

The department recently offered a BSS course to all second year MMed surgery students at the Nairobi Surgical Skills Centre.

This is one of a series intended for the year 2014 and is offered to all surgical residents. Student were exposed to suture materials and suture techniques amongst other skills basic skills. The other courses offered include endoscopic techniques.

Similar courses are also scheduled for undergraduate students. This will be the first time this latter cadre will receive the course