

PhD candidates will present their research concepts to Faculty on 12 August 2013 during a PhD research colloquium. This colloquium, held from time to time, provide a forum for research students to present their research problems and receive constructive criticism and feedback from Faculty. The session will commence at 2pm