

Campaign starts with Sir Godfrey's toughest speech

The United Kingdom Government has today launched a campaign to persuade the Rhodesian people to accept the terms of the 1953-54 constitution. Sir Godfrey Huggins, the Prime Minister, has today delivered his toughest speech to date in the House of Commons, in which he said that the Government would not be prepared to accept any proposal which would result in the Rhodesians being treated as a separate people.

Northern Rhodesians have been told that Sir Godfrey had almost the best of the 1953-54 constitution. He said that the Government would not be prepared to accept any proposal which would result in the Rhodesians being treated as a separate people.

NORTHERN RHODESIAN COMMENTARY

SOME indications of the strategy of the Government in Rhodesia have been revealed in the speech of Sir Godfrey Huggins in the House of Commons today. The nightmare

It is a nightmare, a nightmare of the most terrible kind, a nightmare that has been haunting the minds of men for centuries. It is the nightmare of the unknown, of the things that we do not understand, of the things that we do not want to know.

Gunboat

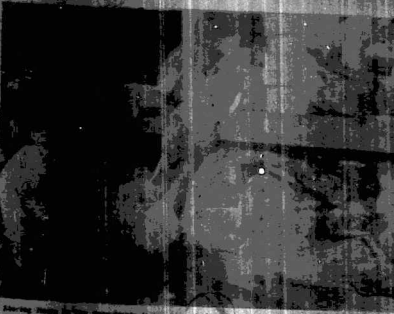

BRITAIN has been the "gunboat" power of the world for many years. Her ships have been the terror of the seas, and her guns have been the terror of the land.

In the dumps

A word is said to be in the dumps when it is out of fashion or out of use. It is a word that is often used to describe a person or a thing that is no longer popular.

Forgotten man

It is a sad thing to see a man who has been forgotten. It is a sad thing to see a man who has been forgotten by the world that he has helped to build.

Having plenty of the paraffin heater-fires in which paraffin, coal, wood, peat, and oil are used.

Paraffin Wax Plays Its Part In The Poultry Industry

CONSIDERABLE quantities of paraffin wax are being used in the poultry industry for the purpose of providing a protective coating for the feet of the birds. This coating helps to prevent frostbite and other ailments that are common in winter months.

Between 1,000 and 2,000 birds a day are being processed in the poultry industry. The use of paraffin wax is essential for the health and well-being of these birds, especially in cold climates.

Hygienic The use of paraffin wax is a hygienic practice that helps to reduce the risk of disease. It provides a barrier between the feet of the birds and the ground, preventing the spread of bacteria and other pathogens.

A PICTURE OF THE EAST AFRICA

THE VICTORIA FALLS 'STAR' IN THIS FILM

How Kenya Cheese Is Made

Kenya cheese is made from the milk of the Kenya cow, which is a cross between the European cow and the African cow. The milk is first curdled with lactic acid bacteria, then the curd is washed with water and pressed into a solid mass. The cheese is then aged for several weeks in a cool, dry place. The result is a cheese with a sharp, tangy flavor and a firm texture.

Perils of the old days

The old days were a time of great peril for the people of East Africa. They were often attacked by wild animals, such as lions and tigers, and by hostile tribes. They also suffered from drought and famine. Despite these hardships, the people of East Africa were able to survive and thrive.

NAIROBI COUNTY COUNCIL PLANS

NAIROBI County Council has approved a plan to curb shanty towns in Nairobi. The plan, which is still in the preliminary stages, involves the acquisition of land for the construction of new housing for the low-income groups of the city.

African Institute

The African Institute, which was established in Nairobi in 1952, has been granted a licence to operate as a public institution. The licence was granted by the Government and will enable the Institute to carry out its educational and research activities.

Police housing scheme

The Nairobi Police Department has approved a housing scheme for its officers and men. The scheme, which is being implemented in stages, will provide accommodation for a large number of police personnel.

Local committee

A local committee has been formed to study the problems of the shanty towns in Nairobi. The committee, which is headed by a local official, will conduct a survey of the shanty towns and recommend measures to be taken to improve the living conditions of the people who live there.

Tall crops hit

The tall crops in Nairobi have been hit by a disease which has caused a serious loss of yield. The disease, which is caused by a fungus, has been found to be spreading rapidly and is expected to affect other crops in the area.

Proposed for village

A proposal has been made to convert a shanty town in Nairobi into a village. The proposal, which is being considered by the local authorities, involves the construction of new houses and the provision of other facilities for the people who live there.

First stage in segregation of Kikuyu complete

The first stage in the segregation of the Kikuyu population in Nairobi has been completed. The Kikuyu families have been moved to their new homes and the shanty towns have been cleared.

REPLY TO KALOLENI PROTEST

The Government has replied to the protest of the Kaloleni people in Nairobi. The Government has assured the Kaloleni people that their demands will be met and that the Government is committed to the improvement of their living conditions.

Request for finance

The Government has requested finance from the United Kingdom to assist in the development of Kenya. The request, which is for a large sum of money, is being considered by the British Government.

PRODUCE EXCHANGE IN NAIROBI OPENS

59 lots in first sale

Business was brisk for 59 lots of various grains, cereals and horticultural produce when the first produce exchange took place yesterday in Nairobi. The exchange, which was organized by the East African Produce Exchange, opened its doors to the public and attracted a large number of buyers and sellers.

Council wants a program

The Nairobi County Council has requested the Government to provide a program of assistance for the shanty towns in Nairobi. The council has pointed out the need for such a program and has urged the Government to take prompt action.

NO DECISION ON NAKURU COLA

No decision has been reached on the proposed construction of a cola factory in Nakuru. The proposal, which is being considered by the local authorities, has been met with some opposition and the authorities are still undecided.

Killer of Chief Hinga loses appeal

The appeal of the man charged with the murder of Chief Hinga has been dismissed by the court. The court has found the man guilty of the crime and has sentenced him to a term of imprisonment.

Uganda tackles Royal tour accommodation problem

The Government of Uganda has taken steps to solve the accommodation problem for the Royal tour. The Government has arranged for the construction of temporary accommodation for the members of the royal party and has also made other arrangements to ensure that the tour is a success.
