

Dr. Rajesh Parasnis (Picture above) a Consultant Spine Surgeon from Pune, India visited the department on February 2014. He gave a lecture on Tuberculosis of the spine to staff and students.

He spoke on the current scenario of TB and said, “TB has a history of 4000 years, still there is no control on its spread. Annually around two billion dollars are being spent on TB research across the world. But with the increasing prevalence of Multi Drug Resistance TB, the challenge is still there.”

Dr. Rajesh has a fellowship in spine Surgery and is affiliated to Ruby Hall Clinic, Jehangir Hospital, Seth Ramdas Memorial Hospital and Inlaks & Budharani Hospitals.
