Krushevych excludes America from summit-eve talks

EISENHOWER THE ODD MAN OUT

Soviet leader may be trying to split West

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER was the odd man out in important bilateral, eve-of-summit talks held in Paris yesterday.

Spaceman dummy goes into orbit

RUSSIA has successfully launched into orbit around the Earth a four-ton satellite, carrying a dummy spaceman in a cabin.

The "space-ship-satellite" is orbiting the earth every 91 minutes and is about 200 miles up.

The announcement was made in a statement issued by the news agency.

The announcement was made in a statement issued by the news agency.

The Soviet Premier, Mr. Krushchev, arrived in Paris on Saturday—24 hours before his original schedule—and has used the extra time to seek separate meetings with President de Gaulle and Mr. Macmillan, whose countries are unaffiliated by the spy plane incident.

Mr. Krushchev called on President de Gaulle at the Elysee Palace yesterday morning about two hours after President Eisenhower flew in from Washington. He also had a private meeting with Mr. Macmillan last night.

Meanwhile, Western conference officials were speculating whether Mr. Krushchev, by his early arrival and preliminary visits, hoped to steal a march on President Eisenhower or thought he could divide the Western Allies—or whether he had some proposal to make.

Soviet stand expected

The first Western Heads of Government meeting was held in the afternoon, between Mr. Macmillan, President Eisenhower, President de Gaulle and the West German Chancellor, Dr. Adenauer. The three Western summit partners were due to meet later, without Dr. Adenauer, to put the finishing touches to their position on other summit topics—disarmament and relations.

Western officials forecast that the Soviet leader will take a hard line at the summit talks, particularly over the German question.

On arrival at Orly Airport yesterday afternoon, Mr. Krushchev had a 10-minute session with the three Western summit partners. He added: "Far too much is being said in the name of the moment or to engage in empty disarmament talk. I am fully convinced that the summit will be a success."

Mr. Macmillan, last of the three Western leaders to arrive in Paris for today's summit meeting, said at Orly that the problems facing the summit were "inherently insoluble" and could not be solved at one meeting.

Anger fatal

"What we have to do is to set in motion an orderly process of discussion and negotiation," Mr. Krushchev said. "The only reason why we should not fail is if our own anger and prejudice get in the way of us."

At the same time, science offered opportunities for a fairer and richer life and it would be mad to throw away a future so rich with promise, Mr. Macmillan said.

RUSSIA WARNS PERSIA

Russia has followed up her "two will negotiate" warning to Norway's Minister for Foreign Affairs by promising to accept a Russian offer for an allied air exercise.

LEGACY

COMMONWEALTH

Prime Ministers began to leave London for their own countries on Saturday.

They left behind a wave of controversy in the wake of their private talks on the South African policy of apartheid.

The end on Friday of their lengthy conference on world issues was the final for a fresh series of references to individual statements in South Africa's racial policy.

The subject had been kept off the agenda of plenary meetings at a Prime Ministers conference which they arrived at.

If produced the first draft of Commonwealth resolutions at a Prime Ministers conference of this kind.

ECONOMY AS KEY TO STATUS

A country should be allowed to be represented at the Commonwealth Prime Ministers conference if it should have reached economic viability.

Mr. Harris, who was returning to Salisbury from the Premier's conference in London said the Commonwealth had several hurdles to face.

"The first is the fact that it is quite clear now that when countries like Sierra Leone get into the Commonwealth they will be expected to bring their own contribution to the fund."

Mr. Harris was referring to the action of the African leaders conference in Kibumbu on Saturday in electing Zano Kenzo as president of the proposed Kenya African National Union.

Choice of president may mean union ban

VERY serious consideration would have to be given by the Registrar General to any application for registration by an organization whose president was under restriction, the Minister for Information, Mr. Harris, said yesterday.

Car parking facilities close to surgeries

I SHOULD like to see the Government's plan for car parking facilities close to surgeries.

Practitioners in the past have been unable to do so because of the lack of parking spaces. The Government should consider this as a matter of priority.

I HAVE been pleased to receive letters in your issue regarding South Africa's conduct in her recent election.

Summit 'torpedoed' by Russians says U.S. KRUSHCHEV'S PRESSURE MEETS 'OUT-OF-TOUCH' MR. NGALA IS TO CONSULT COLLEAGUES

President orders: No more 'spy' flights

MR. KRUSHCHEV yesterday demanded that unless America halted "spy flights" over Russia, the Summit conference which opened in Paris should be adjourned for six or eight months.

But in a statement issued last night President Eisenhower disclosed that he had told Mr. Krushchev that the intelligence flights over Russia had been suspended after the recent incident and are not to be resumed. He added that the Soviet Premier "was left in no doubt by me that his ultimatum would never be acceptable to the United States."

'OUT-OF-TOUCH' MR. NGALA IS TO CONSULT COLLEAGUES

AFTER nearly seven weeks touring the United States, Mr. R. O. Ngala, who is to be sworn in today as Minister for Labour, Social Security and Adult Education, arrived back in Nairobi yesterday by air from London.

Asked about the possibility of his resignation as Minister and as a Member of Legislative Council in the representative Council Rural - over the Kenya issue, Mr. Ngala said he could make no comment before consulting with the other African Elected Members and with the officers and staff members of the Government of Kenya.

Mr. Ngala did not seem to be in any mood of concern. He said he was glad to be home in Kenya and hoped to be able to visit his family in Kenya some of the time next year.

CANALS OF BRITAIN COMING BACK INTO THEIR OWN

There is a growing revival of interest in Britain's 2,000 miles of inland waterways. A £2,000,000 scheme to improve them began in 1954 and is now well under way. The work involves bank protection and other navigation improvements, including deepening. Apart from giving pleasure, the waterways have a valuable commercial use and play an important part in the country's transport service.

Every year, about 2,500,000 tons of goods, mainly iron and steel, are carried on the inland waterways. In coal, other bulk goods and a variety of general merchandise.

Along the routes are well-equipped wharves, warehouses and wharves to serve the barges.

Recent commercial developments for export traffic, the introduction of a "river" service, which is proving extremely popular with shippers both in Britain and across the Continent.

The coalminers, restricted in quantity of fuel tonnage, are taking their goods to the wharves and then by road to the nearest deep, for transport to ships.

The World's first astronaut may fly into space later this year

THE WORLD'S first astronaut may fly into space before the end of this year, a Soviet expert has stated while commenting on the Russian space-shuttle satellite now circling the Earth.

Mr. Charles Williams, head of the Eastern branch of the National Aeronautics and Geospatial Society, said that in light of progress in Soviet science and technology preparations for Man's first space flight will be in all probability late November or early December.

Moscow Radio said yesterday that the first space flight, which passed over France and Britain early in the morning, was taking 12 minutes to circle the globe at a height varying from 184 to 280 miles. It was very close to normal flying conditions.

All the instruments on board were reported to be working normally and the apparatus was maintaining "normal living conditions" inside the cabin.

DEPENDING ON FINDINGS

A leading Russian scientist, Prof. Vladimir Dobrovravov, said yesterday the cabin contained all the necessary equipment to give information on human physical progress during the flight.

The information was being sent back to Earth by a special radio transmitting device.

If the space flight will stay on as continued, it will depend on the time it takes to transmit all its findings.

There is signal will be radiated from Earth and the cabin will be separated from the rest of the spaceship, burning up, as it re-enters the atmosphere.

American officials have insisted that the "space-ship" Mercury would continue all the records measured over the course of the flight.

A spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Geospatial Society in Washington said that the mission was being planned to be launched by Soviet advances.

Leaders on way home after collapse of summit KRUSHCHEV PLIES BLAME ON U.S.

Resumed talks depend on end to 'aggression'

CRITICISMS by the United States Government had torpedoed the summit conference in advance. Mr. Krushchev said in Paris last night. He regretted that the summit conference could not be held—but that the Soviet Union could only be talked to "in conditions of equality, without threats."

The Soviet Premier looked grave as he addressed more than 4,000 journalists in a dramatic Press conference after the collapse of the summit talks. Some of his statements were greeted with bursts of clapping from officials at the front—and booming from many Western journalists.

MINISTER ATTACKS 'POACHING' OF STUDENTS FOR U.S.

presented the education staff of 1949, totaling $2,100,000 for 1950 to the Council.

He appealed to those involved in the process to be fair and to do nothing which would drive the students who would be the best material for the U.S. to the U.S.

Courses overseas were most popular, and it was urged to put more emphasis in America to students who were academically ill-equipped.

Students' adviser
With the growth in numbers of students in the U.S., the Government has had to agree to a new program of exchange with the U.S. and to do nothing which would drive the students who would be the best material for the U.S. to the U.S.

THE British Government will be asked to consider the possibility of a "Commonwealth Court" to be set up to deal with disputes between member states.

The proposal was made by the Prime Minister, Mr. Clement Attlee, in a speech to the House of Commons yesterday.

'WHININGS' MAY KEEP TEACHERS AWAY

PERVERTED whinings and whines going on for the release of Kenya from the grip of British teachers' clinging to the House of Commons.

Mr. Philip Goodhart (Conservative) cited objections from some teachers to go to some parts of the Commonwealth.

He said that he had asked why he should go to Nyasaland where the most he could do would be to teach the children and to be injured in some way.

WITHDRAW TROOPS DEMAND Ex-clerk hailed as Congo 'king'

IMMEDIATE withdrawal of Belgian troops from the Congo was demanded in a telegram sent to the Congo by powerful Communist National Movement.

The Congo did not declare its independence on June 30, 1960, but the Belgians on the night of the 29th of the month immediately "prevented sabotage of the election" the Congress are unable to prevent.

Lumumba being his first job as Prime Minister of the Congo, he was hailed as "king" by the Belgians.

Along the route, which was a narrow strip of land, were a number of small, colorful camps, villages spread out along the route.

Roaming Minister plan to attract capital

A PROPOSAL to appoint a Minister at large to travel overseas in search of investors was made in Kenya Legislative Council yesterday by Mr. F. J. Rogers (Nominated Member).

After congratulating the Minister for Commerce, Dr. Kioko, on the way he had presented his Ministry's proposals, Mr. Rogers said he doubted whether any increased revenue could be obtained from his pay.

"We taxpayers have been just about stripped bare," he said. "I must continue to develop our country, and I must find additional money for extra social services for our people."

Mr. Rogers said he had no money to spend on his salary, but he would accept a salary of £100 per month, which would be paid to him in the form of a loan.

THE Kalenjin Political Alliance, which claims to represent nearly 1,000,000 Africans in North-West Kenya, will join the Kenya African National Union's governing council but will not support the K.A.N.U. decision to call on the African Union Members to resign.

The governing council, made up of 16 representatives from the various African groups—Kalenjin, Kikuyu, Luo, Luhya, Maasai, and Somali—met at Eldoret on Saturday to discuss the alliance's decision to take a stand in favour of the present Government.

Mainly fault of two men says inquiry

Standard Correspondent Kampala.

PROBES which occurred in the Bakuli and Bugisu Districts in January, during which 15 people died, arose after disturbance over tax reassessments had been associated with violence by local politicians.

This is stated in a report by the commission of inquiry into the disturbances, issued yesterday as a White Paper by the Uganda Government.

The commission lays the main blame on the actions of Mr. Bakuli Kirya, Representative Member for Bakuli in the Legislative Council, and Mr. Joseph Wankulu, his political "lieutenant".

Deportation order

It says Mr. Kirya—who was in India at the time of the riotous demonstration—was leading a group of about a hundred men to his and his colleagues might exercise sole authority.

A restriction order at present forbids Mr. Kirya to enter Bakuli District, which is divided into two parts. Mr. Wankulu was arrested on a deportation order by the Government White Paper on the riotous demonstration by these two men in the riots are under examination by the Director of Public Prosecutions.

The commission finds that the use of firearms by the two men is justifiable in the circumstances. It was reported that Mr. Kirya had a gun with him and that he fired it over the heads of a crowd. This practice is to be condemned and fire into the air or over the heads of a crowd.

The commission also finds that the two men were not armed with firearms. It says that the two men were not armed with firearms.

SIR CLAUDE CROOK, president of the U.N. Security Council, made strong effort to avoid a spy-plane debate opened last night.

He was actively canvassing the composition of the committee which he put forward, calling for a vote on the resolution.

His motion would link the spy-plane with the flight over the heads of a crowd, which he said should be condemned and fire into the air.

Quiet but firm GAINS IN COPPER REFLECT UNREST

Quiet conditions prevailed in London stock markets yesterday for the start of a new session, but in the absence of adverse news the tone was satisfactory. Apart from those issues which responded to weakness in copper, there was very little movement in prices. Industrialists were a shade harder in places, but oil shares were easier where changed.

Copper, however, reflected continued labour troubles, but the market was quiet and unexcited. Oil shares were slow to develop but were inclined to ease.

MAN CAME SILENTLY TO THE EAST

MANY letters have appeared relative to the evolution of the man who has examined critically evidence on his back.

Only one man has been mentioned in the letters. This man is the author of the book "The Man Who Came Silently to the East." The book is a study of the evolution of the man who has examined critically evidence on his back.

The chief difference between the man of a century ago and the man of today is the evolution of the man who has examined critically evidence on his back. The man of today is a more advanced being than the man of a century ago.

Cooking to please

by Alex Simons

COME time ago I wrote on cream buns and details of a delightful French-type, pre-cooked paste called "Choux". The recipe is somewhat different, as it is made richer because the method of its final cooking is so much different than the method of its final cooking.

In a saucepan, boil a quarter of a pint of water and three ounces of butter. When boiling, add four ounces of plain flour, stirring continuously until the mixture thickens. Then add the remaining ingredients.

PEYATO DRESSINGS
Wash, peel and cook one pound of potatoes, and add half an ounce of butter, two egg yolks, salt and pepper to taste and mix thoroughly. Using the same Cream, pure mix them together.

SAVOURY FRITTERS
This is an ideal way of using up the remains of a chicken, ham or pork, and mix with a little of the same fat and it will swell and cook to a delicious crisp, brown fritter.
