RETIREMENT HELP ON WAY

Territory welcomes Sir Ernest as Minister

"Standard" Correspondent, Dar es Salaam.
Sir Ernest Salami, Ernest Vasey is to be Tanganyika's new Minister for Labour. Sir Ernest is particularly enthusiastic, but the Tanganyika African National Congress, which has been instrumental in the move, followed his earlier decision to find a way of assisting the industry's workers.

The Minister, Mr. Bryson, said: "I asked of this young representative, we welcome the appointment of Sir Ernest as Minister for Labour. We have all been hoping that this would be done, and I am sure you can imagine how pleased we are."

Sir Ernest, President of Co-operative Union, said:

"So far as the Chamber is concerned, we welcome the appointment of Sir Ernest as Minister for Labour. We have all been hoping that this would be done, and I am sure you can imagine how pleased we are."

Newsmen welcomed

the arrival of the new Minister, Mr. D. K. Paton, who had been appointed to withdraw his own nomination as a candidate for the post of Minister for Labour. He agreed after three years in the same position.

V. A. Meekins and other members of the Chamber congratulated him on his appointment.

During the past few days, the new Minister has been meeting with the various trade unions and employers' associations to discuss working conditions.

He has also been visiting various factories to visit the workmen and to discuss their problems.

After meeting with the various trade unions, he has decided to refer the matter to the preparation of a code of practice for industrial relations.

Jailed for part in Nyeri raid

Nyeri Kikuyu has been sentenced to six months' imprisonment for his part in the Nyeri raid.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Mwaura

During the raid a gang of bandits, led by Mr. and Mrs. Michael Mwaura, took over the Nyeri Police Station.

The appearance was arranged in the Kikuyu language.

Two other men, Thomas Mwangi and John Muriuki, were also sentenced to six months' imprisonment and given a fine of £12.

Provident fund for sisal industry

"Standard" Correspondent, Dar es Salaam.
A PROVIDED a contribution to proposals for old age benefits for workers discussed by the industry's Central Joint Council at Tanga under the chairmanship of Sir Barclay Nibhill. The move follows the earlier decision to find a way of assisting the industry's workers.

Mr. Barclay, Leader of the Tanganyika African National Congress, and various experts in the insurance field, recommended a pension scheme which would be open to all workers and their dependents and would provide a minimum of savings.

He said that it would be voluntary and contributory and would be open to all workers in the industry. The object was to help those who had been employed for many years and who were no longer fit for work. Any employee could withdraw from the scheme at any time.

Sir Ernest, President of Co-operative Union, said:

"So far as the Chamber is concerned, we welcome the appointment of Sir Ernest as Minister for Labour. We have all been hoping that this would be done, and I am sure you can imagine how pleased we are."

Age snug

After a suggestion, several of the workers' organizations withdrew their names from contention and the employers' group agreed. After three years, the whole agreement was signed.

Mr. Bryson said: "The pension would be open to all workers who were fit for work and who were working at the time of retirement.

After meeting with the various trade unions, he has decided to refer the matter to the preparation of a code of practice for industrial relations.

Civic Regalia for Mombasa

Mombasa Civic Regalia was selected for the first time for the Civic Parade.

MAN SAYS GUN WAS ONLY A TOY

A MAN had a Mau Mau magazine which he normally went about carrying with a toy pistol in the personal protection.

The man, Alan Handforth-Rose, was shot in the head in public and causing terror to members of his family. He pleaded: "Not me."

Handforth-Rose told the magistrate at Nairobi that he always carried the pistol in a shoulder holster when he went about. When he left the shop on fishing, he had to leave the pistol in the car.

"I went to party."

His wife said that the last time she saw him was that he left for a party. She said: "I don't know who might attack us people with a gun." When she met him with a real gun, she was shocked.

On the 20th, he had been shot in the head in public and was shot again on the 21st.

He went there with Mr. and Mrs. Bryson and left again, however, two men who were members of the Mau Mau followed him in a motor vehicle.

"I thought they were going to kidnap me," he said. "I had to leave my house because I was afraid I would be shot dead."

He said that after he got to the station, he was taken to hospital and said there had been no bullet in his head. He was then allowed to see his relatives. He concluded: "I am not afraid of them. They did not shoot me and they took my gun."

He did not say whether they did not shoot him because they did not want to.

Mr. Bryson said: "I am glad he is still alive."

He was admitted to the hospital on December 5.

"Not real pistol"

While going to buy evidence, he found this pistol in a pawn shop in Nairobi. It was bought for £1.50 and he was told it was a real pistol.

He took it to the police station and was told that it was a real pistol.

AFTERMATH OF THE STRIKE

KENYA'S first major rail dispute has ended with the situation precisely as it was before the men were called out by their union leaders and a strike which had been intended in the first place left little or the better off.

On average, as often happens, the drivers have suffered less than the engineers and their reduced pay packet will now be increased. The rail union official or reporter has said an increase of payment has been agreed. The union's demands were met in full at the end of the week on point. It will be our hope that the top management will be willing to follow suit. We can only hope that the railway men will be so fortunate.

The driver's demand was for an increase of 10/- per day for 4 days. This will be more than the engine drivers' present. One venue chosen for a hearing is that of a meeting between the unions and the management. The result will be reached after Mr. Mervin and Mr. Moore will have had a few words with the management to try to bring the two parties to a meeting.

We are very pleased that our former negotiator will be considerable in his negotiations. We also wish him every success in his new venture with a total of £8,000 being available to him.

Lessons learnt the hard way

MANY workers in government departments, and in the large commercial organisation to negotiate with managers on behalf of workers, did not know what they were doing. The general lack of knowledge was reflected in the fact that many of the two sides contended and their inability to relate to each other.

Management on Page 2 may seem unusual as it is the management who pointed out the defects of the strike. The difference is that the general public has not yet seen the document. The document, however, is a well-known document, and its main points are: (a) That the drivers and engineers are entitled to an increase of pay; (b) That the strike must be stopped.

The document also says that the management would be prepared to meet the unions on their demands, but if the two sides could not agree, then the strike must be stopped.

It was also mentioned that the strike would not be for the benefit of the management, but for the benefit of the workers. The document also says that the strike must be stopped, and that the strike must be stopped.

It is a well-known document, and it is a well-known document.

TRIBUTE TO SIR WINSTON

—85

TODAY

Today the world congratulates a great man, a political leader on his 85th birthday. As a few short extracts from his speeches which inspired the world during the course of his personal lesser known, but equally valuable life.

SIR Winston Churchill—the man who once said he had little time to live and a gift of eloquence to come down to us from the most enduring of the Second World War.

Many of his sayings, some of which are still familiar to us all, will ring true as we remember the 70th Anniversary of the RA F from 1946 and Ringing the country to fight.

There are some of his best known and most characteristic sayings:

* * * * *

Never say to your Government, "This is not good." They have nothing to do with it.

After Dunkirk:

We'll hang 'em fast or, if necessary, we'll beat 'em right on the ground, we shall fight on the hills, we shall fight on the beaches, we shall fight on the landing grounds, we shall never give up. After Dunkirk June 6, 1940.

After Alamein:

Come, then, to the battle to the death, to the last man, to the last gun.

On the eve of war:

Now is the time to be bold, now is the time to be brave, now is the time to be determined.

On VE Day:

Never in the field of human endeavour has so much depended on so little.

On the eve of battle:

And I trust that Britain, with the help of her Empire, will stand by her friends.

On the eve of war:

Our past is not our heritage, but our heritage is our strength.

Giraffes join E.A. game in UK zoo

VISITORS to Dudley Zoo in West Midlands are being given greater scope for the more detailed view of the animals.

A new indoor enclosure has been built for the three giraffes which arrived at the zoo recently and have been at the park since October 15.

The three animals were brought from Kenya, where they had been at the Nairobi National Park.

The giraffes are a male and two females, and are the first pair of giraffes to be born at Dudley Zoo.

The male, named Boma, is six years old and the females are four and five.

Need for vigilance lesson of Chinese inroads

CHINESE and the rambunctious canary of the incursions by unarmed India that, we believe, we are here to see freedom can be achieved, said Mr. Nehru yesterday.

Addressing an audience at a conference near New Delhi, Prime Minister Nehru said:

"The Prime Minister is expressing his hope that India will be a leader in the non-communist world and will help to lead the non-communist world in its resistance to communism, which is an external enemy of all mankind and a threat to all our ideals."

The former Indian prime minister also spoke in such a way as to indicate that he would work in such a way as to prevent India from becoming a satellite of Russia.

Others loom
India's neighbors also presented themselves as leaders, though less so. It was reported that the foreign ministers of Nepal, Bhutan and Sikkim were present to see what the new government had in store for them.

Held by force
The Chinese Communists had no trouble in convincing the local population that their rule was the only way forward.

It was reported that Mr. Nehru had told the Chinese that India would not accept their demands without a struggle.

Mr. Nehru also said that India would not accept any changes in the status quo without a struggle.

THE rail strike continued in Uganda yesterday after the president of the Uganda Railway Union, Mr. H. M. Lwanga, had said his union intended to "fight on to the last moment." Mr. Lwanga, who returned yesterday to meet the representative of the Kenyan Transport Workers Federation, Mr. P. de Vries, was advised he had discussions at the headquarters of the Kenya Federation of Labour.

Today, Mr. de Vries is due to discuss the position of TUC on U.C.T.U. and whether or not it will go to talk with Mr. Lwanga. Mr. de Vries has

Women in Africa hold back social advance
AFRICAN women living in the traditional ways of their communities are holding up progress with the progress of the modern world, said the Conference of the Commonwealth on the status of women in Africa, which opened in Nairobi yesterday.

The conference, which is being held in conjunction with the International Conference of Women in Africa, is being held in Nairobi yesterday. At the opening ceremony, Dr. Alice Nkosi, Secretary-General of the Conference, said that African women were "the backbone of the family and the nation." She said that the Conference was "an opportunity for African women to meet and exchange ideas and experiences in their efforts to improve the lives of their families and communities."

New jury ordered for murder trial

RELIGIOUS BELIEF OF JUROR HALTS HEARING

SOON after the trial of Peter Poole (28) began, on a charge of murder, in the Supreme Court, Nairobi, yesterday, one of the 12 jurors announced that for religious reasons he would be unable to agree to a verdict of guilty. The Chief Justice, Sir Ronald Sinclair, dismissed the jury.

The trial, adjourned by the Crown counsel,

Mr Clive Brookes, entered a guilty plea without withdrawing the charge against Poole and submitting a fresh one. Poole was freed, rearrested outside the court and the fresh charge served on him. He will be tried again on January 20. No date has been fixed for his trial.

Poole, 28, was charged with the murder of his wife, Mary Poole, on October 12, at Kamwalo, Nairobi. He denied the charge.

About half an hour of the trial had been heard before the juror made his announcement.

The trial adjourned until January 20 unless the evidence which was to be called for the prosecution.

UNFORTUNATE ARTICLE

He said that a course of events, "which I cannot now fully follow," had led him to believe he would deserve the law to save Poole from capital punishment.

Sister V. A. Stoen was driving up Gikomba Road and passed Poole who had stopped to pick up a woman. She heard a sound when Poole struck her.

Full opportunity for advancement of qualified Africans

POLICY FOR E. AFRICAN RAILWAYS

STRIKERS' LEADERS CALLED TO URGENT MEETING

BRANCH secretaries of the Railways African Union have been told to meet the union's head office in Kampala at once for urgent discussions on the 14-day-old rail strike in the Protectorate.

The instructions said the union, Mr. M. J. Farquharson, was yesterday still in Nairobi.

The rail strike, which began on November 19, has so far been going well, but there was some hope that it would end soon.

Meanwhile, the committee in Uganda requested members of their returning to work. The union said nothing.

Normal services

All and none of the important railway stations and depots have been closed except those in the northern part of the country.

The Weavers' Union has agreed to return to work.

Mr. Farquharson, who has been in Nairobi since November 19, has been meeting the union's leaders.

He has been in touch with the management of the railways and the Ministry of Transport and Communications.

Mr. Farquharson is due to leave Nairobi on December 5.

U.K. represented in Cairo again

After failing to secure an appointment with the Foreign Office, Mr. Farquharson had to return to Cairo to see the Minister of State for External Affairs, Mr. Nasser, and the British chargé d'affaires, Mr. G. H. P. Jones, and the head of the British Press Mission, Mr. K. S. Mehta, at the U.K. Embassy in London.

Revenue rise no cause for complacency

FINANCIAL results achieved by the East African Railways and Harbours so far this year give cause for modest satisfaction but not for complacency, the Acting Commissioner for Transport, Mr. M. J. Farquharson, told the Central Legislative Assembly in Nairobi yesterday.

Making his railway budget speech, Mr. Farquharson said gross railway earnings for the first ten months of the year were £648,000. This was 10 per cent above the figure for the same period in 1958. Harbour earnings increased by £172,000—a rise of 4.7 per cent.

The failure of passenger traffic to expand had been a little disappointing but the trend was encouraging, he said, with a promise that roads were being greatly improved and better road vehicles introduced.

No obstacles in way

Mr. Farquharson said the administration was trying to make the most use of locally developed East African skills and to employ them on the same tasks earlier and less expensively. This had tended to become more and more African.

He quoted figures which he claimed clearly demonstrated that the majority of Africans who possessed the qualities to justify promotion.

He concluded with the resolution adopted at a conference at Mombasa on September 30. The Acting Commissioners in Transport and all the conference was attended by three main guests—two young men from Kenya and one from Uganda. It was formed by three young men who had formed the nucleus of a committee for higher wages had been submitted to the three unions.

The new scheme has been examined and accepted by each of the unions and they have agreed to submit it to their respective members for ratification.

Mr. Farquharson said the new scheme had been agreed to by all three unions and was to be submitted to the three unions for ratification.

He said that the scheme had been agreed to by all three unions and was to be submitted to the three unions for ratification.

Braemar Castle driven aground in high seas

GALE-FORCE winds and heavy seas were yesterday pounding the 17,000-ton Union-Castle liner Braemar Castle, aground near Gibraltar with 300 passengers on board.

The liner, en route from Liverpool to Hong Kong, was driven ashore at 10.30 p.m. by a violent gale, carrying many people from East Asia and Australia, according to reports.

At least 100 passengers were injured, mostly by falling or being thrown overboard. No serious accidents were reported.

U.K. SEEKS PACT FOR NUCLEAR DEFENCE

A PLAN under way to bring together Britain and other major powers—without the United States—not before next February, was announced yesterday by Sir Alexander Gandy, Minister of State for War.

Mr. Gandy said the conference would be held in London, probably in April, and that the participants would be made to take part in a series of meetings.

granted his recommendations to a preliminary examination indicated that he did not favour reducing the railway's costs by road. However, he said that the railway should have the right to determine what was necessary in its own interest.
Thus, the railway from its rigid observance of the road transport policy had suffered serious losses. Mr. Garbarghane suggested that the railway should have more support to the main line, and that the road transport
industry would then have to be the best interests of East Africa.

Mr. Garbarghane recommended

line, and that the road transport
industry would then have
to be the best interests of East Africa.

Secondly, it was suggested that the railway should not be
overburdened with the task
of maintaining urban areas.
The task of taking care of the needs of urban areas was best left to the cities. The task of the state railways was to maintain the main line, to provide a service from the main line to the various ports, and to provide a subsidiary service.

Thirdly, it was suggested that the road transport should not be overburdened with the task of maintaining urban areas. The task of the cities was to take care of their own needs, while the railway should maintain the main line and provide a service from the main line to the various ports, and to provide a subsidiary service.

Fourthly, it was suggested that the railway should not be
overburdened with the task
of maintaining urban areas.
The task of the cities was to aligned irritation at the suggestion

that the railway should not be
overburdened with the task
of maintaining urban areas.
The railway would still be a vital part of the economy.

Views had been expressed that the railway should be maintained
by the government.

What was trying to do is to keep the railways running and locally dominated East African businessmen were asked if they had the same basic rates of pay as the East Africans, and whether they were employing staff with similar qualifications.

It would be quite appropriate to try to regulate the type of staff employed in the railways in some cases, even if it were to be the case that the road transport would still be retained.

What is required is that the staff should be maintained
by the government.

As many railroads around the world have done, the railway should be maintained by the government, while placing an emphasis on the quality of the administration. This is the best way to ensure that the railway will be able to remain competitive and attractive to the public.

There could be no substantial increases in the wages and salaries of the railway staff unless it was maintained.

It was extraordinary that citizens of the poorer and less fortunate countries should be working as hard as possible in their country, should be demanded, and yet be denied what they had been entitled to as citizens of their countries.

Dealing with recent strikes and the present situation, it is of interest to note that in Uganda, the strike was called on December 11, 1962, and lasted for three days, but the ministers of labour and ministers of health and ministers of education were not called to a meeting.

New Liwali named for Coast

APPOINTMENT OF SHEIKH SALIM MUHASHAMY

SHEIKH SALIM MOHAMED MUHASHAMY

SHEIKH SALIM MOHAMED MUHASHAMY has been appointed to succeed Sir Mbarak Ali Hinawy as Liwali for the Coast, a notice in yesterday's Kenya Official Gazette states.

Sir Mbarak has resigned for health reasons after long and distinguished service to the Kenya Government, having been Liwali for the Coast since 1947. The Governor of Kenya, Sir Patrick Renison, has personally thanked Sir Mbarak.

ADVISER ON ARAB AFFAIRS

Appointed an Honorary Knight Commander of the Order of the British Empire in the last Birthday Honours, Sir Mbarak has for many years been a leader of the Arab community and the principal adviser to the Governor on Arab affairs. He was educated at KAS and the First World War, after being an Arab school in Mombasa.

He assumed his military service in the Second World War and was promoted to commissioned rank in 1940. His Civil Service career began in 1942 and he became a member of the Legislative Council in 1946. In 1956 he was appointed Liwali of Mombasa and Nairobi. For about six years later he was appointed Minister of State for Zanzibar and later Minister of Co-operative and Economic Affairs. From 1959 he has been an Honorary Knight Commander of the Order of the British Empire.

He has also been a member of the Kenyan Delegation to the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development and to the Conference of the Commonwealth.

He has also been a member of the Kenyan Delegation to the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development and to the Conference of the Commonwealth.

Marathon problems for nine divisions at work in the Colony

SETTING OUT ON MISSION

appreciate the immense amount and variety of other work.

For instance, how many people realise that during the last year the Red Cross has set up 100 inquiries about missing relatives? Seven hundred cases of children and were accepted in quite a short time. On the Branch branch out — at the rate of 200 weeks — and it is not possible to wheelbarrow the hundreds, so little easier to bear?

NINE DIVISIONS

At the moment, the Kenya Branch operates in nine districts: Nairobi, Mombasa, Kisumu, Chilanga, Mount Kenya, Rift Valley, Coast, Central, and North.

The field work which is now in progress is the first since the service started on a basis of self-help and voluntary giving.

This is based on free quotation of general welfare for the women and children in the Emergency to the stage of rehabilitation, training in health and welfare and social work.

In some cases, working with the Red Cross

patients have been engaged in the work of the society (the Branch is operated in this and three hospitals).

Patients are always reque-ted for the hospital libraries

which the society also operates.

Books, magazines, periodicals or even second-hand books are always available.

Transport is one aid we are able to give. In March, three refrigerated trucks are due to leave

Kenya for the United States

where they are to be used in the fight against Diseases.

The centre sheet was built by the Red Cross Society of America for the Association for the Control of Malaria.

But the primary concern of the centre is to help and encourage the people to live better lives with the help of the Red Cross.

It is the motto of the

Kenya Red Cross Society

to "serve the people and help them to help themselves."

Another important function

of the branch is to help

the Red Cross Society

in their work in the Colony.

To their neighbours in the Colony.

There are ten field officers and the Red Cross Training School has been established.

The Government gives a grant.

Another Red Cross worker

is the Executive Officer

in Nairobi but the work of the Red Cross Society can not be expanded until more money is available.

Another important function

of the branch is the provision of medical services to patients

in the hospitals and clinics.

These services are provided by the Red Cross Society

and the Red Cross Hospital

in Nairobi.

Beginning of a grand ideal

BATTLE LED TO FOUNDING OF ASSOCIATION

By SIR ARTHUR BRYANT

This article tells how the pamphlet "A Memory of Solferino," written by Henri Dunant after witnessing the gory battle, changed the world's outlook on war.

A HUNDRED years ago, as fought the terrible battle of Solferino between French, Algerians and Piedmontese troops on one side and the German, Austrian Empires and others on the other.

Three hundred thousand troops took part and by the end of it 40,000 men had been killed or wounded; many more lay dead or wounded on the field, while another 40,000 surrendered afterwards with disease or sickness which made them unfit for transport or attributable to the horrors of that dreadful day.

There was a young Swiss businessman, Mr. Henri Dunant, whose work among the English troops in the Crimean War had given him a deep interest in the welfare of the wounded. He was staying at Solferino and when he saw the terrible scene he was deeply shocked and decided to do what he could to alleviate the suffering.

Dunant's account of what he did was published in his pamphlet "A Memory of Solferino." It caused such a stir that it was followed by his own personal efforts to get the governments to agree to a conference of Red Cross leaders or volunteers — that conference resulted in the formation of the International Committee of the Red Cross.

Mr. Dunant founded the first International Congress of the Red Cross in Geneva in 1863. The League of Red Cross Societies was founded in 1880.

The International Congress, however, was not created until 1864. The first Conference of the International Red Cross Societies was held in 1907.

Today, 26 delegations from 20 countries are gathered at Geneva to discuss problems of the Red Cross and to consider the setting up of a World Organization of the Red Cross.

It is the 100th anniversary of the founding of the International Red Cross Association and to mark this event the International Red Cross Society has arranged a series of events throughout the year.

On the 28th of June the 100th Anniversary of the Geneva Convention will be observed.

Mr. Arthur Bryant, President of the International Red Cross Society, and Mr. John R. Bennett, President of the World Organization of the Red Cross, will attend the ceremony.

PEACE AND WAR

One of the chief aims of the International Red Cross is to help in the prevention of wars and to assist in the relief of the suffering of those who have been caught in their grip.

In its 100 years of history,

the International Red Cross

has done a great deal of work in this field.

The International Red Cross

has helped to bring about a greater understanding of the peoples of the world.

It has helped to bring about a greater awareness of the problems of peace and war throughout the world.

The International Red Cross

is a reminder to all of the importance of international cooperation

in the promotion of world peace.

The International Red Cross

is a symbol of hope for all the peoples of the world.
