for dressing baby are: keep layers, the warmth over all over the body, and dress him according to the weather and NOT the season. Avoid every sort of irritation. Loose cotton designs are best. Useful points to remember: ready-made clothes are—(1) See that necks are well finished and turnings ample; (2) Cut buttons down to a minimum because the growing child will want to remove them; (3) See that the knickers have wide flaps that small boys' delicate frames and necker elasticated waistbands.
Learning to walk? Little boys and girls begin to appreciate pretty clothes in their own way. It is a good idea to buy a few useful at the pre-walking stage. Useful at the pre-walking stage are—(1) See that the shoes are well finished and turnings ample; (2) Cut buttons down to a minimum because the growing child will want to remove them; (3) See that the knickers have wide flaps that small boys' delicate frames and necker elasticated waistbands.

Look their best
FROM about two years of age the child becomes more sociable and invitations to play are more frequent. Perhaps it is young for a child to wear clothes that look like grown-up clothes. When they begin to wear clothes that look like grown-up clothes, they are more likely to be invited to play. They are more likely to be invited to play. They are more likely to be invited to play.

Lipstick
The chief confides that many women have great difficulty in keeping their lipstick on. Her lipstick is applied with a brush. With water the cheek area is in a fresh blue, the original character is not so difficult. If the subject to open will penetrate the creases hair.

The Keynote Is 'Vertical Transportation'

YOU may remember some time ago, when I discovered that Nairobi was "going up" by which I meant all the new buildings which are altering the city's sky line—I mentioned that I had a "thing" about lifts. Or elevators as the Americans call them.

This week I made the biggest elevator in Kenya— and probably one as big as the biggest one I have ever seen which is used in Victoria Station, London, for carrying luggage and mail up and down.

Five-ton load

THIS Kenya elevator can take a load of five tons and it is capable of the heaviest and the greatest interest in it is erected — that of Guinness and Co. Ltd., in Dalmeida Avenue. For the keynote of this building...

Main hall

It is a building designed for efficiency and brevity. There is an unorthodox Gothic spirit reminiscent of the "superb" style in the finest aspect of the building with its minaret and tower towers terminating in spires. There is nothing blatantly modernist in the design. The woodwork throughout is of the finest quality. The main hall, which you see in the picture below, is a clock tower, as it is called in the building, is a clock tower, as it is called in the building, is a clock tower...

When the Lady Morthey Nurse Home was opened last year at a cost of £10,000, it was a great success. The Home's success has resulted in the staff being comfortably housed. It is hoped that when they hold their annual Spring Day on Saturday, February 27, it will be well attended.

NEW HOME NEEDED

Various items of equipment are required for different departments, and if the Home receives generous response they will be able to supply them, and make further progress.

ALL ABOUT WHALES

By Professor C. W. Monahan, F.R.S.

THE Antarctic whaling season, which opened at the beginning of January, will this year have an incidental scientific purpose, for it has been proposed by a whale-marking enterprise designed to extend our knowledge of the habits of the whales.

Like many sea fishes, whales migrate, and just as birds are tracked and tagged, so do whales. We mark and mark, so we have whales to be marked.

MARKING began as part of the Discovery investigations of the whales which were carried out in 1934 and 1935. During this period some 5,200 whales were marked by the U.S.S. "William S. Hooper."

Tables of stainless steel, made of stainless steel, were stamped into thin sheets and fastened to the whales. About 100 of these marks have been returned, and not many more can now be expected.

The work of the Discovery investigations—the greatest job yet undertaken in the history of the U.S.S. "William S. Hooper"—was completed in 1942 and 1943. The revenue earned from the whaling stations in North Georgia while the U.S.S. "Discovery" was in the Antarctic.

It has passed into the control of the National Institute of Oceanography, which is in charge of the whaling stations in North Georgia.

It is proposed that the whaling stations in North Georgia be transferred to the U.S.S. "William S. Hooper" and that the whaling stations in North Georgia be transferred to the U.S.S. "William S. Hooper."

QUESTION

WHAT evidence is there that the sun has already been shining for more than 5,000,000,000 years? It is estimated that it will continue to shine for another 100,000,000,000 years. If we admit the universe to be infinite, does not the sun therefore possess an infinite reserve of hydrogen?

ANSWER

UNTIL quite recently we have not been able to say anything about the radiations of the stars and what caused them. None of the classic theories provided a sufficient explanation, particularly the Bohr theory which compared the stars to vast masses of blazing fuel. If this had been the case, the computations could never have come out in favor of the stars, through study of the phenomena of hydrogen and other elements and other physical constants. According to this theory, the radiation of the stars results from the transformation of hydrogen into helium in the stars by a complicated series of nuclear reactions. By various means, we have been able to determine that the sun consists of more than 90 per cent hydrogen, about eight per cent helium and less than one per cent of heavier elements. These elements are known as "metals" in astronomical parlance. When the sun was first formed, it was composed of a still higher proportion of hydrogen than it is today.

It is possible to increase substantially the production capacity of the sun by feeding it with fuel to obtain more energy. This, however, is now known to be impossible, in the present state of our knowledge. Considerably more precise calculations indicate that the sun has existed for little more than 5,000,000,000 years. We know that the earth is not older than the sun but it is difficult to say how much older it is. It is estimated that the earth is about 4,500,000,000 years old. In several stars continue to shine as long as they contain hydrogen to transform into helium. We can therefore say that the "life expectancy" of the sun is for more than 5,000,000,000 years.

hydrogen is oxidized. Though we must realize that this oxidation cannot be extremely rapid, we know of the present composition of the sun. It is possible to increase substantially the production capacity of the sun by feeding it with fuel to obtain more energy. This, however, is now known to be impossible, in the present state of our knowledge.

ANSWER

SPECTACULAR increases of this kind have already been observed, largely through the use of the atomic bomb. The results have been very surprising and have already been reported in the press. In several stars continue to shine as long as they contain hydrogen to transform into helium. We can therefore say that the "life expectancy" of the sun is for more than 5,000,000,000 years.

TREASURE TROVE ON VIEW IN LONDON

FOR two weeks in June, a treasure trove will be on view in London's fashionable Park Lane. There, collected together, will be art gems of the centuries—delicate Ming porcelain, swarftstein, Indian silverware, 200-year-old silks from Japan, open the poison ring of Isabella Borgia.

of experts to ensure that it is not viewed in London's fashionable Park Lane. There, collected together, will be art gems of the centuries—delicate Ming porcelain, swarftstein, Indian silverware, 200-year-old silks from Japan, open the poison ring of Isabella Borgia.

For Britain's antique dealers will be exhibiting their annual haul, and the value they covetously estimate, is over £1,000,000.

The fair will be opened by the U.S. in the plush Grosvenor Hotel, and dealers all over the world are expected to view the ninety stalls.

Worth thousands

SOME of the items will be valued at thousands of pounds. Others, including old prints, snuff boxes, pieces of silver, will fall within the price-range of the average customer. Every item will be carefully scrutinized by a panel

ELECTED MEMBERS TO MEET MINISTER

Emergency before Constitution change

MORE TALKS PLANNED

EUROPEAN Elected Members will further meetings in Nairobi on Sunday on issues arising out of the Emergency. There was agreement that the visit of the Colonial Secretary, Mr. Oliver Lyttelton, later this month would afford a welcome and timely opportunity to the Organisation to advance its views on the Emergency and to suggest measures which it is considered are necessary to end the Mau Mau rebellion as soon as possible.

There is to be another meeting of Members to decide the final details of issues to be raised with Mr. Lyttelton.

In regard to the widely publicised statements on constitutional issues, Mr. M. Blundell, the European Leader, stated after the meeting that no proposals from the Colonial Secretary had been placed before the Organisation.

Mr. Blundell stated that the first priority before the members must be the effecting of proposals of the Emergency. Any changes that are made must have this objective in view.

The issue of the reorganisation of the Government to the satisfaction of all sides and to secure any final decision can be taken only when it is possible to give the constitution a form which is acceptable to all sides.

It is understood that an attempt was made at the meeting to reach a decision on the proposed amendments to the constitution.

It was decided to refer to the Government of Kenya the proposals of Mr. Lyttelton for the reorganisation of the Government.

The new members were sworn in by the Governor, Mr. J. G. Hastings.

NEW PLAN TO END EMERGENCY

City curfew for all proposed

AN eight-point plan for the Emergency, including the proclamation of martial law throughout Kenya and the appointment of an over-all commander with disciplinary powers, was proposed by Mr. S. V. Cooke, Member of Kenya Legislative Council for the Coast.

Addressing a large meeting at which Mr. Cooke presented his proposals, he urged immediate action to bring the Emergency to an end.

- (1) An over-all commander-in-chief to be appointed to take over the command of the Kenya Police and to be assisted by a Deputy Commander.
- (2) A War Cabinet to be appointed to advise the Commander-in-Chief and to include any Unofficial Members of the Legislative Council who are not members of the Government.
- (3) The proclamation of martial law throughout Kenya.
- (4) Operations in the forest to be confined to trained African members of the Kenya Police and to a limited number of British and Indian troops.
- (5) Activities of British and Indian troops to be confined to the forest areas.
- (6) A curfew for all races in Nairobi.
- (7) An immediate "freeze" on the issue of the Emergency in the higher Government.
- (8) Complete reform of the Police.

State of panic

Mr. Cooke claimed that members of the Kenya Police and other Government organisations were in a state of panic. He stated that the Government had not taken any steps to deal with the situation.

Shot in attempt to break curfew

A shot was fired in an attempt to break the curfew in Nairobi. The shot was fired from a building in the city.

ASTUTE FEDERAL PARTY CAMPAIGN WON OVER KEY MINING TOWNS

NORTH ON Rhodesia's second General Election in two months ended with a sweeping victory for the Federal Party. As the results came through it became clear that they would resemble those of the elections in the first Parliament of the new Central African Federation in December.

The election of 12 European and 12 African members of the Northern Rhodesian Legislative Council was held in the Federal Party with a small margin of victory in the central districts.

There were many reasons why the Federal Party should have won. It was the only party which had a clear-cut program of action. It was the only party which had a clear-cut program of action. It was the only party which had a clear-cut program of action.

NORTHERN RHODESIAN COMMENTARY

The Independent Labour Party, which had been the main opposition to the Federal Party, was defeated. The Federal Party's victory was a clear indication of the people's desire for a more progressive government.

Unofficial' terms for joining Government

MR. HUMPHREY SLADE URGES FORMATION OF WAR CABINET

CONDITIONS on which European Unofficials would be prepared to join the Government were set out by Mr. Humphrey Slade, Member for Aberdare, when he addressed 500 writers at the Gilgil Club on Wednesday. It was one of the largest political meetings held in up-country Districts as far apart as Thika and Eldoret were represented. Mr. Slade sketched the conditions as follows:

Members of the Government must have confidence and regard had when they could not be taken to task. Creation of a War Cabinet of European Unofficials responsible to the Government is a reasonable desire. Members of the War Cabinet must have executive powers and must be loyal non-sectarian. They should be elected by the Electors.

Acceptance to a reorganised Government is a reasonable desire. Only to be an African in the Government is a reasonable desire. Any African who joins the Government must first make public his opinion regarding his political and racial enemies here and abroad.

An assurance that we shall have a Government which will not be a Government of the few but a Government of the many is a reasonable desire. In advance of the essential formation of the Government, the following conditions should be met:

Great political exigencies

Outlining the main message of his speech, Mr. Slade said there must be a Government which is not a Government of the few but a Government of the many. He said that the Government must be a Government of the people and not a Government of the few. He said that the Government must be a Government of the people and not a Government of the few. He said that the Government must be a Government of the people and not a Government of the few.

Deprecate urgency of the Kiluyu

After stressing the urgency of the Kiluyu agitation, Mr. Slade said that the Government must be a Government of the people and not a Government of the few. He said that the Government must be a Government of the people and not a Government of the few.

Great obligation to other races

As in all crises, he pointed out, the only story which counts is the story of the people. He said that the Government must be a Government of the people and not a Government of the few.

Statement of Policy and Purpose

Six months ago we decided to change our policy of manufacture completely - to change from industrial goods to a policy of mass production, to meet, by competition, the high prices being asked for women's garments in East Africa.

Today our aim in Nairobi is displaying -

- Costly Day Dresses.....Shs.47/- to Shs.60/-
- Housecoats.....Shs.27/6
- Blouses.....Shs.35/-
- Blouses.....Shs.20/6
- Dresses for Teenage.....Shs.20/- to Shs.35/-
- Dresses for Teenage.....Shs.21/- to Shs.27/6

If the present support we are receiving is maintained - which will mean that we can considerably increase our output - we will make substantial reductions in our selling prices.

Our purpose is to enable the Buying Public to gain from the support they give to our plan to bring down the cost of goods, on our part, will maintain a high standard of design, quality and finish.

MR. HUMPHREY SLADE

European. But Europeans had a great obligation to other races, when they had not only to lead, but had to be led. He said that the Government must be a Government of the people and not a Government of the few.

Too much reliance on diplomacy

If an offer were received to lead the Government on terms which were acceptable, he said, the first step would be to get the approval of the Government. He said that the Government must be a Government of the people and not a Government of the few.

The greater war to be won

He would be the last to withhold praise from those in the field who were fighting a hard part of the war, but he said that the Government must be a Government of the people and not a Government of the few.

Back to jail after 'clerical error'

Three members of the Kenya Military Police were ordered to go back to jail after a clerical error had been discovered. He said that the Government must be a Government of the people and not a Government of the few.

Strength lost by compromise

When a member of the assembly pointed out that District Associations in the Thika area had presented a memorandum to the Secretary of State, he said that the Government must be a Government of the people and not a Government of the few.

SETTLERS IN CONFLICT ON SANCTIONS

Motion not put to vote

BECAUSE of conflicting views among the 500 Europeans calling for "humane but effective" sanctions against the Kikuyu people was not put to the vote. Although the motion itself did not stipulate the nature of the sanctions, Mr. Franklyn, stated that the most useful would be the restriction of Kikuyu.

It was suggested that measures should be taken to bring down the Kikuyu the advantages of the past and which had been enjoyed by the Kikuyu. Mr. Franklyn stated that the most useful would be the restriction of Kikuyu.

REORGANISED GOVERNMENT

Mr. R. H. Halloran said he thought it would be better to regard the possibility that the Government would be reorganised in the future. He said that the Government must be a Government of the people and not a Government of the few.

Kakaka case talks over

Uganda's Attorney General, Mr. R. E. Drummond, has refused to discuss the Kakaka case with the Government. He said that the Government must be a Government of the people and not a Government of the few.

Summary Justice Proposal

In order to deal promptly and effectively with the increasing number of summary justice cases, the Government has proposed a summary justice court. He said that the Government must be a Government of the people and not a Government of the few.

NEW ATTACK BY ARMY WORM POSSIBLE

More insecticides to aid control

MOST people in the Nairobi District noticed the recent plague of green and black caterpillars that attacked the plants in the fields and gardens and proceeded to eat their way through the best crops. He said that the Government must be a Government of the people and not a Government of the few.

Recent tests

In recent tests during the outbreak of army worms, the population of the area was estimated to be 100 per cent. He said that the Government must be a Government of the people and not a Government of the few.

Immediate concern

The immediate concern of the Government is to get the situation under control. He said that the Government must be a Government of the people and not a Government of the few.

TIGHTER CONTROL OVER KIKUYU URGED

Trans Nzoia Council wants a ruthless weeding-out

A RESOLUTION calling for vigorous, periodical screening of Kikuyu in the area, and the ruthless removal of those responsible for having Mau Mau members, was passed by the Trans Nzoia District Council at its last monthly meeting.

The Provincial Commissioner, Mr. R. E. Walwright, told the Council he was aware of the views of the members of the Council in favour of a mass removal of Kikuyu from up-country areas. There were, however, 7,500 in Kericho, about 6,000 in Trans Nzoia, and 12,000 in Uasin Gishu.

It was contended that it was impractical to return the already overcrowded Kericho, Uasin Gishu, and Trans Nzoia areas to their former status. It was suggested that the Government should consider the possibility of settling Mau Mau suspects in other areas.

Mr. Walwright stated that about 1,200 families had been removed from the Trans-Nzoia area in the past few months. He said that the Government would continue to remove Mau Mau suspects from up-country areas.

Woman to die for having ammunition under floor

WANJIGU D. Kimani was sentenced to hang for the murder of a woman in the Emergency Areas Council, after the lady had found guilty of having under her floor live rounds of ammunition.

The woman had previously found her own guilty, but she had been sentenced by the court to die for the same offence. She was a widow and a mother of three children. She was a member of the Emergency Areas Council, and she was found guilty of having under her floor live rounds of ammunition.

Found buried

The woman was found buried in her room in the Emergency Areas Council. She was found with a rifle and a box of ammunition. She was found with a rifle and a box of ammunition.

Asked if she had anything to say before the sentence was pronounced, she said: "I am a widow and a mother of three children. I am a widow and a mother of three children. I am a widow and a mother of three children."

Ammunition in box found at labour lines

A local woman had found a box of ammunition in a room at the labour lines. She was found with a rifle and a box of ammunition.

Two trials followed, one made the full possession of any rifle or ammunition an offence. The woman was found with a rifle and a box of ammunition.

A Kipsigi, whom the police described as a known terrorist from Fort Hall, was also arrested. He was found with a rifle and a box of ammunition.

Administration's task in Kericho is two-fold

DISPITE the strong Mau Mau element among the Kikuyu centring in the Kericho District, revealed by intensive scrutiny, there is no evidence to suggest that Mau Mau has set its foot on other tribes in the area. On the contrary, the 100,000 Kipsigis, whose tribal Reserve is the predominant native land unit in the 4,000-square-mile administrative district, are in "good heart".

The Kericho District Commissioner, Mr. M. Howard, however, confirmed a statement made by Mrs. A. R. Shaw of Kenya Legislative Council that an application had been made to the Government for an Emergency Order declaring Kericho a Special Area. This would place Kericho on the same footing as other places as Nairobi, where a person refusing to give information to the security forces may be fined or imprisoned.

HYDRO-ELECTRIC SCHEME ON TANA RIVER

By Alastair Matheson

A LARGELY in the middle of the Mau Mau trouble area a new £1,000,000 hydro-electric scheme is taking shape which, when complete, will supply Nairobi with one-third more electric power.

Working on the scheme are 2,000 Kikuyu labourers and a few Africans from other tribes, supervised by a number of European technicians. Although construction is going on right in the heart of the Mau Mau area, the scheme has not been interrupted by the Mau Mau activities. These Kikuyu workers will on a development project which is being undertaken by the Government to expand the existing hydro-electric scheme.

This is the second phase of an extension scheme costing altogether about £1,300,000. The first and smaller scheme has already been completed near Fort Wanjai thanks to the splendid co-operation of Chief Wanjai after whom it has been named.

In the completed scheme water from two rivers leading down from the Aberdares, the Mathira and the Margaria, have been harnessed to drive two 2,500-horse-horsepower turbines of the Wanjai power-station, a few miles to the south-east of Fort Hall.

From the Mathira River a barrage a 91-foot tunnel drives the almost four miles through the solid phonolite hills, passing right under the Catholic mission, brings the water out with a 200-foot drop to the Wanjai station. This is supplemented by a smaller canal, sending the waters of the Margaria to the same station.

Work on this Wanjai scheme was completed before the outbreak of Mau Mau terrorism brought emergency conditions to rule part of Kenya.

But the second project, the Low Tana Scheme, only began when terrorism was in full spate and in spite of the difficulties it proceeded according to schedule. Although the tunnel for this second scheme is shorter, it is a much more ambitious undertaking. A tunnel built by a British contractor of 11 feet will carry the waters of the Tana River for a distance of 9,000 yards to drive two 8,000 kW vertical turbo-alternators.

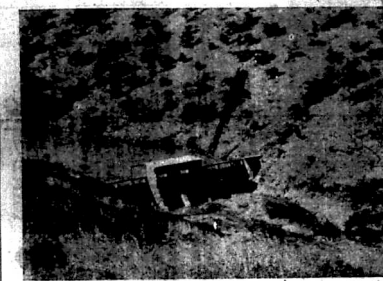

The power station to house this generating equipment is in actual fact, an extension of a much smaller plant installed in 1952.

The Low Tana Scheme should begin feeding Nairobi with its full capacity of 8,000 kilowatts about the middle of 1955. It is at present at the stage when the barrage across the Tana River—the Meris Dam—is being completed after the temporary diversion of the river. It will provide daily storage sufficient to balance the operating period of the station.

Meanwhile the 9,000-ft tunnel is being blasted through the rock and faced with concrete. The concreting method used is similar to that developed in the much larger Woodhouse Tunnel for British Railways scheme near the Pennines. Engineers who supervised the scheme are now supervising the work in Kenya.

Concrete is pumped on to the tunnel face through specially constructed mobile gantries. Steel piping with a diameter of 18 inches is used to carry the concrete. The total length of the tunnel is 9,000 feet to the power house at the edge of the Tana River.

Spaghetti with Meat Sauce

FOR a wholesome meal easy and reasonably quick to prepare, there is nothing to beat spaghetti. This is the way the Greeks cook spaghetti. The portion of meat to the sauce, does not give a mere bolus of meat, but also makes it a lot more interesting to eat and to the palate.

Allow two cups spaghetti and three to four oz. of mince meat per person. Ingredients for four to five persons: spaghetti, eight oz. spaghetti—three-quarters to one pound; mince meat one lb.; a half teaspoon salt; pepper, three to four oz. of butter or olive oil; three-quarters of an oz. of basil or a little crushed dried sage; pepper and clove.

First prepare the sauce. The mince meat should be well cooked, then fry in a little oil. Add the onion and small onions. In the frying pan, bring the butter, pour in the butter under two cups of water, and bring to a boil. Season with salt, pepper, half a teaspoon sugar and a good pinch of cinnamon. Pour or strain the sauce, and allow to simmer gently for an hour or until the sauce has thickened nicely.

Grated Cheese

TO BE used to prepare the spaghetti, it is necessary to have a special recipe for a hot sauce. This is a simple recipe for a hot sauce. It is a simple recipe for a hot sauce. It is a simple recipe for a hot sauce.

When done, drain well through a sieve. In the saucepan, melt three-quarters of an oz. of butter. Pour the hot sauce on it, then return the spaghetti to the saucepan and allow it to warm up in the remaining heat, tossing it once or twice.

Serve on a hot dish as follows: sprinkle the dish with some hot cheese. Serve the spaghetti and sauce together. Then pour the hot sauce over the spaghetti. Sprinkle with a little hot sauce. Then pour the hot sauce over the spaghetti.

Onion flavour

IT'S FURBELOWS AND FRILLS AGAIN

By Dorothy Barkley

If you've always thought Victorian underwear was a form of fancy dress, now's the time to change your ideas. Frills and furbebows are right back in fashion.

This is just one more step in the revival of Victorian fashion. In the last few years, there have been a number of retrofitted evenings, where the conventional dinner-dresses have been replaced by the more elaborate and decorative styles of the Victorian era.

London models who flew to Paris for the dress show the other day, a sweater who has taken up the new fashion and of good reason. The show is a Victorian had something when it came to dressing for cold weather. For the journey she wore a pair of real flannel "comforters"—her own version of the Victorian petticoat. Of course these skirts are not reproduced from the wardrobe just like that, with the same materials. The modern version are adapted to suit the climate.

Camisole tops and petticoat skirts are a white cotton or soft flannel—a wool and rayon mixture—and the frills are suitably edged with white lace. The old-fashioned petticoat, in white cotton or cambric, is trimmed with brocade and ribbon. Nightdresses and dressing gowns have likewise caught the Victorian fever. Frills, brocade and ribbon trimmings flourish everywhere. Frills have been printed onto fabric and a matching jacket, blouse, and a simple top in black, white, and blue, printed with the frills of the petticoat.

The sun dress shown by Davilla, is a full, printed cotton with a matching jacket, blouse, and a simple top in black, white, and blue, printed with the frills of the petticoat.

Decorative frills at the wrist and ankles; nightdresses with special necklines, are in their cotton and threaded with blue ribbon. Dressing gowns are in pink "dainty" and blue. Cotton is not so easy to launder as nylon, but women are prepared to put up with the extra work involved since they always feel from it and find it more practical in hot climates. If they buy cotton sweater-knit, they're not always too sure of an sweater-knit as easily as nylon, needs to be washed.

What makes these dresses so popular? A woman looking for the past. A modern look of fancy designs looking for the past. A modern look of fancy designs looking for the past. A modern look of fancy designs looking for the past.

HOW TO KNOW IF HE IS MARRIED
What don't all married men wear wedding rings? Is the plea we are reading constantly in one place or another. I don't say there are some very good reasons why both married men and women should wear rings—but it is really very simple. You can tell if men are married in less than 15 minutes if you're observant, and can tell two and two together. In short, a little amateur detective work will do wonders.

If you're married yourself, you've one up on your single friends, because you've got the inside information about the habits of married men and wife. You know how a man's habits, such as tastes in food, and his appearance, are different. Let us track down some of the clues. If his shirt collar is clean and stiff, and his tie modest and discreet in colour, if his socks are neatly darned at the same colour and his hair, all the probability signs indicate he is probably some society gentleman he has impressed.

Perhaps you have met him once at a party. Does he pass the time by looking at his watch? Is he a little slow at his own table? It may be that he's someone else's man.

Give me one of these
This is turning the other cheek, to speak of her up to face it. If a woman is happy and ready to love with her husband, then she is more friendly with men, and in the same time, quiet and unobtrusive. She relaxes and treats them as one of the single women.

BUILT with an unimpeded view looking over to Brackenhurst, the handsome Cape Dutch style house of Colonel and Mrs. R. D. Croft Wilcock at Lower Echube stands in its native ground.

Expanding from the drive and outside the green lattice glass of the windows over the entrance, you step through Rhokasia mahogany stable doors into the hall which has in room, floor of polished bricks, built-in wardrobe, doors and heavy mahogany doors into the drawing room.

The walls are sea-green green and contains Rogers-Wright's and a rug and deep blue.

A creaming room this, it has resizable sofa table and a notable mahogany bureau, also of the Regency period.

A much-valued statue of Mission, one of a pair of very early unglazed ornaments, stands in the mantelpiece. In one corner is a Sheraton comfortable and in another a very nice mahogany gate-legged table. A feature of the room are the pictures, among them two Currier's, a Francis Walker and a Thomas Lawrence.

Built-in

Viewed through the open doors of the drawing room, a unusual feature of the dining room in the mahogany built-in cupboard with glass shelves on which stand tall Chinese vases.

glass cover. The curtains are of pink green and gold. Striped bedspread and a white cloth.

The dining room leads into a small study with two recessed bookshelves and a white glove. Here, the curtains are of Egyptian flower design.

French windows lead on to a flagged breakfast terrace, complete with massive copper and deep blue awning.

The kitchen, built in their terrace porch and white tiled, has of family-sized oven and there is an adjacent broiling veranda.

Starting from the hall again, the left-hand side of the passage is divided by low, built-in bedroom, four double, one single and a delightful big number decorated in pink with overall chart covers.

A tall, cream-painted wardrobe stands in the hall, through the gate at the head of the stairs provides a useful closet for a number of small things.

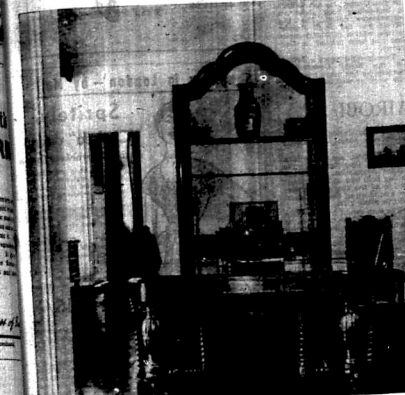

Sash windows

In the garden, which is enclosed and slopes down to a wood of gums and an unusually large vegetable garden, is the children's play lot. The quarters are in keeping with the Cape Dutch style of the house.

The oak windows throughout the returned house are of a feature, and are found in Kenya homes.

THE 'ARTIST' WITH A SPINSTER MISSION

SABRE - SCARRED. Thick-set, cultured Dr. Hermann Goertz caused no undue sensation when he disembarked at Harwich on August 29, 1952. He described himself as a lawyer-novelist. In Britain to study export law cases at Cambridge and London in the interests of German science.

Anything but innocent landscape

But within a few days this art was leaving the country and ending out defence secrets.

Specialised
Goertz loved spying for the Germans. He was transferred from the Prussian General Staff to the German Air Force in 1917. Then, as an intelligence officer, he specialised in extracting information from captured British and American airmen.

M.I.5 and the SPIES THIRD ARTICLE By SAM JACKETT return to this country. He did not arrive in Harwich on November 8, as he was immediately arrested. By this time M.I.5 were also specially interested in the 19-year-old girl companion. They had discovered that she was, and he decided to keep her arrested. The doctor had secreted his hope that she would follow him. He did not, and on November 18, the War Office issued an official announcement of the arrest.

Dare not answer

JUST why Dr. Goertz refused to tell his story is not known, but it is presumed he had some orders from his masters. It is known, however, that he was not to be taken to Harwich but sent to Berlin. At his trial at the Old Bailey he was asked how he saw in Berlin, and Berlin, supplying information on Allied troop movements. Secret Service agents learned of this within a few days when a hauler near Dublin was raided and found to contain an open parachute (used), a radio receiving and transmitting set, a German map, and a telegram of English and American encodes.

Captured

YET Goertz managed to remain at large for 12 months after his capture. He was arrested in Dublin, in September, 1951.

At the end of the war he was released from internment, camp, on a deportation order, was made available to him, but later withdrew his offer.

By parachute

ON March 26, 1949, with a parachute, he was sent to the North Sea, and with a cry of "Hell, Hitler!" to the Soviet Embassy men who were seeing him. His deportation order against him was carried out, he landed from Germany in a passenger steamer for Hamburg.

TOO MUCH FOOD SETS THIS MAN A PROBLEM

THE man with the least enviable job in Washington today is Mr. Ezra Taft Benson, President Eisenhower's Secretary of Agriculture. He is faced with the problem of storing a further surplus of grain and livestock, the present stocks of which have already come up almost all the available storage space in this huge country. And it looks as if he is going to receive little help from Congress in solving his problems.

When the United States was the main Allied granary during the war and the immediate post-war years, a system of direct incentives to agricultural producers was used to produce crops far in excess of what the Americans could consume.

How it happened

THE prices of the main crops were kept high, and wheat, tobacco, rice and peanuts were supported at 50 per cent and then at 50 per cent of parity, nearly having a 100 per cent increase for a farmer receiving for his crop in addition to the price he gets for seed, fertilizer and machinery. This kept American production, but also American prices high, with the result that other countries recovered and turned to cheap sources of supply from the British Commonwealth, the South American States, the Far East and elsewhere.

The principal surpluses are of wheat and grain. Over 700 million bushels of surplus are usually held in government storage. The last American production, a bumper crop, was 2,000 million bushels. The Government was obliged to purchase and store it. The principal surpluses are of wheat and grain. Over 700 million bushels of surplus are usually held in government storage. 'MOGAMBO' COMES TO THE PLAYHOUSE

EAST AFRICA has become so much the Hollywood of this Continent in post-war years that it would no longer be original to say of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's Mogambo, which begins a three-week run at the Playhouse on Sunday, that it is 'East Africa's own film'.

Nevertheless, Nairobi, in particular, had such close contact with the stars—Ava Gardner, Clark Gable and Grace Kelly—who they were here, and with other members of the unit, living in our own New Stanley Hotel, that there will be few who will not be well up to the result of their outings. And, of course, as we always get, curious to see what Hollywood has made of 'the land in which we live'.

The Story In A Nutshell

VIC MARSWELL'S life in Africa is heading wild animals. The safari he leads to gorilla country for anthropologist Doc Hendry has a full roster of Marswell's dangers, including lion tamer—Jack Gallop, exciting 'stronger' Gato from the night club side of New York and Linda, Nordy's beautiful wife. It isn't long before romance in the camp, anthropologist Hendry which got Marswell's prefer. The romantic conflict is brought down days and nights of port and battle against animals and tigers.

questions to which we will now have the answer.

At any rate, it looks very much as though we shall be able to recognize some of our country as can be seen from the "hair" from the Rim of Fourteen Falls at Thika re-appeared on the opposite side. Locations for Mogambo were at Thika, Humaiki, Lake Naivasha, Kagera River, Isalo and even as close to Nairobi as Langata Forest.

And it is interesting to recall that the arrival of the film unit, more or less coincided with the start of the rainy season and that the strain on the stars and the technicians was

On The Expense Account

"It's strange customs and habits of this African continent made the previous subjects more of a challenge. Here the 'Mogambo' unit had many unique production problems. Shooting frequently was delayed while native shrubs and wish-doctors consulted the spirits of tribal hero-father, seeking approval for the performance of the cameras. Which accounts for the interesting items in our expense account. "KARO" Frames (about $425) for exhibition to white-dealers for 'favorable comment'.

EARLIER class of aircraft charter was an extravagant and expensive method previously have for long given way before a careful examination of economic—of the time-value saving by routing highly paid technicians and skilled labour faster by air at concluding operations in the minimum time by suffering no transport delays of men, machines and materials. The successful production of Mogambo within economic time limits was made possible by the fastest use of aircraft charters. A special landing strip was constructed in 6 days by East African Airways at Kagera and some 50 flights were operated, principally, by B.O.A. carrying personnel, supplies and equipment.

'AIRWAYS' AS STORE-MAKERS

The resilience of East African Airways to emergencies with willing service is demonstrated by a stormy sea. "Mogambo" "Airways" engineers implemented a storm effect of a volcano spout created by nature itself? This was achieved with four more engines flown out to the location and used in a specially designed hoisting.

more than that of the only-expected heat and gloom.

Do you remember that one day in the summer of 1955, when the Airport was transformed into a fully equipped film set, the making of this picture? Every conceivable piece for the film was made on the spot.

There was camera equipment ranging from a selection of all heights, coloured beads and cables for playing cards, whistles, batteries, needles and needles, and so on.

"Anything that anyone could possibly think of has been taken along," explained Mr. Don Ward, film property manager, at the time.

Stanley Goldsmith, the production manager, who succeeded the rest of the company overseas by air, explained that the film's director, John Ford, the film's director, spent weeks studying and the spot viewing material. The equipment which turned out to be the largest film Africa had ever seen and during the four-month stay a group of 175 white people and 250 Africans carried enough equipment and paraphernalia to make them a self-contained little city.

Canvas town

A TOTAL of 80 vehicles, including trailers, loading wagons, jeeps and even a refrigerated truck, the latter the "highly sensitive Technicolor film, were used to transport this army.

An estimated 500,000 yards of canvas went into the more than 300 tents that had to be set up at the safari camps and most of these had to be fitted with small iron coils as well as table stands and canvas bath tubs.

Luxury amenities at the camp at Kagera River Tanganyika, some 40 miles west of Lake Victoria, included a beauty parlor, an open-air dance floor, a miniature radio station, which was in constant communication with headquarters in Nairobi. The camp had its own electric system.

White Hunters

EIGHT White Hunters, led by one of Kenya's veterans, served as guides and protectors for the film-makers and many who can be proud of the part they played in making the production of this picture possible.

Aviation Played A Big Part

EAST AFRICAN airlines can certainly take a bow for their part in the production of Mogambo for they undertook some really formidable tasks. For instance, Lodestar City LESLEY CLAY describes

The Stars As I Found Them

It probably truly to say that Clark Gable, Ava Gardner and Grace Kelly made themselves more accessible to their numerous fans than any other visiting film stars have so far done.

We were invited out entirely on "Star" Hephner, for the and Humphrey Bogart bypassed Nairobi for a moment. The African Queen. There were very few people who they were completely disinterested, who did not manage to catch a glimpse of Clark Gable, he flashed the famous dimpled smile at them from the driver of the New Standard. I often enough, and those who were enough to be in the swim found him smiling and friendly at every turn.

I MET him first at a big cocktail party in Mombasa. I'd been told he was most approachable, and friendly but perhaps this was one of his off-days, as it so happened to have something on his mind, after a few conventional questions, I drifted away in search of Frankie Sinatra, who'd come along to keep an eye on his glamorous wife, Ava Gardner. He was in between shows at that time, but flitted away from Kenya to attend to various commitments. Ava was getting on, I should have said, as I had seen her in a film so I don't know if she's noticeably deteriorated as a crooner to be of rather low intelligence. The close engines of 1,200 h.p., each developing 2,000 revolutions per minute, were to be used to produce a slide of 80 miles an hour. These engines were to be transported to the main camp lift had already been organized.

I saw my chance and moved having the room to his wife, the wife moved around her having missed for a moment. The African Queen women who the film is set in, is more of a reality on the screen than off. "Photograph" is the word for most features of course, but mobility of feature does not get across so well in this case as they do on the screen. I think that very tired that night I met some of the most dapper and most exhausted. She was still very however, and would be clothed with skill and hair.

Great Kelly was my heart from the start. Perhaps being a Trinidadian helped, but she is much able to the British. If I may be so frank, I've described her before as a "vibrant blonde" and she is, I think, a honey in both senses. I met her one evening, one of a big family at home in America, to whom she is accused for her flitting and flitting experiences, coming to Africa was a big adventure for Grace and one she was determined to exploit to the full. I have, unfortunately, never met her in a film so I don't know if she's noticeably deteriorated as a crooner to be of rather low intelligence. The to Bukoba but from there the stars and all the equipment would have had to be transported to the location on the Kenya River over an extremely muddy road. The only answer was to build a landing strip and prompt action was taken to go ahead with this project. Many trees rooted out and great soil hills raised to the ground.

While the unit was on location there the Rogers landing strip was kept busy with aircraft landing at all times of the day. From Nairobi, Elizabeth, Mombasa, Kisumu and other places. Another strip, which did away with a terrible mail journey from Mombasa to Nairobi, was built at Rumuruti.

There was the time before filming actually started when one of Kenya's best-known pilots flew down to Mombasa with some technicians to make a reconnaissance of the location in that area. They found the area overrun with big game and the pilot will remember his drive over the large number of elephants which were however, close by while he was anxiously looking for the canyons and gullies. Fine of the location had to be made for future reference although in the end the Mombasa was not used.

Elephants also overran the airstrip on the Eastern Channel, which connects Lake Edward and George in Uganda, and more often than not pilots found it necessary, before landing, to go up and down the strip several times to try to scare away the great beasts.

The pilot who pioneered the site near Arusha, East found a complete safari outfit. And, those by Buffalo Springs where stars and technicians were glad to have a swim when opportunity offered.

M.P.s REJECT DEMANDS FOR MARTIAL LAW

'Two wings' urged for Kenya Police: Aid to Kikuyu Guard AIMS ARE MULTI-RACIAL SOCIETY AND BOLD AGRARIAN POLICY

THE REPORT of the Parliamentary delegation to Kenya was issued as a White Paper, and laid before the House of Commons this week. Among the principal recommendations are—

The law of selective rigour should be taken to improve conditions in Nairobi. The police should be divided into two sections under central control—mobile gendarmerie and constabulary. A demand for martial law or summary justice should be rejected.

Provision should be made for the election of African Members of Legislative Council at the next General Election in place of nomination, as at present.

The conditions of employment of squatters on farms, and the possibility of agricultural trade unions should be considered. The recent grant of £20,000,000 for agricultural development in the native reserves may not be sufficient to carry out the work as quickly as is necessary.

Agricultural plans in the Colony should include those of the Government for the next stage of European farming development. The delegation consisted of Colonel Walter Elliot, Mr. Cuthbert Alcock, Mr. Edward Wakefield, Mr. Conservators and Mr. A. G. Bottomley, Mr. James Johnson and Mr. Ronald Williams (Socialist). They arrived in the Colony on January 8 and spent 16 days on their investigations.

'FIRM BUT SELECTIVE' STEPS IN NAIROBI

The report begins with a brief description of the Mau Mau movement, the rapid expansion of the police security forces and the heavy burden which the Emergency has placed on the Administration and on the legal machinery of Kenya. In the light of the delegation's findings, the Mau has not declined, and the danger of infection outside the Kikuyu area is now greater than before. The report concludes that more drastic measures are needed to psychological aspects of Mau. The execution and efficiency of the Mau Mau should be decided, he has high praise for the Mau Mau.

COLOUR LAW DUE FOR REVISION

The view of the members on the colour law is that it requires the deliberate abolition of all racial restrictions, in the opinion of the delegation, the time has come for the re-examination of the law, with a view to its abolition. There is a serious danger that the colour law will be used to restrict the political sphere and restrict the rights of all men. There is need for a drastic revision of the colour law. The colour law should be replaced by a law which would give equal rights to all men.

The report also recommends a Commission that should be set up to investigate the conditions of employment of squatters on farms, and the possibility of agricultural trade unions. The Commission should be empowered to recommend the Government to take such steps as may be necessary to improve the conditions of employment of squatters on farms.

LOYAL KIKUYU SHOULD LEAD

It is recognized that there is a serious danger that the Mau Mau movement will spread to other parts of the Colony. The report recommends that the Mau Mau should be divided into two sections under central control—mobile gendarmerie and constabulary. A demand for martial law or summary justice should be rejected.

The report concludes that more drastic measures are needed to suppress the Mau Mau movement. The Government should take such steps as may be necessary to improve the conditions of employment of squatters on farms, and the possibility of agricultural trade unions.

Emergency cost up to £643,000 a month

KENYA STATE of Emergency is now costing an overall figure of £643,000 a month, or £7,700,000 a year, according to an estimate by the Kenya's Member of Parliament, Mr. E. A. Vasey. Vasey, explaining the rise in the rate, says that the attack has now stopped up. A large proportion of the cost is due to the fact that the Government has had to pay for the maintenance of the Mau Mau camps. The cost of the Mau Mau camps is estimated at £1,000,000 a year.

The Governor's health

The Governor's health is reported to be improving. The Governor is expected to return to Kenya in the near future. The Governor is expected to return to Kenya in the near future.

Nanyuki meeting of European pioneers

A meeting of European pioneers in Nanyuki was held last week. The meeting was held to discuss the conditions of employment of squatters on farms, and the possibility of agricultural trade unions. The meeting was held to discuss the conditions of employment of squatters on farms, and the possibility of agricultural trade unions.

Lorry recovered

A lorry which was reported to have been stolen from Nairobi was recovered last week. The lorry was recovered in the Mau Mau area. The lorry was recovered in the Mau Mau area.

Uganda appointment

A new appointment has been made in Uganda. The new appointment has been made in Uganda. The new appointment has been made in Uganda.

Kikuyu villages

Views on the villages of Kikuyu, attributed to Mr. Vasey, are reported to be improving. The views on the villages of Kikuyu, attributed to Mr. Vasey, are reported to be improving.

FARMING PLAN

Details with agriculture, the report recommends that the Mau Mau should be divided into two sections under central control—mobile gendarmerie and constabulary. A demand for martial law or summary justice should be rejected.

HIGHER PAY FOR AFRICANS

Legislature hears of two-scale plan FOR URBAN AREAS ONLY

Two statutory minimum wage scales for Africans in urban areas are envisaged in the proposed first three parts of the report of the Carpenter Committee on African Wages, tabled this week in Kenya Legislative Council by the Deputy Chief Secretary, Mr. C. H. Harwell, who is also Member for Labour.

They are the "family" minimum, for all male workers over 21, employed for at least three years outside native districts, and the "bachelor" minimum for all other workers. It is suggested that the "bachelor" minimum should start from January 1, 1955, and the "family" minimum from July 1, 1955.

Mr. E. W. Carpenter, Commissioner for Labour, with eight members, Mr. C. Harwell, Mr. C. H. Harwell, Mr. H. Symons, Mr. C. V. Merritt, Mr. Harry Thuku, Mr. Solomon Adalgala, Mr. S. Duckett and Mr. F. T. Njiru.

With Mr. Carpenter, the first seven members have been named. Mr. H. Holden, the eighth member, is recommended to increase the present minimum wage.

Mr. Carpenter's report, which is the first part of the report, contains recommendations to increase the present minimum wage. It also contains recommendations to increase the present minimum wage and to introduce a two-scale plan.

The committee set up last April had as chairman Mr. E. W. Carpenter, Commissioner for Labour, with eight members, Mr. C. Harwell, Mr. C. H. Harwell, Mr. H. Symons, Mr. C. V. Merritt, Mr. Harry Thuku, Mr. Solomon Adalgala, Mr. S. Duckett and Mr. F. T. Njiru.

It emphasizes that the fundamental condition for the introduction of the two-scale plan is the stabilization of the agricultural industry. The committee points out that the present minimum wage is based on the assumption that the agricultural industry is stable.

and return when that has been achieved.

The general instability of labour is reflected in the high turnover common in practically all the Colony's industries, a situation which is considered to have seriously adverse effects on the economy, and on the welfare of the labourer.

UNEMPLOYED SUPPLY

The development of the urban labour market is attributed to the fact that employers have not been able to employ the full number of workers at all times. This is due to the fact that the supply of labour is not stable, and that the demand for labour is not constant.

SECURITY FOR OLD AGE

The immediate basic condition for the introduction of the two-scale plan is the stabilization of the agricultural industry. The committee points out that the present minimum wage is based on the assumption that the agricultural industry is stable.

INADEQUATE WAGES

Dealing with the adequacy of wages, the committee states that the present minimum wage is based on the assumption that the agricultural industry is stable. It also states that the present minimum wage is based on the assumption that the agricultural industry is stable.

BETTER OFF IN AGRICULTURE

It is estimated that the total number of agricultural workers in Kenya is about 1,000,000. The committee points out that the present minimum wage is based on the assumption that the agricultural industry is stable.

TWO TO GO

The fact that a large proportion of agricultural labour is not full-time labour has made difficult any assessment of the adequacy of wages in relation to the return from agriculture.

NOT FOR RURAL AREAS

Considerations of practicability prevent the committee suggesting any general application of the two-scale plan to rural areas. It notes that the present minimum wage is based on the assumption that the agricultural industry is stable.

These Animals Are 'Film Stars'

WILD FILM PRODUCERS COME TO AFRICA IN SEARCH OF WILD LIFE THEY INVARIABLY MAKE STRAIGHT FOR THE Big Game farms of White Hunter Carr Hartley at Homocut, 140 miles north of Nairobi. There they can find practically every specimen of African big game.

Carr Hartley and his wife Daphne have added to the production of 19 films shot in Kenya and have built up a reputation for themselves for their expert handling of different animals in scenes with their game in such films as King Solomon's Mines, Mopona, Savage Spine and Source of Kilimanjaro.

The pictures on this page—taken by Naipoi cameraman Eric White, who is currently engaged as Director of Photography for the Capetown Film Production Co. of the Cape Province—show scenes of the Carr Hartley animals which have been filmed in the bush or in the zoo. The 10-year-old baby elephant met with 15-year-old Michael Hartley. It really only a starting, but he slipped out of the lion's mouth with Clark Gable. Avo Goring and Owen Kelly in Mopona.

King Solomon's Mines (right) was filmed in the bush with Mrs. Hartley and the lion.

Right: "Carr" (Hartley) and white lion (left) and the royal lion (right) from the Carr Hartley animals. There are only two other lions being at Carr Hartley—two of which were caught by Carr Hartley.
