These rioters deliver BRITISH TAKE 'cut-out' ultimatum OVER BORDER PATROLS

The Transjordan Frontier Force, a body 5,000 strong which has been operating in the borders of Palestine with Syria and the Lebanon has been withdrawn and replaced by British troops.

British troops during the week-end had to deal with a large body of Arab rioters who were determined to attack two isolated Jewish settlements in the West Bank.

They had been another clash between British troops and Arab rioters in the West Bank, near the town of Hebron. It is believed that a Jewish settlement near Hebron had been ambushed on the way back.

FORT HALL KIKUYU'S PLEDGE

KIKUYU of the Fort Hall district has pledged themselves to do everything they can to bring to justice all offenders against the social code and particularly young men who are indulging in crimes of violence.

A resolution to this effect was passed at a recent meeting of the Local Native Council and passed from discussion to the murder of Assistant-Inspector T. D. Mortimer and Inspector T. D. Mortimer and Inspector T. D. Mortimer on December 20.

The District Commissioner, who presided, had said he hoped the meeting would express its horror at the atrocious murders. He was disappointed at the response of violent crime in the district—and it was undoubtedly increasing. Young men were threatening and terrifying people with gangs.

Mr. Chacha declared his conviction that the crime was a crime against the community and that it was not a crime against the State. He said that the Government was not responsible for the crime and that the Government was not responsible for the crime.

'Arrest them'

Mr. Chacha declared his conviction that the crime was a crime against the community and that it was not a crime against the State. He said that the Government was not responsible for the crime and that the Government was not responsible for the crime.

CHIEFS to act

The previous intention had been to have the chiefs act as a check on the Government. It was now expected that the chiefs would act as a check on the Government.

THE BRITISH WAY

Someone passed up a wonderful opportunity... The British way of life is a model of every-day activity and progress...

What is it, then, this conception of every-day activity and progress which, over an unprecedented era of determined adversity...

The British way of life gives full authority to the majority while respecting the absolute rights of the minority...

The British way of life cherishes the right of the humblest to express an opinion as critically as that of the most eminent...

The British way of life abhors open warfare, but it is impatient of imagined grievances and is not averse to a ready examination of a grievance...

The British way of life is richly supplied with the humor to smile at the follies of the world...

The British way of life is not an instinctive prejudice but a habit of thought...

The British way of life is not a narrow creed but a broad philosophy...

The British way of life is not a static ideal but a dynamic force...

The British way of life is not a mere sentiment but a practical philosophy...

The British way of life is not a mere ideal but a living reality...

EAST AFRICA 'ON EVE OF BIG THINGS'

Our ability to help Britain now and which provides for the development of this continent... The crisis had provided commerce with an opportunity to cooperate with Government in working out a safe application...

It was not long before the crisis revealed that an all-outcome justification for many doubtful decisions and deterring... The African, Crown, and Welfare Committee was set up...

The setting up of the High Commission and the Central Assembly brought a widening of the commercial horizon and a new era of progress...

On roadsides... But the following might be looked upon as the most striking feature...

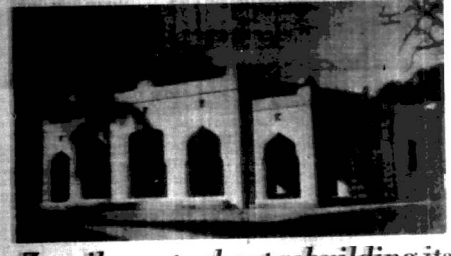

Interests... The Colonial Development and Welfare Commission has been set up...

Only influence... The Chief Justice Sir Barclay Hodge... The second session of the Legislative Council...

Paying a visit... The Archbishop of Canterbury... The Archbishop of Canterbury is expected to visit East Africa...

Standard Clock... Bishop Lamer, formerly of All Saints, Nairobi, now in New Zealand... The Standard Clock is a new timepiece...

Clay flies off to tell America

TWENTY minutes after the meeting of the Four-Power Allied Control Council in Berlin—the first since the breakdown of the Foreign Ministers' London conference and the publication of the Frankfurt agreement between Britain and America on Western Germany—the United States Commandant-General, General Lucius D. Clay, flew for Washington.

It is his way home—with his political adviser, Mr. Robert Murphy's wife on his knees, the great need of speedy Marshall aid and to discuss with the United States Foreign Minister, Mr. George Marshall, the details of the Ruhr food crisis, the German strikes and the political situation generally.

General Clay is expected to point to the threat of strikes and other disturbing features of German unity as evidence of the need for assistance to the combined Western zones of Germany under the Marshall Plan.

'Germans to blame for our cuts'

A Frankfurt announcement that Anglo-American sources were fully convinced their food supplies for Germany had to be made.

Britain's occupation chief in Germany, General Sir Brian Robertson presided over the Control meeting, at which the United States delegation formally presented a proposed Soviet statement protesting against it as a violation of the Potsdam Agreement and demanding its dissolution.

In other respects the meeting was quite normal. The atmosphere is described as having been courteous and correct—two different terms for the same thing.

Berlin's status and the possibility of ending four-power control was not discussed. Neither was the question of German monetary reform—which had been expected to be one of the principal items for discussion.

But it is believed to have been tackled in a miniature control meeting—with participation by four members from each delegation—held for General Clay's visit. Although there has been no official indication of the business at that meeting, which lasted only ten minutes.

It is said that General Clay's occupation chief, having been informed of the meeting, was represented at least in part by his deputy, having earlier been informed of the meeting.

New campaign?

General Clay's visit to Berlin is being given evidence before the House of Commons on the disposition of the Ruhr. The General is in the United States on a mission to discuss the proposed campaign against the Ruhr. It is believed that he will be accompanied by a British representative.

The German People's Committee, a Communist Party, has in the British zone the largest and most active political organization in the North. It is believed that the Communist Party of Germany is the main force behind the Communist Party of Germany.

1947 EXPORTS HIGHEST YET

But Britain's imports were record, too

OFFICIAL figures have revealed that 1947 was Britain's best two overseas sales year in value since 1921. But, on the other hand, imports were also at a record level.

The figures for overseas trade show a small overall rise, but a big increase in exports. Exports for the year were £2,140 million, compared with £2,000 million in 1946.

Canada wants to know did—or didn't—the Premier resign

THE CANADIAN Prime Minister, Mr. Mackenzie King, who has announced his resignation as leader of the Liberal Party will give no definite answer to the far-reaching question as to whether he resigned or not.

When the 72-year-old Premier announced his resignation from the party leadership in a speech to the annual dinner of the Federation of University College Students in Ottawa, he did not, as expected, state his personal choice of successor.

It is believed that the Premier's resignation was the result of a long and bitter struggle between the Premier and the party leadership.

Tradition

He did not mention the Premier's resignation, traditionally, this office goes to the party leader in Ottawa.

THE WORLD OF SPORT

NATIONAL HUNT RACING

The jumpers are having a good season

Standard London Correspondent

THE present National Hunt season in Britain is proving to be one of the best for many years, and enthusiasts can be sure that it will not be for nothing that the public has been so ready to support the sport.

Writing on the 11th day of the season a well-known jumping authority on the subject says: "The season is well advanced and the jumping has been of a high standard. The public has been very generous in its support, and the result has been a very successful one. The season is well advanced and the jumping has been of a high standard. The public has been very generous in its support, and the result has been a very successful one."

Some useful changes

Changes in the rules of the National Hunt season have been made, and these are of a very useful nature. The changes are as follows:—

The first change is in the rules regarding the age of the horses. It is now provided that a horse must be at least three years of age when it is first ridden in a race. This change is of great importance, as it will help to ensure that the horses are of a sufficient age to be able to compete in the more difficult races.

The second change is in the rules regarding the weight of the horses. It is now provided that a horse must not weigh more than 12 stone when it is first ridden in a race. This change is of great importance, as it will help to ensure that the horses are of a sufficient weight to be able to compete in the more difficult races.

A fine horseman

The late Mr. J. H. ... was a fine horseman and a great lover of the sport. He was a member of the National Hunt Club and was a great supporter of the sport. He was a fine horseman and a great lover of the sport.

Grand National

The Grand National is one of the most famous horse races in the world. It is a very difficult race to win, and it is a great test of a horse's stamina and speed. The race is held at Aintree in Liverpool, and it is one of the most popular horse races in the world.

MR. CREECH JONES' MESSAGE

There is some justifiable excuse for Mr. Creech Jones to feel that the programme to be read into the preparation of the Colonies. He has devoted his political life to Colonial service...

In ranging over so vast a field it is inevitable that his review of the past and his programme for the future should be given in the broadest terms. Each of the Colonies they will find important at this juncture and he has endeavored to cover them in the most concise terms in regard to his own views...

This year the message deals with future economic development and the various interrelated and interdependent subjects of the "Intellectual, political, spiritual and social welfare." They will be found in the message itself was a target for the same structure from his own point of view...

It is here, then, that the programme is in its most practical and most important part. It is here that the programme is in its most practical and most important part. It is here that the programme is in its most practical and most important part.

Judge keeps an Indian woman away from husband charged with murder

MORE ABOUT ALLEGED BEATINGS

Standard Special Correspondent. THOMAS'S VIEWS. BY ORDER of the Chief Justice, Sir Barclay Kibiki, a woman accused of murder was prevented from having contact with her husband during an adjournment in the case of the murder trial.

The woman, Subandari Begum, wife of Ghulam (Lala) Malik, one of the four men charged with the murder of an African labourer at Mombasa, has been kept away from her husband during the trial.

It is alleged that although she was living in Mombasa she had been in Thomson's Park nearly every day in the past few months. She was seen outside the door of the court-house, where she had been attending to her husband's affairs.

The judge, Sir Barclay Kibiki, has ordered that the woman be kept away from her husband during the trial. This is to ensure that the trial is conducted fairly and without any undue influence.

The woman's husband, Ghulam Malik, is charged with the murder of an African labourer. The trial is currently adjourned until further notice.

CONTROLS IN INDIA

To the Editor, "E. Standard."
 It is good to see that the friends of the British Government in India are not afraid to speak their minds. The following are some of the points raised in the article on the controls in India:

- (1) That the British Government has failed to provide a clear and definite policy for the future of India.
- (2) That the British Government has failed to provide a clear and definite policy for the future of India.
- (3) That the British Government has failed to provide a clear and definite policy for the future of India.

A WORLD TOUR ON YOUR BOOKSHELF

From London to Mexico, thence to Central Europe, through Java and so to Kenya

FROM the books on the table this week it would appear that we are going on a world tour in twenty minutes' time—in London, then Mexico, Argentina, Central Europe, Java, where you will, and so eventually back to East Africa.

Let us start with Your Holiday probably the most entertaining in the book, but to be sure by past readers' comments about native adventures which have a curious familiarity (and some of the more so, inasmuch as they were written by the author himself). Marrying a missionary is a story of a strange step to take in our day. North does not seem quite to have changed her mind to this day, but the book which has been changed to be a more serious study of the world, and a "dainty Christian-vestal" in appearance, but only so, for it is a really attractive little book. A respectful note should be written by an amateur of rather big things.

NOW we take a rather big step to Belting the Lord Curzon, in Belting the Lord Curzon, by H. Thompson. This is a book in the record of a journey through the Black Sea in the aftermath of the war. It is a story of a journey through the Black Sea in the aftermath of the war. It is a story of a journey through the Black Sea in the aftermath of the war.

Mexican Author
Miguel Covarrubias who first came to fame by a series of articles and sketches, and who has since written a number of books, including Indian Art and Architecture and Indian Mythology.

NORTH America is the next stage of the journey. In North America by G. C. Colver, the author is in a way a well-known name to the British reader, but his book is a most interesting and readable account of his travels in the United States.

UDWIG Lindbergh has the latest news of his new book, Udweg Lindbergh, which is a most interesting and readable account of his travels in the United States.

THE Blue Danube is the next stage of the journey. In The Blue Danube, the author is in a way a well-known name to the British reader, but his book is a most interesting and readable account of his travels in the United States.

FIRST LARGE AIR FREIGHTER TO BE BASED IN EAST AFRICA

There arrived in East Africa recently one of the Bristol Freighters Type 173 belonging to Airwork Ltd., who now have an office in East Africa. This machine, a twin engined high-wing monoplane has the peculiar bulbous nose which, of course, swings open from the centre to give a wide open loading entry to the cabin fuselage. The Freighter (which is also well known in its passenger version as the Wayfarer) has a payload of rather more than five tons, and should prove popular in East Africa where there are many districts from and to which the transportation of goods by air is a slow and complicated business. The Freighter will be based at Mombasa and is expected to do most of its work in Tanganyika.

RESEARCH REVEALS Govt. must find causes AMAZING WEALTH of cotton crop decrease IN SEWAGE WASTE

By... (text partially obscured)

It has been established that the sewage treatment plants in the East African States are not only a source of pollution but also a source of loss of cotton crop. The research conducted by the Government shows that the loss of cotton crop is due to the presence of sewage in the water used for irrigation. The sewage contains a large amount of organic matter which is highly toxic to the cotton plants. The loss of cotton crop is estimated to be about 10% of the total crop.

The Government has decided to take steps to reduce the loss of cotton crop. It has decided to build more sewage treatment plants and to improve the existing ones. It has also decided to provide the farmers with information on the causes of the loss of cotton crop and on the steps to be taken to reduce it.

The Government has also decided to provide the farmers with information on the causes of the loss of cotton crop and on the steps to be taken to reduce it. FRANCE DECIDES TO DEVALUE THE FRANC

It may not 'leave the pound'

It was decided to devalue the franc. Her decision, made after a fortnight's negotiations between the International Monetary Fund—which Sir Stafford Cripps, the Minister of Finance's economic affairs, strongly pressed his country's opposition to the creation of a fund in gold and some other currencies—was that for publication last night. In the course of the American news this morning the announcement of the devaluation of the franc is followed by a statement that the government will work out a formula which would avoid breaking away from the existing gold field markets.

Indians in South Africa to talk it over with Smuts

BUT developments are expected to take place soon on South Africa's "border towns". It is all a result of Labor's victory in the Indian resolution about the treatment of Indians in the Union, which was rejected by the majority of the South African House of Representatives.

Smuts then has to have something to say about the resolution. It is a political statement and not a statement of fact. It is a statement of fact in that it is a statement of the Government's policy on the subject. It is a statement of the Government's policy on the subject of the treatment of Indians in the Union.

The calls between Indians and representatives of the Government in the House of Representatives on January 11, had been postponed for a few days because of the death of Mr. A. L. J. K. Chabane, the Minister of Education.

Then to India

New arrangements have now been made, and the latest news is that the Government will be sending a mission to India to discuss the situation in the Union.

Must be friends

It is believed that the cooperation with the Government in the Union is a must for the Indians. It is a must for the Indians to be friends with the Government.

JACK DOESN'T CARE FOR AUSTERITY

MORIS and most British men, tired of austerity in the British ship at the moment, and the position of the British Shipping Federation.

'No worse now'

"It is often difficult to see the full truth of the situation in these days of changing opinions. Men who were once regarded as the best of their kind are now regarded as the worst of their kind."

Little Colchester equal a record in the English Cup

REMARKABLE success followed the final whistle in the English Cup between the little Colchester and Bradford, champions of Arsenal, on Saturday. Colchester had won by the odd goal of five.

Almost the entire crowd of 11,000 witnessed the match, correct as it completely, and they returned to have seen the Colchester goalkeeper, Mr. Patten, shoulder a few spectators and speak a few words.

Colchester, who were the underdogs, won the cup by a record score of five goals to one.

Spectator dies

In the early excitement of the closing stages of the match, the Bradford goalkeeper, Mr. Patten, was seen to shoulder a few spectators and speak a few words.

MARQUAND GETS GOING TO BUSINESS IN KENYA

His team is keen on big schemes like groundnuts plan—can Kenya tackle cattle production on similar scale?

YESTERDAY Mr. Hilary A. Marquand, Britain's Paymaster-General, spent his Sunday and night in the Nairobi National Park on Sunday, got down with the other members of his team to the business side of his expiratory tour of East Africa.

First he met Government officials in the Secretariat, Nairobi, and held a conference with European Elected Members of Legislative Council, whose leader, Sir Alfred Vickers, afterwards spoke in regard to encouragement of schemes in which he expressed the evident desire of the Paymaster-General and the members of his mission to get to grips with Kenya's problems.

As a lunch-guest were the Associated Chambers of Commerce in the New Stanley Hotel, Mr. Marquand made a speech from Nairobi, in which he expressed his views on the production as much more as possible without increasing its equipment and labour.

Following a tour of the East Africa Industrial Management Board's premises, the Paymaster-General in the late afternoon conferred with executives of Chambers of Commerce.

It was really businesslike. The Press were excluded—Mr. Marquand's wish from the meeting but it was learned afterwards that items discussed included imports control, priorities in connection with essential goods from United Kingdom with particular reference to building and other materials, machinery and electrical machinery and equipment, railway rolling stock, agricultural machinery and other essentials from the tourist angle; Government policy in regard to encouragement of schemes in which he expressed the evident desire of the Paymaster-General and the members of his mission to get to grips with Kenya's problems.

All items on the agenda were fully discussed. Individual members of the executives had been "briefed" for specific items, and that was why the meeting was so well attended. Mr. Marquand's concluding comment: this meeting was the most valuable from the tourist's angle of view.

He became a Minister in that he was able to talk business with business people in a business-like manner.

Interest in the Tana River project. Mr. Marquand told Government Officials his team was particularly interested in major food production projects of the kind in the Tana River district which was one project in which the team showed particular interest.

The proposed large-scale scheme for the irrigation of considerable areas in the Tana River district was one project in which the team showed particular interest.

Officials who attended the conference included the Chief Secretary, the Minister for Finance, the Member for Agriculture, the Deputy Chief Secretary, the Member for Health and Social Development, the Director of Agriculture and Veterinary Services, the Director of Health and Social Development, the Director of Health and Social Development, the Director of Health and Social Development.

YESTERDAY was Australia Day—the 100th anniversary of the arrival of British settlers. The Prime Minister, Mr. Ben Chifley, had to warn the people that more cuts in dollar imports may yet have to be made.

His statement was widely welcomed in Britain all the help also good. The Prime Minister said that the object at the moment was by cutting them down to get a better balance of payments.

The Minister of Agriculture said that the Government was doing its best to get a better balance of payments. He said that the Government was doing its best to get a better balance of payments.

Another British military unit of the British Army has been sent to the Middle East. The unit is being sent to the Middle East to help in the fight against the forces of the Arab States.

The Union is worried over her exports to East Africa

S.A.P. Johannesburg Correspondent

INDUSTRIALISTS in South Africa are concerned at the prospect of the Union's markets in the adjoining British Colonies being closed to South Africa under the American "Aid to Britain" agreement. One estimate places the loss to South African markets at about £2,500,000 a year.

The territories to the north of the Union have been looked upon as a potential market for the produce of South Africa's rapidly-expanding secondary industries and some industrialists have already diversified into machinery sales.

Although Rhodesia's export restrictions have caused no marked deterioration in trade between the Union and the Union, the deleterious effect of the American regulations has been felt. Public opinion is being aroused in the Union by manufacturers who already produce machinery for export to the Union, and who have made plans to export machinery to all parts of the northern territories.

Talks suggested

Mr. J. G. Flanagan, President of the South African Federation of Chamber of Industries, in a recent address to the Chamber's quarterly meeting at Port Elizabeth, said that if the American and British interpretations of Clause 1 of the American South African Trade Agreement were to be applied to the South African and the United States, it would be tantamount to saying that South Africa, one of the world's foremost producers of machinery, should be practically no longer an export market for the United States.

The Union Government's general policy in regard to the American Trade Agreement is to maintain the status quo in so far as possible. It is the view of the Union Government that the American Trade Agreement is a fair and equitable arrangement, and that it is in the best interests of the Union to maintain it.

It is the view of the Union Government that the American Trade Agreement is a fair and equitable arrangement, and that it is in the best interests of the Union to maintain it.

Surmountable

Mr. W. T. Hodgson, Director of the South African Industries, said that the difficulties involved in the American Trade Agreement are surmountable. He said that the Union Government is determined to maintain the status quo in so far as possible, and that it is in the best interests of the Union to maintain it.

The political component of the Trade Agreement is a long and arduous task. It is the view of the Union Government that the American Trade Agreement is a fair and equitable arrangement, and that it is in the best interests of the Union to maintain it.

The correspondent says that the British Government prohibits the importation of the Union's goods into the United States, but that it is not widely understood that it is necessary to a vital part on the import trade to the United States and the other related countries.

Richard Denman of the Economist discusses aspects of SECURITY IN THE MIDDLE EAST

People's goodwill to be Britain's armour

THE BRITISH Empire, particularly that part of it which depends for its security on the stability of the Middle East, is in a difficult transition period. The British Government and people no longer feel happy when they hear of the small countries in the Middle East being invaded by the inhabitants. Such a state of affairs makes for much of the old imperialism, it is alleged, of the British Empire.

On the other hand, the world has clearly not yet reached that stage where the British Government and people no longer feel happy when they hear of the small countries in the Middle East being invaded by the inhabitants. Such a state of affairs makes for much of the old imperialism, it is alleged, of the British Empire.
