WEIGHT CONTROL for HEALTHY, ACTIVE LIVING

...it is not easy to lose weight, and to maintain a new, reduced weight it is even more difficult. That's why Metrecal is so popular. Metrecal stimulates your appetite at the same time it also limits your calorie intake from the food you eat. And after a gradual readjustment to normal eating habits, many men and women find that their appetites are satisfied with smaller amounts of food than formerly. Thus, Metrecal is invaluable, not only as a diet food in itself, but also as an effective way of maintaining the desired weight level once achieved.

Wherever weight control is desired
is fast becoming a household word

METRECAL PUTS YOU IN CONTROL.
Metrecal allows you to regulate your weight at will, simply by varying the amount you take. The fiber weight supply, Metrecal can be used at your usual daily diet if you wish. For more gradual weight loss, Metrecal should be substituted for the occasional meal.

INVALUABLE INGREDIENTS
The components of Metrecal—rich in health-giving vitamins and minerals—have been so selected as to provide just the right balance of protein and fat. The fiber protein source, effective in helping to prevent fat accumulation in the development of important metabolic waste during weight loss, which has been proven to control the appetite.

DIETITIAN'S ORDERS
It is now understood that overweight which could be attributable to any kind of physical handicap is a matter for

...consultation with a doctor. No product preparation...
...is recommended as a weight control can be treated to remedy the...
...deficit of health. But the normally healthy people...
...Metrecal provides a thoroughly effective, easy preparation...
...of reducing.

TESTED AND PROVED SAFE
Metrecal has undergone rigorous clinical tests in the U.S.A., which prove its effectiveness and its safety. For those known to be in appropriate situations, Metrecal is a satisfying food in itself. Metrecal is available in all sizes for high altitude which, in any doctor will still find you put a strain on your heart, even if you are not overweight.

A SMALL PRICE TO PAY
Metrecal is highly recommended in East Africa as a diet food. It is a long-term investment in your health, although it is a long-term investment in your health, although it is a long-term investment in your health, although it is a long-term investment in your health.

Bigger and better rally records

THREE OF THE BEST

ALL THE AWARDS

by CHARLES DISNEY

First year in writing an analysis of the East African Safari I have had to be content with the fact that the event as being better than its predecessor. No exception need be made this year for all records were surpassed.

At the first time the entry, and number of competitors exceeded 100, competitors and cars have been further aided than ever before; the number of manufacturers' teams participating in a record, as was the number of overseas competitors.

The 1965 East African Safari may fairly be said to be the best and most successful of the series. But even so the general regret, Mr. Arthur Burton's last year as a Competition Manager. His wide knowledge, keen eye and organising ability will be sadly missed.

Sporting atmosphere

The Safari was not entirely above criticism—no one could claim that it was perfect. But it again benefited from the flexibility of outlook shown by the organisers this year, who have been ready to profit from constructive criticism and to embody in the regulations and suggestions put forward by competitors and their managers.

So good was the sporting atmosphere that it was a pleasure to see the Safari yet manages to retain much of the spirit of the original safari.

It is hoped that this atmosphere will continue.

It was the 1965 East African Safari that first two places in the overall classification were won by a Volkswagen. The car was a 1600 cc. Type 160C, driven by Tony Platt and Bernhard Schindler. The car was a 1600 cc. Type 160C, driven by Tony Platt and Bernhard Schindler.

THREE MAJOR FACTORS IN VW TRIUMPH

Home and fairly dry

WHEN Tommy Platt and Bernhard Schindler drove triumphantly into Nairobi last Monday in the tenth East African Safari, they claimed that success was due to three main factors—the ideal car for what was described by the Safari chairman, Mr. Eric Cecil, as "the most brutal Safari ever"; ultra-successful preparation; and a great deal of luck.

As far as the first factor is concerned, they pointed out that Volkswagen were now the overall winners of 10 of the ten East African Safaris.

For Platt and Schindler the Safari was the culmination of weeks of training.

"They not only went over the entire route, but they also investigated the difficult stretches the log, warning him that the most likely time to be stuck was when they were about to enter the 1000 ft. pass. The car was stuck for 10 minutes. They had to wait for the rain to stop. The car was stuck for 10 minutes. They had to wait for the rain to stop.

The crew of the winning three cars with leader, naturally, first. Left, Tony Platt, member of the South which was killed, and second, Bernhard Schindler. The crew of the runner-up, the 1600 cc. Volkswagen, with driver, Tony Platt, and co-driver, Bernhard Schindler.

SWEDISH EXPRESS

The proportion of winners (42) in 1965 (196) was a record. In previous years when conditions have been particularly favourable, the highest percentage of winners has been 30 per cent.

Other winners in 1965 were the Fiat 1600 cc. (Maurizio Frascini) and the Holden EK (Glenbrook, Malabar)—deserve the fastest credit.

Class "C" (up to 1600 cc.) had the best record with nine finishes out of 11 starters.

Brave 'baby'

Various criticisms have been levelled at the organisers. For lack of space, I cannot answer them in detail. But an analysis of the causes of the accidents, so far as they can be ascertained, does not appear to back up the criticisms.

It is true that the first two drivers were killed after the first two days of the Safari. The first was killed in the first class "A" and the second in the first class "B".

Lager and better rally set new records

THREE OF THE BEST

ALL THE AWARDS

By CHARLES DISNEY
Last year in writing an analysis of the East African Safari I have had to make the event as being better than its predecessors. No exception need be made this year for all records were surpassed.

The 18th East African Safari may fairly be called the best and most successful of the series. But the general regard, Mr. Arthur Burnett, last year's Competition Manager. His wide knowledge, and his organizing ability will be amply missed.

Sporting atmosphere
The safari was not entirely above criticism—no one could deny that—but it again benefited from the flexibility of outlook shown by the organizers who, year after year, have been ready to profit from constructive criticism and to embody in their regulations and suggestions put forward by competitors.

THREE MAJOR FACTORS IN VW TRIUMPH

WHEN Tommy Fjastad and Bernhard Schmeider drove triumphantly into Nairobi last Monday to receive the 18th East African Safari, they claimed that success was due to three main factors: the ideal car for what was described by the Safari chairman, Mr. Eric Cecil, as the most brutal "Safari ever"; ultra-rapid preparation and a great deal of luck.

Home and fairly dry

Record overseas entry from best of world's drivers

LOOKING down from the lofty height of 6ft. 5in., turning the scales at 205lb, Erik Carlsson of Sweden had the biggest gun, reputation of the best, and possibly the biggest record number of 33 overseas drivers who came out for the 1953 Safari.

Winner at the A.C.C. Rally the two years running, last year's Monte Carlo champion, victor of most top Continental rallies, the 35-year-old Swede ranks as Africa's best.

He has made his name the continent with the dash, the synchrony with the dash, his front-wheel car which has blazed a new trail in motor sport.

But an well known among the general public but less so among the overseas motorists was Bill Bennett, the little Home-Industries market Super of Loughborough.

He is another smaller size but he still looked the wheel of his Ford Zephyr in the British and the British Rally Championships in 1953, last two years in the Safari, but he never lost a lap.

Heading no introduction was Trainer Watson, driver, another well known name in the motor circles the world over. In the 1953 Safari, he drove a Ford Zephyr, last year he drove a Rover.

Edward Harrison of the United Kingdom, who has won the 1953 Safari, was the only driver to have won the 1953 Safari, last year he drove a Rover.

Bill Bennett, driver, another well known name in the motor circles the world over. In the 1953 Safari, he drove a Ford Zephyr, last year he drove a Rover.

Lunch party launched company and success

A COMPANY which is now one of the best in Kenya, Marshall's (East Africa) Ltd. was started 12 years ago with an investment of £100,000. The story began in the Dorchester Hotel, London, where a British M.P., Mr. Fred Harris, met a group of the company and lunch with a host of other motorists who were willing to come out to East Africa.

The present part of them was to start a firm which would be used to service their machinery.

The new company has its name from the name of the first car which was used to service their machinery. The name was chosen because it was a well known name in the motor circles the world over.

Offered Peugeot agency

It was discovered, however, that although the car was not used to service their machinery, it was a well known name in the motor circles the world over. The company was started 12 years ago with an investment of £100,000. The story began in the Dorchester Hotel, London, where a British M.P., Mr. Fred Harris, met a group of the company and lunch with a host of other motorists who were willing to come out to East Africa.

New East African history

Scholarly—and controversial

By A. J. HUGHES

KENNETH INGHAM'S A History of East Africa is a scholarly but unpedantic work which should be on the shelves of all those who are interested in this part of Africa. It has the imprimatur of the East African High Commission (previously known as the East African Office and Organisation) and was written for VIII form and university students, but its readability and wider readership should commend it to a far wider readership.

Prof. Ingham begins by summarizing the first two centuries of the history of the continent, and then proceeds to a more detailed account of the past 1,500 years. In the opening chapters he gives a history of the Kingdom of the Great Lakes in a more favourable light than is usually given. Commission warns of civil war risk Gamba and Gugangadi Counties, where the population is overwhelmed by the surrounding areas. The Commission, headed by Lord Moberg recommends in its report presented last in London yesterday.

The commission says the other 'lost counties' claimed by Bunyoro are the Gambia and Gugangadi. It expresses the hope that Buganda will agree to accept in her boundaries a 'generous act of statesmanship' and that the Government of Bunyoro should renounce all its claims on the other 'lost counties' leading to civil war, the commission says the transfer of the 'lost counties' place before Uganda becomes a reality on October 9.

The commission's report will be the basis for discussions to take place on the chairmanship of the Government, between Buganda and Bunyoro as soon as our report has been received. It has been made known, the report adds, that the Government of Bunyoro will expect the British Government to take such steps necessary to settle the problem of the 'lost counties' and in accordance with our recommendations.

At the meeting, comprising Lord Moberg, Lord Lugard, and other members, Mr. Macmillan, last December, after a month's negotiations, had agreed to a 'lost counties' dispute which would be settled by a constitutional conference in 1952. In January and heard evidence from Buganda and Bunyoro. The commission's report is dated 25th March and is expected to be published in the next few days.

Consider the facts, Britain pleads

BRITAIN appealed to the United Nations Committee on Colonialism yesterday to 'reconsider the facts and forget propaganda' in its consideration of Northern Rhodesia.

The British delegate, Mr. C. Crowe, said it is the law of the land that it is the important job to do 'in the Protectorate' and this required statesmanship, understanding and co-operation from all the inhabitants and political leaders in the territory.

Balance of Atlantic Alliance 'would be improved'

The British Ambassador, Sir David Gandy Gray, said in Cincinnati, Ohio, yesterday that Britain's entry into the Common Market would improve the balance of the Atlantic Alliance and lead to a new form of collaboration.

He stated that if it was found the right conditions for joining the Common Market, it would be the only way for the Atlantic Alliance to be improved.

He said he believed the experience with such entry over the last 20 years would greatly assist collaboration between the United States and Western Europe.

The Ambassador said that the addition of Britain to the Community would be a great step forward for the balance of the Atlantic Alliance within the new European area.

Rise in price of potatoes

A sharp rise in the price of potatoes was reported from Ontario, Canada. The price per bushel had risen to 1.00, up from 0.75 last week. This was due to a combination of factors, including a shortage of supply and a sharp decline in the quantity of potatoes available.

The shortage of supply was caused by a combination of factors, including a late start to the growing season and a heavy frost in early autumn. This had resulted in a smaller crop than expected.

CONFIDENCE AND PROGRESS IN EAST AFRICA

COFFEE SEEDLINGS ARE BIG BUSINESS

GROWING FOR PROSPERITY - I

BUNSTEAID, Langata, who has spent the last three years in the United States, is helping the nursery concern of African and European coffee growers.

During a period of intensive talk and reports of Kenya's budding economy and lack of investment it is surprising to listen to a man with confidence in the country, and to be shown proof of this confidence in the person of DAVID JONES, in a special interview.

representatives of student marketing companies, as well as individuals, call at his nursery to place their orders.

These vary from one small order to a large order worth thousands of shillings in an order for Kenya Coffee Growers Marketing Cooperative Union.

Truck fleet

The European man has the idea of expanding the lifting and delivery of coffee from the regions of Nairobi and Nakuru districts. He is now operating a fleet of six trucks and three motor-cars to cater with the large number of orders pouring in from all over the country.

Shop window

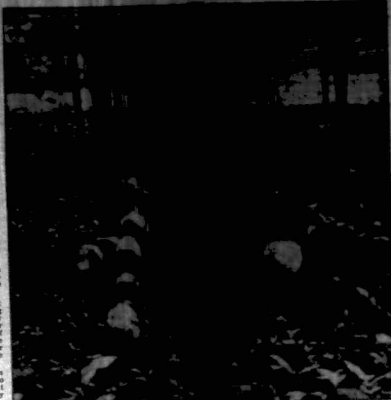

Mr. Jones, who had no shop window as he had no goods to sell, has now a shop window as he has orders for his own nursery and many of them starting means he has not started to sell yet. It is a mistake to think that he is a wealthy man. He is a man who has not been able to get on his feet in the country. He has not been able to get on his feet in the country. He has not been able to get on his feet in the country.

New system of government for Rhodesia urged

The Central Africa Committee of the Church of Southern Africa has urged that a different structure of administration in Central Africa be built in a form more acceptable to its inhabitants.

The committee believed recent events had increased African opposition to the Federation. This and apparently incompatible attitudes in the three territories, made it difficult to see how a federal review conference could possibly recommend the continuance of the present Federation.

In a report the committee appeared in Southern Africa to demonstrate the awareness of the racial change in the whole environment and urged the governments concerned to co-operate in seeking that change.

The committee also urged the governments concerned to co-operate in seeking that change. It urged the governments concerned to co-operate in seeking that change.

Unjust for women to be beaten to space

SOVIET communist Gherman Titov said in Washington it was "historical injustice" that a woman was not the first human to orbit the earth.

He told a Press conference at the Soviet Embassy women were more able than men to withstand hardships and more capable of venturing into space.

"I think ladies who now and then go to the moon will be able to do it better than men," he said.

Major Titov said the first Soviet astronaut will not need to go but sub-orbital questions about the date of his flight.

Asked if he had been invited to Cape Canaveral, Major Titov who spoke through an interpreter replied: "We did not need the use of cosmonauts which would mean as to the rockets which are carrying both rockets (astronauts) and military hardware."

HE ABUSED US, SAY DOCKERS

The acting general secretary of the Maritime Docksworkers' Union, Mr. James Boy, yesterday threatened to call a strike unless a meeting, set up to discuss a proposed international agreement, was held in the Tyneside Docking Co. was held from the port.

Mr. Boy says in the chairman of the port Joint Industrial Council, Capt. G. R. Williams, asking them not to attend a meeting in the council to discuss the dockers' demand.

Capt. Williams said he had received Mr. Boy's letter and had told him he knew nothing about the alleged incident. He was not prepared to call a meeting.

The committee also urged the governments concerned to co-operate in seeking that change. It urged the governments concerned to co-operate in seeking that change.

COOMBA THE CROCODILE HUNTS FOR LOST TEETH

By ROSINA WRIGHT

COOMBA the young crocodile knew that something was wrong the moment he woke up. He yawned a great big yawn, yawned a few times, his jaws together a few times just to loosen them up ready for breakfast.

He did not want the other crocodile to know that he had lost his teeth. He was a crocodile and he was proud of his teeth. He had a great big set of teeth, sharp and strong. He had a great big set of teeth, sharp and strong. He had a great big set of teeth, sharp and strong.

30,000 Miles a Year!

Quite a mileage for anyone, but the Little Stint is pictured above flies this every year. They breed in the Arctic and spend their summers in Africa and Asia. They take about six weeks to fly each leg of their journey, or about 20 thousand miles a week at 55,000 miles, or about 20 thousand miles a week at 55,000 miles, or about 20 thousand miles a week at 55,000 miles.

Does not matter then. In their life span of seven years they fly over 200,000 miles. A good mileage for any engine. Motorists using Shell X-100 Multigrade keep their engines clean with any other oil, increase efficiency and decrease power loss by 50 per cent. Shell X-100 Multigrade gives greater mileage for less wear.

NEW BONUS MILEAGE CABLE TREAD 455

Whatever high mileage you had from Firestone tyre before, our FIRESTONE BONUS MILEAGE cable tread will give you 10% more miles—than you don't pay for. This extra is in addition to the long mileage already provided by FIRESTONE RUBBER-C—it's a good as a discount. Fit a set to your car and 455 easily by the clean, straight edge which replaces the zig-zag edge of the old cable tread. Fit a set to your car and 455 easily by the clean, straight edge which replaces the zig-zag edge of the old cable tread.

... HAVE EVERY 11th MILE FREE ON FIRESTONE!

HERE'S HOW TYRE ENGINEERS HAVE ADDED 10% BONUS MILEAGE TO FIRESTONE CABLE TREAD ...

New wider tread with the clean, straight-edge hightop of this Bonus Mileage cable tread 455 gives you even more wider safety. The extra more rubber on the surface and spreads the load over a wider area. This means more traction on the road where the wear, and, as a consequence, more mileage over and above the old cable tread already provided by Rubber-C.

Compact tread design with its tightly knit pattern of cable tread gives you better distribution of load, to help to ensure a long-wearing "thrust-off" effect rather than a fast-wearing "roll-off" effect, and the result is more mileage over and above the high mileage already provided by Rubber-C.

New Tyre construction gives you a better road surface. The whole set of the Firestone tyre has been improved to give you better road contact when inflating. This means that no one tyre element carries more than its share of the load. From edge to edge each part of the tread helps support the others—and they mean more mileage over and above the high mileage already provided by Rubber-C.

Nairobi's perimeter car parks were laid down, it was found that the pattern of the future for shoppers and workers to be in shops there and either take a bus to their city centre. This, it was suggested, would ease traffic congestion at all times and save money to prevailing firms at the bank.

Propaganda for this effect was issued by the authorities. Increasing numbers of motorists actually were seen in the Courtyard Road and one would have thought that the Police and the City Council would have had most of the people in the city with a car. The fact that the path has been so busy since a happy accident for drivers when some broke into cars and drove to the city centre in driving some of the cars.

LESS DANGER OF INJURIES SAYS DOCTOR

AT Mount Vernon, New York State, a U.S. doctor has suggested that a return to bare-knuckle would probably end down boxing deaths and injuries.

The fact, when wrapped in yards of bandages and covered with a steel glove, assumes some of the weight and rigidity of a hammer. Dr. Allan Ryan, vice-president of the American College of Sports Medicine, said in a published report.

"With impunity I added could not be used against the head," Dr. Ryan said.

The suggestion of a return to bare-knuckle boxing is a member of a panel of six doctors who made a close study of sports injuries. Two doctors, including Dr. Ryan, called for the abolition of professional boxing, and the other four recommended a return to bare-knuckle.

Dr. Alvin Rabinov, of Cleveland, who supports abolition, said, "The fight, as it is, is too rough on the brain. The roughness could be shifted to the hands by wearing a glove with a padding on the back and a steel plate on the palm." The other four recommended a return to bare-knuckle.

Ageing Madrid lacked sting

BENFICA, of Lisbon, staged a great second-half rally to beat Real Madrid 3-2 to retain the European Cup at Amsterdam.

But the Portuguese hit back to keep Europe's most prized club trophy for another year.

THE MARVEL OF THE MULTI-PURPOSE POLICY

HE PAID Rs. 288 ONCE TO LEAVE FOR HIS FAMILY Rs. 1,01,880

When a breadwinner dies, so does the family income. But when a breadwinner with a Multi-Purpose Policy dies, a new income STARTS for his family. Here is a true-life example of this amazing Policy—

A young chemist took a Multi-Purpose Policy for Rs. 20,000. Shortly afterwards his family lost him in an accident. From his policy they received—

- A lump sum of Rs. 20,000
- Plus Rs. 2,000 to meet the funeral, legal and other expenses
- Plus Rs. 400 a month for 2 years
- Plus Rs. 200 a month for over 23 years
- Plus bonuses due.
- Plus Rs. 18,000 at the end of the Policy term.

The young man had paid just Rs. 288 in premiums. In return, his family over the 23 years had received a total of Rs. 1,01,880 which spaced out as an income for over 23 years! Had he lived he would of course have received Rs. 20,000 plus bonuses at the end of the Policy period.

Take a Multi-Purpose Policy without delay. It means unshakable security for your family.

Kenya Government to persuade expatriates to stay
 PRESURES FOR CIVIL SERVAANTS

Internal disruption, claim by Member

MINISTER CRITICISES PAYMENT MOTION

Mr. Alexander said a demand should be introduced immediately to enable the Government to dispense with the services of a large number of non-indigenous, expatriate civil servants to make way for African officers.
 "These officers should have the opportunity to retire at the same time as their colleagues who are pensioned and receive their gratuities," he said in the debate later.

Mr. Alexander said he was amazed that the African States which had not come to the aid of Kenya were attacking the Government and were trying to get a seat on the Executive Council.
 "I have no objection to the Government being criticised by the Opposition, but I have a serious objection to the Government being criticised by the African States," he said.

One in favour, none against

An Independent Member, Mr. R. C. Kennedy-Williams, proposed a private Member's motion on the subject immediately before the debate on the "labour" offer by the Government to Mr. A. P. M. Otiago, Minister for Labour, in the Legislative Council yesterday.

When the Speaker put the motion upon the vote of the House, Mr. Alexander, who had spoken in favour of the Government, called for a vote without a division.
 "The motion," he said, "was carried by a majority of 39 to 19. The Government accepted the motion, but the Opposition voted against it."

Now Kenya has Government without an Opposition

SO pronounced have Kenya been the last weeks since the formation of the new Kenyan Government that the problem of having an Opposition hardly occurred to anyone — until this week.

The dilemma controlled the Legislative Council this week when it considered the bill for the Lancaster House treaty. One of the Members of Parliament, Mr. Karanja, thought it would be a dull House without an Opposition, but neither of the main parties indicated by its members "duck" the Government whip.

Also, it seemed, were members of the Government eager to waive their right to discuss their own colleagues with regard to questions they may have raised. The Government's own members were not to be far from being left to the members of the Opposition. Mr. E. H. Williams, and his colleagues, were the first to do so. Mr. Williams, who is the Minister for Education, said that he would not discuss the Government's policy on Education.

But it is not to be seen whether this handful of "waiver" will be enough to prevent the bill from being passed. The bill is expected to be passed by a vote of 15 to 10. The Government has 15 members and the Opposition has 10. The bill is expected to be passed by a vote of 15 to 10.

POLICE have smashed one of the most successful gangs of housebreakers in the country and returned thousands of pounds' worth of property.

Three or four times a week people would ring the door.

Rural industries

It is hoped by the Permanent Secretary for International Affairs, Mr. Maundling, that the training of small-scale farmers will be a major part of the development of rural industries in Kenya.

Mr. Maundling said that the Government was keen to see more industry distributed throughout the country, instead of being concentrated in Nairobi.

Standard Staff Reporter COLIN GERBER COMMUNISM is building ground in Zanzibar. This week, after more home-made military cocktail bombs were found behind the central post office, security officials said they believed the men who made them had learned how to do so during visits behind the Iron Curtain.

The bombs, three of them, were simple enough in their construction, but a police expert said they could have started a fierce fire if ignited.

Last September bombs exploded at the United States Consulate and last month similar attempts were made to blow the United Kingdom Information Office.

Twenty-two men have been detained in Zanzibar Central Prison in connection with the arson and bombing attempts reported since last September. They include the National Party's general secretary, the late Ibrahim Mohamed Babu, and a number of other Party members.

PARTY TALKS

The island has experienced unrest since mid-June when the new constitution was announced to come to a head when voting broke out last June in the first election. Five months earlier had failed to produce a majority party.

The April constitutional conference in London ended in failure when the Colonial Secretary and the Zanzibaris began without date for either internal or government or independent.

Talks between the National Party and the Afro-Shirazi led to the end in deadlock over political demands. The National Party's position with the Shirazi, who recently called for elections being they would be satisfied to leave.

Hours after news reached Zanzibar that the delegates were being sent home, the United Kingdom Information Office was first.

CUBA VISIT

The Zanzibar Government officials believe that faith in the island Communist Party is still strong.

There is much evidence that Communist propaganda is still playing its part in the island's politics.

When the United States trucking station for the President's service station here, although it was built on the island by the National Party, it is a replica of the Atlas truck in the use.

Between 30 and 40 Zanzibaris

Castro is now the hero

Students are believed to be studying at institutions in Manila, China, and other Communist-influenced countries. Most of them have had Communist ties spread by the Youth League and the opposing Afro-Shirazi Party, both of which have offices in Zanzibar.

Students groups of National Party members have made "vicious" trips to Peking. Several have been made secretary of the Zanzibar Government Workers' Union, went to Moscow last year and has recently returned from Cuba.

What is the part played by Sheikh Abdul Bahiet Mohamed Babu, a Transport House member and socialist politician? He has never openly admitted Communist ties but his path has been traced to Peking, Mr R. H. Biles, said.

The British Commissioner of Police, Mr R. H. Biles, said he had been reliably informed that Babu had delivered Communist speeches in the National Party youth wing, the Youth's Own Union, and the Federation of Progressive Trade Unions.

£25 FINE Biles was made numerous visits to Peking, Moscow and other Communist capitals. Apart from his duties as the general secretary he also sells the party's newspaper, Zanzibar News, and has been £25 for writing an article entitled "British white-washing of massacre in Zanzibar atrocious". He pleaded "Not guilty".

"Comrade Babu, the freedom fighter, as a recent party functionary described him, also runs the New China News Agency and a mobile bookshop, selling Communist literature. For 20 marks, a Zanzibar can get a small edition of Peking Review, or Moscow the leading Communist newspaper.

Biles are on sale at relatively low prices. Keep the Red flag flying, a Communist publication by the Foreign Languages Press, Peking, 1952, price 10/-, 100-page volume. Prior to 1952, Lenin's Collected Works, in three 500-page volumes, costs 37/6 volume, or less on Britain.

These are the bombs which, if ignited, would have started a raging blaze in Stone Town's business centre at the weekend. Police found the hidden under fruit in a basket which had been in a narrow alley behind the main post office. Each bomb consists of a beer bottle filled with a rock salt and then a mixture of small sulphur matches—all soaked in paraffin. In the area where the bombs were found, it was sprinkled with paraffin.

Night and day police patrol the mess of narrow streets and alleyways in Zanzibar Town. It was in such a place like this one, near the main post office, that the bombs were found.

HERE 'A DOG'S LIFE' TAKES ON A NEW MEANING

By DEREK WATKINS

It is not easy to lose weight and to maintain a new, reduced weight level is even more difficult. But that is precisely where Metrecal scores. While Metrecal satisfies your appetite, at the same time it also limits your caloric intake from the food you eat. And after a gradual readjustment to normal eating habits, many men and women find that their appetites are satisfied with smaller amounts of food than formerly.

Thus, Metrecal is invaluable, not only as a diet food in itself, but also as an effective way of maintaining the desired weight level once achieved.

Why the freedom of West Berlin is not negotiable

An important new book has just appeared which discusses the Berlin problem... by OSMOND DOBELL, a writer who has distinguished himself as an international affairs editor... M.P. and commentator on international affairs... just returned from a visit to Berlin.

WHOOVER holds Berlin, holds Germany. Whoever holds Berlin, holds Europe. Whoever holds Europe, holds the West to sum up his words, attributed to Lenin.

At the end of Berlin, Hostage for the West to sum up his words, attributed to Lenin.

They show clearly why the German issue remains potentially the most dangerous threat of all to world peace, because in Berlin and Germany there is almost no room for manoeuvre by either side — only a deadly struggle.

AUSTRALIA TRADE Auto Products

IMMENSE INDUSTRY BUILT SINCE 1948

OUTSIDE the United States, Canada and New Zealand, Australia has the most motor vehicles per head of population than any other country in the world — with a ratio of 3.0 to 1.0. In the 14 years since the war, more than 10 million motor vehicles have been sold in Australia, there are very well qualified to appreciate the key economic role played by the automotive industry in this and abroad.

The sector of manufacturing and development in Australia since the Second World War provides a more impressive example of progressive progress than do the multiple branches of its automotive industry. From a modest beginning in 1948 — no motor vehicles were made commercially in Australia before then — the industry has become the seventh largest of its kind in the world.

Directly and indirectly, it employs more than 100,000 people, including those employed by vehicle manufacturers, assembly firms, automotive parts manufacturers, retailers, garages and workshops.

30,000 A YEAR

Approximately 4,000,000 dollars are invested in vehicle manufacturing, assembly, distribution and servicing with a further 210,000,000 invested by busnesses of suppliers of parts and raw materials.

Production capacity has now reached 300,000 new vehicles a year, representing the production of many of the world's most renowned automobile companies and signifying a position of quantitative leadership for Australia's 19,000,000 people.

Australia's next neighbour, New Zealand, received the first export shipment of Australian cars in 1954 — from General Motors-Holden Ltd. — and since then an important trade has been built up with more than a dozen other countries in Africa, the Pacific and Asia.

The emergence of a powerful automotive industry in Australia is not a new phenomenon. The value of the "home" motor carriage had a long and distinguished history, earlier generations of Australian motorists facing the discomfort of transportation over great distances.

Even before 1900, the first motor vehicles of the new era had made their appearance and by 1910 motor carriages had a firm and lively acceptance in Australia.

By 1914, there were 27,000 cars, trucks and motor-cycles in Australia, supported by a number of firms making and assembling vehicle bodies and parts.

LOGAL NEEDS

By the end of the war, which had seen the formation of the Australian Motor Body Builders' Ltd. of Adelaide to meet orders for motor carriages for the armed forces, the numbers had risen to 50,000 cars and 10,000 trucks.

At the outbreak of the Second World War, several major overseas companies were manufacturing their vehicles at plants in Queensland, New South Wales, Victoria, South Australia and Western Australia.

There were then more than half a million cars and a quarter of a million commercial vehicles on Australia's roads.

Today, four firms are making vehicles which total 92 per cent Australian content, and others with varying but increasing amounts of locally made parts.

READY MARKET

In addition, the Australian automotive component industry has assumed tremendous importance in the first place because it supplies a uniquely diversified demand for components and spare parts within Australia, and secondly, because the techniques developed for spare parts and replacements are advanced to the extent where Australian components have a ready market in many countries, including the United Kingdom and America.

Investments in the industry have also been considerable. It now is for the hydraulic system to be divided into two sections, front and rear, which can be operated by a single pedal. This is always available for braking in the event of a hydraulic failure.

BOOSTER ACTS ON BRAKES

THE Australian motor trade is examining a new safety brake booster, claimed to eliminate the weak points of the conventional hydraulic brake in which a failure of one part can cause a general collapse. The booster was invented by an engineer in Sydney.

The vacuum brake system, which depends on the engine for power, has the danger of a vacuum being lost if the engine stalls or if the engine has to be restarted.

The booster prevents brake failure due to loss of fluid from the master cylinder and is claimed by the inventor to give up to 40 per cent gain in hydraulic fluid pressure during transmission.

It provides for the hydraulic system to be divided into two sections, front and rear, which can be operated by a single pedal. This is always available for braking in the event of a hydraulic failure.

SPECIALISTS ADVISE ON DESIGN

Careful study behind models

FEW people without first-hand experience have any idea of the careful planning and preliminary study behind the launching of a new product.

TEAM EFFORT

In the Australian motor industry, the first decision usually taken in the case of a car is the niche it is to fill in the market — size, price, type of performance, and the kind of opposition to be met, both actual and potential.

From this initial decision emerges the "commercial feasibility" which the engineers will be asked to translate into actuality.

First the chief engineer lays down a general scheme of approach, and the effort then becomes very much of a team effort between specialists in each department — engine, transmission, steering and suspension, chassis and body, these latter two a modern car being presented a single entity.

Specialists from supplier companies may take a big advisory part in the planning drawing board must be capable of production at a cost in keeping with the selling price set for the car. If one part can be suited to several models, great economies may be effected.

No matter how accomplished the engineering department may be the final proof of the piling line in the late, in no previous model, and the model's have been built for testing.

AS DUMMIES

Mechanically identical with the planned production model, and probably dressed up in the clothes of current models, these are tested over any thousands of miles, with everything carefully recorded, even the most minute over and under.

Such revelations are essential before the heavy expenditure of special purpose tooling has been laid down the design to reality.

Since styling improvements can now take place for another excellent model, bodies are first built as full-size dummies to study appearance and seating comfort, then actual bodies are hand-built for road testing before the costly, new and old models are made for mass production.

NEW FEATURES

This applies equally to mechanical innovations. Presumably independent wheel suspension, air cooling, rear engines and many other now popular features have been offered for many years with little success as far as the mass market was concerned.

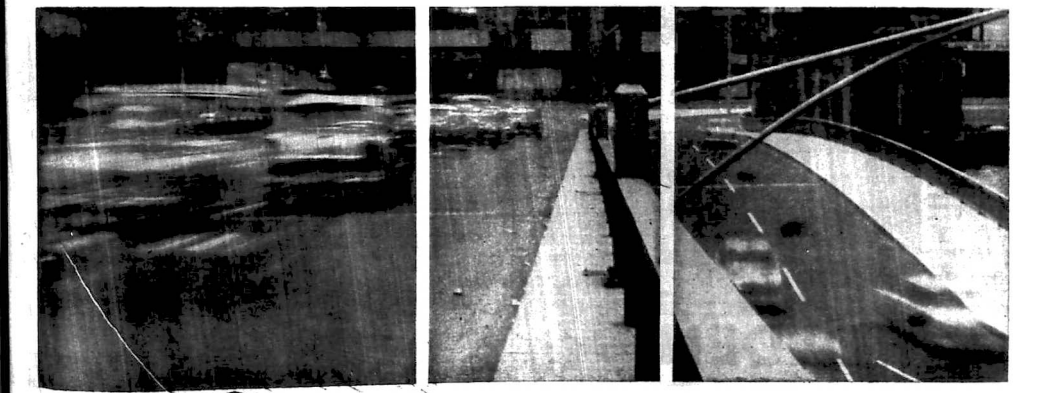

In the mechanical department, designers work in the closest collaboration with production engineers. What looks excellent on the

Examinations

After all this plavver... I cannot retain myself from giving my own opinion.

Several arguments have been presented in favour of the same and several others in the opposite against it are the inequality in the correction of examinations. The efficacy of exams as a means of gauging one's ability and the fact that several great personalities among them Shakespeare never achieved a degree.

Convincing though these arguments may be and though there are many who are in their throats, they have not been fully considered.

Examinations, we must realize them by some means. If I know how much a person has really assimilated after all the years of learning, I can say no scientist has so far succeeded than the chance of such a person is removed in favour of a contrivance of assessing a person's intellect. The idea of the abolition of exams has to go.

The argument that Shakespeare never obtained a diploma but still succeeded in a profession is completely irrelevant. Few of us have had the good fortune to be the personal protégés of that great dramatist. Moreover, this is a different case, with different standards.

There may be a few unfortunate examples of unfair means being employed in an exam, but I do not feel that this can justify the abolition of exams.

It is wrong to believe that the past performance and the past performance of the student are the only factors to be considered in the awarding of a degree. The student's ability to perform the duties of his profession is the only factor to be considered in the awarding of a degree.

Let us not be misled by the fact that several great personalities among them Shakespeare never achieved a degree.

Convincing though these arguments may be and though there are many who are in their throats, they have not been fully considered.

'Youth helps Youth' - good but inadequate

ALTHOUGH it is a campaign launched under the above title is commendable, it is woefully inadequate as a method of dealing with juvenile delinquency in this country.

Prostitution is not just a Nairobi problem. It affects all our major towns and should be tackled as a national problem. Public institutions like those being sought by the people who have launched the campaign can only alleviate, but not solve, the problem. This problem should be tackled by a Ministry responsible for the welfare of the young.

The welfare of the young is the responsibility of the State. It is the duty of the State to provide for the welfare of the young. It is the duty of the State to provide for the welfare of the young.
