

MA PROJECT FUNDING

To help support the University of Nairobi's world-class research environment, the School of Journalism and Mass Communication is offering funding for a Masters project. The successful candidate's will be expected to do an Agricultural Communication project. The applicants must have successfully finished their course work. The funding will cover the costs of doing the project in selected locations in the country. Details of the award will be discussed with the successful candidate.

Eligible students must ensure their applications contain ALL of the following:

- A motivation letter indicating the reasons for seeking to research agricultural communication.
- Written sample of no more than 1,200 words which demonstrates the applicant's skills as a researcher and/or shows skills in organising and presenting research findings.