DINKY TOYS No. 102
PURCHASE 1954 COUPE

The distinctive styling of the actual Porsche 356A sports coupe is faithfully reproduced in the well detailed and finished model. The car is made of die-cast zinc and is painted in a rich black color.

OLD FASHIONED TRUCKS

Should be completely abandoned and if possible, the motor as well. It is well known that such an operation would defeat the purpose for which a dog is kept, to protect their owners. For this purpose, one of the best methods is to use a dog which is naturally obedient and intelligent. This dog should be trained to respond to the commands of its owner and to be friendly to all people.

Keep on collecting
DINKY TOYS

More in 1954. The Dinky Toys Company has a new collection of toys for 1954. These toys are made of die-cast zinc and are painted in a rich black color. They are the best toys for collecting and for playing with.

I like
GRANT'S

The heavy influence of tropical birds. Besides the subtle undertones of fish water with their secret undertone. It is wanted to be an easy supply for the joy of holding a pattern of dining marks of peace. Oh well. One learns all one can. The technique of painting may be forever beyond me. But I am an artist at heart. The best of all the royal coat of arms. See old Scotch, a happy gold ground. Great fine tall triangular bottle.

You'll like GRANT'S WHISKY

LAKER SPINS OUT S. AUSTRALIA

Batsmen baffled by flight, pace, spin

JIM LAKER, the Surrey spin bowler, claimed five Souths Australian wickets for 31 runs at Adelaide yesterday to lay the basis of a Test match start by M.C.C. in their boundary match. Battered up by good catching, Laker showed that he can be deadly in Australian conditions as well as in England, where he demonstrated the Australia batsmen in 1950.

South Australia were arranged from 75 for one wicket by 1950 as they were again given the batting. Laker's bowling was superb, and he was able to turn the ball in every direction. He bowled to the batsmen's weakness, and he was able to turn the ball in every direction. He bowled to the batsmen's weakness, and he was able to turn the ball in every direction.

ABERDARE COUNCIL THREAT TO RESIGN

Quarterly stock's removal demanded; Rural body promises support

The Aberdare County Council is expected to resign on November 1st, following a meeting at the Mount Kenya forest at Keratina. A Forest Department representative, Mr. C. P. Christopher, advised the Council that the quarterly stock taken by representatives of the Forestry Department and agricultural committees at a meeting with the Ministers for Local Government, Forest Development and Agriculture earlier this week.

The Eastern Rural Council endorsed the delegation's report and decided to support the County Council in any attempt to remove the stock concerned—200 sheep—removed from Ndabii.

Mr. Christopher said that the Council should be advised to hold a special meeting on the subject of sheep removal for the removal of the stock.

It was stated that the sheep removal is the main issue in the negotiations with the Government. The Minister for Local Government, Mr. Christopher, said that the Government was prepared to remove the stock if the Council agreed to do so.

Big drop in prices for cotton

Cotton prices fell to a low level in the market today. The price of the best quality cotton fell to 10s 6d per cwt, down from 11s 6d a week ago. The price of the second quality cotton fell to 9s 6d, and the price of the third quality cotton fell to 8s 6d.

The market was influenced by a report that the Government was planning to increase the export duty on cotton. This report caused a sharp decline in prices.

Protest of labour

Labourers in the district are protesting against the removal of the stock. They are concerned that the removal of the stock will result in the loss of their livelihood. The labourers are demanding that the Government should not remove the stock until they have been consulted.

Spreads disease

The removal of the stock is believed to spread disease among the remaining stock. It is feared that the disease will spread to other parts of the district, causing a major crisis for the farmers.

BRITAIN IN STRONGEST POSITION SINCE WAR

Premier confident of economic future

Mr. Macmillan said that the Government had intended the Commission of Enquiry into the Commonwealth to be completed early in the New Year.

Use of Force Deplored

He said that the Government would not use force to be "sterner and thorough." Defining the situation, he stated: "We are not in a position to use force for the purpose of effecting change in any area. We believe any solution is a political one." He added that Britain had been in consultation with the American Government in regard to the Middle East. Mr. Macmillan said that the Government would not have any say in the Arab development situation in the Middle East. He told the House that the Arab Republic of Egypt had been in contact with the Government for a long time.

Something new in plastic

By BARTORIA

We are delighted with a brand new plastic material that is self-adhesive and makes it so easy to brighten up your old table mats, trays and kitchen shelves. And being water-proof it's ideal for giving a splash-proof surface round wash basins. The kitchen sink or down the side of the bath.

You do it in place of the backing paper and peel the adhesive off, except for the surface to be covered. The beauty of it is that if you want to get it done straight you can lift it up and re-cover the bath.

It is a cheap plastic that is easy to use. It is available in all sizes and colors. It is the perfect material for the modern woman. It is available in all sizes and colors. Retail price 42/-

ECONOMIC PARLIAMENT FOR EUROPE PROPOSED

Unexpected move at free trade talks
L.K. VOLTE FACE

BRITAIN has proposed the setting-up of a European "Parliament" to control the projected European Free Trade Area according to observers in Paris, where 13 member-nations of the Organisation for European Economic Co-operation are holding formal discussions on their economic integration.

The arrangement, which is looked on as a major change in Britain's policy in Europe, was traditionally opposed to supranationalism, but was said to have been made by the General Mr. Maundling, who is in Paris for talks.

The European Governments, France, West Germany, Holland and Luxembourg, who were in Brussels last week, believe the policy was announced in the light of the meeting of the Common Market. Democratic control of the Common Market is envisaged by a Parliamentary body usually meets at Strasbourg.

'Best of both worlds'

It is understood that an agreement was reached between the two countries, under French leadership, who would "protect" their Common Union against outside forces and the other countries led by Britain, who would be free to trade with the Common Market. Mr. Maundling received an ultimatum from the French that they either modify their proposals for the creation of the Free Trade Area or to a multi-national committee moving to a common agreement is reached.

Britain begins daily service to Paris

BRITAIN has begun daily service to Paris, marking the start of a new era in the relationship between the two countries. The service is being operated by the British Overseas Airways Corporation (BOAC) using the Concorde jet aircraft. The flight is scheduled to depart London at 10.30 a.m. and arrive Paris at 12.30 p.m. The return flight is scheduled to depart Paris at 1.30 p.m. and arrive London at 3.30 p.m. The service is being operated on a daily basis, except on Sundays and public holidays.

Tsetse war meets new enemies in elephants

Elephant poaching has become a major problem in the region, as poachers use the animals to transport ivory. The poachers are using sophisticated methods to track and kill the elephants. The ivory is then sold on the black market. The poaching has led to a significant decline in the elephant population. Conservationists are working to protect the elephants and their habitats. They are using various methods, including anti-poaching patrols and community-based conservation programs.

Harvest rainfall for three years

The region has received a record amount of rainfall over the past three years, leading to a bumper harvest. The crops are in good condition, and farmers are optimistic about the results. The rainfall has also helped replenish the water reserves in the area. The government is planning to use the surplus to support the local economy.

UNCONVINCING ARGUMENTS AGAINST TAX BILL

NEVER in my short experience have I heard such utterly unconvincing arguments as those brought forward by the opponents of the Income Tax Bill and also of the principle of taxation itself.

One does not have to dig very far to find the usual arguments of the opponents of the tax bill. The answer lies in two things: first, in the complete lack of interest in the tax bill and secondly, in the complete lack of interest in the principle of taxation itself.

One is impressed, but not shocked, by the absolute indifference of the opposition to the tax bill. They say and do not take the least interest in the development and financial progress of the country. Let it not be said that what is the biggest obstacle to the development of the country is the lack of interest in the tax bill.

Economic growth and capital accumulation are the two main factors in the development of a country. The tax bill is a necessary condition for the development of the country.

The tax bill is a necessary condition for the development of the country. It is a necessary condition for the development of the country. It is a necessary condition for the development of the country.

One over Kashmir before the end of the war, the Government has not challenged the policy of India towards the West. India has received most aid from the West. The West has received most aid from India. The West has received most aid from India.

It is time for the power in Pakistan to reconsider the country's foreign relations in the light of the experience gained and the recent international situation. Pakistan should become a neutral state in politics and militarily uncommitted to the West. It can regain the lost prestige as a neutral state.

Pakistan is in urgent need of economic aid, not military aid. The Government should be free to receive economic and technical aid from the East and the West. Pakistan is in urgent need of economic aid, not military aid.

At the races I SHOULD like to congratulate the "Rugger" on pointing out the future in Kenya. If they continue to work under the banner of the "Rugger", they will have more success than they have now. They will have more success than they have now.

Should this happen, would there be any future for the European colonies? I AM not grateful to Mr. Douglas for raising the question of bank charges on monthly remittances for the purchase of Tax Certificates. The B.C.C. has taken up the work with a view to getting it off an arrangement which will enable taxpayers to pay their tax through their banks and their savings banks.
