

How to exploit scholarly resources on the net

Chepkwony, John K

Abstract:

The internet (Net) has an enormous amount of scholarly information due to information explosion and advances in Information and Communication Technology (ICT). However, it has been observed that it is not easy for someone who is conversant with the Internet search techniques to search / browse / surf and get the right information for his /her scholarly needs. This problem necessitated this study. In this article, the author sheds light on the skills necessary to search and access the required information using appropriate Internet search tools. The paper explores Internet Scholarly Resources, Scholarly Online Catalogues and References, and also highlights useful tips for scholarly Internet searchers. The Internet is a golden key that opens door for current and future scholars.