

Excerpt

An estimated 210 million women become pregnant each year, and close to 60 million of these pregnancies end with the death of the mother ($\approx 500,000$) or the baby or as abortions. This chapter focuses on the adverse events of pregnancy and childbirth and on the intervention strategies to eliminate and ameliorate this burden.